THE Brooklyn Eagle says if Samuel J. Tilden is living and capable of performing the duties of President of the United States he will be our next President. A great many of us thought he was going to occupy that office this time, but were sadly mistaken.

IT is said that high contracting parties have made the necessary agreements, and Samuel J. Randall, after the third ballot, will be made Speaker of the next House of Representatives.

THE political machinery in Ohio is buzzing and the engineers are at their posts. The Registration law, for the first time, is being tried on.

THOSE who are keeping the criminal score for Kentucky can tally one more for Richmond.

THE breeches of foreign lands are still inhabited by President Grant.

THE Russians didn't rush 'in Plevna as they expected.

IT is only three months till the General Assembly meets.

THE condition of Senator Morton is still of a serious nature.

IT is rumored that the President is contemplating a change in his Cabinet. Schurz is expected to be made walk the plank.

THERE is a small secession move on foot in Pendleton County. A portion of that Commonwealth adjoining Grant wants to be annexed to Grant.

THE following extract, from the Lexington Press, we consider rather rough on the lawyers who were members of the last State Senate, and a matter that might be looked into:

A gentleman who was a member of the last Legislature, when the Criminal Code of Kentucky was enacted, and who bore a prominent part in its preparation and passage into a law, says that he had little or no difficulty in getting it through the House with the assistance of the agricultural members, but that the lawyers fought it to the death. When it came into the Senate, a majority of the members which were lawyers, they emasculated it completely and amended it into its present insufficient shape. When remonstrated with and the glaring defects of the amendments pointed out, the patriotic lawyers did not pretend to justify their actions on public grounds, but confessed that they were actuated by the meanest personal considerations. They had the shamelessness to say that they derived a large part of their incomes for defending criminals, and nothing from the punishment of crime, and that they wished to frame the laws so to be as easy on their clients as possible; that by suppressing crime and punishing criminals they would be deprived of their fees, which were generally contingent upon the acquittal of their clients. This is a sordid view of statesmanship, parallel to that of the philosopher very much quoted in Kentucky, who declared at the breaking out of the late war that "he didn't care a — what happened, so it didn't happen to him." Now, those lawyers of the Senate who framed the Criminal Code of this State, by which it is almost impossible to hang a man for murder or punish him for any crime, if he has the wherewith to pay those fees which are so dear to the legal heart, declared in plain words that "they did not care who was murdered so they got good fees for clearing the murderer." Except for this disgraceful instance of all avarice on the part of those legal Senators—more lawyers than Senators—we would have had a Criminal Code in Kentucky that would have saved hundreds of lives by making it possible to convict a murderer, no matter how rich or influential he might have been, nor how many lawyers he might have been able to employ. If this information be true—and we get it from a source that need only to be mentioned to find credence in every quarter of the State—the lawyers are justly chargeable with the horrid crimes that are now making our State a by-word and a hissing in the States of the Union. It is folly to say that the men of Kentucky are more murderously inclined than the men of other States. If we have more murders than other States, it is because our laws are defective and murder is not a punishable crime.

ST. LOUIS LETTER.

ST. LOUIS, MO., September 22, 1877.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

After a good long rest, we break forth in all our eloquence and say, "We have not forsaken you, and will never leave you out in the cold." We deem it wholly unnecessary to say why we have not written, as the smallest child in the land has heard that human nature is the same the world over. We needed rest, and, human nature being the same in Boone County, Ky., as in St. Louis, Mo., we were charitable enough to believe your readers needed rest as well as the writer. Had we have written every week since our last respects, we do not know that you or your readers would have been much benefited thereby, as interesting items have been few and far between with us the past six weeks.

Business, the past week, has been somewhat better than any time during the spring or summer months, and business men generally, the past ten days, seem more hopeful than for some months. Our Exposition proper is a success beyond a doubt, as it is said by all who have seen it to be the finest thing of the kind ever gotten up in the United States, except the Centennial Exhibition at Philadelphia; but while we say this, candor compels us to say, it is almost wholly without patronage, save the people who go out to the Fair Grounds to while away an hour or so in the afternoon. As yet, there are very few visitors from the country. Our hotel registers do not present anything more than an ordinary business, and, to walk our streets dry in and night through, you would never conclude there was anything unusual going on in our midst. So, so far as patronage is concerned, our great Exposition is a stupendous failure. But, as we have nearly three weeks to run on yet, and as the last week is to be what we call our Fair, there may be an improvement.

There is, as yet, no let up in the suiciding business, as our city papers have to record from one to two shufflings off of the mortal coil each day.

Hon. Lewis V. Bogy, United States Senator, died at his residence in this city Thursday morning. If we can not truthfully say a great man has left us, we can surely say, an honest man has gone to his reward. We had the honor of being associated with him as a Director in an insurance and banking company in this city a few years since, and we say with pride and pleasure, we never knew a more conscientious man in all his business dealings with his fellow-man in our life. He has also been our neighbor for the past eight years, and we shall surely miss him as such. He was born at St. Genevieve, Mo., April 13, 1813, his family having been for a long time well known in the Mississippi Valley. While living at St. Genevieve, he acquired, as a boy, a common school education, beyond which degree of attainment he had, in youth, no means of reaching. While yet a boy, he was engaged for some time in the store of a merchant of the place, and in the year 1832, left St. Genevieve to engage in the study of law in the office of Judge Pope, of Kaskaskia, Ill. It is given as a fact worthy of note that, even at the time mentioned, young Bogy had formed the design of ultimately attaining a seat in the Senate of the United States. When he entered the office of Judge Pope as a student, he left, it is stated, in the hands of his mother, the following paper:

"ST. GENEVIEVE, Jan'y 16, 1832.

"On this day I left home, under charge of "Mr. William Shannon, an old friend of my "father's, to go to Kaskaskia to read law in "the office of Judge Pope. My education is "very limited, but, with hard study, I may "overcome it. I am determined to try, and "my intention is to return to my native "State to practice law, if I can qualify my- "self; and, while doing so, to work to be- "come United States Senator for my native "State, and to work for this until I am sixty "years old. I will pray God to give me the "resolution to persevere in this intention. I "have communicated this to my mother, and "given her this paper to keep. So help me "God. LEWIS V. BOGY."

We have not the time, neither will your space permit us, to follow this noble man through a romantic and eventful life; but it is a striking coincident that, at the age of sixty, he was serving our city in the Common Council, and one year thereafter, after a long and heated contest, he was elected by the Missouri Legislature to the Senate of the United States, beating his competitor, the Hon. Frank P. Blair, 7 votes. The State of Missouri has furnished this nation some great intellects, and possibly far greater men than the subject of this sketch; but there never lived a more honorable or useful citizen in any State than Lewis V. Bogy. He is the father of the Iron Mountain Railroad, and has done more to develop our great mining interest than any man in the State. In fact, there is scarcely an enterprise in our great State worthy of mention that has not received encouragement and support from the hands of Lewis Vital Bogy. But with him the conflict is ended, as to-day, at the hour of 9 o'clock a. m., after the usual ceremonies, hundreds of weeping friends followed his remains to their long resting-place in Calvary Cemetery.

Rumor is already on tiptoe as to who Gov. Phelps will appoint as his successor, but as yet no one knows who the lucky man is even likely to be. Col. Bogy's term expires 4th of March, 1879, and as our Legislature does not meet again until the 1st of January, 1879, we suppose the Governor will appoint some one by the 15th of next month. There are quite a number of self-sacrificing patriots in this State, as well as in all other States, that are willing to leave all the dear ones at home to serve their country in such positions. The writer has not, as yet, sent in his willingness to stoop so low as to become so great a servant of the people. No, we don't want it.

The weather with us, the past week, has been altogether seasonable—cool nights and sunny days. Yours truly, BOB A. LONG.

Racing Condemned.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

At the last regular meeting of Point Pleasant Grange, No. 421, the following preamble and resolution were adopted, and in accordance with action of the Grange is forwarded to your paper for publication:

WHEREAS, The practice of horse-racing, either on the highway, or wheresoever committed on God's earth is a gross violation of the high moral teachings inculcated in our Order, therefore be it

Resolved, That this Grange heartily indorses the action of the present Board of the North Kentucky Agricultural Association, held near Florence, Boone County, Kentucky, in prohibiting races being held in connection with the Association, and that we condemn races "with all our heart, and with all our soul, and with all our mind, and with all our strength" as not worthy of being countenanced by any organization seeking reform, advancement and welfare of agriculturists, and the world of mankind.

The property in Bellevue known as the Rogers hotel property was rented publicly at the Court-house door, last Saturday, to Rick Bruce for the sum of $16 50 per month.

Those who expect to offer for county offices may just as well be announced, for it will cost no more to have your announcement run from now till August, 1878, than for one month.

It appeared last week that whenever business in the grand jury room became dull, they would have half a dozen Burlington chaps called up. Some of the boys scarcely had time to eat their meals; but there were but few indictments, and none of a serious nature.

Stock Law Roughness.

The enforcement of the stock law in Carlton District is attended with some serious results. The last trouble from that source occurred at Rabbit Hash last Saturday. The history of the case, as furnished us, is substantially as follows: Mr. Andy Dolph, who resides a short distance below Rabbit Hash, was allowing his stock to run at large. The Constable, Hade Wilson, was notified of the fact, and scooped them, as the law directs. Mrs. Dolph went to Mr. Wilson and told him if he would release the stock, all cost of the taking up should be paid. On this promise the stock was given up and taken home, but no fees were paid and the stock turned out again. A second time the officer took them in and impounded them. This time Mr. Dolph, all in a rage, went to see Wilson about the stock, but, instead of paying the officer's costs, he commenced showering upon him all manner of abuse. Wilson paid no attention to his disparaging epithets for some time. Finally he could no longer control his temper, and answered Dolph's abuse with a blow on the head with a heavy club, which dismounted him in a very rough manner. It was some time after the blow before Mr. Dolph was sufficiently resuscitated to be taken home, but he still required the attendance of a physician. Mrs. Dolph then went and paid the Constable his claims against the cattle and took them home.

Recaptured.

Our readers will remember that, a few months since, two negroes and a white man escaped from the jail by running over the Jailer while waiting upon them one night. One of the three who escaped was Charles Cooper, a negro committed for rape. The whereabouts of Cooper were unknown till last Friday, when Geo. W. Brown and his brother were driving along the streets of Cincinnati in a buggy, where George's attention was attracted to a negro engaged as coachman, and whom he recognized as Cooper. Mr. Brown did not let Cooper discover that he recognized him till he detailed the facts in the case to two officers, who arrested the negro and locked him up to await the proper steps to be taken to have him returned to Kentucky. Cooper stoutly denied being the man or knowing anything about the offense. Brown came to Burlington, obtained a copy of the mittimus, and, in company with Esquire Riddell, one of the Justices who held the examining court, returned to the city, and with but little difficulty succeeded in obtaining possession of Cooper, whom they safely lodged in jail at this place about sundown last Saturday. Cooper finally concluded he was the Cooper wanted, and, when put behind the bars, was very willing to effect a compromise with Mr. Cowen for the unceremonious way in which he took his leave.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. Leonard, of New Orleans, and Mrs. E. P. Martin, of Xenia, Ohio, are guests of Mrs. L. H. Dills.

Prof. Tolin called upon us Saturday. He is now engaged training the youthful minds in the Big Bone country.

Mr E. W. Smith, who, for the last two years, has been in our employ is now on the rusticating list. We can conscientiously commend Buddie to those of whom he may seek employment.

Gov. A. O. Hall returned from an extensive tour through the Ohio State, last Thursday. The papers do not state whether or not he took part in any of the political discussions while over there.

Joe Williams, of cattle trading notoriety, is abroad in the land buying mules. Joe buys on a different plan from any of the other mule traders. He buys by the pound, and offers 8 cents, but, so far as we know, he has made no purchases, mules being held at 10 cents. Were mules and horses bought and sold on that plan, the poor things would be better provided for. Probably Williams is trying to introduce this manner of purchase through sympathy for the half-starved brutes in the land.

The Burlington and Rising Sun base-ballists crossed bats at Bellevue last Saturday. 12 to 5 in favor of Burlington said the score. The only accident during the afternoon was the result of Tom Clore's head and the ball trying to occupy the same place at the same time. Tom's head was considerably jarred and a physician watched by his bed for a while that night. The amount of damage done the ball we have not heard estimated.

The Cynthiana News says: "Jerry Welch, of Montgomery County, has a wheat called Legalized Wheat. He drills it about two feet apart, plows and hoes it; plants in May and reaps in October. People who have seen it suppose it will make from sixty to eighty bushels to the acre. He counted one head, and it had 7,500 grains. Plants two grains in a hill."

A number of the hands and teams engaged on the Bellevue pike narrowly escaped being buried alive last Saturday evening by the caving in of the gravel pit near Wm. Akin's. The force had been out but a short time when it caved in, making a loud noise which was heard some distance. This was the same pit in which a man was killed but a few weeks since.

Last week, four men were killed in a street fight in Richmond, this State. The affair was one of the bloodiest hand to hand collicts that ever took place in Kentucky. Three of the hostile squad that killed three out four persons, gave themselves up to the authorities.

Bill Brown, the negro man who shot his wife, goes to Frankfort to wear the stripes two years. Bill's wife did not die and attended the trial. They seemed to be but little affected by the verdict.

Our Willow Vale correspondent gives an account of the accidental shooting of Mr. Garrison, a very worthy young man of the Big Bone neighborhood. It is a sad affair.

There will be no great quantity of cider made this fall.

We this week commence the third year of this paper; give us all the assistance you can. Every man who feels an interest in his county should assist in sustaining the county paper.

On the seventh of next month, A. G. Hodges and James A. Hodges will resume the publication of the Frankfort Commonwealth. It is to be a weekly journal, and contain thirty-two columns of matter.

A few days since a horse-thief committed suicide in the Lawrenceburg jail by opening a vein in his neck. There were other prisoners in the jail at the time but they knew nothing of the suicide till next morning.

The Criminal Court hung fire as it were last week and is now a court of some magnitude. A special grand jury was impaneled Tuesday, Sam Johnson, colored, indicted for stealing a horse from an old negro near Big Bone, tried, found guilty and given two years. Chas. Cooper was indicted and his trial is now in progress. No special judge was obtained for the Percival trial.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Willow Vale.

There has been nothing to disturb the quietude of our place for some time.

Addison Huey, jr., is building a large barn, and George Huey a very fine residence. Mr. James T. Mason is building an addition to his residence.

The farmers are about all done cutting tobacco, and are now busy seeding.

The public school commenced here last Monday, Prof. J. C. Sebree in command.

The mill located at this place is doing a tolerably good business—running about three days in the week.

A very sad accident occurred in this neighborhood on Wednesday, and the facts, as related to us, are as follows: W. C. Rouse had purchased some sheep of Lafayette Gaff, Esq., and had taken a shot-gun with him to have repaired at Union on his return home. Lafe Garrison, seeing the gun in the wagon, grasped it by the muzzle to draw it from the wagon, when it was discharged, he receiving the contents in his breast. He expired almost instantly. The funeral was preached by the Rev. E. E. Kirtley at Big Bone Church, where he was buried. The remains were followed to the grave by a large concourse of friends and relatives. He left a large circle of friends to mourn his death.

Plattsburg.

Again, after a few weeks recreation at Long Branch, Saratoga, the Falls of Niagara, &c., we return to our native haunts, buoyed up by the excitement caused by shaking hands and drinking healths with such fellows as President Hayes, Anderson, Wells & Co.

On our return we find Plattsburg and the vicinity fully aroused to the importance of having a turnpike to connect with the new road now building from the Recorder City to Bellevue, or an outlet by a good road to intersect with the Petersburg and Burlington road. The memory of man knoweth not the time when there was such a crop of corn and tobacco in the Woolper Valley as there is at present, and to transport the quantities of produce to market, and bring back the luxuries in return, requires a road as firm as the Rock of Ages.

Mr. Simeon Baldon has about twenty acres of fine tobacco, most of which is cut. Other farmers have large crops, so that every old shanty in the country is chock full of the weed.

If there is anything in phrenology relating to big eyes being a sign of speech, we have plenty of eloquence, particularly while Criminal Court lasts, when the Sheriff or one of his deputies notifies one of our solid old fellows to appear before the Fathers of Justice. They can't imagine what's wanting, but after the Big Judge is gone they each try to excel the others in telling what a big time they had.

Died, at the residence of Benj. Wilson, Esq., on Friday evening, September 14th, at 6 o'clock, Ella M. Hewitt, aged 17 years 7 months and 26 days. The sayings that "Death is no respecter of persons," that "it falls alike on the young and the beautiful and the aged and the decrepit," that "in the midst of life we are in death," have become painfully verified, and it is with feelings of the deepest regret that we chronicle the above sad and unfortunate occurrence. When quite young, she was left an orphan, since which time she has always found a welcome home at the house of Benj. Wilson, and friends in him and his estimable wife, whom she loved as she could have loved only a father and mother, and their love and kindness and respect for her could not have been greater had she been their daughter. Ella was one of those quiet, modest, unassuming girls whom everyone likes, and her death will leave a vacancy in society which will be felt by the entire community. She loved society, and no one was more appreciated, and no one's company more sought after than her's. Though only 17 years of age, she was more fully mature in her manners than many of the girls who are much older. She was a beautiful girl, her manners pleasant, free and easy, graceful in her actions and intelligent in speech. She was buried, Saturday afternoon, in the Methodist Church Cemetery, and there

"Let the dead and the beautiful rest."

Born—To the wife of Lew Rabers, a girl.

Some thief, or thieves, last Sunday night, stole about four hundred pounds of tobacco from James and Ben Wilson. Stealing is getting very common around here at present.

Petersburg.

Late last Saturday evening a reliable report reached here from Burlington that Criminal Court was adjourned, and the big Judge was gone; so early Sunday morning, with trembling limbs, emaciated countenances, and unkempt locks, our citizens began to appear upon the street corners, glad to be released from the self-inflicted banishment to the woods, hills and swamps for the last week.

This has been a moderately quiet week, at least, up to the arrival of the Recorder on Friday evening, which threw us into the wildest consternation, over the probable loss of the Prophet Porter and Bishop Schramm. They say they are ready and willing to depart as soon as they have had the exquisite pleasure of attending the funeral of your Florence correspondent.

Last Sunday the Minnie took another pious party of German Knights of Pythius picnicers down to Vevay and return. More beer, broken noses and broken Sabbaths.

By some blue circulars, we are warned that a Grand European Combination, and Good Moral Show is coming. Which his name is Teets, and Bites to his agent, and all the Teets family play in the concern; it is to show on the 30th inst., which, by the way, is Sunday, and may conflict with some religious appointment. The canvass concealing the performers from the impecunious outsiders is said to have a seating capacity of 500, so there is considerable uncertainty about finding a field large enough to pitch it in. [If he can't find a place to pitch the tent in, let him pitch it —over the river bank.—Ed.]

On last Friday morning, about 7 o'clock, Mrs. Pangburn breathed her last. For about six months past, she has been confined to her room and bed with a cancer, that slowly but surely ate her life away, and death was a very, very happy, release for her. She has been a member of the Baptist Church, at Bullettsville, for many years, and a most estimable member of society. Owing to the absence of Rev. J. A. Kirtley, there was no funeral discourse. Rev. A. Redd, the pastor of the M. E. Church here, accompanied the funeral to the grave.

We are one citizen short on roll call, and find that D. Riggs has folded his tent, and shaken the sand and gravel of our streets from his number tens. He now hails from Union City, Indiana, when he goes abroad, and has struck it in the capacity of a coal dealer as another permanent location. His residence, which is a very desirable one is for rent, and is the only vacant house in town.

Forks o' Goose Creek.

This is not exactly a new settlement Mr. Editor, but we have very recently held a Fair here; a Fair in more senses than one, as it was almost entirely set on foot, managed, conducted, and attended to by my own, the fair sex. Nominally, our convention was a sewing affair, but it was unanimously determined to turn it into an exhibition, a kind of fat ladie's convention. Now, let me see, I can't talk long at a time without being personal; it is a feminine weakness and therefore needs no apology; so I will give you an incomplete list of the awards of premiums so far; incomplete, because some of the committees have, as yet, failed to report upon and discriminate nicely between the various competitors.

For heavy weight alone considered, Mrs. G. W. Terrill received the first, and Mrs. James A. Betts, the second premium. For being able to turn around in a room sixteen feet square without going out doors, Mrs. Thos. Whitaker first, and Mrs. H. C. Wingate second premium. For lady with smallest husband and under best control, on account of intimidation, Mrs. J. W. Berkshire first, and Mrs. Sim E. Terrill second premium. For lady with most engaging husband, notwithstanding intimidating presence of wife, Mrs. James T. Grant first, and Mrs. N. S. Walton second premium. For best conversationalist (rapidity and audibility alone considered, eighty words of one syllable per second being the test) Mrs. J. Frank Grant first, and Mrs. N. S. Walton second premium. The premiums in the last reward were similar, being a large ear trumpet constructed so as to be worn with the small end from the ear, in order to exclude sound, and were presented to the husbands of the successful competitors.

There was also a contest for a single premium to be awarded the handsomest lady, and was competed for by Mrs. F. W. Grant, Mrs. J. M. Grant, Mrs. J. Terrill, and a Miss Cloud from Illinois; upon this as well as upon one or two more exhibitions the committees have, as yet, failed to pass. Of course there were many amusing, as well as interesting, incidents during the day I have not the time nor yon the space to report.

The next convention will be held this week on Wednesday, at the residence of Mr. J. A. Bates, but, as I am unfortunately left off the list of invited guests, I hope some other lady will be so kind as to report the important proceedings to you. Of course my friends will see in this communication all the promptings of a vindictive nature, because, in the meeting of this week, it has been considered wise to slight so good a soul as your affectionate aunt Sarah Catherine.

BURLINGTON, KY., SEPTEMBER 27.

BETTER LATE THAN NEVER.

Life is a race where some succeed
While others are beginning;
'Tis luck at times, at others speed,
That gives an early winning;
But if you chance to fall behind,
Never slacken your endeavor,
But keep this wholesome truth in mind,
'Tis better late than never.

If you can keep ahead, 'tis well,
But never trip your neighbor;
'Tis noble when you can excel
By honest, patient labor.
And if you are outstripped at last,
Press on as bold as ever;
Remember, though you are surpassed,
'Tis better late than never.

Never labor for an idle boast
Of victory o'er another;
But while you strive your uttermost,
Deal fairly with a brother.
Whate'er your station, do your best,
And hold your purpose ever;
And if you fail to beat the rest,
'Tis better late than never.

Choose well the path in which you run—
Succeed by noble daring;
Then, though the last, when once 'tis won,
Your crown is worth the wearing.
Then never fret if left behind,
Nor slacken your endeavor,
But ever keep this truth in mind,
'Tis better late than never.

Intelligent Farmers.

In one sense the present time is the beginning of the year to the farmer. He has just harvested one crop, and the seed for the next is not yet in the ground. It is not a season when he can deliberately set down at home and make figures and indulge in calculations to a great extent, but he can, however busy, find time for a little thought. There are too many of our farmers who do not take the full advantage of their own experience; who farm in a sort of mechanical way—the same this year as last; and who expect to continue in the future as the past. But among the tillers of the soil we have some who see that their calling will repay intelligent action and as amply recompense thought or calculation as any other profession or business. There are innumerable questions at present that the next twenty years will settle. Old fashion farming no longer pays. Ground is worn thin and a new order of things is necessary, and it is the intelligent, reading, progressive farmers who will first learn how to again make money. With good railroad facilities and good markets near us, there is no need of farmers giving up or becoming discouraged. In comparing notes with our energetic neighbor, much of interest to both may be learned; in the reading of the best agricultural journals, containing much from the pen of the practical farmer, will be found many hints that can be converted into money. Intelligent young men, ambitious to rise, can in reality find no pursuit more ennobling and manly than the cultivation, enrichment and adornment of a farm in the "hills and hollows" of old Washington. Half the drudgery of the business has been removed in the recent years by improved machinery. Does any one who has witnessed this progress suppose it is now ended? Are the prospects of any occupation, in respect to cash profits, any brighter than the future prospects of the agriculturalist? But whether times are good or bad, it is always intelligence that wins. It would therefore be wise to give thought to every detail of the work of the coming year. Young and old can profitably study the signs of the future and go to work with an energy and understanding that will be sure to bring success.

American Industry as Seen Abroad.

The London Telegraph comments on recent events as follows: "Five years ago England undoubtedly possessed, in respect to raw material and labor, advantages which America could not pretend to equal. But the marvelous skill of the people of the United States in inventing labor-saving machinery now places them in a position more favorable than that which we enjoy in regard to this branch of industry. They have mills for rolling iron plates, furnaces and various kinds of efficient machinery of American invention in their ship-building yards, and the price of pig iron has been so reduced within the last few years that upon a 3,000-ton ship there is now a saving to Americans of £2,000 in manufactured iron alone. So rapid has been the development of iron manufacture in the United States that today iron is as cheap there as in any other country. A leading element in building a ship is labor, which constitutes about sixty per cent. of her entire cost. This has been cheapened in the United States by the introduction of labor-saving appliances not to be met with in England; besides, the price of manual labor has been brought almost to a level in both countries. The cost of copper has so declined in America that the States have not only almost ceased to purchase the metal, but are now able to export it. The facilities of America for obtaining timber are known to be immensely superior to those possessed by England. Considering in how many ways America has already encroached upon our manufactures and excluded us from her own and other markets, the facts we have stated are not calculated to enliven the outlook of the ship builders on the Clyde, the Tyne, and the Thames."

BETTER to have loved a short girl than never to loved a tall.

The Henry County Lynching.

A gentleman, a citizen of Henry County, has kindly furnished us with some particulars bearing upon the recent hanging at Newcastle, which have not yet been made public.

He informs us that he recently had and interview with a son of old man Parrish, for whose murder Shuck was hung in Owen County, and from young Parrish he learned that Joe Goodrich, one of the victims of the mob in Henry, about whom there were some doubts as to his guilt, had proposed to him and a number of others to organize a mob for the purpose of taking Shuck from jail and hanging him, before he made his confession implicating so many in the terrible crimes that had been committed in Henry, Franklin and Owen counties. He refused to have anything to do the plot, and discouraged others from entering into it. From this it would appear that Joe Goodrich was equally guilty, and deserved as much as the others the terrible fate he met with.

Our informant also states that old man James and Carter, the two men who "squealed" on the gang, have sold all their effects and are preparing to leave the country. It is our informant's impression that there will be a general exodus from that part of the country of all the parties who are implicated in the crimes charged to the Simmons gang.

He also says that the impression is daily growing stronger that Shuck was innocent of the killing of Parrish, but was doubtless an accessory to the murder. Even Mrs. Parrish, her son and daughter, who a few weeks ago were so positive of Shuck's guilt, are now weakening, and express grave doubts about the matter.

Bill Smoot, who has been so severely censured for the interest he manifested in the Goodriches after their death, says he was prompted to do do what he did for them by gratitude. Smoot says that when his father and brother were murdered in a corn field, the Goodriches were the only ones who dared go into the field, remove the bodies and prepare them for burial. When he saw the Goodriches lying dead, with no friendly hand to perform the last sad rites for them, he felt it but justice that he should see them decently interred.—Shelby Sentinel.

Fashion Notes.

Skirts are worn short in front.

Sultan is the new shade of red.

The newest lace is the Oriental.

Fancy buckles are worn with belts.

Belts are worn with street costumes.

Dress trains grow longer and longer.

A favorite dark shade is lees of wine.

Box-pleated corsages are coming in vogue.

Bird of Paradise plumes will be much worn.

Colored silk torchon is one of the new laces.

Marine blue and dark maroon are fashionable.

Bronze brown and bronze green are leading colors.

Prune and puce are the fashionable autumn colors.

Pleated and gathered corsages are coming in vogue.

A great many ribbon bows are seen on all new costumes.

Moonlight beads is another name for clair de la lune jet.

Colored Smyrna and guipure laces are coming in fashion.

The necks of all new dresses open en chale or Pompadour.

Lace bonnet strings and lace scarfs are no longer fashionable.

Basques, tunics, polonaises are all worn, but the shapes are new.

The Serbian is the costume deslined to take the place of the Breton.

The new bonnets have coronet brims and elaborate puffed cap crowns.

The Avalon is a pretty, modest, close-brimmed bonnet for fall wear.

The new fringes combine crimped braid, silk, and clair de la lune jet.

The newest straw and felt hats are the Helmet, Vesta, Astley, Vera and Rival.

Caps and bonnet crowns are large, high, and fantastically treated in the looping and arrangement of the folds.

The latest novelties in scarfs are of crepe lisse, embroidered at the ends with silk in Oriental colors and designs.

A handsome fancy feather for a dressy hat is made of Indian game-cock's tails and lophophore tail feathers combined.

If you pass through the hen-roost with careful eye, just now, you will notice a sadness creeping over the countenances of the old hens. It is not simply the knowledge that they must die, but the thought that they must be sold for spring chickens after they're laid out.

"GENTLEMEN of the jury," said a New York judge, trying a prisoner for murder, "they say that the fact of the prisoner's killing his sweetheart shows that he was insane. Merciful powers! gentlemen, if that be so, what would they have said if he had married her?"

SOME one observes there is a difference between a woman's smile and a man's smile. There is a wide difference sometimes. A woman's smile is seldom stronger than soda-water, while a man's smile is seldom weaker than whisky and water.

FAREWELL TO WOOLPER'S FLOWERY SIDE.

[The following poem was written by R. F. COLEMAN while contemplating a departure to the Far West, and but a few years previous to his death.]

The hour is come, and I must part,
With tearful eye and swelling heart,
From every stream and field and hill
That I have known and loved so well;
Sad and alone, to wander wide
From Woolper's green and flowery side.

Yes, I must go; e'en now too long
I've lingered, list'ning to the song,
So sadly sweet, that mem'ry sung
Of happy days when life was young,
And all my boyish powers were tried,
In guiltless sports on Woolper's side.

Yes, I must go; the word is spoken—
The sweet, but idle dream is broken,
Of hopes I almost thought to be
Foreshadowings of reality.
But all is past, and I must bide
No more on Woolper's flowery side.

Farewell! I rather would be gone
Than linger sadly and alone
Mid scenes so hallowed by the tread
Of kindred parted now, or dead.
God of my fathers, be my guide!
Farewell to Woolper's flowery side!

"Kriminal Kourt."

The following report of the proceedings in Criminal Court was unavoidably omitted last week. This term of the court was very quiet during the first week, all the cases tried being misdemeanors:

The docket, on Saturday of the first week, was exhausted, excepting to the Percival case. Judge McManamn, being interested as counsel for the prosecution, of course could not preside, and none of the lawyers of the bar would serve. An attempt was made, and the Governor telegraphed to commission a Special Judge to try the case, but for some reason best known to himself, did not do so. Consequently the case stands continued.

While the court was waiting for a reply from the Governor, Chas. Cooper, whose recapture we gave an account of last week, was brought and lodged in jail, as was also Sam Johnson, colored, who stole a horse near Big Bone and was captured in Ohio.

Judge McManama, ascertaining that all the witnesses in both these cases could be obtained in a short time, impaneled a special grand jury, which indicted both parties.

The court started anew Tuesday afternoon, and convicted Johnson of horse-stealing.

The impaneling of the jury to try the Cooper case was commenced the same afternoon, but was not completed till Wednesday morning. This case went to the jury about 6 o'clock Wednesday evening, and the jury, in a very few moments, returned a verdict of guilty, and fixed his punishment at ten years in the Penitentiary.

Cooper and Johnson were sentenced that evening; Brown some day or so previous. A. G. Winston and F. Riddell defended Cooper; R. C. Green, Johnson; and Geo. G. Hughes, Brown.

The following is the record made last week:

SEPTEMBER 19.

Same vs John Marshall; continued, and Sarah Ann Jackson fined $20 for failing to appear as a witness, and attachment ordered.

Same vs. Eliza Gorman; dismissed.

SEPTEMBER 20.

Commonwealth vs. Richard Grant; fined $20 and costs.

Same vs. L. A. Loder; two cases keeping tippling house; fined $90 in each case.

Same vs. James Thomas; trespass to personal property; fined $25. Same, for cruelty to animals, $50.

Same vs. John Fullilove and Harrison Grey; gaming; indictment quashed and recommitted to grand jury.

Same vs. Frank Burns; carrying pistol; fined $30 and 10 days imprisonment.

Same vs. same; same offense; judgment for defendant.

Same vs. Parker Mayo; attempted rape; death suggested and indictment dismissed.

James Jelly admitted as attorney at this bar.

Same vs. R. A. Edwards; three cases unlawful prescriptions; filed away.

Same vs. Ira Percival. O. D. McManama declining to preside, an election was held by the Clerk, resulting in the election of Messrs. P. U. Major, J. W. Calvert, A. G. Winston and L. L. Yoder, who successively declined to serve. The Clerk then declared it impossible to elect a Judge, and an order was made certifying the fact to the Governor, and he requested to appoint a Special Judge to try the case.

SEPTEMBER 21.

Commonwealth vs. W. J. Black; two cases; first, carrying pistol; second, malicious shooting and wounding; continued.

Same vs. T. M. Rich; two cases giving liquor to minors; judgment in first for $50; acquitted in second.

Same vs. W. H. Hayes; carrying pistol; indorsed by attorney for Commonwealth and dismissed.

Same vs. C. A. Gaines; carrying pistol; acquitted.

Same vs. J. B. Utz; assault and battery; fined $25.

Same vs. M. V. Allen; giving liquor to minor; fined $50.

Same vs. W. H. Hayes; giving liquor to a minor; fined $50.

The grand jury came into court and filed nine indictments.

Commonwealth vs. Michael Tully; forfeited recognizance; continued, and rule against Sheriff of Kenton for failing to return summons.

Same vs. Thos. Murphy and fourteen others; keeping tippling houses; demurrer sustained and indictments quashed.

John A. Roberts was excused as grand juror and J. Frank Grant as petit juror.

J. Frank Grant was summoned and sworn in as a grand juror in the place of John A. Roberts.

Same vs. Ira Percival; carrying pistol; order issuing bench warrant set aside and summons ordered to issue.

Same vs. John Fullilove and five others; gaming; indictments quashed.

Same vs. Frank Burns and Pearce Bruce; racing on highway; dismissed as to Bruce, and Burns acquitted.

Same vs. Jas. Mahoney. — Fuller and Geo. Drane, &c.; aiding in bringing on prize fight; dismissed.

Same vs. Stant White; assault and battery; fined $7.

J. R. Clutterbuck ordered to pay into the jury fund $45, in money collected by him from parties fined for breach of the peace.

SEPTEMBER 22.

H. Ashley, late Police Judge of the town of Florence, ordered to pay to the Trustee of Jury Fund all moneys in his hands collected as fines for breach of the peace.

Commonwealth vs. Wm. Brown; malicious shooting and wounding; found guilty and punishment fixed at two years' hard labor in the Penitentiary.

It does not look well for a man, when being examined for a juror in a case where the offense is capital, to say he has not formed or expressed an opinion, and then the first thing done in court the next day be the lifting him out of the jury because it is proven he had expressed an opinion.

I HAVE in my possession, picked up on the Fair Ground, a note drawn by Thomas J. Miller, in favor of Charles T. Miller, for $76 30. Parties can have same on application to me, proving property and paying costs of advertising. E. A. TUCKER, Florence, Ky.

The Fourth Book of Chronicles.

And it came to pass after the things before written in the Books of Chronicles, that one Joseph, a man of wit and godly conversation, became much weary with serving his people at the chief city, where our forefathers and the wise men were wont to assemble and make statutes wherewith to rule the people, and to make every man, from the least even unto the greatest, to know his place.

And moreover, the multitude clamored exceeding much, and said unto Joseph:

"Joseph, why hath Satan moved thee to cause all cattle, great and small—yea, even ewe lambs—to be driven from the plains, and from the herbage on the rivulets, and from the thick shade by the brooks of waters, and from all grass that no man claimeth, and fasteneth them up in the sheep fold and the cow pen, even until their ribs sticketh out and the hair pointeth to the mouth, and not to the tail?"

And Joseph, answering the multitude, said:

"Men and brethren of Boone, ye know not what ye say. For hath not the whole order, the mighty brotherhood of those who till the ground, spoken unto me through the mouths of the old man, William, and their prophets, saying, 'Addison, we beseech thee, in the name of the Patron Band, which is numbered by the hundreds and by the thousands, and of all people, new that thou art in the great city and nigh to the Governor, and hath his ear, pass for us, we pray thee, this certain statute our Granger scribes and the patriarchs hath prepared for thee; that every man may stand good for his own oxen, his sheep, his horses, and for any other four-footed beast he hath!' Why, now, therefore, do ye murmur? and why shouldst thou turn back upon thine own tracks and confound the prophets, and tempt them to betray thee, or become as hypocrites?"

But the multitude grew wroth at Joseph's words, and spake again unto him, saying:

"Joseph, why didst thou submit thyself unto the cunning of Beelzebub, the chief of devils? and why didst thou suffer him to move thee in thy heart to cause the angel of death to move over the land and number all the dogs, male and female, and even the speckled pup, and sprinkle upon their heads an assesment of death and tithes? Yea, even thee, in the wickedness of thy heart, hast thought to murder all the dog tribe, that, forsooth, the baying of the mastiff, the snapping of the terrier, and the music of the fox hound might no more be heard, and that sheep folds might be built up, and the ewe lambs multiply and replenish the earth with their young and their flesh and their long wool, wherewith all the people might be fed and clothed, and pay up all that do against them, whether of merchandise or of bounty tax, or any other thing."

And Joseph, not being a man of strife, sought not further to prevail with the multitude, but saith in his heart: "I will betake myself to my own home, and sit me down under my own vine and fig tree, and no more will I seek to make statutes for the people; for I know of a truth they are much grieved at my doings; I will await, for I know at a more convenient season my people will perceive the wisdom of my decrees, and call for me again to make laws for them, peradventure the number of my days be lengthened one hundred score years."

And thereupon Joseph withdrew to his own home, and there abideth and feasteth himself daily upon the flesh of oxen and savory meats and fish; and sometimes he taketh a little wine for his stomach's sake.

And when Joseph ceased to serve the people, Reuben and Granville and James sought to take his place and sit themselves in his seat. And of their striving together, and the wars which they carried on, the one against the other, till Reuben and James and their tribes submitted unto Granville, and he became the great Captain of his people and of his generation—are not these things to be written in the Fifth Book of the Chronicles, where it will also be written how that the stock law and the dog law and the fish law neither hath, nor shall be, blotted from the Pentateuch.

Sweetness.

A few evenings since a young man listened attentively to his "sweetness" perform a piece of music on the organ, and, when done, he remarked:

"Do you know there is but one thing in this big world I think sweeter than that piece of music?"

"What is that?" asked she.

"Don't like to tell," said he.

"Oh, do tell me; I won't tell it," said she, imploringly.

The young man blushed half way down his spinal column, put the index finger of his right hand in the corner of his mouth, heaved a sigh, and, in broken sentences, said:

"It's you—I think you are—sweeter'n lusses candy!"

They both still live.

—Louisville Commercial: The workingmen of Louisville will lose friends and strength among friends if they do not reduce the number of statesmen in their ranks. Too much leadership will kill their organization.

—Henderson News: A number of forlorn-looking men, with their wives and children, were on the streets last week, hailing from down the river. They were all skin and bones, showing that chills and fever had played sad havoc with them.

—Eminence Constitutionalist: The ghosts of the murdered highwaymen, it is said, constitute a better police force for the town of Newcastle than all the law officers the place has ever possessed, and the old ladies exclaim: "Thank heaven! At last my chickens are safe!"

—Kentucky Republican: The hickory-nut crop in this county will fall away below an average this year. Last fall they were so plentiful that they were gathered up and brought to town by the wagon load. Several car loads were shipped from this place to Chicago.

—Princeton Banner: Sow all the wheat you can this fall, and put it in well. Fallow deep, put in good and sound wheat, and you will not regret it. But just put it in roughly, and use trifling, inferior wheat for seed, and you will be sorry next year that you sowed any at all.

—The Bowling Green Pantagraph has set up a big job on its unsuspecting subscribers and agents. It promises "on the 31st of September" to award, as a prize to the agent securing the largest number of subscribers up to that date, a fine sewing machine. As the specified date will never arrive, of course that machine will never be awarded as a prize to anybody.

—Shelby Sentinel: Jacob Riddle, 73 years old, somewhat astonished Deputy County Clerk Sammy Shannon, the other day, by demanding his "death warrant." He soon unRiddled himself by modifying his request to marriage license, and, there being no question as to the legality of his age, the papers were issued permitting him to marry Martha B. Nutgrass, aged 42.

—Courier-Journal: Blanton Duncan has been before the grand jury of the Circuit Court to have an indictment drawn against John R. Morton, of the Sunday United Workman. He claims Morton has libeled him. The grand jury returned an indictment Monday. Morton says he will prove all he has said about Duncan, has prepared his defense, and, under advice from his counsel, has refused to accept bail, which was set at $300.

—Clark County Democrat: We heard a good story yesterday, which we repeat with all reverence, and which was told by the good Bishop himself: Many years ago, when Bishop Kavanaugh was in Versailles, he was taking a walk in the suburbs. As he passed a barn he saw a man prostrate, trying to get up. Stopping to look in, he discovered that it was Tom Marshall on one of his unfortunate sprees. They were intimately acquainted, and as soon as Marshall saw the Bishop he saluted him, and, asking him to come in, propounded this question: "Can you tell me, my dear Bishop, where you and I resemble Jesus Christ?" "No," was the reply. "Well," said Tom, "it is in this—I have not where to lay my head, and you are without form or comeliness." The Bible reader will remember Isaiah's prophecy with reference to the Saviour.

—Louisville Evening News: The New Albany (Ind.) reporter of the Evening News furnishes the following: "The question of the whereabouts of the notorious cut-throat robber chieftain, Jack Simmons, the son of 'King Jim,' who recently expiated his crimes by having a hempen necktie put on him by the outraged citizens of Henry and adjoining counties, has been a puzzle to the Sheriffs of Kentucky, and we understand a reward of $500 has been offered by Governor McCreary for his apprehension. We will, for half that sum, tell anybody who comes legally invested to take him exactly where he is secreted; but we warn them that Jack will not surrender gracefully, but, in all probability, will choose to die, rather than surrender. Had it not been for the foolishness and extreme temerity of a Kentucky Sheriff, this red-handed murderer would now be in the Henry County jail, or else would long ere this have been swinging from the same bridge that his unnatural father and the Goodriches met their death on. The story of the tragic hanging of these men has already been told in these columns, and a repetition is not necessary. This item is not written to create a sensation or to fill up space. We know positively his whereabouts, and if any of those outraged Sheriffs are anxious to go for him, we are ready to impart information that will plainly indicate his hiding place.

THE BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL,
Editor and Proprietor.

BURLINGTON, KY., OCTOBER 4.

Oh, those mails!

Some think the President's Southern lean is growing.

The Louisville Exposition is attracting considerable attention.

The State of Massachusetts has abolished the ancient office of Coroner.

The Southern Indiana Editorial Association met in Madison last week.

The continued dry weather is distressing the inhabitants of Lawrenceburg, this State.

For some time now, there will be interesting proceedings in the North, in the way of elections.

On the 25th ult., a man was hung in Virginia. As is customary, he died protesting his innocence.

In New Jersey, the Democrats have General George B. McClellan in the field as their candidate for Governor.

The President and party arrived safely at Washington on the twenty-fifth of last month, having completed his Southern tour.

Snow in the Balkans has somewhat checked the fight between the Russians and Turks. The armies are now fortifying for winter quarters.

A delegation of Indians have waited upon the President to ascertain what is going to be given them in consideration of the Black Hills reservation.

The condition of Senator Morton is still uncertain. Some days he appears much improved, and on others he is not expected to survive but a short time.

There is considerable speculation as to which of the many candidates for United States Senator has the best prospect for election by the next General Assembly.

The County Court wants to ascertain whether or not it is necessary to build a cistern in the Court-house yard. That was ascertained many years since, and clearly demonstrated last Monday.

It is now the talk that the Governor will commission a Special Judge to try the Percival case, and that a called term of the Criminal Court will be held, commencing the fifth Monday in this month.

The Louisville Commercial styles the speech made by Mr. Pratt, the Chairman of the Massachusetts Convention, a stupid affront to the Administration. The platform adopted by the convention, the Commercial accredits to Senator Conkling.

The Vicksburg Herald comes out in favor of preventing all who can not read and write, regardless of race, color or previous condition of servitude, from voting. Such a measure would greatly reduce the voting population in the Southern States.

In the next Congress there will be a vigilant watch kept on Blaine and Conkling. Blaine is plowing around stumps while Conkling is kicking clear out of the harness prepared by the Administration. These gentlemen will probably stir up considerable sediment when Congress meets.

The editor of the New York Sun has his hair all turned the wrong way because Governor Hampton met President Hayes at Louisville. The Sun says:

> We beg to remind Governor Hampton that neither the road to public favor nor that to political honesty leads by the White House, when that mansion is occupied by a tenant who holds it by a fraudulent lease.

The Patent Office at Washington was visited by a destructive fire a few days since. The building, except the roof, was fire-proof; but the damages are estimated at an amount exceeding half a million dollars. The principal amount of damages was in the destruction of models, of which more than ten thousand were burned, and were chiefly models of farming machinery.

A strange lawsuit is in progress in Australia. A Tasmania capitalist purchased two islands from the government. When he proceeded to take possession the islands disappeared, and where they stood was only water. Now he wants the government to give him back his money, and the courts of the colony are to decide whether it shall or not. Perhaps this is the first time volcanic agency was ever made the subject of a lawsuit.

Madison County, a few days since, was the scene of another killing. One of the parties, and the one who did the killing, is no less a person than Gen. Cassius M. Clay, while the one slain is a negro man named White. White, it is said had threatened Clay's life because he (Clay) had detected White's mother stealing while in his employ and discharged her. The day of the killing, Gen. Clay was riding along the road when he discovered the negro in one of his fields attempting to hide behind a horse. Gen. Clay approached him and ordered him to throw up his hands, which he did. Clay spoke to White of his bad conduct, and ordered him to leave the place, but not to move till he had mounted his horse. When Gen. Clay turned his back the negro made a rush for him. Gen. Clay saw the movement and fired twice, both shots taking effect, the negro falling dead. Clay surrendered himself to the authorities. The negroes of the county were considerably excited over the matter. Public opinion sustains the action of Clay.

Louisville has got the smallpox.

ST. LOUIS LETTER.

St. Louis, Mo., September 29, 1877.
To the Editor of the Recorder:

The week closes with a better attendance on the Exposition, and as next week is our regular Fair week, every body and his wife is looking forward to the greeting of many country cousins and friends. We think it a good thing to have these shows at least once a year, as they give us an opportunity to see our friends from the country, and then they cause most people to have a clean house and an open heart at least once every 12 months. We rather like them, as we always had a fondness for our friends, and we sometimes consider, were it not for these Fairs, we would never know how much our friends think of us.

Next Monday all the schools will be closed, as the managers of the Fair have tendered a "free blow" on that day, to all the school children, and you may bet your bottom nickle the juveniles are happy, and looking forward to a glorious day, when they will see the elephant. Next Thursday is what we call "All Fools Day," as every body goes to the show that day—your correspondent included. We have both our ticket and dinner provided, so we expect to be "thar," and at times we feel so happy that we would, like to attend two such shows at once. We have not thought it worth our while to fill up your space with details of what we have out West, as we presume everybody knows we have a big city, and do things on a bigger scale than almost any other city, Chicago not excepted. The latter city can beat us on bank failures, but every body knows our Whisky Ring was twice as large as theirs. In fact they had to come down here and get some of our experts to teach them how to run a ring, and then they did not make as much money out of it as it is said some of our local citizens made. While we are on this subject we may as well say Gen. John M. McDonald, the head devil of the Whisky Ring here, was on 'Change yesterday, looking as gay as a lark and as happy as a big sunflower. He was pardoned out of the Penitentiary about 7 or 8 months since, having served out only about one-half the time for which he was sentenced. Knowing ones say he is at least two hundred thousand dollars ahead in the notorious transactions, which is probably as much as any man West made after all expenses &c., &c., were paid.

In the suit of the Government against Uncle Billy McKee, of the Globe Democrat, to recover monies stolen by the Whisky Ring, Judges Miller and Dillon on yesterday decided that his pardon, being in full, barred all civil action. So the old man may be regarded as free once more. The decision was listened to with considerable interest by a vast crowd of business men, and is meeting with considerable comment on the part of the legal fraternity. Attorney Bliss says he has a right to appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States, on writ of error, but he supposes the case is virtually ended, and the old man will mend his ways. Every body likes Uncle Billy, and it is a great pity that a man of his age and social standing should be caught sailing in such a ship. But under the old dispensation the way of transgressor was hard, and we suppose it is right it should be so in these degenerate days.

Members of the various Christian Churches of the city are perfecting arrangements to entertain visitors to the American Christian Missionary Society, which meets in this City October 25th. This being the first regular meeting of the society ever held west of the Mississippi, the brethren are anticipating a liberal attendance, and ample provisions will be made for the comfort of all who may attend. We, of course, will expect to see the Church in old Boone well represented.

The Recorder of this week is at hand, and as you are now entering on your third year, we repeat, reaffirm, and wish we had the lungs of Gabriel, that we might proclaim it to the ears of every son and daughter of old Boone, that they owe to themselves, as well as the publisher, to support such a paper well. The paper is a credit to the county, and should be in the hands of every reader in the county. We know of but few, if any, better county papers, and the great mystery with us is, how you can afford to publish so good a paper for the price. Let the good people of old Boone awake to their duty, and double your subscription list.

The weather for the past week has been perfectly delightful, and everybody is curious to know what has become of our equinox, he has not been here. One old sinner said, the other day, that he was absorbed or swallowed up in President Hayes' conciliatory policy. At any rate he "haint" been here.

Obituary.

Nellie, only child of A. R. and Sallie Perkins, of Cincinnati, lost her mother February 1st, 1876. Being then but one year old, she was cherished for eight or nine months by her affectionate Grandma Perkins. Afterward her father had her cared for, as best he could, by kind families with whom he boarded. Inheriting, however, the constitutional delicacy of her frail but accomplished mother, in the dust and heat of the city she began to decline, last July, and was removed, the 1st of August, to a delightful location in the country by her Grandfather, who lived in this village more than forty years ago. After tenderly nursing her for seven weeks, mostly by her Aunt the last three, on Thursday eve, 20th of September, she bade her weeping friends a peaceful farewell. Embalming her little body with tears and flowers, in a beautiful white case, it was returned to Cincinnati the next day, and attended by her bereaved father, grandparents (R. M. Bartlett) and dear friends, it was laid beside the mother in Spring Grove Cemetery. Hence the little poem below

BY HER GRANDPA. W. PERKINS.

Fold away her little dresses,
And all she used to wear;
Softly wrap the silken tresses
From her lovely suit of hair.
Rings, pictures and her kitty,
Endeared to her and me,
And which she called so pretty,
No more can Nellie see.

How oft she'd say to "Auntie dear,"
"Now sing about the birdies!"
And then to "Grandpa," just as clear,
"Tell Nellie 'bout the birdies!"
How oft she'd laugh at kitty's plays,
Then fold it to her breast;
How oft she'd notice all our ways
With keen, discerning zest.

But now, alas! her charming voice
Can no more touch the ear;
Her songs, which made us all rejoice,
We never more shall hear.
Her pictures, toys and kitty's left
To tell us she's no more,
Reminding us that we're bereft
In sorrows sad and sore.

True, many say that she has gone
With angels up on high;
To live and sing in that sweet home,
Where none can ever die.
That we may, too, soon join her there,
In love and joy and peace,
Freed from all pain and toil and care
In bliss which ne'er will cease.

Such hopeful pictures seem too fair
To ever catch a stain;
And, hence, my pen shall take good care
To let the hope remain.
None more than I can long to meet
Sweet Nellie in pure love;
None more than I can long to greet
All friends in heaven above.

Both Sides Want It.

The business men of Lawrenceburg are anxious that a turnpike be built from the ferry on this side to Gainesville. If some enterprising farmer in that vicinity will take the matter in hand and set the ball to rolling, the road can be built in a short time. The farmers will be liberally assisted by the citizens of Lawrenceburg."

We clip the above from our enterprising neighbor, the Boone County (Ky.) Recorder, for the purpose of calling the attention of our business men to this subject. Why is this matter postponed? Will not some of our energetic men take hold of this enterprise and put it in shape? We need but two or three miles of pike to place our city in easy communication with a large portion of Boone County. Let us hear from some of our citizens on the subject. We would be pleased to hear from Boone County, also. Now's the time. Let us not postpone it any longer.—Lawrenceburg Register.

RAIN is badly needed.

THE ague and quinine are in the land.

SOME taxes were being paid, Monday.

THE prospects for dry weather were never better.

SEVERAL names added to the list of posters this week.

THE river is very low. Its life stream is fast ebbing away.

IT now takes considerable coaxing to get water from the cisterns.

THE farmers will soon begin talking about their huge ears of corn.

HENRY CLORE has been happy since Saturday night. It's a girl.

THE camp meeting season has collapsed, and the spring chickens are exultant.

THERE will be a spelling school at the White's School-house Friday evening next.

THE choir meetings have been revived, and Friday night is the regular time of meeting.

THE second edition of summer was a success. The run on coal piles lopped off rather suddenly.

THE equinoxial storm forgot to put in an appearance this fall. A decent one would be a welcome visitor now.

THE Covington Commonwealth is now a daily, as well as a weekly, journal. We wish brother Casey success in his enterprise.

LAST Sunday a week, Miss Anna Bruce lost a curl in the Big Bone neighborhood. The finder will confer a favor by returning it to her at Walton.

THE Aurora Independent thought last week, it had discovered "Old Jim Simmons," over there, or, at least, a man that answers "Jim's" description.

THE protracted dry weather delayed the sprouting of the small grain sown. It is better than had the grain sprouted; for it surely would have perished.

THERE is now, or ought to be, but little tobacco remaining in the field. Mr. Frost will call on these neglected crops in a few evenings at the farthest.

THE Murphy movement, we understand, has dropped in upon the Big Bone settlement. A couple of lectures will be delivered there next Saturday evening by two eminent gentlemen.

It may be well for the sportsmen to ask permission of some of the farmers before they invade their premises with gun and dog. We have heard some stout threats made against trespassers.

LAST Thursday night, Sofa, next to the youngest child of James and Virginia Riddell, died of diphtheria. The remains were interred in the Burlington burying ground last Sunday afternoon.

MR. NOAH CRAVEN sent to our office one of the longest Irish potatoes we have seen this year. It weighed one pound, and was of the Early Rose tribe. Mr. Craven claims this as an average potato in his lot.

LAST week, George Rush fell from a building on which he was at work, dislocated one bone in his arm and broke another; of course George is now laid up for repairs and suffers some pain from the injured member.

BURLINGTON is now supplied with mail from the Cincinnati Southern Railroad.—Rising Sun Recorder.

Read your proof! Insert the word "half" before "supplied," and then you will be nearer correct.

THE Christian Church at Florence has, for the past two or three weeks, been experiencing quite an interesting meeting, under the leadership of Elder Row. The meeting closed Tuesday night. There were 42 additions to the church.

THE Teets' show pitched its tent here last Saturday, about noon. At 3 o'clock the street pageant took place on the corner at the Boone House. A bass drum and a violin made up the musical instruments, and about two dozen men and boys the crowd.

IT will be seen by an advertisement in another column that Mr. Sebastian Menzer, of Florence, has removed to Greenwood Lake. Mr. Menzer is one of the best wagon makers in the country, and those needing work in his line would do well to give him a call.

THE Shelby Sentinel man is responsible for this one:

After getting their hats so far back on their heads that there was danger of sitting down on them, the pretty girls have made a change, and it is the style now to let the hat rest on the nose.

NOTICE is hereby given that a funeral discourse in memory of Vivenday Clore, wife and consort of Joseph H. Clore, and also daughter of Absalom Aylor, will be preached at Florence X-Roads on the first Sabbath in October, 1877, at 2 o'clock, by Elder E. Stephens.

LAST Thursday, Henly Smith's nag became frightened and ran off, throwing Henly out and over a fence into a yard, and pretty effectually demolishing the buggy, to which she had been hitched but a few moments. Henly and the mare were both somewhat scratched and bruised.

County Court.

The attendance at court, Monday, was unusually small, and very little business was done in the County Court. Below we give the record. The following Justices were present: M. B. Green, L. A. Loder, J. C. Hensley, T. J. Akin, O. W. Baker, T. N. Stephens, J. S. Huey, O. Gaines, J. A. Kendall, R. Conner, Abs. Conner, H. Ashley, Cy Riddell, M. C. Norman, H. Bannister, W. W. Garnett.

Geo. Stanler granted license to keep tavern in Walton. B. S. Nooll licensed to keep tavern in same place.

Jackson Carder's heirs filed a petition for a division of lands.

Commissioners filed their report on the proposition to establish a road running to Jas. Vest's, thence to Gallatin County line.

The commissioners in the case of Warren Rogers' widow and heirs, on petition for division of lands and allotment of dower, filed their report, which was confirmed, and L. H. Dills appointed to make deeds.

In the bounty fund tax, the court decided to hear no more proof for exemption from payment of the tax till it is disposed of by the Court of Appeals.

L. H. Dills was appointed to make settlement with the Sheriff for the months of January and October.

M. V. Cave was exempted from working on roads.

J. P. Utrey, by attorney Geo. G. Hughes, offered the county $100 in cash and one-sixth of the proceeds for the privilege of digging for bones and other fossils on the county land at Big Bone Springs for one year, commencing January 1, 1878. The motion was continued till January term, 1878.

The following were appointed Supervisors of Tax for 1878: J. A. Gaines, H. T. Snyder, Sam Hind, John Ransone, Hampton Adams, O. J. Harris, S. P. Brady, Joel B. Frazier, N. S. Walton, Wm. Watts, sr.

T. W. Finch was ordered to advertise and sell the old iron taken off the jail.

M. B. Green and Oscar Gaines were appointed to examine the Poor-house property, and report at the January term, 1878, its condition and what had best be done.

H. Bannister and R. Conner were appointed a committee to ascertain the necessity for building a cistern in the Court-house yard. They are to report at the January term.

When the time came to fix the allowance for the services of the County Judge and County Attorney, Judge Phelps vacated the seat. Esquire Riddell, by request, took the bench and presided till the salaries were fixed. Each of the above officers were allowed $400.

ONE night last week the dry goods and grocery store of Roger Clements, of Union, was entered by burglars and considerable goods taken. The entrance was effected by boring through the door. Three parties were arrested—Ira Grippen, — Stony and a boy by the name of Icenogle—on suspicion. The boy Icenogle was the first one arrested, and on statements made by him, implicating Stony and Grippin, they were arrested and lodged in jail at this place Thursday, and remained till Saturday morning, when they were taken to Union for examination. Icenogle had made about the same statements to some two or three persons, but, when put upon the witness stand, Saturday, swore that all he had told about the matter was false, and that he knew nothing about it. Grippin and Stony both proved an alibi. Stony proved that the night the store was burglarized he stayed with a farmer for whom he was working near Patriot, Ind. All the parties were discharged, but it is generally believed that young Icenogle knows something about the matter.

For the first time for many moons, Mr. W. J. Cowen has struck hands with his friends in his natal town. Will is looking well.

MR. C. W. RIDDELL, of Williamstown, was in town Sunday and Monday. Charles' smiles are as refreshing as ever. He reports business as moving at a 2:40 gait with them.

IN order that our readers may understand something of the magnitude of the work of producing a newspaper every week for a year, we furnish the following figures: During the past year we have given our readers 14,700 inches of reading matter, the width of one column, exclusive of advertisements, or 1,225 feet, equal to 408 yards, or more than one-fifth of a mile. This reading matter will average eight lines to the inch, and, strung out in a line, would reach the great length of 22,050 feet, or four miles and one-sixteenth. And all this reading matter, most of it home news, we have furnished each subscriber for $1 50.

ANOTHER "festibule" broke out among the darkies in St. George's Chapel, last Saturday night. This one did not conclude with a jamboree of the first magnitude, but peace and love did not prevail during the entire evening. The principal "brigadee" was the result of one of the females scooping the proceeds of the festival for the purpose of liquidating a bill she had against the minister who was officiating.

THE usual Sunday morning dullness was somewhat dispelled, last Sunday, by the appearance on the street of James Blythe and his trick mule. They devoted their time to the performance of a single trick, but finally the mule put a double bump in his back, and Jim got off of it as quick as if it had been red hot. No damages.

THE Covington Ticket never speaks but it says something. In the following, the Ticket is exactly correct:

We related the facts in regard to the uncertainty of the U. S. mail between Burlington and Covington a day or two ago. The people who depend upon this mail are outraged at their treatment, and complaints are loud and deep. The authorities should at once restore the contract to the Stage Line Co., that has carried the mail between these two points so long, so regularly and so faithfully, at such nominal figures. It is a shameful piece of business to carry the people's mail around Robin Hood's barn to please a great railroad management.

From one of our Hoosier exchanges we take the following good joke on Blue Jeans Williams:

While Governor Williams was attending the Rushville Fair last week, and during the time he was making his speech, he remarked "that he would not make the same speech he made at Connersville, or the people would think that he could make only one speech." Some fellow out in the crowd sung out in a loud voice: "If you can make one speech, I'll be darned if you don't deceive your looks." The crowd roared, and the Governor's speech was just five minutes long by the watch.

HAVE any of our citizens thought of what a dangerous condition the town has been in for the past two or three weeks as regards a fire. There has not been water enough in the town to extinguish a small fire. Let us have some protection against fires. A public cistern can be built at a small cost and the Court-house roof be made to supply it with water. Think about this.

LAST Saturday night, the Beech Grove neighborhood, in Kenton County, was again infested with Burlington serenaders. This time the boys had some bad luck, as well as fine wine and cake, and the turning over and wrecking of a carriage and a bass viol come up under the head of accidents during the excursion. Nobody killed is classed as good fortune.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Rabbit Hash,

The farmers are sadly in need of rain which would help the wheat a great deal. Potato digging has commenced. The crop will yield from 20 to 30 bushels per acre.

There was a Ministers and Deacons Meeting at the Baptist Church last week, commencing Friday and continuing three days. As to ministers and deacons, the attendance was small. The crowd was large each day and especially the last. Rev. R. E. Kirtley and Rev. A. M. Vardiman preached some very able sermons during the meetings. Mr. Kirtley and Mr. John Huey each read splendid essays.

Personal—Mr. C. G. Riddell now has 50 scholars in his school... Ben. Morgan, an aged citizen of Rising Sun, died last Thursday. His age was 70 years.....Joe. Ward and Lucien Calvert will start down the river next week on Hemphill's flat boat.....John P. Kyle has moved back to his farm on the river. Mr. James McGlasson, of Hart County, is in our midst.

Florence.

At this writing meeting is still in progress at the Christian Church. Since my last communication there have been thirty-eight additions to the church, and the interest in the meetings seems to be increasing. Last Sunday night there were more persons turned away than got in the church. This has been the case on several nights.

Mr. Henry Middleton, who, for time time, has been in the employ of Barney Von Bokern, as teamster, got his arm broken by a kick from a mule, last Friday morning. Having a family dependent upon him for support, his misfortune was the more distressing. Barney, with commendable generosity, told him that he should have pay so long as he remains disabled.

Rev. Redd has taken up his residence in our town, and has already made many friends among our people.

The Trotting Association have concluded to have no meeting this fall; because they think it won't pay.

Mr. Sebastian Menzer, who has been our wagonmaker for several years, is going to move to Greenwood. We are sorry lose him, as he is a good mechanic and a first rate fellow. We wish him success in his new place of business. USO.

Scattersville.

This beautiful place is situated in Boone, and is noted for its extensive borders and its sparse population. Hence its name, "Scattersville."

The farmers of this section are engaged in their usual fall work, cutting corn, housing tobacco, &c., though housing tobacco is, we believe, about completed. Tobacco and corn are good, some, of course, excepted.

Sweet potatoes are "healthy." Two were digged from a hill in Lewis Conner's patch weighing eight pounds—one three and one-half, and the other four and one-half. The patch has not yet been thoroughly canvassed, so we don't know of what magnitude some are.

Some improvements are going on in our "city." Mr. O. C. Conner has a cellar and cellar house under process of making. The cellar is, we believe, about completed. It is now ready for the carpenter to start up a racket on. A stock barn, too, has been recently erected in our midst, constituting one of the main buildings of Scattersville.

Notwithstanding all the appearances of fall of the year, it seems utterly impossible to convince a few plum trees standing in Lewis Conner's yard of the fact. They are putting on their spring garment of bloom, to be taken off, of course, in a short while by Uncle Jack. Just like a great many individuals of the present age, who put on their fine apparel too often, and "frost" gets in their pockets. Let us profit by the lesson.

Professor Sullivan, of Woolper nation, is now teaching "the young idea how to shoot," at the Locust Grove educational institution, just beyond the border of this ville. His school, we judge, is flourishing, from the number flowing into it from this immediate portion of our "city."

Uncle Mat Acra was very badly injured on last Wednesday morning. He was alone up in the tobacco barn near the roof transferring tobacco from one tier up to the one next to the roof, and a pole in the tier to which he was transferring, broke down, striking him on the head and knocking him down. He was caught by his arm on, we suppose, a pole below, and was hanging, it is believed, about an hour before found. When found, he was helpless and in apparently serious condition. He was conveyed to the house and medical aid immediately summonsed. He is getting along now very slowly. It is thought that his condition is not dangerously serious.

Mr. Moses S. Rice, jr., wife and daughter, of our town, have recently gone to Covington, Ky. Quite a vacancy has been created in consequence of their moving. It makes our town more "Scatter-ville" than ever. We regret losing Mose and his kind and worthy lady, and, too, the young folks say "girls are too scarce in this neighborhood" (why don't they say "town?" that would include all), and hence his daughter will be greatly missed, no doubt; and especially so when considering the fact that she is just the proper age to devote a great deal of her time to music. Mose, our best wishes are with you. We hope you will prosper in your new sphere—those of a cross-legged tailor and a slick-tongued clerk. Peace and plenty be with you and your household. ...RECORDER.

..., OCTOBER 4.

...BATTERIES.

...secret—honor bright—
...story, Joe;
...happened to me last night
...parade ball, you know.

...have noticed I've spooned of late
...ys—nothing else to do—
...other pretty—at any rate—
...flirting, and I am, too

...a friend of my sister Fan;
...rooms joins mine, and the walls are thin,
So I, by accident, heard them plan
Their dresses for masquerading in.

The ball was lovely, the costumes fine,
And either dancing or iced champagne—
Can't say which, but expect the wine—
Just a little confused my brain.

So meeting Laura—a gypsy maid—
Knew her at once by her dress, you see—
I took her out for a promenade
On the piazza along with me.

"Flirted?" Said I was deep in love,
Madly worshiped the ground she trod,
Vowed it by all below, above:
Did she return it?—a word, a nod?

The fair head dropped in assent; and I
Snatched off the mask, with rapture kissed her.
A peal of laughter was my reply.
By Jove! Old boy, it was my sister.

Laugh at me, Joe! Don't spare my pride!
Nor mind my feelings—I feel so glad
It was my sister, not Laura Clyde:
Heavens! What an escape I had!

Justices Can't Try Breaches of the Peace.

The Mayfield Monitor says, by article 19, chapter 29, General Statutes, Justices of the Peace, at an intravention of a jury, were empowered to try riots, routs, and breaches of the peace, within sixty days after the commission of the act, and enforce their judgment rendered upon a verdict of the jury to the extent of a fine of one hundred dollars and fifty days imprisonment. And the Court of Appeals, after the enactment of the General Statutes, decided that the court could impose a greater punishment for a breach of the peace than one hundred dollars and fifty days imprisonment. The General Statutes became the law of the land the first day of December 1873.

After this, on the first day of January, 1877, the Codes of Practice of Kentucky became the law of the land, and by a rule of construction these codes repeal all former laws that came in collict with them, except when specifically provided otherwise. Therefore, section 5, of article 2, of the Criminal Code repeals article 19, chapter 29, General Statutes, so far as they conflict, and this section 5 of the Code is as follows: "Justices' courts shall have jurisdiction concurrent with city or police courts, but exclusive of circuit courts (except of indictments in the circuit courts against surveyors of public highways) of prosecutors for offenses, the punishment of which is limited to a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars.

The italics are ours, but these latter words of this section show that a Justice has no jurisdiction to try an offense when the punishment exceeds a fine of one hundred dollars. By section 4, of article 19, chapter 29, General Statutes, the punishment for a breach of the peace is fixed at one hundred dollars and fifty days imprisonment.

The Criminal Code being the latest law enacted by the General Assembly, limits the jurisdiction of Justices to cases where only a fine of one hundred dollars can be imposed, and therefore deprives them of the power to try breaches of the peace.

A Promissory Note upon the Condition of Drunkeness.

A curious case has been decided by the Supreme Court of Illinois. The defendant, Myers, made, signed and delivered his promissory note in these words:

"For value received, one day after I, at any time, become intoxicated or drunk, or mistreat or abuse Minnie Myers, I promise to pay to L. M. Phillips the sum of $600, for the use of Minnie Myers, with 10 per cent. interest from maturity until paid."

The maker of the note soon after did "become intoxicated or drunk," according to his custom, and was sued by Phillips.

"The complaint set forth that several of the acts upon the doing of which the instrument, by its terms, became payable, had been done. Defendant among other things, plead that the instrument was without consideration, being given for a promise on the part of his wife, Minnie Myers, named therein, that she would live with him. A replication to the plea stated that the defendant had been guilty of habitual drunkenness and of cruelty to his wife, and a suit by her against him for divorce on this account was pending at the time the instrument was made, and the consideration for it was that the wife would dismiss the suit, condone the cause of divorce and return and live with him, all of which she did. To this replication defendant demurred. The court below sustained the demurrer, the Supreme Court reversed the decision, holding that the consideration was sufficient."

PERHAPS there is a girl in Oregon who killed five or six panthers, and perhaps there is a panther there who has killed five or six girls. Don't believe any one-sided statement.

A SCOTCHMAN, being asked what he thought of a certain man for truth, replied: "Well, I should think he handles the truth very carelessly."

How Moonshine Whisky is Made.

A Mount Sterling correspondent of the Enquirer explains the way the thing is done in a recent letter, says the Mount Sterling Sentinel.

Something of the manner in which moonshine whisky is made in the mountain counties of Kentucky was obtained from a resident of Morgan County, while here in charge of the United States Marshal, charged with selling whisky without license, and who claimed to be a good Republican, and held a store keeper's commission in his pocket. By a personal request his name is with held. His statement is to the effect that several hundred illicit stills are constantly in operation in the counties of Morgan, Wolfe, Magfin, Breathitt and Madifee, and the manner and trick of doing the thing is this. A practicable site is obtained behind some mountain cliff—as for instance one of the cliffs of Glady, where no traveler finds his way, and where Deputy United States Marshals seldom raid. He obtains authority to make a run, and the capacity of his moonlight still is about twenty gallons per day. The store keeper is notified and a run commences on the first day of June, say. One barrel is made upon which the Government revenue is paid, and then the distillery suspends and runs the remainder of the month on a blind, at all of which the store keeper winks and keeps mum, for which service he is evidently well paid by the moonshine man. At the beginning of the following month the same operation is gone through with. Now, the reader will observe the store keeper gets four dollars per day from the Government for the whole month, though the distiller makes but one barrel of whisky on which revenue is paid. You see then, this patriotic office holder secures, the revenue on one barrel, sits down upon it and watches the moonshiner rob the revenue the remainder of the month, and pockets his hush-money and is happy in belonging to the great Republican party. The above facts can be substantiated as my informant is willing to swear to them. He further stated that a number of stills are in operation all over the Ninth District as in the counties above named, that paid no revenue whatever, of which the store keepers have full knowledge.

Languages.

As time goes on the languages spoken in the world will steadily grow fewer. Three hundred years ago Cornish was beginning to disappear as a spoken language, and a similar fate is now being experienced by the Breton, in many respects a kind dialect. A Breton sailor told a traveler that three generations of his family were alive—his father, who once spoke Breton; himself who spoke French and Breton, and his son, only spoke French. So in Ireland every year those speaking Irish decrease. Twelve years ago a tourist in Kerry met a well dressed young man of the farmer class on a country road, of whom he asked some questions, which were answered very politely, but very little to the point. At length he said: "Truth is, sir, I can speak very little English." Asking some well-to-do peasant woman in Clare for some milk, they made signs for him to wait, and called a man, who interpreted. The rising generation, however, nearly all speak English except some on the wild Atlantic washed islands. In the Isle of Man it is as described in Breton. The Welsh, however, stick to their vernacular, and when you get into a rural district in a county not contiguous to the English border, you might as well be in Russia. A famous English Judge, who on one occasion observed, "There is a degree of cunning and duplicity in the conduct of this case such as is, I regret to say, not uncommon in the principality," used to aver that the Welsh stuck to their vernacular in a great measure to defeat the ends of justice.

Clay's Bosom Friend.

There is to be seen the venerable old Whig gentleman who made oath and kept it, that he would never cut his hair or shave his beard till Henry Clay was elected President. He hobbles around with a crooked cane, and an old brier-wood pipe in his mouth. Get into conversation with him and ask him if he has lived long in Washington. "A great while, sir," he will answer, morosely, as if those many years were not pleasant to remember.

"Have you any recollection of the men of the old regime?"

"My memory is very good, sir," he will reply, as if he wished it were not.

"Did you ever know Henry Clay?"

He will lift his battered hat at the sound of that name, will straighten his aged crouched figure, and taking you solemnly by the hand, he will say in a profound tone of voice:

"Excuse me, sir, for any exhibition of feeling at the mention of that name. Henry Clay was my bosom friend." And unless you deprive him of a listener, he will talk of Henry Clay till his tongue tires.

A YOUNGSTER propounded the following questions: "How do they get our souls out of our bodies when we die—cut 'em out?" "Why don't we see the yellow envelopes the telegraph comes in, goin' long the telegraph wires?" "If the Bible calls old folks goats, bad children are kids, ain't they?" "Is it too late for me to have a twin brother?" "If you was me when you was a man would you drive a hearse or join a circus?"

This is a compound remedy, prepared with scientific skill from vegetable ingredients, which rarely fails to cure the severest cases of Chills and Fever and the concomitant disorders. Such a remedy the necessities of the people in malarious districts demand. Its great superiority over any other medicine yet discovered for the cure of Intermittents is, that it contains no quinine or mineral, and those who take it are free from danger of quinism or any injurious effects, and are as healthy after using it as before. It has been extensively employed during the last thirty years in the treatment of these distressing disorders, and so unvarying has been its success that it has gained the reputation of being infallible. It can, therefore, be safely recommended as a sure remedy and specific for the Fever and Ague of the West, and the Chills and Fever of the South. It counteracts the miasmatic poison in the blood, and frees the system from its influence, so that fever and ague, shakes or chills, once broken up by it, do not return until the disease is again contracted.

The great variety of disorders which arise from the irritation of this poison, such as Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Headache, Blindness, Toothache, Earache, Catarrh, Asthma, Palpitation, Splenic Affections, Hysterics, Pain in the Bowels, Colic, Paralysis, and derangement of the Stomach, all of which become intermittent or periodical, have no specific remedy than AYER'S AGUE CURE, which cures them all alike, and protects the system from future attacks. As a preventive, it is of immense service in those communities where Fever and Ague prevails, as it stays the development of the disease if taken on the first approach of the premonitory symptoms. Travellers and temporary residents are thus enabled to defy these disorders, and few will ever suffer if they avail themselves of the protection this remedy affords.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity, it is an excellent remedy; it stimulates this organ into healthy activity, and produces many remarkable cures where other medicines fail.

MORNING AND NOON.

BY RICHARD HENRY STODDARD.

There are gains for all our losses,
There are balms for all our pains;
But when youth, the dream, departs
It takes something from our hearts,
And it never comes again!

We are stronger, and are better
Under manhood's sterner reign;
Still we feel that something sweet
Followed youth with flying feet,
And will never come again.

Something beautiful is vanished,
And we sigh for it in vain;
We behold it everywhere,
On the earth, and in the air—
But it never comes again.

Cloth peddlers are becoming as common as tramps.

Barnum got the best of the Frankfort Yeoman last week.

The pastures do not retain their verdure as well as they did last fall.

That stove went up in the Clerk's office again the other morning.

Frost and matrimony are the principal stock on the gossip market.

The diphtheria is prevailing to some extent in the Hebron neighborhood.

Rice, the colored minister, and the egg season return about the same time.

The trees seem to feel sad over the departure of their summer loveliness.

We are under obligation to Mr. H. J. Foster for favors last publication day.

The communications from Gimlet Gap and Petersburg arrived too late for the last week's paper.

Be sure and stop at Ludeker's shoe store for your boots and shoes, 36 Pike street, Covington, Ky.

Astonishing to everybody how cheap Ludeker sells boots and shoes at 36 Pike st., Covington, Ky.

There was a considerable hustling off of linen suits, last Thursday, when that norther swept across this section.

Last week was well adapted to the cleansing of cisterns and stowing away the unfortunate rats of the past season.

We move that Gen. Howard and his command be brought in from the frontier, and put on Grove Kennedy's trail.

Our first basket of fine and splendid apples have not put in their appearance this fall. We know apples are scarce.

From the quantity of tin spout brought in on the 'bus the other evening, it is evident someone expects to do some spouting.

Don't forget to call at the Red Boot, No. 626, Madison St., Covington, and price Boots and Shoes before purchasing elsewhere.

We have at our office a very heavy neck-lace, with a jewel attached, which the owner, by calling and proving property, can have.

The Robinson County Tribune has the horns. Its issue of the 13th of September last put in an appearance at our office on the 3d inst.

We have on our table Vol. 1, No. 2, of Woman at Work, a neat and well printed monthly journal, edited by Mrs. E. T. Housh, of Louisville.

Our friends in the county are requested to furnish us such news items as will be of interest to the public. Such favors we always appreciate.

Huschart & Co., Lawrenceburg, Indiana, have now on hand an uncommonly large assortment of Tombstones and Monuments, which they sell at prices to suit the times.

The busy house-wife mops the tears
Of joy that fill her streaming eyes,
And says, in tones that show her fears,
"Last night was death on summer flies."

We make the assertion, and without the fear of successful contradiction, that the Justices of the county of Boone make less extravagant allowances than those of any other county in the Commonwealth.

We call the attention of the County Court to the fact that the bantam on the Courthouse needs attention. It is our opinion that the fowl is deceased, from the swarms of winged insects that daily congregate about it.

Two train robbers were shot and killed near Buffalo, Kansas, last week. These robbers, on the 18th ult., stopped the Pacific Express at Big Spring, Nebraska, and obtained from the express car and passengers, near $100,000.

The Short Line Railroad was sold on the 18th inst. for $3,892,605. The sale included all the properties and franchises of the company, and all the right, title, &c. The sale was made under a decree from the Louisville Chancery Court. The second mortgage bondholders were the purchasers.

A gentleman who is rather fond of strong drink, while in town a few days since, made the startling statement that he had been a Murphy for thirty years. He proves this by the assistance of figures. He says he never drinks anything from the time he lies down till he gets up, and he has ascertained that the time he has not spent lying down, subtracted from his age, leaves thirty years. Therefore, he has been a Murphy that length of time.

Louisville Trade Gossip.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Gimlet Gap.

This city, lying upon the line of the new and beautiful Burlington and Bellevue turnpike, takes its appropriate name from the peculiar, squirmy shape of the pike in crossing the dividing ridge between the waters of Woolper and Middle Creek. It is 4¼ miles from our city of justice, and 3 miles from that other city of injustice, so commonly called Bellevue. Nature and art both combine to bless us in our surroundings, but we still feel a few serious necessities. For instance, we have no schools, and some ignorance (as this article will testify) no churches, but some piety, in proof of which we call attention to the marked piety of the truly good, our road contractor, Mr. John A. McLaughlin, who is so good that he has spiritual revelations of the least approach of danger to himself or to our citizens. Why, only a week since, when he was anxious to complete a certain contract on Saturday night, to prevent a fatal fracture of the Sabbath, he was working his full force of men and other mules over time, and when within an hour of completion, he had a revelation of an approaching danger, so great as to induce him to call his men, &c., from their labors. As the last man was leaving the gravel pit, the banks caved in. The revelator had saved ten men and as many mules. He is thinking seriously of giving Porter a race for his appointment in Utah. He carries his head high, and relates the above incident as an instance of the truth of his doctrine that "the righteous is never forsaken."

We have the largest crop of good tobacco this year that has been produced in this section for many years. It is nearly all cut and housed in good order. The corn crop is about an average one as to acre and quality, and a very large acreage of wheat has been sown.

If your "Aunt Sarah Catherine" had been so fortunate as to have been invited, and attended the adjourned meeting of the "Fat Ladies' Convention" at Mr. Botts', last Wednesday, she would have enjoyed it immensely. The dinner was an excellent one, attendance good, croquet liberal on a neatly shaved bald spot on top of a small knoll, but was seriously interfered with by the departure of the Petersburg auctioneer immediately after dinner, who left to fill an engagement at a public sale. The award of premiums was satisfactory, as far as I could learn from this distance; but, being one of the coldly forgotten, like your "Aunt S. C." I have only been able to pick up the above crumbs from the table. More anon. "Stickum."

Petersburg.

Last week, two gentlemen in the country near here captured a thief with a stolen horse in his possession, and turned him over to the authorities here for safe keeping, who carefully allowed him to escape, but without his steed. Two Hibernians dropped in the next day, and his Honor Judge Phelps, being in town, one of them swore the horse was his, and the other one substantiated his oath; so they were allowed to take the horse along with them. They were as total strangers as the man arrested; perhaps they were partners. By the way, the stolen horse was a bay mare.

Samuel Pangburn, who lost his wife a week since, has sold his household goods, disposed of a part of his real estate, rented the rest, and for the future expects to find his home with his sister in Terre Haute, Ind.

The new Prophet to Brigham Young's dominions and his seven Bishops have held an indignation meeting with closed doors, and handed in the following as the unanimous conviction of the tribunal of eight: Meeting called to order at 12 o'clock, midnight, Porter in the chair and Schramm, Secretary. On motion of Felix Moses, the Chair appointed Bob Willis, Geo. McNeal and Jim Grisler a committee to investigate the character and standing of the Florence correspondent. The committee called Felix Moses as a witness, and, after an hour's constant testimony of this witness, returned to the council chamber the darkest report upon the character of the correspondent that was ever written up against any mortal. The report of the committee shows that he was prompted by a spirit of envy of the popularity of the immortal eight to write the malicious report he did concerning them. Envious of their good looks only, for there never was another man as fond of ladies' society, so little tolerated by them. The committee further report, upon the same testimony, that the correspondent has been a harmless lunatic for fifty-seven years, and this is his first outbreak; and, lastly, recommend that the tribunal withdraw from him all manner of recognition, and consign him to the dark oblivion of his own vicious thoughts and corrupting society. The report was unanimously adopted, the ballot-box containing 45 black balls against the said correspondent. The above report was extensively circulated among the ladies of this town and vicinity, and was signed by about eighteen hundred of the handsomest and most entertaining, thereby testifying their unbounded approval of the action of said tribunal.

—Shelby County is likely to continue this year the biggest hog-producing county in the State. She has a good corn crop, and will put in the market this fall about twenty-five thousand good porkers.

—Stanford Journal: The dwelling-house of Mr. B. Coleman, which was situated near Green Bright's School-house, caught fire several nights ago, and in a few moments was laid in ashes. Scarcely anything was saved, the family barely escaping with their lives. The loss is estimated at $1,500. No insurance.

—Anderson News: The drought that is upon us at the present has got to that point that it is barely possible for the denizens of Lawrenceburg to get water to drink. Nearly all the wells have dried up, as well as the ponds and other streams and bodies of water used for the watering of stock and washing purposes.

—Robinson County Tribune: There is one consolation concerning the tobacco crop. Although the crop will be short, our farmers have the satisfaction of knowing that what they lack in quantity they will more than gain in quality. There never was a finer quality produced in the county than there has been this year.

—Yeoman: The number of convicts in the Penitentiary, last week, was—

White men	418	Black men	490
White women	7	Black women	31

Making a total of 946. Among this number there are seven who have each but one arm, three who have each but one leg, one who has lost both hands, one totally blind, and two who have each lost one eye. There are five convict printers, three compositors and one editor. Nearly all the trades are represented.

—Bowling Green Pantagraph: The oldest woman in Warren County is Mrs. Susan Romans, who moved to this county from Virginia with her husband in the year 1808. Her husband has long since departed this life, but she is yet living, and is as straight as an Indian and active as a maiden at the green old age of 92. Mrs. Romans does all of her housework, and is as happy as though she was beginning life anew. When her family came from Virginia, they brought with them a variety of Irish potatoes, from the seed of which she has produced a crop every year which is said to be very fine, and among the finest potatoes ever raised in the State.

—Woodford Sun: Two colored men, Morris Bell and Dougherty, had a difficulty about a woman, last Sunday, near Versailles, which resulted in the death of Dougherty, who was shot by Bell. Dougherty had been paying some attention to Bell's sister, and was in a room with her, when Bell called her out to go with him to see some ladies. Dougherty ordered Bell away from the house, and he refused to leave, whereupon Dougherty rushed upon Bell and gave him a severe beating. Bell went and got a gun and returned to the house, and Dougherty, seeing him with the gun, went toward him and told him to leave the place and put the gun away. As Dougherty started toward him, Bell told him not to come any nearer or he would shoot him. Dougherty continued to advance, when Bell fired, the entire load of shot entering his body. Dougherty died within a few hours. Bell immediately left, and has not yet been arrested.

THE BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

Editor and Proprietor.

BURLINGTON, KY., OCTOBER 11.

NEXT Monday Congress meets.

WE stop our press to say the Democrats carried Ohio, Tuesday.

AT Richmond there is being organized a company of State guards. They need them badly.

THE Flemingsburg Democrat says drunkenness is on the decline in the town of Flemingsburg.

THE school question, in New Orleans, has been settled and the blacks will have separate schools.

RANDALL, Cox, and Morrison are said to be the favorites in the race for Speaker of the next House of National Representatives.

WE would like to have a chronicler of events in each neighborhood in the county where we now have none. Will someone undertake it.

THE city of Washington was nearly depopulated, last Tuesday, when the Ohio office holders were at home doing homage to their party.

THE Cincinnatians are somewhat exercised over the apprehension that they have been devouring the flesh of hogs affected with cholera.

SOME of Conkling's admirers consider his victory in the New York convention, over the Administration, as complete and overwhelming.

THE equinoctial storms made things lively on the coast of the Eastern States about the fifth of this month. Several small crafts were sunk and considerable other damage done.

THE Allegheny Savings Bank has suspended payment. In addition to the assets of the Bank, the stockholders are individually responsible, and is thought that the indebtedness will be discharged.

THE grand jury at the late term of Pendleton County Criminal Court, indicted the County Court for neglect of official duty. The jury, in its report, gave it as its opinion that the County Court had, for many years, been derelict in its duties.

IT is said that a party of determined men are now in pursuit of Grove Kennedy, and the presumption is he will be captured in a short time. The Governor of the State and the L. & N. R. R. has each offered $500 reward for Kennedy's capture.

THE civil service order of the President is not adhered to in New York. The election tax gatherers are busy among the office holders in the Custom House, trying to collect money for the purpose of assisting in carrying on the political campaign now pending in the State of New York.

THIS county is undoubtedly infected with an organized band of burglars who are acquainted with the stores which they have of late sucessfully raided. If the merchants will be on their guard and exercise a little detective skill they will capture some of these rascals before the winter is over.

THE United States forces, eight companies and two gantlling guns, commenced invading the Mexican dominions last week. The professed object of the invasion was the capture of thieving Indians who had been annoying the settlers along the Mexican frontiers, by driving off their stock. The expedition, as to capturing thieves, was a failure.

WALL street, New York, was the scene of an immense excitement, last week, when it was discovered that W. C. Gilman was an arrant forger. Gilman had been extensively engaged in raising certificates of stock, and by that means had swindled the holders out of an amount exceeding $300,000. Gilman had, for many years, been regarded as a fair and honest dealer, and occupied a high social position.

THE Frankfort Yeoman says: "Kentucky will soon be the oil field of this country. It is estimated that in Pennsylvania and West Virginia they have already dug as many as 20,000 oil wells, at an expense of $192,000,000, and that these wells have yielded 88,000,000 barrels of oil, worth $400,000,000 at the seaboard. The great fields in which these wells have been bored are becoming exhausted, and the flow of oil is decreasing with great rapidity. Kentucky is known to have immense deposits in two sections, and the attention of capitalists is being drawn this way. The markets of the world are open to the coal oil trade, and the demand in the Northern countries is increasing from 50 to 100 per cent. annually. Shipments from New York, Boston, and other seaport cities, show an unparalleled growth of trade, and proves that as a source of wealth no other export surpasses this in importance. Kentucky has been, and is yet, the greatest reservoir of this natural product. Geological observation has proven its existence in vast quantities, and in some counties practical experience has shown that the deposits are easily reached. A large number of wells are now in operation in Southern Kentucky, and the business is being pushed with enterprise; but the Eastern Kentucky oil fields are yet to be tapped, and we are informed that New England companies are now leasing the lands in large quantities. It behooves us to look into this interest, and if possible, employ our own capital in its development. Kentucky ought to profit by her own resources, and not allow herself to be left behind by people of more enterprise. We want railway and river navigation, and the sooner we get these advantages the more rapid will be our advance to wealth."

ST. LOUIS LETTER.

ST. LOUIS, MO., October 6, 1877.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

This evening closes the most eventful week in the history of our city or State. Monday morning came with a clear sky and a bright sun, and at 8 a. m., that day, the gates of the Fair Ground were thrown open in the way of a free blow to all the schoolchildren in the city, and "my goodness, there were lots of them!" We don't know where they all came from, but we rather suspect there were some children there, that day, from the other side of the river, as these little suckers are always on hand when there is fun to be had, and nothing to pay. How many children and curious mothers were on the grounds, there is no definite way of ascertaining, as no entry fee was charged or record kept, but, perhaps, if the elephant, the sea lions, and the bears could talk, they could give pretty nearly an estimate. As a matter of course, nearly every little boy and girl had a cake for bruin and the elephant. We venture the prediction that the beasts of the Zoological fared better that day, than they will another day for the next six months. Looking over that vast crowd of youngsters, the thought occurred to us, that if all their mothers were there, and all commenced spanking at the same time, there would have been one of the greatest squalls ever known on Western lands. However, the little fellows seemed to have a good time generally, and we are glad of it. We did not hear of a single mishap or accident to mar the pleasure of the most sensitive during the entire day, and we join with the fifty thousand or more of the rising generation in ten times that many thanks to the noble managers of the Fair for their liberality in tendering we, the young, such a magnificent free blow, and our prayer is that we may live to enjoy many such glorious occasions.

You could not expect, and certainly your columns would not permit us to go into details of the week, as each and all of our city papers had from six to eight columns per day, of daily exhibitions. The weather for the entire week was unexceptionable, and the truth is, the St. Louis Fair has grown to be so gigantic a pageant of industries, arts, cattle and people, so huge and many sided a convergence, the adjuncts and incidents of our modearn civilization, agriculture, mechanics, mining and æsthetic art, that its very parts are colossal in themselves.

In our last we were compelled to say that our Exposition proper, in its general make up, was the best thing of the kind ever gotten up in this country, save the Centennial, was almost wholly without patronage, save the few loungers of the afternoon from the city, and we were fearful, owing to the stringency of the times, the same fate would attend the Fair. But by Monday morning all of our fears were dispelled, and our city has been thronged the week through, and not a day, during the entire week, but what our Fair Grounds contained more people than on any previous occasion. Tuesday and Wednesday the grounds were literally covered with sight-seers from the country, and all admit that the exhibition proper, was beyond their most sanguine expectations. But what shall we say of Tuesday? The weather was cool and pleasant, having had the evening previous, what might be called our equinoctial rain, followed by a stiff breeze, the former laying the dust, and the latter making the atmosphere just cool enough the next day, with a clear sky, to be pleasant. Well it baffles all description, but we can safely say the people were the "Fair." By sun rise, of that day, in the city could be seen the express wagon, the freight wagon, the street car, the omnibus, and the magnificent coach loaded down with humanities moving in solid phalanx to the Fair Grounds, and the thought occurred to us, had the citizens of Sodom and Gomorrah obeyed the warnings of Lot and his wife, there could not have been a greater bustle thereabouts than our city presented on that day. Old men, old women, the middle aged of both sexes, some with babies in their arms, and the youth and beauty of the city and the country all seemed jumbled up into one conglomerate mass of human flesh and blood, moving, as it were, to see a sight never seen before by mortal man. The Fair grounds were nothing more nor nothing less, seemingly, to the eye, but one dense cloud of humanity. How many people were there that day, nobody knows, but we have not seen an individual that estimated the crowd at less than 90,000 souls, and some put the number as high as 150,000. Yesterday, as well as to-day, the attendance exceeds that of the same days on any previous year. So we close this part of our letter, with the simple expression, that the St. Louis Fair of the year 1877 is the Fair of all Fairs, in every particular, ever gotten up by the American people. In saying this, we would not have you and your readers understand that the credit alone is due to our city or State, but to the American people, as substance was furnished from all sections of our great country, and the Fair of 1877 will long be remembered by the people that attended it, as the greatest event of the 19th century.

About the time we were closing our letter this day week, our pious, subsided, disinterested, patriotic Governor of State, was placing in the hands of David H. Armstrong, his commission as successor to Louis V. Bogy in the Senate of the United States. We fling in all the adjectives possible as not a few of the knowing ones have charged our Chief Executive of playing policy in the way of putting in a party that would not be in his way for the same position in 1879. Now, Dave is a good fellow to go fishing with, a good fellow to go hunting with, a good fellow to spin a yarn, and he can beat any man a cussing (swearing) this side of the Father of Waters; but there is not an old hunter in all the mighty West, who, if going out to shoot a United States Senator, would ever think of cocking his gun on "Dave." He, however, is honest, and that is the kind of a man for these times, and we have not a single doubt but what he will, at least, try to make a good Senator.

We had, on last Tuesday, quite a spirited election in our city for School Directors, and it was charged, and probably with some truth, that there was quite an ultramontane element at work in our city educational interest, but the conservative element undoubtedly triumphed.

By the way, J. S. Hansman, one of the School Directors, committed suicide last Sunday, by shooting himself through the heart. He was a single man, about 30 years of age, beloved by all who knew him, and was a candidate for re-election. No cause whatever is assigned for the rash act.

In the way of business, candor compels us to say business men generally, are more hopeful, and claim that business is improving, but we are inclined to the opinion that they are hoping against hope as, the figures and the facts concerning same do not prove an improvement, as there were 93 failures in New York city last month, aggregating an indebtedness of $4,000,000, which is an increase of nearly 20 per cent. of commercial disasters over any month during the year. The Merchandise Agencies, report about the same rates to other large cities. We have had several large failures the past 30 days.

One of the saddest commentaries we read of the times in the utter and almost entire destruction of confidence among business men. There is seemingly no more confidence among business men. We say this is sad, for after all, confidence is the basis of trade.

We quote corn at 40@46c. for good rejected to choice white. Wheat market ranges from $1 to $1 30 as per quality. Oats, 20 to 25 cents, and rye, 50 to 56 cents. Yours truly,

L. BROHAMMER & Co.

Report of the Grand Jury.

By some oversight, we neglected the publication of the report of the last grand jury. If there is any significance in a report from that source, this one contains something on that order. It reads as follows:

To the Hon. O. D. McManama, Judge of the Boone Criminal Court:

We, the grand jury in and for the county of Boone at the September Term, 1877, respectfully submit the following report:

We have been in session five days, have examined 72 witnesses, and the indictments handed in, numbering 38, will show the result of our labors. We have examined and find the public buildings to be in good condition, except a slight leak in the roof of the County Clerk's office. The improvement on the jail since the last term of court, we are informed, has added to the comfort of the prisoners; yet we believe that it lacks ventilation, and is not sufficiently secure or safe to hold violators of law and order. We have every reason to believe that the County Court acted in good faith in the erection of and receiving the building, but experience has shown that it is inadequate for the purpose for which it was built. We were also assured of the fact that the Jailer had laid himself liable to indictment by permitting the prisoners who were committed to his charge to be often out upon the streets; but the testimony before us was that the oppressive heat in the jail, caused by the iron ceiling, was so great as to endanger the lives of the prisoners. For that reason, we passed that matter. GEO. W. TERRILL, Foreman.

LAST Sunday we attended the Hebron Sunday-school, which is under the control of Mr. Jacob Tanner. This school is doubtless the best systematized, and one of the most interesting in the county. Everything works like clock work. Among the most interesting features in the school is the questions propounded for answers from teachers and school. The question previously put to the teachers was: "How long was it after the day of Pentecost till Paul's conversion?" There were quite a number of written answers handed in, fixing the time at a period near two years. "Who was David's mother?" is a question that seems to have been submitted to the school some time, and Miss Fannie Conner was the only one answering, she claiming that Mahab was David's maternal ancestor. Next Sunday the school will be informed in what year the day of Pentecost transpired. This school, like most others, is afflicted with a large class that, during good weather, take their position on the yard fence.

SAMUEL KIRKPATRICK, a son of J. W. Kirkpatrick, of this place, died suddenly Tuesday morning. It appears that he was enjoying his usual health in the morning, and had gone to the school of Miss M. A. Thompson, where he remained till about 10 o'clock, when he left the school-room and went across the street to his father's house to see a little brother. On returning to the school room, he was about resuming his seat, when he was observed to fall to the floor, from which he was, in a few moments, taken and carried home, and was found to be dead. Since the death of Sammy's mother, which occurred about four months since, he has given much of his time and attention to his two younger brothers, Clarence and Calvert, and we may say his last act in life was looking to the comfort and care of his youngest brother, Calvert. The physician, Dr. Smith, pronounced heart disease to have been the cause of death.

FROM our neighbor across the creek, the Saturday News, we take the following item:

A movement was put on foot, two or three weeks since, looking to the organization of a joint stock company for the purpose of putting in a packet between Cincinnati and Madison. A subscription paper has been circulated along the river, on both sides, and a meeting was called at Patriot on last Thursday. About forty-five persons responded to the call, and it was found that some $14,500 had been subscribed. Samuel Seward, of this city, called the meeting to order, and W. H. Baker was made Chairman, and L. Bledsoe, of Florence, Secretary. The following named persons were elected as a Board of Directors, to serve for six months: H. Montgomery, W. H. Kirby, R. H. Morrow, Gallatin County, Ky.; Samuel Seward, Ohio County, Ind.; A. Corbin, Boone County, Ky.; L. Bledsoe and S. Howe, Switzerland County, Ind. The propriety both of building and chartering was discussed at this meeting, but the matter was left to the Directors, who will hold a meeting at Patriot on Monday, the 8th, when the thing will probably be decided.

MONDAY R. C. Green took himself to Walton to prosecute Mrs. Eliza Gorman for a violation of the laws regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors. The Counselor did not return till late in the day Tuesday, and seemed weary and worn. He reports the fines assessed against Mrs. Gorman amounting in the aggregate to $100. Mrs. G. makes numerous additions to the State revenue in the way of fines.

REVS. S. P. CARLTON and W. S. Bacon, will commence a series of meetings at this place, beginning Thursday evening, October the 25th, and continue over the following Sunday. Thur-day evening preaching to commence at 7 o'clock. Friday at 10½ a. m. and 7 p. m. Saturday, same hours. Sunday at 10½ a. m., 2½ and 7 p. m. A profitable and interesting time is anticipated and everybody is invited.

WE claim to have on exhibition in this office the most numerously-grained ear of corn in Kentucky. It was grown upon the premises of farmer J. A. ONE night last week, a blind horse belonging to Mr. Arthur Blythe walked off the embankment at the bridge on the Bellevue pike near town, and was slightly injured. This same bridge, while being raised, was a dangerous place for travelers to encounter after nightfall.

WE have, in the last few days, put in the RECORDER Office a splendid job press, and are now ready to execute work at the most reasonable rates and on short notice. Give us a call.

THIS is the tumble of the year.

THE New York Sun says: "Utah's reputation has hitherto rested on an unusual facility for marriage. But that is a mistake; its true fame should be founded on its facilities for divorce. The Salt Lake County Probate Court has extended its divorce arrangements to people of nearly every State and Territory, and even to Canadians; while it is estimated that the various Utah Probate Courts have granted 5,000 divorces within three years. It becomes clear, therefore, that Utah should be illustrious, not only for the number of people it joins together, but for the number it puts asunder."

There was quite an excitement here recently, on account of Mike Connelly's store being broken into and robbed of quite an amount of goods; and the worst feature in the case is the robbing of a man in poor health. Louisville Trade Gossip.

Special Correspondence of the Recorder.

The stock trade continues to increase. The offerings in horses and mules were less in number, but of a better quality, and the demand was greater than for many weeks previous. IF MAIDENS BUT KNEW.

A good wife rose from her bed one morn,
And thought with a nervous dread,
Of the piles of clothes to be washed and more
Than a dozen mouths to be fed.
There were the meals to get for the men in the field,
And the children to fix away
To school, and milk to be skimmed and churned;
And all to be done to-day.

It had rained in the night, and all the wood
Was wet as wet could be:
There were puddings and cakes to bake besides
A loaf of cake for tea.
And the day was hot, and her aching head,
Throbbed wearily as she said,
"If maidens but knew what good wives know,
They would be in no haste to wed!"

"Jennie, what do you think I told Ben Brown?"
Called the farmer from the well;
And a flush crept up to his bronzed brow,
And his eyes half blushfully fell.
"It was this," he said—and coming near,
He smiled, and stooping down,
Kissed her cheek—"'Twas this; that you were the best
And dearest wife in town!"

The farmer went back to the field, and the wife,
In a smiling and absent way,
Sang snatches of tender little songs
She'd not sung for many a day.
And the pain in her head was gone, and the clothes
Were white as the foam of the sea.
Her bread was light, her butter was sweet,
And as golden as it could be.

"Just think," the children all called in a breath,
"Tom Wood has run off to sea!
He would'nt, I know, if he only had
As happy a home as we."
The night came down, and the good wife smiled
To herself, as she softly said,
"'Tis so sweet to labor for those we love,
It's not strange that maids will wed!"

Essay on Music.

[The following essay was read before the Point Pleasant Grange by Mrs. M. Craven.]

Worthy Master, Brothers and Sisters:

My subject, to-day, is one that appeals to the heart, not only of Grangers, but of every soul living; for the meaning of song goes deep. Who is there, that, in logical words, can express the effect that music has on us? Not that music that reminds us of "a pig fast under the gate," but that which swells up from a mighty heart, yearning with melodies it can not speak. Shakespeare has said, "The man who has no music in his soul, nor is not moved by concord of sweet sounds, is fit for treason, stratagems and spoils. The motions of his soul are as dull as night, and his affections dark as erubus. Let no man trust him." Music, among the Arts, is pre-eminent for its softening and refining influence. It is the inarticulate expressions of the emotions of the soul. It brings before the mind glimpses of beauty, which the pencil of the artist can not portray, nor the pen of the poet describe. It is the subtilest medium in creation for conveying to us, flashes of ideal beauty; and by it every sentiment can be portrayed, every cord in the human heart touched. The devotion of love, the madness of hate, the bitterness of despair, the exuberance of joy, the vivacity of mirth, can each find expression in the language of music, a language which is as universally understood, to-day, as when Orpheus drew around him the beasts of the forest, by the magic notes of his magic lyre.

"Thus long ago;
Ere heaving billows learned to blow,
And organs yet were mute;
Timotheus to his breathing flute
And sounding lyre,
Could swell the soul with rage, or kindle soft desire."

It is curious to observe how the different emotions have been expressed by different composers in all ages, by the same keys of music. Thus, the key of "G" minor, has been used to express horror, remorse, despair. "D" minor, to portray serenity, and melancholy despondency. "G" major, to excite vivacity and mirth, while "C" major, is the key dedicated to the goddess of love.

The effect of music upon the human mind is powerful. It brings to memory the bright, happy days when we first dreamed of innocence and love, and breathes to us aspirations unalloyed with earth.

"Music, oh how faint, how weak,
Language fades before thy spell,
Why should feeling ever speak,
When thou canst speak her soul so well.

Soothes the anguish of sorrow, and allays the suffering of pain. It inspires the patriot with emotion and the devotee with zeal. It points ambition to the giddy hight of fame, and illumines the dull drudgery of our daily life with a roseate ray of hope. In a word, it cheers and stimulates our zest for life, purifies and strengthens the affections, and elevates the soul. The world is full of music; the air is living with its spirit, and the waves dance to the music of its melodies, and the walls that close the universe with crystals in, are eloquent with voices that proclaim the unseen glories of immensity in harmonies too perfect and too high for aught but beings of celestial mold, and speaks to man in one celestial hymn, unfading beauty, and unyielding power. I once, in company with a lady friend, attended service at the new Catholic Church, in Covington, and while we were waiting for the exercises to begin, I observed a life-size wax figure representing our Savior, suspended from the cross. The blood seemed flowing from the wounds in his head, his hands, his side. A gorgeous catafalque, lighted by a hundred candles, stood in front of the chancel, and after the Priest had taken his place, organ and choir took up the strains of Mozart's world renowned requiem. At intervals nothing could be heard but the low wail of a single tremulous voice, sounding as though it came from away off somewhere up in the clouds, and then the full accompaniments; then the organ thunder shook the house; then softest wail of music zephyr died on the ear away off so far as but to seem the faint, exquisite music of a dream. I felt as if I were standing on the shores of the Atlantic, listening to the moaning of the distant ocean before a storm. Then the tempest came and the sea roared, and broke violently on the rocks, and the spray rose on high. Again I seemed walking in the fields where the autumn wind sighs among the pine trees; then I was transported to the rugged Alps, where, from crag to crag, leaps the live thunder. The chant sung and sighed along, the anthem rolled its music incense to the skies, and was caught up by the listening angels, and echoed there perchance forever. It still lingers in my heart. The power of song has been felt in all ages and in all climes. Italy is said to be a land of song, where the dark-eyed maid, with her sweet guitar, sits under the orange tree. Oh, that we would put song under our burdens! I am confident each brother and sister here has some burden of sorrow. Some mourn for dead ones, or some hope that is lost, some expectation blasted. When griefs arise, sing them down, lift the voice of praise against cares; praise God by singing; that will lift you above trials of every sort; sing in the house; teach your children to sing. Many a young man who has reached the depth of degradation, has been recalled by a sweet, pathetic song, sung by the lips of innocence, taught him by his mother in childhood. They sing in heaven, and for God's people here on earth, song is the appropriate language of Christian feeling.

Attempt to Steal Commodore Nutt.

As the Union Pacific west-bound passenger train stopped at Cozad, in western Nebraska, on Thursday night a bold attempt was made to steal Commodore Nutt, who was on his way to San Francisco with a party of other dwarfs. A couple of stalwart and knavish appearing men, who took the train at Omaha and had tickets to Cozad, paying extra charge for riding in the sleeper, are supposed to be the parties to the affair. Just before the train arrived at the station both of these men—one a few feet ahead of the other—moved toward the rear of the car, in which the Commodore was sleeping. One stopped near the little man's berth, and the other stood near the door. As the train came to a halt, the rear man thrust his hand into Nutt's berth and gathered him up in his arms, and moved towards the door of the car, which had been opened by his confederate. The dwarf struggled and tried to scream, but the would-be kidnapper held his hand over the little man's mouth in such a way as to stifle almost every sound. The porter, however, screamed for him, which caused several gentlemen to jump out of their berths, one of whom alighted between the kidnapper and the dwarf. The villain dealt the half-asleep passenger a blow on the head which felled him to the floor. This gave another passenger time to come up; who struck the desperado in the head with a slung-shot which stunned him, and caused him to drop the Commodore to the floor, who by this time was making more lusty noise than all the women in the car, every one of whom, in concert with the men, were making a lively noise. The kidnappers sprang from the train and disappeared in the darkness. Great confusion existed on the train for some time, especially in the car where the bold act was committed, and every one shook the Commodore's hand in congratulation of his fortunate escape.—Chicago Times.

A Prophet Indeed.

There is an old fellow out in Minnesota who claims to be a prophet, to see spirits, and to know many wonderful things that are unknown to other people. It is stated that he foretold the secession war and the assassination of President Lincoln—and when the latter sad event took place he was arrested on suspicion of having in some way been concerned in it. Now he comes to the front again, and says that Marshal McMahon, the President of the French Republic, will soon put a king on the throne; that Gen. Grant is there to help him, and that by and by the latter is coming back to this country to declare himself the head of the government; that we are to have another terrible civil war, in which our streets will run with blood. Then there are to be all sorts of phenomena in the heavens, terrible storms and elemental commotions. In fact, there is to be a general revolution, which is even now foreshadowed by the disjointed state of things. This old fellow is a kind of hermit, but he is said to be sane—or at least not insane—which we are bound to believe because a newspaper correspondent says so.

It is said that the Columbus, Ohio, girls are so thin that one can look through them and see their Murphy badges in the back button-holes of their dresses.

SHARKS won't bite a swimmer who keeps his legs in motion. If you can keep kicking longer than a shark can keep waiting, you'r all right.

Ayer's
Cherry Pectoral

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs,
such as Coughs, Colds,
Whooping Cough,
Bronchitis, Asthma,
and Consumption.

The reputation it has attained, in consequence of the marvellous cures it has produced during the last half century, is a sufficient assurance to the public that it will continue to realize the happiest results that can be desired. In almost every section of country there are persons, publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs, by its use. All who have tried it, acknowledge its superiority; and where its virtues are known, no one hesitates as to what medicine to employ to relieve the distress and suffering peculiar to pulmonary affections. CHERRY PECTORAL always affords instant relief, and performs rapid cures of the milder varieties of bronchial disorder, as well as the more formidable diseases of the lungs.

As a safeguard to children, amid the distressing diseases which beset the Throat and Chest of Childhood, it is invaluable; for, by its timely use, multitudes are rescued and restored to health.

This medicine gains friends at every trial, as the cures it is constantly producing are too remarkable to be forgotten. No family should be without it, and those who have once used it never will.

Eminent Physicians throughout the country prescribe it, and Clergymen often recommend it from their knowledge of its effects.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

BOONE CIRCUIT COURT, KENTUCKY.
Zackey Kelly vs. Ann E. Kelly, &c. } Notice of sale in equity.
S. P. Dorman vs. Lurena Dorman, &c.
Irwin S. Baisly vs. Laura A. Baisly, &c.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Boone Circuit Court, rendered at the September Term thereof, 1877, in the above cause, the undersigned will, on MONDAY, the 5th day of November, 1877, at 1 o'clock P. M. or thereabout (being County Court day), proceed to offer for sale at public auction, to the highest bidder, at the south door of the Court-house, in the town of Burlington, the property mentioned in the judgment, to wit:

37 3-5 acres of land on the waters of Woolper creek, belonging to Lurena M. Dorman, and being lot No. 2 in the division of the lands of W. C. Duncan, deceased. Also, three parcels of land lying about three-fourths of a mile south of Burlington, together forming one tract, and being same land conveyed to John Duncan, deceased, by B. W. Sherrill. Lot No. 1 contains 44 acres; lot No. 2 contains 29 acres; lot No. 3 contains 45 acres 3 roods and 25 poles. (See record and description of said lots in the Boone Circuit Court Clerk's office on file in these cases.)

These four lots and parcels of land will be offered for sale separately, on credits of six and twelve months, equal installments, with interest from day of sale; and the first of the above named lots will be sold to the highest bidder on these terms. The three last named lots will then be offered as a whole, on credits of six, twelve and eighteen months, equal installments, with interest as aforesaid; and if the bid for the whole land, when so offered, exceed the aggregate of the bids for the three lots when offered in parcels, that bid will be accepted; if not, the bids for the lots offered separately will be accepted.

The three last named lots adjoin John A. Kendall, Lewis Beemon, Jonas Delph and others, and belong to Laura A. Balsly, Lurena M. Dorman and Ann E. Kelly respectively. The Woolper lot lies near or adjoins the lands of John W. Gaines.

The purchasers will be required to give bonds, with approved security, for the payment of the purchase money, to have the force and effect of a judgment, bearing legal interest from the day of sale, according to law. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms. Liens will be reserved to secure the purchase money.

Bonds payable to the undersigned.

Removal.

I take this means of informing the public that I have removed my business from Florence to Greenwood, at the junction of the Lexington pike and C. S. R. W., where I intend carrying on Wagon Making, Horse-Shoeing and Blacksmithing in all the various branches. Thankful to my friends for their patronage in the past, I respectfully solicit a continuance of the same.

SEBASTIAN MENZER.

KICK HIM WHEN HE'S DOWN.

When the sun of prosperity's shining,
And man's growing richer, each day
When in ease and comfort reclining,
And golden success crowns his way—
How friends will then flock about him;
But if fortune should happen to frown,
How quickly he'll get the cold shoulder,
And be kicked because he is down.

How quickly the world will smile on him,
When life with successes abound,
How cordially, blandly 'twill greet him,
As in pleasure he is riding around,
But then let reverses o'er take him,
And his friends, both in country and town
Have not a kind sentence to cheer him,
But will kick him because he is down.

Let a man get position and wealth,
Matters not if by intrigue and fraud,
The world nods approvingly at him,
And his acts they will loudly applaud;
What, though he may be a great villain!
With the simple, the wise and the clown,
While he's up he's a jolly good fellow,
But they'll kick him as soon as he's down.

When a man has plenty of greenbacks,
And he's healthy and festive and gay,
He's counted a "bully good chum" then,
And the crowd approves all he may say.
But just let him lose his treasure,
Perchance, too, his health may be gone,
He'll get to be nobody quickly,
And sure to be kicked when he's down.

What's the use of being moral and honest,
Or striving to be upright and true?
For, unless a man's got "lots of money,"
The world's bound to "put him through."
They'll "go for him certain" and surely,
From jockey to priest in his gown;
And all stand ready to snub him,
And kick him because he is down.

FLIES are flickering.

Keep the frost off your eye-winkers.

THERE is now but one man holding the jail in its place.

THIS has been an unexceptionally fine fall for farmers' work.

THE time is near when the stove will be the idler's great comforter.

THE Democratic force in Congress will receive an addition from Ohio.

WE notice several young men in this part of creation who look matrimonial.

THE person that dies indebted for his subscription will have a slim chance of salvation.

G. H. LOEBKER is retailing boots and shoes at wholesale prices. No. 36 Pike st., Covington, Ky.

THE Grant County Magistrates, on the second Monday in this month, allowed over $3,000 in salaries.

THE small quantity of rain that fell, last week, did but little toward replenishing the cisterns in the land.

WE don't know whether the jail is ripe or not. It has been growing this summer, and the frost might nip it.

EASTERN shop-keepers still refuse to let their girls sit down. They say that the instant a girl sits down she begins to talk.

YOU can save from 25 cents to $1 on every pair of boots or shoes by buying them from G. H. Loebker, 36 Pike street, Covington, Ky.

JUDGE HAWES looks decidedly younger since the Ohio election. Doubtless he feels like moving over into the Buckeye State for a while.

PAPERS mailed in Covington on the 3d, 4th, 5th and 7th insts. came to hand at this office on the 9th. This illustrates the advantage of the new route.

HUCHART & Co., Lawceneburg, Indiana, have now on hand an uncommonly large assortment of Tombstones and Monuments, which they sell at prices to suit the times.

THE Ticket says: "It is none of our business, the Senatorial election in Ohio; but if the choice should fall on Geo. H. Pendleton, it would make glad a good many Kentuckians."

THE County Clerk has not been overrun with official work for some time. Conveyances are becoming few and far between, but now, that the busy season is past, probably the farmers will commence talking trade.

THE next man that comes into our office and mistakes our towel for a piece of an old stove-pipe, and attempts to kick it out of the door, will leave with a perforated head, and closely pursued by the toe of our number 9s.

WE learn, by our exchanges, that some counties in the State are overrun with squirrels, and that they are so numerous in some counties that they are emigrating. Boone, so far as we have been informed, has no more than her usual quota.

VOLUME I, No. 9, of the Every Saturday, published by Pres T. Ridsdale at Georgetown, came to us last week asking an exchange. Certainly we will exchange, every time, with as handsome and as newsy a sheet as the Every Saturday.

THEY had an extraordinary scene in the Lewis County Criminal Court, a short time since. The presiding Judge, Sands, a young man, heard some one say as he passed them, "There goes pretty timber to make a Criminal Judge of." It so stung him that he resigned.

WHEN the Bellevue pike is completed, and the mail line between this place and Covington becomes settled, it would be well for the mail route from this place to be extended to Bellevue. This, it seems to us, would be an improvement on the present route to Grant Postoffice, and especially in the winter when the ice interferes with navigation.

Bulletsville Breezes.

Diphtheria is prevalent in Prof. Toumans' school, many of the children being now confined to their rooms with the disease. The patrons of the school have persuaded the Professor to close his school for a few days, and he has gone on a visit to Prof. Howe, of Richwood.

The school of Prof. Grigsby, at the Brick, is in a flourishing condition. Mrs. Grigsby assists her husband in teaching, and is giving general satisfaction.

We notice some changes about Bulletsville. Dan Hewitt has superseded Dave Beall as postmaster, and William Clore has built a new corn-crib.

Joe Laile has returned from the Hamilton County (Ohio) Fair with a ribbon on every horse. Joe is happy, and so is Mike Clore.

The Hebron Cornet Band makes music in the air once a week. They visited our vicinity week before last and gave us some excellent music. Their trips got sore, though, after trying some of Mr. Baldrell's best, that they went home.

The sportsmen are preparing to "wing the quail" all around us. What a pity the farmers, cruel and hard-hearted, will persist in posting their lands against these knights of the forest! The horn of the gallant fox-hunter was heard on Tuesday a week, and the rabbits scattered. Ask Hick Bruce and Jas. Conner if it is not true.

Personal.—Mrs. G. C. Graddy, who has been on a visit to Fayette and Woodford counties, has returned home.....Mrs. Julia Thomson, of Fayette, is visiting Mrs. Nancy Garth.....Mrs. S. K. Hayes, of Covington, is visiting her brother, E. H. Howard, and Capt. So. Wasson, of Cincinnati, is visiting Col. G. C. Graddy.

Grangers, Attention!

The following preamble and resolutions were adopted by Boone County (Pomona) Grange at its last meeting, held September 29th, with the request that they be printed in the RECORDER:

WHEREAS, At this age of man's history mind rules the nations of the earth, and the unread masses are subordinate to the wills of wily demagogues and professional politicians; and

WHEREAS, The 4th of December, 1877, will be the tenth anniversary of the order of Patrons of Husbandry; and

WHEREAS, It has been a time-honored custom for happily married couples to celebrate the tenth anniversary of their wedded life, therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the members of Pomona Grange of Boone County, do recommend to its several subordinate Granges to celebrate the 4th of December next as the tenth anniversary of the marriage between Grangerism and agricultural interest.

Resolved, That we recommend to the several subordinate Granges to urge their members to be present at the celebration, bringing with them donations worth not less than one dollar, which may be of any of the salable products of the soil.

Resolved, That we recommend these Granges to sell these donations and invest the proceeds in useful books for the benefit of the members of the order.

Resolved, That the several subordinate Granges be requested to report to this Grange at its regular meeting in December, 1877, the amount of their respective donations.

J. H. WALTON, Secretary.

THE Williamstown correspondent of the Covington Ticket, of the 11th, says:

In a drunken row, at the bar-room of Wm. Taylor, at this place, Monday night about 11½ o'clock, Thos. Hume, of Callensville, a young man 18 years of age, accidentally shot and, it is feared, mortally wounded himself. He had become involved in a difficulty with a man by the name of Porter, and had fired one shot. To prevent further shooting, a friend attempted to wrest the pistol from his hand, when it was accidentally discharged, the ball entering the right side, ranging downward into the bowels. He was removed to the Peck House, where he was attended by Dr. Johnson, who pronounced him in a critical condition, with but slight hope of recovery.

NONE of our ministers can beat this: "A couple were married in Georgia by a Justice of the Peace. Unto the man he said: 'Sir, will you have the beloved woman you hold by the right hand, in the name of the State of Georgia, Cobb County and the new Constitution, whether it be adopted or not, to be your lawful wedded wife?' And to the woman he said: 'Madam, will you take this man to be your lawful husband, under the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of Georgia, no matter who is President?'"

SOME old bachelor, who, no doubt, had a "flea" in his ear, thus speaks of a pretty woman's laughing eyes:

Of all the devils under the skies,
Devils wicked or devils wise,
Devils short or devils tall,
A pretty woman with laughing eyes
Is the greatest devil of them all.

LAST Thursday, Harry Blythe fell off the wagon which he was driving, narrowly escaping serious injury, his foot being caught under the wheel and stripped of the shoe. Harry was on the limp for a few days.

DON'T forget to call at the Red Boot, No. 625, Madison St., Covington, and price Boots and Shoes before purchasing elsewhere.

THE Enquirer's big rooster was turned loose again on the 10th. This time he split his lungs over a bona fide victory.

THE corn crop in Boone this year, from what we can learn, is as good as it has been for several years past.

WE noticed a load of nice material for making pumpkin pies go through town, the other day.

THE Lexington Fair, it is said, cleared 8 per cent. upon the stock.

THE call for the fattening swine now echoes among the hills.

OHIO did the thing handsomely, and didn't go West either.

WILLIAMSTOWN has got the Murphy movement.

STATE NEWS.

—Hubbard Minter run off with and married a fourteen-year-old girl named Annie Jones, in Nelson County.

—William Harris, who was stabbed, Saturday a week, at the Owen County Fair, died the following Tuesday night.

—Two poor men in Hopkins County have had their tobacco crop, barns, &c., destroyed while firing their tobacco, entailing a loss of $3,000.

—Florence Willhite, a little Paducah girl twelve years of age, was taken suddenly ill while eating her dinner, and died in eight minutes.

—The colored colonists who left Lexington, a few weeks ago, for Kansas, have been heard from. They appear well satisfied with their new location.

—Van McFall, of Jessamine, was sentenced to imprisonment in the county jail five years for beating his wife. After spending a year in jail, he got a new trial, and was fined $100 and costs.

—Young Van Hooser, of Pulaski County, witness in the U. S. Courts against some parties, was taken from his home and severely beaten. He recognized some. His wife was also mistreated.

—The Kentucky Tobacco Warehouse at Paducah, Ky., Sebree and Hobson, proprietors, suspended last week. Their liabilities are $130,000; assets, principally money advanced on the growing crop, $90,000.

—Lebanon Times: The western part of this county and the northern part of Washington have suffered severely from drought this season, so much so that on many farms a half crop of corn will not be realized.

—Caleb Stacy, an aged citizen of Menifee County, although in perfect health, called some of his family to him and told them that he would die before morning. He selected the spot where he wished to be buried, ate a hearty supper, and before morning was a corpse.

—Carlisle Mercury: On last Saturday, five prisoners incarcerated in our county jail attempted to burn it by setting fire to the floor, but were unsuccessful. They were all arraigned before Judge Mann on the charge of arson, and held to answer for that charge in addition to their other crimes.

—The boilers of Col. James W. Weatherford's steam mill, about two miles from Huntsonville, near the Casey County line, exploded last week, killing his son, Tobe Weatherford, Willis Eason and John Kauffman. Eason and Kauffman both left families. Asa Barlow and William Kauffman were badly injured by the same accident.

—True Kentuckian: James Miller brought to our office the queerest ear of corn we ever saw. It is a small nubbin, with about forty of what look more like bean pods than anything else we can liken them to growing from the grains, some of the pod-like stems being fully four inches in length. On removing the covering, the interior presented the appearance of young corn shoots.

—Somerset Republican: Ambrose W. Garland, of this county, a dwarf 28 years old, only 37 inches in height and weighing but 40 pounds, was brought into this office yesterday, where a great many persons came to see him. In his manners he acts as would a child of three years, save that he has scarcely any mind. He has just been adjudged an imbecile by the Circuit Court now in session at this place.

—Maysville Republican: In digging a cistern at the residence of Dr. G. W. Martin, on Wednesday, at a depth of six feet the workmen came upon three tan vats. The bark in the vats was as fresh looking as the day it issued from the mill, and a quantity of "ooze" was present. This tanyard was the scene of labor of Roswell Grant, uncle of the ex-President, over half a century ago, and was last known as Grime's tan-yard. It has been abandoned for more than forty years.

—Paris True Kentuckian: We saw, preserved in alcohol, at Winsatt & Downey's drug store, a tape worm 22 feet long, taken from the stomach of a butcher in the Louisville Medical Hospital. It is a hideous looking affair, well calculated to make a fellow dream of ghosts and hobgoblins after eating a late supper of hard boiled eggs, pretzels and limburger cheese. The operation was skillfully performed by Dr. Douglas L. Howard, a rising young physician of this place.

—Madisonville Republican: Last week we gave an account of the burning of two tobacco barns in our county. Since then we have heard of four more gone in this way; two in this county and two just over the line in McLean County. Our White Plains correspondent tells in his letter in this issue how a clever, industrious young man living in that neighborhood, named Joyce, who is just starting in life, lost his barn and entire crop of tobacco. The other unfortunate, Mr. A. B. Hampton, living near Hanson, lost a new barn and the whole of his crop of tobacco. The two barns burned in McLean County were valuable frame barns, and both were crowded full of tobacco. One of them was owned by Mr. Green Turner, and the other by a Mr. Shaver.

—Mt. Sterling Democrat: Last week several persons discovered, in the woods on the farm of Mrs. Mary Rogers, of this county, a newly-dug hole three or four feet wide and five feet deep. Their suspicions were aroused as to the cause of this mysterious excavation, and an examination of the hole and surrounding premises made. The bottom of the hole appeared as if a keg had been taken from it, and on one side is an old cherry stump, while on the other is a large sugar tree, with curious inscriptions on it, apparently several years old. In the woods near the excavation, in a dark, tangled brushwood, a fire had been built and a rude bonch constructed, as if preparation for dividing the contents of the keg had been made. Speculations are rife as to the cause of this mysterious proceeding, but as yet no reasonable conclusion arrived at.

—A few days ago, in Anderson County, G. H. Ward and Wm. Black, citizens of that county, got into a dispute about some trivial matter, during which Ward abused Black and his wife, and other members of Black's family. They separated, Black going home. A short while afterward, Ward, armed with a double-barrel shot-gun, went to Black's house. Black was sitting in his porch with his wife, his wife's father and brother. As Ward came up, Mrs Black arose and asked him to retract what he said about her family. At the same time, her brother arose and said, "Yes, by G—d, you will have to do it," at the same time firing. Ward immediately fired into the crowd, one ball taking effect in Mrs. Black's shoulder and another in her hip, inflicting painful, though not dangerous, wounds. Ward was arrested and lodged in jail in Lawrenceburg, Saturday, having failed to give $1,000 bail for his appearance at the next term of the Anderson Circuit Court.

THE BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL,
Editor and Proprietor.

BURLINGTON, KY., OCTOBER 18.

It is a well known and appreciated fact, that the United States Mail Service, taken as a whole, is a great blessing, and the people have shown their appreciation of it by a constantly increasing patronage. It is naturally a very expensive system to manage, and consequently it is advisable to have all mail matter carried and handled as cheaply as possible, at the same time looking to the expeditious delivery at the point of destination. These two points seem to have been overlooked in the late change of routes between this place and Covington. By the old stage line route, the cost to the government per year for the carrying of the mail between Burlington and Covington was considerably less than it is by the present system of carrying it from Cincinnati to Greenwood Lake, thence to Florence and thence to Burlington. But this would not be a consideration if there were any advantage to be gained in the time of the delivery of the mail at this point. Here, however, comes the cause of complaint, and it just one it is. Matter mailed in Covington, and which formerly reached here the same day, requires two and three days to reach this place, a distance of sixteen miles; papers and other mail from Louisville, which we use to receive the same day it was mailed, now gets here two days later, and all other mail likewise. But this is not all. A letter started from here for Covington goes first to Florence, thence to Greenwood Lake, thence to Lexington via the C. S. R. R., and thence back to Cincinnati and across the river to Covington. Now it is plain to the most unobservant, that all this consumes valuable time, and is a source of great annoyance to all persons concerned. Two weeks since, we started our regular bundle of papers to Constance, which is distant from Burlington some eight miles, but, at last advices, it had not yet reached its objective point. Burlington is the county seat of Boone County, and a great deal of legal matter necessarily passes through the mail; but the uncertainty of safe delivery, and the dilatory movements, as compared with the days of the old regime, render a confusion in our courts not improbable. We wish to call the attention of some of Uncle Sam's agents to these facts, with the hope that they may investigate them, and see if there can not be a restoration of the old mail route, which not only carried the mail cheaper, but insured a safe and more prompt delivery, and was always on time.

We have been informed that Judge Boyd, of the Kenton Circuit, has been commissioned to try the Percival case, and for that purpose a special term of the Boone Criminal Court will be convened on the fifth Monday in this month, which is the 29th day. If there are any professional jurors in the county, who want a job, they had better be forgetting all about the case as fast as possible.

On last County Court day Williamstown furnished another example of too much pistol. A boy about eighteen years of age was accidently shot, and mortally wounded. This is another result of the folly of carrying pistols. Young man, if you are in the habit of carrying a pistol, the sooner you get rid of it the better it will be for you and your friends, for if you continue it will inevitably get you in trouble.

The Democratic victory in Ohio was a wind fall the party was not expecting, and neither were the Republicans suspecting such results. The majority given Bishop was largely over 20,000. In the General Assembly, on joint ballot, the Democrats will have a majority of 42. This lets Stanley Matthews step aside in the race for United States Senator.

An ex-Justice of the Peace, in Arkansas, was, a few days since, shot to death by a mob. The ex-Justice was supposed to have assassinated the Justice who deposed him. The lynched was a negro, and had rendered himself particularly odious before his removal from office.

The President's message requests Congress to make appropriations to the amount of $30,000,000. These appropriations are principally for army and navy expenses.

Congress is in session.

Gov. Hendricks has returned from his visit to the old world.

What will be the next to make everybody prick up their ears?

The remains of Gen. Custer were interred at West Point, on the 10th of this month.

The caucusers nominated Randall for Speaker of the next House in the national Congress.

As was prophesied, Senator Morton was not able to be present at the opening of Congress.

Conkling and Blaine can now turn themselves loose on the President's policy if they desire, and see how well they agree while gnawing on the same bone.

On the 30th inst., President Hayes will visit the Virginia State Fair. The Virginians are making great preparations to receive and entertain him while there.

The Kentucky Democracy have already commenced punching the Ohio Democrats in the short ribs, and saying: "Send Pendleton to the United States Senate."

The Bracken Chroniele tells of a band of Regulators in Robinson County who make putting loafers to work a specialty. This band waits upon the professional loafer, and informs him that he must go to work in so many days or take a sound drubbing. The Chronicle does not give any account of anyone's submitting to the lash rather than work.

Three idle and worthless sons of an old man named Service, residing on Horse Branch creek, in Kenton County, one day last week, attempted to murder their father, because one morning he insisted on their getting up at the proper time and going to work. They gave the old man a couple of loads of shot. This is probably another example of too much parental indulgence.

In Madison County, the Maupins continue their shooting and killing. Last Thursday night, Mack Maupin got into a difficulty with a man, who, but a few moments previous had entertained him at his supper table, and shot and killed him. Last Saturday, in Richmond, Lewis Maupin, a lad of nineteen, for a very slight pretext, shot and seriously wounded a negro. It is time these bloody Maupins were cared for by justice.

ST. LOUIS LETTER.

St. Louis, Mo., October 13, 1877.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

If it be true that there is always a calm after a storm, we can certainly set this week down as a verification of the fact, so far as our city is concerned. We have had delightful weather the week through, yet business men are complaining of dull times, and we readily conclude it is because we have had so much excitement for the two weeks previous. There is scarcely an item with us this week worthy of note, but we have promised never to forsake you, or leave you out in the cold, so we will make our bow as usual.

Our Italian fellow citizens were out on parade yesterday, in honor of a countryman of theirs by the name of Christopher Columbus, who, on yesterday, the 12th day of October three hundred and eighty-five years ago, located quite a body of land lying between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts known as North America. We were not there at the time the distinguished foreigner cast anchor, and drove down stakes, but we are slightly of the opinion if he should visit the same country again, he would find that there have been many land marks laid since then, and quite a change in the appearance of things generally. "We rather think so." We are, however, glad that he did make the discovery he did, and we are rather proud in saying that when young, and taking part in our school boy's debating societies, we always affirmed that Christopher Columbus deserved more credit for discovering America than Washington did in defending it. Whether he ever received said credit or not is another question altogether, and one which we at this time we will not undertake to affirm or defend.

As we had so much to say in our last about our Fair, we will now simply say entire receipts for the week, including gate money, booth rents &c., amounted to $187,700. There was no entry fee charged on stock or articles for exhibition this year.

In our Criminal Court yesterday, a son of an ex-Governor of Texas was sentenced to two years in the Penitentiary for stealing a diamond stud and some clothing from a friend. I expect the poor fellow needed the clothes, but I dougt whether he needed the stud.

We quote wheat, No. 2, $1 37½, No. 3, $1 30 to $1 31, No. 4, $1 21 to $1 33. Corn ranges in price from 40c. to 47c. for rejected; for St. Charles white oats, 25c. to 37c. Rye, rejected, 52c. No. 2, 57c, Barley ranges from 90 to 90 cents as per quality. Bob A. Long.

A dispatch from Benton, M. T. says; "Since the first battle of Miles with Joseph's band, the troops have been holding the hostiles in a narrow ravine, and have picked them off from rifle-pits, losing only four men themselves. Joseph raised the flag four times, offering to surrender if he might keep his guns. Miles demanded an unconditional surrender, and on the last day Joseph raised the flag again, advanced to the front of the lines, handed his gun to Miles and shook hands with him. The remainder of the command did the same. Forty wounded Indians were found in the camp. The number of dead is unknown, as all were buried. The glories of the fight rests with Miles. The intrenchments of the Nez Perces were ingeniously constructed, and their bravery unsurpassed throughout the fight, and they are credited with numerous acts of humanity to the wounded whites." Thus winds up the fight with Chief Joseph.

A Washington Special to the Cincinnati Gazette says: "It has been decided to offer Gen. Bristow the leading foreign mission, and the hope is expressed by his friends that he will accept it. The Administration is desirous of sending to England, a man not only of national reputation, but a man whose prominence is understood. The President, in Cabinet session, made known his purpose to nominate Gen. John M. Harlan, of Kentucky, to the vacancy on the Supreme Bench. As the court is now in session and the need of a full bench is felt among the Justices, it was agreed that his nomination should go in the day the Senate meets in case of an opportunity. It will then probably have to await the organization of the Senate and its consideration and report."

The Board of Trade, in Cincinnati, has appointed a committee to make arrangements for an exposition in 1878.

Tributes of Respect.

At a meeting of Big Bone Grange No. 488, held in their hall October 13th, 1877, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, it has pleased the Supreme Master to summons, on June 6th, 1877, from our midst Bro. J. L. Adams, whose shining example of uprightness and integrity made him a jewel in the order (no member loved the order better than he, and at the time of his death he was Assessor of this Grange),

Resolved, That in the death of our Brother we recognize the hand of Him who always does what is just and right, and we bow in humble submission to His will.

Resolved, That we extend to the family of the deceased our sincere sympathy and condolence in their sad bereavement.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread on the minutes, the same be sent to the family, and published in the Boone County Recorder and Grange Bulletin.

E. Clements, T. Rouse,
O. B. Utz, Committee.

At the same meeting the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, The Great Master has taken, on the 19th of September, 1877, our esteemed and beloved Brother, L. Garrison, this Grange, deeply feeling its bereavement, adopts the following resolutions:

Resolved, That in the death of Brother Garrison our order, in common with society at large, has sustained an irrepairable loss.

Resolved, That in our hearts we will ever cherish the memory of his sunny nature, his kindly manner, his simple faith and unassuming piety.

Resolved, That a copy of these be sent to the family, to whom we tender our warmest sympathy, and a copy be spread on the minutes. Also published in the Boone County Recorder and Cincinnati Grange Bulletin.

T. M. Adams, J. H. Mason,
O. B. Utz, Committee.

THE Murphy movement has struck Burlington at last. It came in the person of Logan Zellers (colored). Logan has not made many star spangled banner lectures yet, but we noticed several wrecked quart bottles on the street Sunday morning.

THE colored population of this town are making another desperate effort to build a new church at this place. There has been two colored divines preaching to their people at this place for a considerable season. No one has been killed or wounded since they commenced preaching, a circumstance in their favor.

THAT tattling Dame has been blowing off again, and, were we to stop and make a list of the names she says are going to catch mothers-in-law this fall, the list would not reach from here to the moon, but would contain the names of almost a legion, and our conclusion is, Chief Joseph and those naughty redskins on the frontier had better subside at once.

THE following item we discovered in the Louisville Commercial a few days since:

State Senator L. C. Norman, of the Boone-Owen-Gallatin District, is about to achieve a still higher honor than the political one lately conferred upon him, if our advices from Union are correct. It is to be a new wife this time, and her present name is Miss Nannie Dickson, and another such prize as she would be hard to draw in Boone or any other county.

Shooting Match.

The shot-gun team, organized at Florence some time since, held its fourth meeting at Bullestaville on last Saturday afternoon. There were quite a number of persons present to witness the shooting, which was indulged in by some ten or a dozen persons.

The first match was composed of nine persons, each allowed ten shots, 35 yards distance, at glass balls thrown from a trap. In this match, J. F. Blythe broke every one of his balls, Ot Gaines and H. Fontain each breaking nine out of ten. Gaines and Fontain, then, to decide the matter, each made three shots, Fontain missing his third ball, leaving Gaines the second man in the first match. The following is the score:

John Finch	0	1	0	1	1	0	1	0	0	—5
Elijah Howard	0	0	1	1	1	0	0	1	1	—5
Jerry Blythe	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	—10
Will Kirtley	0	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	0	—7
Clint Gaines	1	0	0	0	0	1	0	1	1	—5
Ot Gaines	1	0	1	1	1	1	1	1	1	—9
Alf Whitlock	1	1	1	1	1	0	0	1	1	—8
Al McLaughlin	1	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	0	—8
H. Fontain	1	1	1	0	1	1	1	1	1	—9

The second match was five shots, four out of the nine shooting each breaking five balls, giving Blythe 15 broken balls for 15 shots. The following is the score made in the second match:

Will Kirtley	1	1	1	1	—5
O. Gaines	1	1	1	1	—5
H. Fontain	0	0	1	1	—3
John Finch	1	0	0	0	—2
Clint Gaines	0	1	0	1	—3
E. Howard	1	1	1	1	—5
Jerry Blythe	1	1	1	1	—5
Al McLaughlin	0	0	1	1	—3
Alf Whitlock	1	1	1	0	—4

The third match was five shots, E. Howard and Blythe each making a clean score, Blythe having made 20 shots and broken 20 balls. The following is the score:

Will Kirtley	1	0	1	0	—3
O. Gaines	0	1	0	1	—3
H. Fontain	1	0	1	1	—4
John Finch	1	1	0	0	—3
Clint Gaines	1	1	0	1	—4
E. Howard	1	1	1	1	—5
Jerry Blythe	1	1	1	1	—5
Al McLaughlin	0	1	0	0	—1
Alf Whitlock	0	1	1	1	—4

The fourth and last match, Blythe scratched his score, H. Fontain being the only one making a clean one, while John Finch came within one of being goose-egged. Blythe's nerves had become slightly demoralized, but Howard's remained quiet, he having broken five balls in every match but the last one, in which he broke four, coming out with a total of 19 out of 25, Blythe 23 out of 25, H. Fontain, 21 out of 25, Ot Gaines 20 out of 25, and John Finch 11 out of 25. The following is the score made in the fourth match:

Will Kirtley	1	0	1	1	—4
O. Gaines	1	0	1	0	—3
H. Fontain	1	1	1	1	—6
John Finch	0	0	1	0	—1
Clint Gaines	0	1	1	0	—3
E. Howard	0	1	1	1	—4
Jerry Blythe	1	0	1	0	—3
Al McLaughlin	1	0	1	1	—4
Alf Whitlock	0	1	0	1	0—2

Blythe still holds the horns.

REV. JAS. A. KIRTLEY desires us to say, in regard to the Sunday-school Convention at Big Bone, that the programme published by the Committee will, at the suggestion of the Chairman, and with the consent of the Committee, be slightly changed. It is understood that there will be a basket meeting, forenoon and afternoon sessions, the forenoon session on Friday commencing at 10½ o'clock. The introductory sermon by Brother Felix will be preached immediately after organizing. With two sessions during the day, they can not have night meetings. Of ministers, they expect brethren Felix, Bent and R. E. Kirtley, and hope also to have brethren Johnson and Vardiman with them. They extend to the membership of all their churches a most cordial and earnest invitation to meet and participate in the exercises of the meeting, which will begin on Friday preceding the fourth Saturday in this month.

THE Boston Herald says that, since their emancipation, it is undeniable that the colored people of the South have been dying off at a fearful rate. They have crowded into the cities and large towns, occupying the unhealthiest quarters, and have contracted diseases previously almost unknown among them. The present average mortality of negroes in the Southern cities is twice that of the whites.

ONE day last week, Mr. Jamason Aylor, of Hebron, was digging potatoes and one of his little boys came up in front of him, and was so nigh before noticed that Mr. Aylor struck him a severe blow on the head with a heavy potato hook, fracturing the little fellow's skull and inflicted a dangerous wound from which the child, at last accounts, was not expected to recover.

WE have a correspondent at Normansville, a point we have wanted represented for some time, and we only ask him to keep us posted and get his items in by Monday night, as he did this week. We want correspondents, and say whosoever will let them write.

IT seems, by reference to our State News column, that the fire fiend has been loose among the tobacco barns in the State. Farmers can not be too careful how they handle fire around their buildings, especially in these days of drought.

REVS. L. JOHNSON and O. J. Bagby have been conducting a protracted meeting at the Verona Baptist Church for several days. Some twenty persons have united with the church since the meeting commenced.

PICNIC days are numbered. The ants, bugs and worms can take a rest, and have no fears of being swallowed whole, or have their little lives squeezed out while they are on exploring expeditions.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Normansville.

Our little town, nestling between two giant elevations of land known in this section as only hills, has quite a good run of business of all kinds. Among the chief productions here are corn, tobacco, geese and tow-head young ones. The last article is abundant.

We will give you a few items of more importance. The first we note is T. B Johnson, a man of considerable flatboat notoriety, is now loading one of said crafts with potatoes for the Southern trade. He is paying from 80 to 90 cents per barrel, delivered at the landing.

Samuel J. Ewalt expects to start to Colorado in a few days.

Last week we saw Bob Craig pass through town with a drove of feeding cattle he purchased in Gallatin County.

The river has been rising slowly for a few days, and the countenances of the flatboatmen brighten accordingly. SQUIB.

Florence.

Dave Osborne met with a severe accident, last week. A load of hay on which he was riding turned over, throwing him against a fence, with the load of hay on him. His right arm and breast were badly mashed.

Will Hogan had another runaway last week. His horse got away with his buggy, smashing it badly.

Mr. James Osborne has taken into partnership Mr. Will Tanner. Will is immensely popular, especially with the ladies, and I predict that the new firm will do an increased business.

Last Saturday week the Odd-fellows' lodge of Ludlow paid us a visit, and last Saturday evening Walton Lodge dropped in to see us. The meetings were very interesting. The lodge here has elected Ben Stephens and T. L. Swetnam as representatives to the Grand Lodge and J. R. Clutterbuck and H. A. Cuntler as alternates.

Petersburg.

We have had a rest, and consequently feel refreshed. Owing to the nice derangement in the Burlington mail delivery, our last communication had grown old, tame, gray and bald by the time it reached here in print So ancient was it, that it was not recognized by our oldest inhabitant. It was almost a repetition of the Seven Sleepers, or the Rip Van Winkle legend. Well we have enjoyed our rest, but have grown lazy from the protracted leisure it inflicted.

There was a quiet wedding, last week when Mr. Albert French and Miss Mary Snelling were obligated for the term of natural life, to look upon each other as equal partners in busines or pleasure. Rev. A. Redd signed the papers and returned them to Bro. Dills for record.

Our Granger brethren and sisters have been endeavoring to have a revival, or protracted meeting, at their hall (the schoolhouse near J. W. Berkshire's) for some time past, but owing to croquet and other pressing interests, have failed. However, they do not despair, and by their request we announce that, at their next regular meeting, which is on the second Saturday in next month, November, they propose to meet in force, bring their provisions and spend the day. An interesting discourse on the merits of the order, in which all will have the privilege of participating, will be the principal feature of the occasion. All members are invited. Hour of meeting, 10 a. m.

By an accidental fire we came near loosing our whisky factory, last week. It was saved through the arduous efforts of the citizens, and a gleam of satisfied relief overspread the countenances of our regular topers as they heard the fire was out.

There was another meeting of the Fat Ladie's Convention at Mr. Nathan Walton's, last Thursday, which was well attended, and as Aunt Sarah Catherine was there for a short time at dinner, we hope to see another voluminous account of it in your paper.

By way of supplement to these notes, and lest any be disappointed in the Grange meeting, we will add that the change of day from from the fourth Saturday in October to the second in November was made, last week, on account of the Sabbath School Convention at Big Bone Baptist Church, which meets on the fourth Saturday in October, and which several of our important members wish to attend.

Last Sunday afternoon, Rev. J. A. Kirtley preached the funeral of Mrs. Pangburn, whose death was recently noticed in this column. His text was Romans, 8th chapter, 28th verse; appropriate and touching Scripture; and the sermon was as eloquent and consoling as it was in the power of the gifted speaker to make it. The audience was very large and attentive, and a lasting impression was made upon the hearts of many. Mrs. Pangburn had long been a worthy member of the Baptist Church at Bullets burg, and her course in life has been exactly in accordance with the profession she made when she became a member of the church.

ONLY A LOCK OF HAIR.

"Only a lock of hair," she said,
A simple lock of hair;
But when she yanked it from his head
Alphonso had to swear.

"I would not lose this glossy tress,
No, not one single hair;
I would not lose—unless, unless,
You had some more to spare."

"I'll keep the token," Mabel said—
"This little lock of hair;
So, when you scratch your old bald head,
You'll know that I've been there."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

VINEGAR.—One gallon of molasses, seven gallons of rain water, half-pint good yeast. This will make good vinegar in three or four days.

SPONGE CAKE.—Two cups full flour, four eggs, one and one-half cupfuls sugar, one teaspoonful cream tartar, one-half teaspoonful soda.

RHUBARB PIE.—Put a small basin in a deep pie-dish, cut the stem in pieces about an inch long, without peeling, plenty of sugar and a good light crust.

TEA CAKE.—Four cupfuls of flour, three cupfuls sugar, one cupful of butter, one pint of milk, three eggs, one teaspoonful of cream tartar, one teaspoonful soda.

CUP CAKE.—Three cupfuls flour, one and one-half cupfuls of sugar, one cupful butter, one cupful of milk, one spoonful cream tartar, one-half teaspoonful soda.

MEAL PUDDING.—Scald one quart of milk, stir in seven teaspoonfuls of sifted meal, salt, teacup of molasses, tablespoonful ginger. Bake three hours and eat with sauce.

CREAM PIE.—One cupful sugar, one teaspoonful of butter, two-thirds cup of milk, one and one-half cupfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of soda, two even teaspoonfuls of cream tartar sifted in the flour, and one egg. Bake on jelly tins. For the sauce, one-half pint of milk, one tablespoonful of flour, one teaspoonful of corn starch; mix smooth in little of the milk, one egg and two tablespoonfuls of sugar; stir all well together. Put them in the milk and stir till it foams a good custard. Remove from the fire and flavor with vanilla. Spread between each layer, and cut in pie shape pieces.

How Our Girls Express Their Desire for a Kiss.

The way girls of the surrounding towns in our county have of expressing their desire for a kiss is related as follows by some of the boys who have been there: When a Brooksville girl wants a kiss, she waltzes up to her fellow, throws both arms around his neck, gives him to understand that she means business, and receives a kiss. In Augusta the girls are very high toned, and their way is thus: "If you have not been drinking, and will promise to join the Murphy movement, I'll let you press your lips to mine, which are, as yet, unprofaned by a kiss." The Milford girls say: "Pucker up your mug Jim, I want a kiss." The Germantown girls do all their talking with their eyes. Most any one can understand them. The Berlin girls say: "Dear George, smear me on the gob." The Bradford girls yell: "Old Allemaguzelam, lick my chops, or I'll think you are real mean, so I will." He licks. The Fairview girls say: "No you d-o-n-t," and encourages him. The Chatham girls ask: "Am I the first you ever kissed?" and don't believe your answer but proceed all the same. When one of the Locust Grove girls wants a kiss, she comes tripping slily up to her fellow's side, throws both arms around his neck, gently lays her head on his shoulder, and with up turned face and quivering lips lisps: "Darling!" He embraces her with both arms, leans forward, and just before their lips meet yells: "Onions!" and disappears through the back door without even bidding her good night. —Bracken Record.

A Pleasant Custom.

Cameron's "Across Africa," says that on the death of Urure Chief it is custom "to divert the course of a stream and in its bed to dig an enormous pit, the bottom of which is then covered with living women. At one end a woman is placed on her hands and knees, and upon her back the dead chief, covered with his beads and treasures is seated, being supported on either side by one of his wives, while his second wife sits at his feet. The earth is then shoveled in on them and all the women are buried alive, with exception of the second wife. To her custom is more merciful than to her companions, and grants her the privilege of being killed before the huge grave is filled in. This being completed, a number of male slaves—sometimes forty or fifty—are slaughtered, and their blood pouredover the graves, after which the river is allowed to resume its course.

AN intoxicated passenger on Virginia railroad showed his total abstenence pledge when asked for a ticket. The conductor punched the pledge and wrote on it "one drunk."

THE Indians, who are fighting the United States troops are being rapidly killed off—by old age.

WANTED—A hen that can lay a foundation stone.

Champagne Cider.

Any good, mild flavored apple can be converted into an excellent bever age. To make a choice article the apples should be ripe and sound, freed from stem and leaves, and when ground the pomace should lay in the vat from eighteen to twenty-four hours. This gives a good body, richness, color and flavor to the cider that can not be obtained when worked immediately under the press. As it goes into the cask do not use straw in a wooden funnel to strain or separate the sediment or pomace from the juice, but strain the sweet cider through flannel, which will separate most all the sediment, which must be worked out at the bung or otherwise removed, for it is mainly this sediment that sours the cider and makes it hard. That which man neglects to do nature strives to assist. After it has been filtered, fill clean, well hooped casks, and put them in a dark, cool cellar. Take out the bung and keep the cask full, let it work half the usual time, then bung tight and let it stand for a few days. Then draw off the cider from the sediment, which lies in the bottom of the cask. If you desire a drink extra fine, return the cider after the cask has been well washed out, let it remain a few days, then repeat the process, and after the sediment has, the second time, all been removed, fill up the barrel and cork up tight. This cider, in this condition will keep one year. Or, to convert it into a sparkling drink, good champagne cider, bottle it up with good corks, in common bottles, as soon as the second draught is made, and expose it to the light and air as little as possible, if you wish to retain the gases and the life of the article. Add one good raisin to each bottle and drink at your leisure. This makes an exhilerating drink. One quart should be used sparingly for several meals. It should be used only at meal time, then it is taken up and disseminated with the food, and is very healthy and strengthening as a beverage and antidote for dyspepsia and jaundice. When cider is drawn from the cask, some leave a vent; this lets out the gases and destroys the life of the cider; so does the mixing up of mustard seed in the barrel; the cider becomes so weak and insipid that it will not change into vinegar. The life principles are destroyed. Other nostrums should be avoided, such as some use to keep the cider plain and sweet. Bottled cider should lie on the earth in a dark cellar till wanted.

Indian Pow-Wow.

In a second conference with the Indians at Washington, there were present President Hayes, members of the Cabinet, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, Gen. Crook and others. The Indians were in full costume. The President said he was ready to hear the Chiefs if they wished to speak further. After a pause Spotted Tail spoke, urging that the lands now occupied by his people be secured to them, and Swift Bear, Red Bear, Touch the Cloud applauded his remarks, and Red Cloud said: "The foot of the Hills is a good place to put my agency, and I did not come here to beg any thing. The Black Hills were mine, and I gave them to the Commissioner. I suppose you are going to decide what you are going to give us for the Hills, and I come to get it." Other Indians having spoken, Gen. Crook advocated their claims, and the President was presented with a pipe of peace.

The President, in reply, said: "Your supplies have been carried to the Missouri River, and there they are now, according to our promise. You say you do not like to go to the Missouri River, but your supplies can not be taken to any other place before your people will need them, and before the cold days of winter come, and if you do not go near the place where your supplies are your people will be hungry, and I shall not be able to give them food. I desire to do all for you I can, and, therefore, want you to be in the place this winter where my helping hand can reach you. But I do not mean that you and your people shall stay near the Missouri River always. You shall stay there only this winter. When Spring comes, you shall select for your permanent abode such land on your reservation as you like best. My agents will aid you in making your selection."

The President further said he desired them to have schools to educate their children, like the white people, and to learn to till the soil, and to educate themselves for work, so that they might take care of themselves, and not depend for their support upon the Great Father of this Nation.

During the address the Indians smiled broadly when the President said they ought to be better educated, so as to know how to work and gain their own living by raising cattle, and tilling the soil, etc.

A BRIDEGROOM in Payton, Iowa, refused to provide refreshments for a serenading party, where upon they pulled him out of bed and carried him around the village astride a rail. The bride hurridly dressed herself, aroused the Sheriff, and effected the rescue of her husband as well as the arrest of several of the mob.

THE principal resemblance between a man who stops a team on the crosswalk of a crowded street and a half barrel of flour is, they both make about a hundred wait.

"MANKIND," said a preacher, "includes woman; for man embaces woman."

Ayer's
Sarsaparilla

For Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose, or St. Anthony's Fire, Eruptions and Eruptive diseases of the skin, Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Blotches, Tumors, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa, arising from internal ulceration, and Uterine disease, Syphilitic and Mercurial diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, General Debility, and for Purifying the Blood.

This Sarsaparilla is a combination of vegetable alteratives — Stillingia, Mandrake, Yellow Dock — with the Iodides of Potassium and Iron, and is the most efficacious medicine yet known for the diseases it is intended to cure.

Its ingredients are so skilfully combined, that the full alterative effect of each is assured, and while it is so mild as to be harmless even to children, it is still so effectual as to purge out from the system those impurities and corruptions which develop into loathsome disease.

The reputation it enjoys is derived from its cures, and the confidence which prominent physicians all over the country repose in it, proves their experience of its usefulness.

Certificates attesting its virtues have accumulated, and are constantly being received, and as many of these cases are publicly known, they furnish convincing evidence of the superiority of this Sarsaparilla over every other alterative medicine. So generally is its superiority to any other medicine known, that we need do no more than to assure the public that the best qualities it has ever possessed are strictly maintained.

"LIKE A LITTLE CHILD."

BY GEORGE MACDONALD.

My child is lying on my knee;
The signs of heaven she reads;
My face is all the heaven she sees—
Is all the heaven she needs.

And she is well; yea, bathed in bliss
If heaven is in my face;
Behind it is all tenderness
And truthfulness and grace.

I mean her well so earnestly,
Unchanged in changing mood,
My life would go without a sigh
To bring her something good.

I also am a child; and I
Am ignorant and weak;
I gaze upon the starry sky,
And then I must not speak.

For all behind the starry sky,
Behind the world so broad,
Behind men's hearts and souls doth lie
The infinite of God.

Aye, true to her, though troubled sore,
I can not choose but be;
Thou who art peace forevermore
Art very true to me.

If I am low and sinful, bring
More love where need is rife;
Thou knowest what an awful thing
It is to be a life.

Hast Thou not wisdom to enwrap
My waywardness about,
In doubting safety on the lap
Of love that knows no doubt?

Lo! Lord, I sit in Thy wide space,
My child upon my knee;
She looketh up into my face,
And I look up to Thee.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

Fellow-citizens of the Senate and House of Representatives:

The adjournment of the last Congress without making appropriations for the support of the army for the present fiscal year has rendered necessary suspension of payments to the officers and men of the sums due them for services rendered after the 30th day of June last. The army exists by virtue of statutes which prescribe its numbers, regulate its organization and employment, and which fix the pay of its officers and men and declare their right to receive the same at stated periods. The statutes, however, do not authorize the payment of troops in the absence of specific appropriation therefor. The constitution has wisely provided that no money shall be drawn from the Treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law; and it has also been declared by statute that no department of the government shall expend in any one fiscal year any sum in excess of the appropriation made by Congress for that fiscal year.

THE ARMY AND NAVY.

We have, therefore, an army in service authorized by law, and entitled to be paid, but no funds available for that purpose; and it may also be said, as an additional incentive to prompt action by Congress, that since the commencement of the fiscal year the army, though without pay, has been constantly and actively employed in arduous and dangerous service, in the performance of which both officers and men have discharged their duty with fidelity and courage, and without complaint. These circumstances, in my judgment, constitute an extraordinary occasion, requiring Congress to be convened in advance of the time prescribed by law for your meeting in regular session. The importance of speedy action upon the subject on the part of Congress is so manifest that I venture to suggest the propriety of making the necessary appropriations for the support of the army for the current year at its present maximum numerical strength of 25,000 men, leaving for future consideration all questions relating to an increase or decrease of the number of enlisted men. In the event of the reduction of the army by subsequent legislation during the fiscal year, the excess of the appropriation could not be expended, and in the event of its enlargement, the additional sums required for the payment of the extra force could be provided in due time. It would be unjust to the troops now in service, and whose pay is already largely in arrears, if payment to them should be further postponed until after Congress shall have considered all the questions likely to arise in the effort to fix the proper limit to the strength.

The army estimates of appropriations for the support of the military establishment for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1878, were transmitted to Congress by the former Secretary of the Treasury at the opening of its session in December last. These estimates, modified by the present Secretary so as to conform to present requirements, are now renewed, amounting to $32,436,764 98, and, having been transmitted to both houses of Congress, are submitted for your consideration.

There is also required by the Navy Department $2,386,127. This sum is made up of $1,446,888 16 due to officers and enlisted men for the last quarter of the last fiscal year; $311,963 50 due for advances made by the fiscal agent of the government in London for the support of force in service; $50,000 due to the Naval Hospital fund; $150,000 due for arrearages of pay to officers; and $45,219 58 for the support of the Marine Corps. There will also be needed an appropriation of $262,555 92 to defray the unsettled expenses of the United States Courts for the fiscal year ending June 30th last, now due to attorneys, clerks, commissioners and marshals, and for rent of court-rooms, the support of pensioners and other deficiencies.

THE PATENT OFFICE FIRE.

A part of the building of the Interior Department was destroyed by fire on the 24th of last month. Some immediate repairs and temporary structures have in consequence become necessary, estimates for which will be transmitted to Congress immediately, and an appropriation of the requisite funds is respectfully recommended.

CERTAIN OTHER DEFICIENCIES.

The Secretary of the Treasury will communicate to Congress, in connection with the estimates for the appropriations for the support of the army for the current fiscal year, estimates for such other deficiencies in the different branches of the public service as require immediate action, and can not, without inconvenience, be postponed until the regular session.

THE FRENCH EXPOSITION.

I take this opportunity to invite your attention to the propriety of adopting at your present session the necessary legislation to enable the people of the United States to participate in the advantages of the International Exhibition of Agriculture, Industry and the Fine Arts, which is to be held at Paris in 1878, and in which this government has been invited by the government of France to take part. This invitation was communicated to this government in May, 1876, by the Minister of France at this capital, and a copy thereof was submitted to the proper committee of Congress at its last session, but no action was taken on the subject. The Department of State has received many letters from various parts of the country, expressing a desire to participate in the exhibition, and numerous applications of a similar nature have also been made at the United States Legation at Paris. The Department of State has also received official advice of a strong desire on the part of the French government that the United States should participate in the enterprise, and space has hitherto been, and still is, reserved in the exhibition buildings for the use of exhibitors from the United States, to the exclusion of other parties who have been applicants therefor. In order that our industries may be properly represented at the exhibition, an appropriation will be needed for the payment of salaries and expenses of commissioners, for the transportation of goods, and for other purposes in connection with the object in view; and as May next is the time fixed for the opening of the exhibition, if our citizens are to share the advantages of this international competition for the trade of other nations, the necessity of immediate action is apparent. To enable the United States to co-operate in the International Exhibition which was held at Vienna in 1873, Congress then passed a joint resolution making an appropriation of $200,000, and authorizing the President to appoint a certain number of practical artisans and scientific men, who should attend the exhibition and report their proceedings and observations to him. Provision was also made for the appointment of a number of honorary commissioners. I have felt that prompt action by Congress in accepting the invitation of the government of France is of so much interest to the people of this country, and so suitable to the cordial relations between the governments of the two countries, that the subject might properly be presented for the attention of your present session.

INTERNATIONAL PRISON CONGRESS.

The government of Sweden and Norway has addressed an official invitation to this government to take part in the International Prison Congress, to be held at Stockholm next year. The problem which the congress proposes to study—how to diminish crime—is one in which all civilized nations have an interest in common, and the Congress of Stockholm seems likely to prove the most important convention ever held for the study of this grave question. Under authority of a joint resolution of Congress, approved February 16, 1875, a commission was appointed by my predecessor to represent the United States upon that occasion, and the Prison Congress having been, at the earnest desire of the Swedish government, postponed to 1878, his commission was renewed by me. An appropriation of $8,000 was made in the Sundry Civil Service act of 1875 to meet the expenses of the Commissioner. I recommend the reappropriation of that sum for the same purpose, the former appropriation having been covered into the Treasury, and being no longer available for the purpose without further action by Congress. The subject is brought to your attention at this time in view of circumstances which render it highly desirable that the commissioner should proceed to the discharge of his important duties at once.

As the several acts of Congress providing for detailed reports from the different departments of government require their submission at the beginning of the regular annual session, I refer until then any further reference to subjects of public interest.

R. B. HAYES.

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 15—10 p. m.

OUR Petersburg correspondent can't complain of his last week's communication being ancient when it returned, for it was in print and in the Petersburg postoffice in less than twenty hours after it was received at our office. We chartered the accommodating book-keeper at the distillery at that place, and metamorphosed him into a mail carrier pro tem, last week.

THE following query, which has been propounded to us, we present to our scientific readers for an answer:

To the Editor of the Recorder:

Why does sand and cement, when mixed properly with water and spread, form such a firm and impervious compound? Answer, if you can in English, and oblige

A READER OF THE RECORDER.

A REQUEST to make a correction in the name of the preacher who officiated at the funeral of Mrs. Richmond Howlett came too late for our last week's edition. The funeral was preached by Rev. C. W. Miller at Big Bone, last Sunday.

JUDGE PHELPS is what we term a genuine friend to the RECORDER. He often assumes the position of both mailing clerk and mail carrier, that the paper may make its appearance at the Bulletsville postoffice without delay.

HUSCHART & Co., Lawenceburg, Indiana are rapidly gaining a large patronage in Boone County, owing to the fact that they are selling their large stock of tombstones and monuments at hard-pan prices.

WE learn that the pleasant and accommodating A. L. Day is now with Henry Labold, 40 Pike street, Covington, Ky. Al can wait on a customer as pleasantly as the next one.

EVERYBODY is rushing to Lebker's shoe store for their boots and shoes, where they can buy good boots and shoes for little money. 36 Pike street, Covington, Ky.

TUESDAY, Mrs. Tousey, son and daughter, returned from Kenton County, where they have been spending some time visiting their friends.

DON'T forget to call at the Red Boot, No. 626, Madison St., Covington, and price Boots and Shoes before purchasing elsewhere.

—Hon Henry Tyler, of Hickman, is a candidate for Congress in his district.

—The Democrats of Madison County have nominated W. C. Miller for Judge.

—Hickman County claims a leaf of tobacco four feet long and wide in proportion, and a baby weighing 13½ pounds.

—Hon. Chas. F. Armistead, a colored ex-State Senator from Mississippi, made two Democratic speeches at Mayfield, last week.

—There is a movement on foot to annex a portion of Breathitt County to Lee at the next meeting of the General Assembly of Kentucky.

—Clinton (Hickman Co.) Democrat: The tobacco crop, the largest and finest ever raised in this county, has all been saved and in excellent condition.

—Protracted meetings at the Methodist and Christian churches at Bradfordsville closed last week, the former with twenty and the latter with eleven additions.

—Yeoman: Kentucky has the champion rifle shot of the world—Leslie Combs Bruce. A Kentucky team of riflemen, properly selected, could never be defeated at Creedmoor.

—The number of young men who are becoming Murphyites at Lexington is quite large, and growing, and, what is more to the point, some of the hard cases are joining the movement.

—The friends of Montgomery Parker, who was sentenced to two years in the Penitentiary at the present term of the Woodford Circuit Court, are asking the clemency of Gov. McCreary in the case.

—The Nelson Record says Marshal Hunter of Bardstown, who went to capture Grove Kennedy, saw Grove several times, but always in company with his friends. When Hunter's posse arrived, Grove had fled.

—The cattle trade has been extremely brisk in the vicinity of Bowling Green during the past two months, a great many of different grades having been purchased at fair prices for immediate market and for pasturage.

—Uniontown Local: Game is more abundant than for years past. Quail are especially numerous, and large numbers cross the Ohio daily from Indiana. Toward evening, the bewildered stragglers can be heard and seen in every part of town.

—Louisville Commercial: All of our State exchanges are telling about citizens emigrating to Texas. It strikes us that this policy is unwise. Shooting is not a bit better in Texas than in Kentucky, and as for the law—well, it could not be more of a dead letter.

—Hopkinsville New Era: The tobacco crop of this county is now cut and housed. Not a plant was injured by frost, and the crop was much better matured than usual. It is, by unanimous agreement, the finest crop that has been raised in the county since the war.

—Paducah News: The total shipment of wheat over the Paducah division of the Paducah and Memphis road, as furnished by General Manager N. Monsarrat, from July 1 to September 30, 1877, amounted to 1,761,500 bushels, and over the Memphis division to 85,080 bushels.

—Lexington Gazette: An ordinance has been passed recently by the town Trustees of Nicholasville, forbidding women to walk along the streets later than 9 o'clock at night without escort. The Court-house bell is rung at that hour, and all women who are on the streets after that hour must have male escort.

—The property of Dr. Thayer's circus, seized under an attachment, was sold at Sheriff's sale in Newport, Monday week, to satisfy the claim of Mr. R. E. J. Miles for $1,240. Six draught horses, a band wagon, a ticket wagon, several tents and other appurtenances were knocked down for $1,000 to Mr. Sidney Jones for the benefit of Mr. Miles.

—The creditors of B. B. Groom, of Clark, held a meeting in Lexington on Friday and Saturday a-week, and then adjourned to Wednesday of last week. Mr. Groom's individual liabilities were found to be $225,000 and his surety liabilities $75,000, making in all $300,000. Mr. Groom claims to have in surplus stock on his farm $70,000. Dr. J. A. Hanna and W. H. Prewitt, Directors of the Farmers' National Bank of Mt. Sterling, represented the $5,000 debt due by Mr. Groom to the bank.

—Owen News: The editor of this paper drove a fast horse and sulky to the Fair at New Liberty, last Wednesday, and returned feet foremost upon a spring mattress. He is doing as well as could be expected under existing circumstances, and, with a little prudence, will be at his post in a few days. It happened in this wise: On his return home the check rein got out of gear, and, in attempting to adjust it without getting to the ground, his feet slipped and he was thrown between the shafts on the heels of the horse, which took fright and ran off.

—A few days since, a sad accident occurred at Union Mills, in Jessamine County. Two daughters of Mr. Claiborne Rutherford went to the mills on a visit of curiosity, and became entangled in some of the machinery, resulting in the pulling of one of the young ladies' arms entirely out of its socket and breaking bones in her breast. The other, in attempting to rescue her sister, came near losing her arm also. It is dreadfully mangled. They are both in a very critical condition. The Rutherfords are a prominent and highly respected family, and have the sympathy of all in their mournful affliction.

—Henderson Reporter: A lawyer stepped into our National Bank, the other day, and handed Mr. Witt, the teller, a ten dollar bill and asked him if it were genuine or counterfeit. Mr. Witt looked at the face of the bill, turned it over and inspected the back, and then said to the lawyer: "I'll give you a written opinion, without charge, though I'm aware members of your profession require compensation for written opinions." He thereupon stepped to the stamp block, and, while the puzzled attorney watched him with a bewildered expression, stamped upon the face of the bill, in big red letters, the word "counterfeit," and, without a word, handed it back to the questioner. Then the lawyer aforesaid manifested a disposition to "get up on his ear," and demanded to know of Mr. Witt by what authority he presumed to stamp that bill. Mr. W. mildly answered that he was required to stamp all counterfeit bills by an act of Congress. Exit lawyer, promising to investigate the matter. "For," said he, "I am afraid the fellow who gave it to me won't take it back now."

IT seems that Boss Tweed's wealth has been greatly overestimated, and that no time, according to his own statement, has he been worth more than two million dollars.

THE attempted seating of Judge Spofford, Democrat Senator from Louisiana, was attended with considerable stir, and was not disposed of with the alacrity anticipated by some.

THE Yeoman figures (and figures won't lie) out three Governors that Kentucky has. They are as follows: Governor McCreary at home, Governor Phelps in Missouri, and Governor Bishop in Ohio.

THE father of Charlie Ross visited the Jeffersonville Penitentiary, one day last week, for the purpose of learning what a convict professed to know about the abducted boy. He went away none the wiser.

NEAR Bardstown, one day last week, a man about seventy years of age shot and killed another about thirty-five years of age. The difficulty grew out of the young man's shooting two cows, the property of the old man.

ON the first page will be found the President's message, a terse article, noted especially for its brevity and the few subjects referred to. If the extra session does not pan out better than the message does, it will be of but few days.

SENATOR BECK has introduced in Congress, a bill to remove disabilities imposed by the Fourteenth Amendment. If the bill passes, about thirty persons now disqualified from holding office will be relieved, and among that number is Hon. Jefferson Davis.

DISPATCHES from London say that General Grant has nearly completed his trip through England and Scotland, and at every point in his tour of the Island he was warmly greeted, and especially by the populace. He has returned to London to remain the entire season.

THE rapidity with which Germans adopt every improvement in means and methods of warfare is shown by the fact that all the guns carried by the ships of the German navy, or mounted in the fortifications on the shores of Germany, are breech-loading rifled ordnance.

THE Jackson (Ohio) Standard announces as a fact, that if the Cleveland Convention had had one particle of sense, and voted down the Hayes resolutions, as was done in Iowa and Maine, the Republican victory would have been as decisive as in those States.

THE Murphy movement has made an attack all along the line in Kentucky, and the effect on the saloon business in some places is considerable. In many of the little towns they are now now making moves to purchase street lamps to supply the light heretofore furnished by the topers' noses.

THERE has been another convulsion among the Wall street brokers. This time the gentleman who collapsed is known as George T. Plume, one of the leading brokers on Wall street, and a member of the Stock Exchange. His embezzlement was estimated at one hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

THE Clark County Democrat says: "Several valuable horses have been stolen lately in Haydens precinct, and the enraged farmers threaten summary vengeance on the thieves if they can be ferreted out. It is thought that the gang has its headquarters in Madison, and if caught the detestable villains should be treated to the latest style hemp neckties in short order."

THE relations between the United States and the Spanish Government are not as amicable at present as they have been for some time past. The Spanish charge the United States with discriminating between their vessels and those of other nations trading in American waters, by charging them more license. Spain is desirous of having the trouble adjusted without any extreme resort on the side of either Government.

The Cincinnati Dollar Weekly Commercial

IN another column will be found the advertisement of the Cincinnati Dollar Weekly Commercial, which the proprietors are furnishing subscribers for one dollar per year, the publishers paying the postage. The Commercial is a large, eight page sheet, well printed, and contains much choice reading matter well adapted to the family circle, besides extensive market reports from the principal cities.

A BILL has been introduced in Congress by Senator Merrimon to change the time of holding the Presidential election from November to October, and the time of casting the vote in the Electoral College to January. Another bill provides that, in case the the President and Vice-President's dying, or both being disqualified to act, the duties of the office shall devolve upon the Secretary of State; and if he can not act, upon the Secretary of the Treasury, and afterwards to the Postmaster-General.

THE Cincinnati Commercial says: "There was a pretty animated debate in the Senate over the motion to admit Spofford to a seat as one of the members from Louisiana, but no decision was reached. The Republicans showed a stronger disposition to stand together than was anticipated. Kellogg has blown hot and cold of late, and was supposed to have lost confidence of some of the Senators. It is tolerable evident that the Senate is heartily tired of the Louisiana case, and will be thankful when the last is heard of it."

A WASHINGTON special to the Pittsburg Commercial-Gazette says: "Representative Harmer had a lengthy interview with the President respecting the political situation. The President expressed much interest in the result of the election in the State of Pennsylvania. Mr. Harmer alluded to the President's political order, and concluded from the President's remarks that a modification of the order might be made without destroying its original intention. The President said the order had been much misinterpreted; that it was not designed to deprive officeholders of rights enjoyed in common by other citizens in taking an active part in politics after nominations are made, but the purpose of the order was to reach that class of politicians who have held offices for political ends only, and who have brought discredit and dissension into the party, and have united in efforts to intimidate conventions and force them into action in the interest of individuals. Before Mr. Harmer took his leave the President remarked that he preferered his friends to come and confer with him personally on all questions rather than to make them subjects of public discussion in Congress."

A MOB composed of about two hundred negroes attempted to break open the Maysville jail and take a negro prisoner out and hang him. The negro was committed for wife-poisoning, and would doubtless have jerked hemp had not the white inhabitants interceded, and prevailed on the mob to abandon their purpose. When it comes to the ignorant blacks taking the law into their hands, dangers of mob violence are measurably increased, and there is no telling what results it may work. A speedy administration of justice is the only medium for suppressing the mob spirit that is infecting the public.

THE Masonic Grand Lodge of Kentucky met in Louisville last week. The subordinate lodges throughout the State were generally represented, and the session was highly interesting and vastly important to the fraternity in the State. The Grand Lodge, among other things, had under consideration the matter of making an extra assessment against subordinate lodges for the benefit of the Masonic Widows and Orphans' Home. Without the storm of debate anticipated, it was decided that the Grand Lodge has a right to make the levy. Campbell H. Johnson, of Henderson, was elected Grand Master for the ensuing year. The Courier Journal says:

He is a prosperous business man of Henderson, the junior member of the drug firm of W. S. Johnson & Co. He is an officer in the Presbyterian church, and a liberal minded Christian of the most generous type. He has been a very active Mason, thoroughly acquainted with the ritual, usages and jurisprudence of Masonry. He has served successfully in the offices of Junior and Senior Warden and Deputy Grand Master, thus having ascended by regular steps of well-merited promotion to the Grand Master's chair.

A GREAT battle has been fought between Ghazi Mukhtar and Duke Michael, the latter being the assailant. For some time the two armies in Asia have been in close quarters, and there has been constant skirmishing. At first the Russians were so much worsted that they were hardly expected to renew the attack this winter. A few days ago it was announced from the from Turkish sources that Mukhtar Pasha had fallen back on Aladja-Dagh, near Kars, where he was concentrating his forces. The Russians rapidly followed the retreating Turks, and after numerous minor engagements, brought about a great battle. Mukhtar's army was completely cut in two, and while one part was beaten and dispersed, the other was entirely surrounded and forced to surrender. This is the most decisive battle of this year, as Mukhtar's whole army is practically destroyed, and the remains are driven into the citadels at Kars and Erzeroum. The situation in Asia may be said again to have changed, and the Russians regained all the advantages lost in the early part of the campaign.

UPON assuming the the duties of Speaker of the House of Representatives in Congress, Mr. Randall said:

"Gentlemen of the House of Representatives—Elevated for the second time by your generosity to the exalted dignity of Speaker of the House, I thank you with a grateful heart. I shall endeavor, with even temper, but with rigid firmness, to perform the duties of the office, and to respond adequately to the confidence reposed in me, by conforming my action to the clearly expressed will of the House. Yet, fully realizing the delicacy and difficulty of the position, I solicit your advice and assistance, feeling assured at the same time of your forbearance and indulgence. We meet under circumstances imperiously demanding that all consideration of class and section shall be subordinated to the loftier and more patriotic object of doing what is best for the whole country and all the people. Since the adjournment an Administration has been inducted into office which is obeyed as the actual Government, regardless of the grave events which marked its birth; and this House, animated by the spirit of true patriotism, desiring first the public tranquility under the law, will frankly approve any sincere and permanent policy looking to a complete pacification by constitutional methods, and to the consequent promotion of the general welfare. But it should be held our sacred duty to provide legislation which render a repetition of the wrongs which have occurred, and the dangers which threaten us. I assume that we will take no step backward in the work of retrenchment and reform so auspiciously began by the last House. Under a matured and definite plan of reduction of the expenses of the Government, it is certain that much greater reductions can be made without impairing the efficiency of the Administration. To have an honest Administration it should be frugal. Never before was it more urgent than now, with general financial distress, and with labor depressed by heavy burdens, to exercise the sternest economy. When the iron rule of necessity darkens every household in the land, extravagance on the part of the people's servants is an unpardonable crime. It is partly because of that wholesome policy so faithfully carried out that I am permitted this day to speak from this place. Invoking for our deliberation the tolerance of opinion which secures harmonious action, the right and clear judgment which purifies legislation, and that mutual confidence and respect shall subsist between the House and its presiding officer, I am now ready to take the oath prescribed by the law."—Clapping of hands on the Democratic side of the chamber.

THE CINCINNATI DOLLAR WEEKLY COMMERCIAL

Is a large eight-page, forty-eight column newspaper, prepared with great care for the information and entertainment of the family, being equal in every respect, and superior in many, to other weekly papers for which twice the price of the COMMERCIAL is asked.

All the resources of the Cincinnati Daily Commercial, the most complete journal in the Mississippi Valley, are employed, and the Dollar Weekly contains the cream of seven daily issues.

The Weekly Commercial is a Dollar paper, not only in name but in doctrine, as it steadily advocates the remonetization of silver—that the Old American Silver Dollar shall be lawful money in all sums for all purposes. Our terms to Subscribers are

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR,
Postage Prepaid by the Publishers.

CASH COMMISSIONS.—On each subscription to the Cincinnati regular rate of One Dollar a year, we allow a cash commission of ten per cent to the Postmaster, Deputy Postmaster, Subscription Agent or Club Organizer securing and forwarding the same. One or more names may be sent at a time, as may be convenient, and clubs may be made up of names for different Postoffices. Orders must, in all cases, be accompanied by a remittance of the net amount, the commission being retained by the forwarder. The secret of success in procuring subscriptions lies in Personal Application to the People, and Postmasters, Deputy Postmasters, Subscription Agents and Club Organizers will find it to their pecuniary advantage to place the Cincinnati Dollar Weekly Commercial prominently before the public. As it is our purpose to make the DOLLAR COMMERCIAL one of the best Weeklies in the country for half the price usually asked, it will be easier to get two subscriptions for the COMMERCIAL than one for any of the higher priced papers.

SPECIMEN COPIES SENT FREE TO ANY ADDRESS, and in liberal quantities, with posters, to persons desiring to solicit subscriptions.

Agents and Club Organizers wanted in every town, village and hamlet.

THIS is the way the Carrollton Democrat whacks it to the county jail in Carrollton:

THIS item is intended only for the young lady who is trying to decide what is the most fashionable bridal attire: "The latest thing in wedding dresses is a dress of brocaded satin, with high, square neck and very long train. The flowers form a chatelaine on the side and a chaplet for the hair."

CARTER, the member of the Goodrich-Simmons gang who turned State's evidence, went to Clark County last week and stopped with his brother-in-law, R. P. James, who lives near Combs' Ferry. A party of men notified him to leave within twenty-four hours, and he has not been heard of since.

LAST Saturday we were shown a sample of corn raised by Mr. John Pitt, of East Bend, and called, by him, cow corn. The peculiarity of this corn consists in each individual grain being inclosed in a small pod, or shuck of its own, this being the only shuck that protects the grain. The ear resembles anything else about as much as it does corn, and from its make up it seems fit for nothing but feeding cattle.

ONE of the social events of the season in the East Bend neighborhood was the marriage of Dr. L. C. Cowen and Miss Jennie Hastings, at the residence of the bride's father, on last Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Despite the inclement weather, quite a number of the friends of the bride and groom assembled to witness the adjusting of the nuptial knot, which was done by Rev. R. E. Kirtley in a brief and beautiful ceremony. It was exactly 7:30 when the bride, wearing a dove-colored silk dress, white tulle vail and orange blossoms, white kid gloves and diamond ornaments, led by the groom, in full dress suit, and attended by Miss Annie Cowen and the writer, made their appearance in the parlor, where the solemn marriage vow was made. After the deluge of congratulations, the real wedding feast began. The table prepared for the occasion was exquisitely arranged, and contained an abundance of the most savory provision that time and labor could provide, and for several hours the belles and beaux, as well as quite a number of old persons, thronged the dining room and feasted upon the wedding delicacies. After supper, the hours were pleasantly passed in social conversation and enjoying the music furnished on the piano by several of the young ladies. About 1 o'clock the guests bid the newly wedded couple adieu and took their leave. Of the number of young ladies present we are able to call to memory the names of the Misses McConnell, Miss Ella Calvert, Miss Stephens, Miss Annie Streeper, Miss Eugenie Rice, Miss Goss, the Misses Walton, Miss Della Piatt, Miss O'Neal, Miss Kittie Whitlock and Miss Laura Cowen. Among the guests were Mr. Daniel Linwell and lady and Mr. Robert Craig and lady, both couples lately married. Saturday, the Doctor and his lady visited his father's, but there was no reception given. In conclusion, we wish the happy pair a bright and prosperous future, and may the clouds of discontent and adversity never darken the path that leads to true enjoyment and a useful life.

County Court.

The following business was transacted at the special Term Wednesday, October 17:

William T. Snyder presented his commission from his Excellency the Governor, appointing him Notary Public for Boone County, and took the oath and gave bond, as by law required.

J. C. Riley appointed guardian for Wm. Glendower, Fannie W., Emma J. and Cora M. Crisler, infant children of Oscar Crisler, deceased.

David Clements and John T. Connelly appointed administrators of Nathan M. Connelly, deceased.

Mrs. Annie E. Crisler, widow of Oscar Crisler, deceased, presented and acknowledged before the Clerk a writing relinquishing the provisions of the will of Oscar Crisler and now claims her distributable and dowerable interest in his estate, real and personal.

L. Nichols released from payment of road tax—over fifty years of age.

Leonard Clore appointed Committee for Samuel C. Ryan.

PEACE and quiet no long hovers about the congregation of colored folks that, for some time, have been holding forth in St. George's Chapel. The festival had there some time since produced fruit for a disturbance that has been threatening ever since, and one night last week the eruption came. The negro woman who went down on the squibs at festival met the deacon the street, when he commenced insisting that it would better with her on the great day if she would surrender to him the proceeds of the festival. She flew into a passion, drew a knife and defied the deacon or any of his tribe to touch her, at the pain of having their vital spark extinguished by a free use of the knife on their persons. The deacon finally ventured so close that the irate woman made a slash at him with the knife, leaving a flesh wound on his hand. It was found that the would-be savings bank meant business, so the deacon retired, leaving her in possession of the field.

THE dry weather annoyed all hands more or less, as was proven last week by the maneuvers of one of the contractors on the Bellevue pike. In his contract, as in all good contracts, there is a time specified for having completed the work, and his work included the building of a bridge, the lumber for which the Florence X-Roads mill was to saw, but their supply of water gave out. The road builder was not to be outdone by the Weather Clerk's neglect, so he took the matter in his own hands, employed teams and went and hauled water and loaded the boiler for the miller, who did the sawing.

WE are sorry to note the fact that Mr. John W. R. Bradford has been relieved of his position as driver of the 'bus that runs between this place and Covington. No driver occupying the position for several years has, so far as we know, given more general satisfaction to the patrons of the line than Mr. Bradford. He was on the line for a few days over twelve months. Mr. Frank Nead, of Florence, now cracks the whip and holds the ribbons in Bradford's place.

ONE of the grand features of the Louisville Exposition was the dog show. One of the shaggy animals was valued at the enormous sum of $1,400, but at last accounts the owner had struck no wealthy lunatic.

IN our mention of the Hebron Sunday-school, two weeks since, we said Miss Fannie Conner claimed that Nahab was was the mother of David. We got the name wrong, and should have said Nahash. In justice to Miss Fannie we hasten to make the correction.

OUR Sunday-school squib, last week, was effective. Sufficient interest was created to prolong the session, on last Sabbath, into the night. The lamps were not burning, and the choir remained on duty till many of the town folks had made their second revolution after retiring for the day. Guess we'll say no more about a needed interest in that school.

WHEN you start to Bellevue in these latter days, you had better drop a little change in your pocket. A tollgate now commands the entrance to the said town, and, by the way, this gate is quite a novelty to that section, being the only one that has been erected there during the last six thousand years. It is of the modern style—you pays your money and goes on.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Platisburg.

The weather is so delightful that farmers are doing an unusual amount of work this fall. Quite an area of wheat has been sown, considering the dry ground and the uncertainty of the crop for the last eight or ten years.

Tobacco is curing beautifully, and old raisers say the weed say that the crop, in quality, will be the finest raised for many years.

Woolper Creek hasn't been so low since the Declaration of Independence was declared until now. Tads, slimy-tail eats, mud turtles and crawfish flounder in the mud as though the day of reckoning had come with them. No doubt, if they could talk, they would give three cheers for Mr. Joseph A. Gaines for his benevolent protection up to this time; for it is written in the book of the law, take no fish from under a rock; and also that no little pig or big pig or old hog can root early in the morning for the purpose of cooling his parched tongue.

It is reported to be dryer about the village of Stringtown than at any time within the memory of the oldest inhabitant. The little valley of Ashby is so dry that the fish have disappeared entirely. This is conclusive evidence that the good people ought to be praying while there are waiting, and when the rains come in abundance the harvest feast will be gathered with great joy, and the inner man will be made to feel as though it had been recreated.

Scattersville.

Mr. Mat Acra, of whom we spoke in our last as lying ill from injuries received by a fall, has passed from this vale of tears to that higher life, where sorrows and afflictions are known no more. The departed was a Patron of Husbandry, being a good and faithful member of the Speed well Grange, near here, and in religious belief was a Baptist of the old order. We do not believe he was a member of any church organization. He will be greatly missed by the community. A large concourse of people attended the funeral and burial ceremonies. Elders E. Stephens and J. Underhill delivered the funeral discourses. His remains were intombed in the family graveyard on Monday afternoon following his death. The family of the departed has the sympathies of the entire community.

Mr. Joseph Horton and Miss —— Stamper were united in the holy bonds of wedlock on last Thursday afternoon, the 18th inst. Their nuptial union was celebrated at the residence of the groom's father on the same evening in the way of a sumptuous supper and a social dance. Upon the heels of this came the clouds and rain. Now, whatever clouds may cast a shadow and send forth rain upon the the lives of this couple, we trust will be welcomed with the same joy (it has been most awful dry out here, Mr. Editor), feeling that all present sorrows and troubles are working out for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory." May prosperity and happiness crown the lives of the newly-wedded couple.

Mr. O. P. Conner has his cellar-house now completed, with the exception of giving it a dose of paint. CITY REPORTER.

PHILADELPHIA LETTER.

PHILADELPHIA, October 12, 1877.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

If, while I was yet in the flower field of boyhood, I had cultivated the graceful art of epistolary reply in impressing my conviction of unswerving devotion to the "dear one of my heart," I might more confidently embarrass myself with the undertaking now before me. But I may not utterly fail if I look to no other consideration than the end. That end is certainly a plotter."

It may reasonably be said that the Permanent Exhibition flourishes. But its contingent advantages are many. The President of its Board, Mr. Morton, is a man of great resources. It was discovered, about ten days since, that he had sagaciously watered the stock of a street railway in this city, of whose Corporative Board he was President, to the extent of $250,000. When the stockholders unreasonably complained, he mildly resigned his position, as did the Treasurer and Secretary with theirs. Mr. Morton represents that he has made nothing by the operation; that he was in no way wrong in his action. He did it all for "friends." He was, outrageously enough, arrested, but, having a few odd cents about him, gave the required $10,000 bail, and is now in the bosom of his family.

Other advantages, besides a managing and influential President, obtain to the Permanent Exhibition. Last week they advertised a "Telephone Concert" out there. We all went out. The telephone" was there. A professor of something from the University of Pennsylvania described it. But that did not satisfy the audience. The manager then soothed us by various acts. He trotted out an orator, who discoursed of Lafayette; a songstress, who sang "I'm going home to meet my love;" besides, the "renowned cornet soloist" Arbuckle (and he is no chicken, by the way), blasted us with his horn. But these diversions, accompanied by a drumming on the mammoth organ, did not awful satisfy the assemblage. So the manager announced that everything was in readiness, but that the band in New York, whence the music was to be telegraphed, was on a "little tear" of its own. But he promised, if we would but stay until 2 a. m., Gilmore's band would then be sober and the ball open. In support of which promise, a good-natured fellow in the grand stand blew into the receiving instrument, producing a music like that obtained by blowing upon a comb inclosed by paper. The audience didn't wait.

The "most unkindest cut of all," however, was that the reporters had actually mistaken that snorting into the instrument for music telegraphed from New York, so that the manager was obliged to explain it to them. Men of such exquisite taste as that announced next day in their papers that, "though the telephone element was wanting, the other other attractions more than made up." But "Athena's veriest son" said nothing else in life was so bitter as a bitter disappointment. A little discrepancy in the judgment of wise men. However, one fact remains. The manager lied. But, as was argued for the petitioner, against whom it was urged "he is a man of family, you can't blame him for that. It may be, indeed, that more than five or six lies was somewhat supererogatory; yet I "plank" but little on a man whose natural ambition is so unstimulating as never to lead him out of the path of paid duty.

Another queer thing—but, "Moses in the bulrushes." I dare not write another sentence after now bidding you goodbye. So, "I simply say, you understand," "may your shadow never grow less." H. H. G.

Louisville Trade Gossip.

Special Correspondence of the Recorder.

THE stock trade still continues active. There were 80 head of horses sold at auction last week, bringing from $35 to $110. 25 mules sold at prices ranging from $65 to $120—big prices for the quality. The demand for horses and mules is far greater than the supply. There are several Southern buyers in the city, buying freely, and several others left last week because they were unable to obtain stock at any price. There is a heavy demand for shipping stock.

The receipts of cattle for the week were fair and the sales slow at 4@4c. for best shippers'. Butcher's stuff, best 3@3½c.; common to good, 2@3c.; oxen, 2@3½c.

The hog market closed slow, the receipts being heavy. The best hogs sold for 4@5c.; common to fair, 4@4c.

The sheep market was fair. Extra sheep brought 3@3c.; common to medium, 2@3c. Extra lambs bring 3@4c.; common to medium, 3@3c.

The receipts for the week were, cattle 1,613, hogs 6,019, sheep and lambs 1,832 horses and mules 352.

The grain market was light all week, with light receipts. The wheat market was light on account of the rise in freight in the East. Shippers demanded a concession of 2 cents, which threw them out of the market, as all wheat received, of all grades, had a ready sale to the millers at the following prices: Red $1 20@$1 30; white and amber $1 25@$1 30. Rye, we quote at 58 cents on arrival in bulk. Corn is quiet and prices are steady at last week's quotations.

The demand for oats was fair and prices are well sustained at last quotations.

The demand for eggs is good and sales ready at 15 cents.

Butter—The market was active at 15@22c. for good table, and 25 cents for choice.

There was a fair demand in the tobacco market and prices ruled steady as last quoted. The sales for the week were 836 hhds.

—Owen News. On last Sunday afternoon, Mr. Samuel Forsee, who lives two and one half miles below this place, on the Gratz pike, hitched to his buggy to take his wife and children a drive, and drove toward Mr. James Schooler's about two miles below his house, on the Twinn road. When within about three hundred yards of Mr. Schooler's house, a little dog ran out from the corner of the fence and snapped at his horse's heels, causing him to kick. Two of the children—little girls—aged respectively three and five years, were seated in front, next to the dashboard, both of whom were kicked in a fearful manner about the head and probably fatally injured. The skull of one was fractured on the forehead, and that of the other on the side near the temple. There are but little hopes of their recovery. The balance of those in the vehicle, Mr. and Mrs. F. and two other small children, escaped unhurt.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Family Physic, and for curing Costiveness, Jaundice, Indigestion, Foul Stomach, Breath, Headache, Erysipelas, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Disease, Biliousness, Dropsy, Tumors, Worms, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, for Purifying the Blood,

Are the most effective and congenial purgative ever discovered. They are mild, but effectual in their operation, moving the bowels surely and without pain. Although gentle in their operation, they are still the most thorough and searching cathartic medicine that can be employed: cleansing the stomach and bowels, and even the blood. In small doses of one pill a day, they stimulate the digestive organs and promote vigorous health.

AYER'S PILLS have been known for more than a quarter of a century, and have obtained a world-wide reputation for their virtues. They correct diseased action in the several assimilative organs of the body, and are so composed that obstructions within their range can rarely withstand or evade them. Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of everybody, but also formidable and dangerous diseases that have baffled the best of human skill. While they produce powerful effects, they are, at the same time, the safest and best physic for children. By their aperient action they gripe much less than the common purgatives, and never give pain when the bowels are not inflamed. They reach the vital fountains of the blood, and strengthen the system by freeing it from the elements of weakness.

Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither calomel nor any deleterious drug, these PILLS may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar-coating preserves them ever fresh, and makes them pleasant to take; while being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

THE BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

BURLINGTON, KY., OCTOBER 25.

MODERN YOUNG LADY OF FASHION.

She lounges all day in the parlor,
And likes to be daintily fed,
While mamma is down in the kitchen,
And papa is toiling for bread.

She wears the most exquisite raiment
That ever was purchased or sold,
Displaying the costliest laces,
And gleaming with jewels of gold.

Her parents slave hard to maintain her,
In elegant indolence—well,
They wear themselves out for their darling,
Because she's the family belle.

She plays the piano "divinely,"
And screeches from morning till night,
With toes peeping out of her stockings,
And hair in disorderly plight.

Except when ther's "company" coming,
Vain flirts or male coxcombs—and then,
She hides her improvident habits,
And charms the coarse creatures—the men.

A slattern at home, she's a creature
Quite often not fit to be seen,
Abroad, like a butterfly gaudy,
Assuming the airs of a queen.

Averse to sweet womanly duty,
No labor her fingers shall soil,
She sets herself up for a beauty,
And scorns all the children of toil.

Quite useless, forever exacting
The service of others to feed
Her vanity, paultry and selfish—
With gratitude not in her creed.

In silks hear her graceful rustle—
('Twas paid for by others of course,)
She wears a propitious bustle,
And her hair from the tail of a horse.

Her limbs are indebted to sawdust—
Slim shanks 'neath the same may be found,
Her bust is crammed full of cotton,
To make it look heaving and round.

Complexion and eyebrows are clever,
And nature resemble—in part,
Her teeth are nice movable fixtures,
The very perfection of art.

She talks, and she minces and simpers,
And utters opinion, by rule,
Exhibiting dubious graces
Picked up at a nice boarding school.

She wears not a stitch on her person
Not paid for by others—'tis plain,
She'd certainly died of starvation
If helpless allowed to remain.

She practices soft impositions,
And stuffs herself up with conceit;
We worship the sex—but must call her
A feminine loafer and "beat."

Her talk is the veriest twaddle
That ever assaulted the ear—
She never can mention a rival
Without a perceptible sneer.

Her nose she's forever upturning
At others, in insolent scorn;
With hate she is constantly burning
To plant in some bosom a thorn.

That very magnificent bonnet
Was earned by her mother who scrubs;
The beautiful roses upon it
Grew out of a wash-woman's tubs.

Her father that velvet cloak bought her
By cheating a patron in trade,
Committing a sin for his daughter,
That she might be richly arrayed.

She speaks of patrician connection,
And of her own noble descent—
Her grandfather being a robber
Kicked out for non-payment of rent.

Her grandmother, bless the old lady!
Had none of the family pride—
She took snuff from her pocket,
Till in the town poor-house she died.

Our modern young lady of fashion
In wedlock is fearfully "fast"—
She married a count—he's a barber—
Then she lives in a garret at last.

What epitaph can there be written
On her as a maiden or bride?
"She has passed through a useless existence,
She lived—and she—dawdled—and—died."

Sneezing.

A sneeze, to be in good taste, should crack like a rifle on a clear morning. A sniveling, dry, half-frightened-to-death sneeze is odious, but for one of your full, clear, sonorous, detonating, reverberating explosions—one of those reports that set the wine glasses ringing in the side-board, and awake pussy—we say for one of these earthquake sneezes, we have a love only inferior to that which we bear to woman and our favorite—dog. A recipe for a sneeze of this genius is as follows: When you feel a tickling at the root of your proboscis, just jump up if you be seated (otherwise no necessity,) run to the window through which the sun shines, throw your head back till the bump of philoprogenitiveness touches on your coat collar, open mouth, snarl like a half starved hyena at a piece of fresh meat, inhale a deep breath, and then—blaze away. The effect will be prodigious. One echo will salute you from the house-top over the way, the good housewife will order the clothes taken in, your game cock will turn up the red of his eye at the sun, and you will then have the best assurance that you have not sneezed in vain.

THE corn-husks are thin, indicating a mild winter; the woods are full of mast, an unfailing sign of a long, hard winter; there are myriads of spiders, mild winter; acres of caterpillars, hard winter; the squirrels are idle and listless, mild winter; the squirrels are noisy and busy, hard winter; the goose-bone is white and gray, mild and hard winter; the woodchuck has gone in, mild winter; the woodchuck stays out, hard winter. It is, indeed, only a question of time when the system of weather prognostication will become one of the exact sciences.

AN old Dutchman undertook to wallop his son, but Jake turned and wallopped him. The old man consoled himself for his defeat by rejoicing at his son's superior manhood. He said: "Vell, Shake is a smart fellow. He can vip his own taddy."

GEOGRAPHICAL ADVICE.

The Brewers should to Malta go,
The Boobies all to Scilly,
The Quakers to the Friendly Isles,
The Furriers to Chili.

The little snarling, caroling Babes,
That break our nightly rest,
Should be packed off to Babylon,
To Lapland or to Brest.

From Spithead, Cooks go o'er to Greece,
And while the Miser waits
His passage to the Guinea coast,
Spendthrifts are in the Straits.

Spinsters should to the Needles go,
Wine-bibbers to Burgundy,
Gourmands should lunch at Sandwich Isles,
Wags at the Bay of Fundy.

Bachelors to the United States,
Maids to the Isle of Man,
Let Gardeners go to Botany Bay,
And Shoe-blacks to Japan.

Thus emigrate, and misplaced men
Will then no longer vex us;
And all who're not provided for
Had better go to Texas.

RISING SUN, IND., October 20.

MRS. LINA ANN CAREY, wife of Jimmie Carey, died at Union, Wednesday a-week, at the venerable age of eighty-six years. The 10th inst. was the sixty-fourth anniversary of her marriage, and all that sixty-four years the loving twain lived as one. Jimmie Carey himself was eighty-nine years old on the 12th of last May.

THE following, entitled "Church Debts," has been handed us: "The way in which church edifices are repaired nowadays really necessitates a new formula of dedication. How would this read? 'We dedicate this neatly repaired edifice to Thee, our Lord and Master; we give it to Thee, and Thy cause and kingdom, subject to a debt of some $22, more or less.'"

ONE day or night last week, Hogan, one of the contractors on the Bellevue pike, lost a very valuable mule. The animal was a victim of powder and ball, two bullet holes being found on the body. It looks very much like the work of some malicious person. Hogan has no enemies that he knows and therefore the greater the mystery. There being two bullet holes found is conclusive evidence that the deed was intentional. If the guilty party is discovered, he should be severely punished.

A TELEGRAM from Utah says that a few mornings since, Brigham Young's thirty-seven widows, by an unfortunate coincidence, left their respective homes at the same hour to visit the cemetery and drop a few tears over the grave of their late husband. As they neared the "silent city of the dead" strangers mistook the single file procession for the pupils of a female seminary out on parade. The grief-stricken widows crowded around the newly-made grave each claiming as good a right as the other to have the first weep, and pretty soon the silent air was filled with female voices, pitched in a terribly high key, and what should have been a very solemn scene culminated in a decidedly jaw-us performance. The sexton visited the scene of the unpleasantness an hour later, and picked up two bushels of false hair. Sometimes the telegraph lies, but this story sounds plausible enough.

Matrimonial.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

For several weeks previous to last Thursday, nothing was talked about in Walton by young people but the approaching wedding of Mr. Harry Warren, of Ohio, to Miss Sue Fry, of Walton. They were married at the bride's home by Rev. J. H. Beasley at 4:30. The attendants were Mr. George Ransler and Miss Barbara Brittenhelm, Pitts Herndon and Miss Emma Fry (sister of the bride). The bride and bridesmaids were beautifully dressed. The bride's dress was navy blue cashmere and silk; the bridesmaids' were myrtle green cashmere and silk. The gentlemen's suits were those usually worn on such occasions—black, of course, white ties, gloves, &c. And we must say they made very handsome couples.

After the congratulations, our attention was turned to the announcement of supper, and you know we lost no time until we got a peep at the beautiful table, or tasted the good things with which it was laden. It was while at the table we noticed the smiling countenance of Orrin Percival; and I think if there was ever a supper enjoyed, he surely enjoyed his. We were not aware before that he was so fond of chicken. We really thought, from the way it disappeared around him, the second and third tables would come out minus; not but that there was enough and to spare; but we thought it was a fine thing for him that some one announced they were through eating and ready to make room for the next table.

After supper, the occasion was enlivened by music on the organ by Miss Mattie Roberts and Miss Sallie Hind; also some few select pieces were sung and played by the bride, which made the family feel very sad, as she was to leave them on the 6:30 train for her future home in Ohio.

TO THE MOTHER.

"The bride of an hour stood smiling,
Her mother, in tears, was near by;
For the 'pet of her life,' so beguiling,
Was soon to bid her good-bye.

"Fond friends tried vainly to cheer her,
To stop up the tears that fast fell,
As she clasped her daughter still nearer,
And in agony uttered, 'farewell!'

"The groom with his bride has departed,
To journey away in a strange land,
And the mother should not cry broken hearted
For her daughter has won a good man."

We will give you a slight description of the ladies' toilets: Mrs. W. L. Norman looked radiant in a black and white striped shawl, and pearl and jet ornaments. Mrs. Bettie Clarkson wore empress cloth, with jet ornaments. Miss Sallie Hind, brown cashmere, pink trimmings, coral ornaments. Annie Bruce, brown cashmere, cardinal trimmings, no ornaments save a slender gold chain. Miss Emma Cleek looked queenly in silver colored silk, cameo jewelry. Miss Mary Cleek was beautifully dressed in black rep and heavy gold ornaments. Mrs. Fred Shafer looked elegantly in black rep, garnets and pearls. Mrs. W. P. Holton and Miss Lizzie Rogers in black cashmere and no ornaments. There were other beautiful and elegant costumes too numerous to mention.

DANIEL DERONDA.
WALTON, KY., October 23.

THE following card is clipped from the Rising Sun Recorder. It shows that they have one live druggist over there, and he is not doing a whisky business, either:

As there is some misconstruction put on my "dodger" advertisement, headed "Ask no questions and you'll be told no stories," I will make some explanations. I did not mean untruths, but a recital of the cause, &c., of making reduction in prices. Ten years since, I was taken out of the streets here, "as some is pleased to term it," and put in a drug store, where I staid for eight and a half years, when, for reasons I have never made public, I severed my connection there, and was fortunate enough to take hold of my present store, and made prices with the other stores so as to keep peace, and, by a very liberal patronage and good prices, have done better than I expected to do in twice the length of time; and because I put the price of SCHOOL BOOKS this fall down in proportion to the reduction at wholesale, it has "stirred up a breeze." So hereafter, as stated in my circular, I intend to conduct my business ENTIRELY on my own plans, and sell goods from 10 to 50 per cent. lower than ever sold out of a DRUG STORE in RISING SUN. This is not a cut for spite, but because I now can afford to do so, and I'm quite sure the public will say AMEN to it, and Rising Sun hereafter will not have the reputation of being higher than neighboring towns in this branch of business, if you patronize the PRESCRIPTION DRUG STORE.

Respectfully, B. FRANK BUCHANAN,
Dispensing Pharmacist.

P. S. Pure liquors kept to sell for medical use only. No drinking on the sly allowed.
October 18, 1877.

THE County Attorney, last week, was called to Petersburg to prosecute an Aurora butcher for selling meat in "Kaintuck" towns without a license. The butcher gave bond for his appearance in answer to the charge at some stated day in the future. That move don't look much like this is a free country. Suppose the citizens should stop the farmers on this side from peddling vegetables in Aurora; what would he said?

THE place where a bridge should be, just west of town on the Bellevue pike, constitutes at present a very dangerous pitfall. There is no blockade on either side to warn strangers or travelors, and it would not be surprising should some one meet with a severe accident at this point. This carelessness is almost criminal, and should be rectified at once.

HUSCHART & Co., Lawrenceburg, Indiana, are rapidly gaining a large patronage in Boone County, owing to the fact that they are selling their large stock of tombstones and monuments at hard-pan prices.

QUITE a number of tramps have recently wanted permission to sleep in the jail over night. There is but one way to get lodging in that castle, and that is to violate one or two of the commandments.

THE boys Ku-Kluxed a portion of the wooden pavement round the Rouse building, a few nights since. Boys, you should not do so.

DON'T forget to call at the Red Boot, No. 626, Madison St., Covington, and price Boots and Shoes before purchasing elsewhere.

—A stay of sentence for sixty days has been granted James Robinson, of Woodford County, lately convicted of murder, and verdict for life in the State prison. It is thought he will get a new hearing. Mont. Parker, of that county, sentenced two years. George Moore and Will Jones have been taken to Frankfort.

—A young man named Vankirk, living about two miles west of Falmouth, took his gun and went out hunting, Tuesday evening, and, as night drew on, his father began to feel some uneasiness in consequence of his failure to return home, and set out to look out for him, but made no discovery until the next morning, when he found him dead in the woods. He was shot in the breast, and it is supposed he accidentally shot himself.

—Richmond Register: John Amerine, who lives at Waco, in this county, is probably the oldest man in Madison. He is 97 years of age, having been born in the State of Pennsylvania October 9, 1780. His parents emigrated to Tennessee when he was a small boy. He has since lived in several States of the Union, but has been a resident of this county for the last forty years. He is still hale and hearty, and, with the exception of his eyesight, which is poor, he has retained his faculties in a remarkable degree. He counts his descendants down to the fourth generation.

—Indianapolis Journal: Mr. Blackburn, of Kentucky, denies that he said, while campaigning in Ohio, that he hoped God would not spare Senator Morton to return to his seat in the Senate. The speech in which this language is alleged to have been used was made in Newark, on the evening of October 6, and is reported in the Cleveland and Cincinnati papers. The Cleveland Leader, of the issue of October 8, contains a dispatch from Newark quoting Blackburn's language in this connection. His remark about Senator Morton is reported to have produced intense excitement in the meeting. Murmurs of disapprobation were heard from all parts of the house, and one man shouted at Blackburn, "You are a rebel!" which came near creating a disturbance. Mr. Blackburn may find some difficulty in disproving this charge.

—Paducah News: A man named Tinsley, who formerly lived near Rose Clare, Ill., went over to Carrsville, Ky., a short time ago, he said looking for a job of work, and while there was arrested by W. Anderson Akers, Coroner of Livingston County, who lives at Carrsville, for stealing a $20 bill from Woodson Threlkeld. While in the custody of the Coroner, he stated his intention to escape, and was told if he attempted it he would be killed. He attempted it, however, when Akers fired two shots at him with a revolver, the first missing him, but the latter struck him in the back of the head and came out over the eye, killing him almost instantly. The affair occurred a day or two ago, and when our informant left the Coroner was under arrest, but the decision of the examining court had not been announced. It is generally believed that Akers, though performing his duties as an officer, did not shoot to hit him, but killed him without intending to do so.

Last week was not a good week for shootings in Madison County. The most any one day turned out was the killing of one man and the wounding of three others.

We have communications from several new correspondents this week, and we hope they will contribute regularly, bearing in mind that notes must come to hand by Monday evening.

The latest news from Fort Stockton is that the stage between there and El Paso had been captured and the driver killed. It seems that these Mexican raiders are bent on getting up a first-class muss along the Mexican border.

The New York Times advises the Republicans as follows: "How, then, shall a motion involving the aproval or disapproval of the President's Southern policy be treated by the Republican Representatives? After one of the operations of a celebrated surgeon, the resident student stood looking at the two pieces of mortality lying on the surgeon's table. The Frankfort Yeoman of last Thursday says; "We were informed by Major Grant, a prison inspector, that there were 952 convicts in the Penitentiary yesterday, the negroes having a majority of 100. There are 38 females—38 negroes and 5 whites. There are 600 laborers in the hemp department. Four hundred could do all the labor, but the lessee is compelled to keep them employed, and is obliged to work them on half-task in the hemp house. There are 648 cells in the old house, and 98 in the new, all of which are full. In 152 cells the convicts are double. It will be impossible for this prison to accommodate properly the prisoners sent it. By the first of January there will be 1,000 within the walls. The lessee has not room to lodge or employ them. Something must be done by the Legislature to meet this emergency. The lessee is unable to do more than he is now doing."

ST. LOUIS LETTER.

St. Louis, Mo., October 27, 1877.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

Last week was one of those dark, damp, disagreeable weeks, that would do to read of, but then there are but few who care about experiencing such weather as we had the entire week. It occured to us, several times last week, that if a fellow had much French blood in his veins, he might reasonably be expected to buy a bridge ticket to the other show. Sunday night, however, it cleared up and we have had tolerably fair weather the week through.

We have with us, at this time, two important religious bodies in session. The Congregationalist State Association in session at at this time, in the Pilgrim Chapel, and will likely continue their exercises through most of next week. The American Christian Association, of the Christian Church, met in the Central Christian Church, Thursday. The first afternoon was spent in organizing, and hearing reports from various committees, and at night, President Pendleton, President of the Association, as well as President of Bethany College, delivered his annual address. The meeting is largely attended, and as our city covers some nineteen square miles, and members of that church are scattered throughout the city, visiting members are fed in the basement of the church, and lodged through the night at the houses of the brethren. There is quite a number of distinguished preachers in attendance, among whom we noticed Elders Errett, Moore and Green, of Ohio, Elders McGarvy, Taucey, and Challen, of Kentucky, Illinois, Iowa and Missouri, send in a host too numerous to mention. And lastly, though not the least, by any means, of the distinguished visitors in attendance, is Governor-elect R. M. Bishop, of Ohio, who has, as he stated last night, attended every meeting of the Society since its organization. He is yet, seemingly, the most active member of the Society. We had the pleasure, yesterday, of meeting, at said meeting, Elder John Taite, now of Chicago, but who fifty odd years ago, was a school boy in your little town. He gave me an interesting description of how your town and the country around it looked fifty-five years ago. He is now seventy-two years old, but looks as if he was good for at least twenty years yet. The Society spent yesterday afternoon, in singing and social exercises, and we can safely say we never heard better singing than we heard in that church yesterday, afternoon and night. The evening session was spent in hearing short addresses from the brethren and reports on Foreign Missions. The Society, at the conclusion of last night, went into the election of officers as follows: For President, Isaac Errett, Ohio; Vice-Presidents, A. J. Hobbs, of Illinois, James Challen, of Kentucky; Recording Secretary, James Leslie, of Ohio; Treasurer, W. S. Dickenson, of Ohio; Committee on bequests, R. M. Bishop, I. F. Wright, of Ohio, and H. B. Goe, of Pennsylvania. The forenoon was spent in discussing matters pertaining to the Sunday-school interest of the Church. This afternoon the Ladies' Foreign Mission Society is holding a session in the same house. The A. M. C. Society will meet as body in the same house on Monday, and will likely continue their exercises throughout that day and Tuesday, of which we may have more to say hereafter.

John Cox, on Middle Creek, raised, this year, tobacco, the leaves of which are 8 feet 8 inches long, and eight leaves weighed one pound. Who can beat that?

Last Sunday a pheasant flew against the window at the Boone House and fell. The proprietor, Mr. Blythe, took the bird in and now has it on exhibition.

The diphtheria, in a mild form, made its appearance in Burlington, last week. A little daughter of J. B. Duncan's, boarding at J. W. Duncan's, was the patient.

Rev. L. Johnson baptized five persons at Walton, last Sunday. He and Mr. Bagby have been conducting quite an interesting meeting there for the past ten days.

A good saddle blanket was found near J. O. Roberts', last Monday, which the owner can have by calling at J. M. Palmer's, proving property and paying for this notice.

There is a sadness among the house-flies. They think of the nearness of cold weather, and the long time it will be before they can again soar from the apex of the cook's nose to the depths of the gravy dish.

N. W. Botts, of Bellevue, while delivering a load of tobacco in Covington, one day last week, was seriously injured by falling through a hatchway in the second floor. His spine received the principal injury. The last reports were to the effect that he was recovering.

Our enterprising stock dealers, Messrs. Conner & Sloat, weighed to Jos. C. Hughes, jr., on Monday last, forty head of fine two-year-old steers, of 1,200 pounds weight, at 4½c. per pound. We venture the assertion that no feeder in the county will handle forty finer feeders this season.

We hear it reported that one day last week a United States Marshal made a flying visit to East Bend, and arrested John J. Pratt, O. J. Harris and James Hastings on a charge of violating the revenue laws by selling tobacco to their hired hands. We venture the prediction there is nothing in the case except personal spite on the part of the accuser.

The Universalist Church at this place has just passed through a prosperous meeting, conducted by Revs. S. P. Carlton and W. S. Bacon. The meeting commenced Thursday night and closed Sunday night. There were nine additions, viz: D. M. Hewitt and wife, Mrs. R. D. Jones, Mrs. Lou Ann Duncan, Mrs. Sidney White, Miss Una Cloud, Miss Ella Athey, Mrs. McMakin and Wm. Gaines. The attendance was large during the entire meeting.

Last Sunday, we called upon Mr. Arthur Blythe, who for some weeks has been suffering with a carbuncle, which is rather on the left side of the back, and is some fourteen inches long and seven or eight wide. Although pronounced by the doctors better, it was one of the worst looking places we ever saw on a human, and none but a person with an indomitable constitution could have survived the racking pain that must have necessarily accompanied this immense sore.

Chambers, Stevens & Co., Aurora, Ind., have something to say to the people of Boone County this week. We advise everybody to read their advertisement and give them a call. This house has a reputation for fair dealing not surpassed by any other in this part of the country. We are personally acquainted with the members of the firm, and can recommend the house as one of the best. Their salesmen are affable, and take pleasure in showing goods. Mr. S. G. Glean, well known as a former resident of this county, will be found behind the counter, ready to dispense his genial smiles and bargains to all who give him a call. When you go to Aurora, take a look through this immense establishment.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. Elizabeth Clore, of Indiana, has been visiting relatives in this vicinity.

Mr. John Q. Davis, of Rising Sun, Ind., and of "Big Red Boot," was in town last Sunday.

A. B. Parker, of the Cone Mills, was in town Tuesday. All hands were glad to see Arthur's genial smiles again.

Professor F. P. Walton was in town Sunday. Frank mourns the loss of a portion of one of his toes. The cut was the result of an unskillful use of an ax.

Hon. G. V. Rouse, Boone's Representative-elect, called upon us Monday. Mr. Rouse has been suffering ill health for some weeks, but has, we are glad to announce, about recovered.

The Percival Case.

The special term of the Boone Criminal Court convened Monday for the trial of the Percival case. Judge Boyd and the Commonwealth's Attorney arrived just at noon, and it was 1 p. m. when the Judge presented his commission as Special Judge for the trial of the case. The Clerk administered the oath, and the cause was taken up. Judge O'Hara, J. M. Stansifer and Green & Riddell represented the defendant, and Colonel Monfort, P. U. Major and Judge McManama the prosecution. The accused was brought into court, looking well, though considerably concerned. He shook hands with several, and took his seat among his counsel. The Judge then asked if both sides were ready. Col. Monfort said he was, but Judge O'Hara said he could not answer for the defense before to-morrow. The Judge said he could not compel him to answer, and made an order directing the Sheriff to summon a venire of 100 men, to report by 9 a. m. Tuesday.

TUESDAY

Morning the jurors commenced arriving at an early hour, the Deputies, E. B. Foster, Henly Smith and Chas. E. White, having secured the county during the night, notwithstanding the terrible darkness. When the case was called, it was found the indictment charged the killing of R. K. Brashier, instead of R. H. Brashier. On motion of the Attorney for the Commonwealth, the indictment was quashed and a special grand jury impaneled, and a new indictment for the same charge was found. The special jury was as follows: Wm. Watts, J. J. Ryle, J. T. Grant, Wm. Lancaster, Wesley Rice, Joseph Graves, J. W. Berkshire, Church Clore, Edward Gaines, S. J. Hodges, J. F. Kilgour, J. R. Smith, C. Snow, J. H. Glacken, Cornelius Carpenter and J. H. Aylor.

When the indictment was returned and court convened in the afternoon, the defendant filed an affidavit asking a continuance on account of the absence of one of the counsel, John G. Carlisle, and two witnesses, Crippin and Stony. The Judge granted the continuance, and made an order calling a special term, to commence on the fifth Monday in December.

Court then adjourned.

Mrs. Elizabeth Blankenbeker, who resides with Lewis Aylor, celebrated her 90th birth day on the 30th ult. She has resided in this county since 1829, and she is the mother of several children, has 14 grandchildren, the great-grandmother of 3.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

North Bend.

Miss Mollie Eaton, daughter of Dr. Eaton, died on the 21st inst. at her home in North Bend, Ohio. She was a great granddaughter of General Harrison. She went to Florida in search of health and failed. She leaves a mother and three brothers to mourn her loss. She was interred in Congress Green, near Gen. Harrison's tomb. The coffin was decorated with a profusion of rare flowers, and had six pall-bearers. A large number of persons attended the burying.

A Murphy meeting was held in the Presbyterian church at Cleves, Ohio, Wednesday evening last. The address, by A. Colline, of Cincinnati, was listened to by a large and attentive crowd.

Mr. Ed. Baker has been loading his boat with potatoes, and on Thursday evening, the 25th inst., he shoved out from North Bend, Ky., for the Sunny South.

Waterloo.

School commenced in Beech Grove District October 17th, under the tutelage of Prof. J. T. Marshall. Highest number at said school, 28; average number, 25. The deportment is good, although the Professor has, in several instances, resorted to the rod as a means of securing harmony.

Jonas Clore has rented the hotel property in Bellevue and is building a dwelling house there. His son Perry is to move in the Galt House. Mr. Jonas will occupy the new house, when completed.

A new dwelling house is building by Green McMullen and Capt. Bob Storer for Elijah Ryle. Waterloo is also improving. I guess it is a stockade or nine-pin alley.

H. G. Botts passed by Waterloo, Sunday evening. I guess he is only rusticating or peregrinating. Something o' that sort.

Born—On the 28th, to Sam Smith and wife, a daughter.

Mose Ryle and wife are happy again. It is another girl. Uno.

Pleasant Ridge.

We often look in the columns of your welcome paper for news from our place, but fail to see any. We therefore make an effort to give you a few items. At first we will give you a description of our village. It is situated on the Union and Florence turnpike, about 2½ miles from each place, on the waters of Gunpowder Creek, and is composed of a store and grocery combined, owned by J. L. Rouse and L. M. Tanner, who keep a branch postoffice from Florence; a boot and shoe shop, owned by said Rouse & Tanner, who have employed Joseph Schwatzwalter and George G. Hoover to do the work; a saw and corn steam mill, owned by B. C. Tanner and Charles McCrander; a blacksmith shop, owned by W. A. Tanner; meat shop, run by John W. Rouse and Fred Tanner. This is a red Tanner town; it's a little further up the (the creek.) Each line of business seems to be doing well this fall. We could use a wagon maker at our place, which would add much more business.

Our district school is taught by Conner Yeager, who has a large number of youths to contend with. We are told that Conner has some of the youths' fathers to contend with at noons—waving the bat against the tossed ball.

Benjamin Floyd has moved in our vicinity. We gladly receive him for a neighbor.

We heard more shooting the last few days than usual. After investigating the matter as to the why so, we find that John and Fred's beef got out of the pasture, and was not found in time to butcher.

John L. Rouse, one of our merchants, drove through our village, the other day, with an English purp on the seat riding with him. He has always favored the dog law, but we think he has changed his notion now.

Farmers are busy hauling their potatoes to market. The crop is generally dug and reported light. Tobacco growers report the finest crop of tobacco they ever raised, owing to the dry weather this fall to cure it. Corn is drying rapidly, and some farmers have been cribbing.

Fever still prevails. James P. Snyder, wife and daughter, Henry Orr, Rouse and Paulina Rouse are the new cases in our neighborhood. Mrs. John W. Hogan has been ill, but is convalescent. O. K.

Walton.

If we may rely upon Dame Rumor as a prophet, there will be several weddings near here at no distant time, which it will be my happiness to chronicle.

Rev. Lafe Johnson has been holding a series of meetings at this place, and has had several additions to the church, among others our worthy Constable, Albert Fullilove.

Every young gentleman who can beg or borrow the money (that is if he hasn't it without), takes his sweetheart on an excursion to the Kentucky River bridge on the Southern Railway.

The Southern depot is very near completion. The cattle pens are situated a short distance north of the depot, on land formerly belonging to Mr. Joe Chambers, directly opposite the Southgate place.

There are several new houses building in Walton, among others that of Mr. George Arnold, which will, when finished, be quite an imposing residence.

Previous to the late rains, water was very nearly as scarce an article, and as difficult to procure, as money; but now, as water is more plentiful, it is to be hoped there will soon be a corresponding increase in our pocketbooks.

The free school, in charge of Miss Mattie Roberts, and Mr. Stewart's graded school, are both in very flourishing conditions, and occupy the same building very harmoniously, which reflects much credit upon the good temper of the teachers and scholars.

This communication, I hope, will meet with a happier fate than my last, which I vainly looked for in the pages of several RECORDERS, and at last came to the conclusion that it was hiding its blushing face in the bottom of the waste paper basket; when lo! after several weeks had passed, it was found reposing serenely in one of the numerous pockets of the faithless messenger to whose care I had consigned it to be conveyed to the Postoffice. I consoled myself with the reflection—

"Full many a flower is born to blush unseen,
And waste its sweetness on the desert air."

Petersburg.

The RECORDER of last week, in a personal reflection, notices our disposition to complain of the staleness of bald-headed, ancient items. Our revenge is complete, as the unigum from Philadelphia, which the editor undertook to solve and publish last week, entirely overwhelmed him with exhaustion and reduced him to but a walking skeleton.

Bishop Schramm and the Reverend Chairman of our Municipal Board made a safe trip to Louisville, last week, on a pleasure and official business excursion to the Grand Lodge of the I. O. O. F., which met in that city.

Bro. George Robert Berkshire will soon move into this city, and a new conversational club will be immediately formed, with him as President and Chaplain. Prophet Porter will be Secretary and Treasurer. The meetings will be tri-weekly, and held in Porter's private room in his airy residence over J. Frank Grant's store.

Mr. Robert Mosby, who has lately been very sick, is convalescing rapidly, to the surprise of all. He is now able to be up all day, to walk about the house and yard, has a good appetite, and, best of all, can wind his old eight-day clock as often as usual. He will be 91 years old December 25th next, and is now good for the next Centennial.

The middle span of the Woolper bridge is completed. The floor was laid last Friday, in spite of the rain, and now it is to be tested. Porter has charge of the test ceremonies, and has arranged them thus: Dr. Smith's Agricultural Liniment Band is engaged to furnish the music; tickets of invitation have been issued to Sam Tyler, Biler Dean, Menter Graves, R. J. Rice, Tom F. Grant, H. C. Snyder and Awful Alloway, and eight ladies, names not given to your reporter, but enough is known to assert positively that the lady Porter was riding with in a buggy some time since is included in the number. The evening is set for the 8th of November, and a grand select ball will be enjoyed on the bridge by the invited guests, as a test of its sustaining capacity. Felix Moses is prompter. There are to be two saloons, one on each pier, presided over by James T. Grant on the north pier and Aunt Amorica on the south pier. The north saloon to contain tobacco, cigars, bonbons, playing cards, and an average quality and abundant quantity of forty-rod whisky (all especially for the gentlemen); while the one on the south pier will contain ice cream, cake, confectionery, tea and toast, wine and limburger cheese for the ladies. It will be a very select affair. Porter is quite elated with it, and all we have to regret is our want of an invitation. A gentle hint would be amply sufficient, and we would be sure to be there.

Florence.

Mr. Milt Graves came near burning the town of Greenwood Lake during our recent dry spell. He was riding over his farm down there and taking his handkerchief from his pocket, dropped a match which ignited and set the grass on fire. By giving the alarm assistance came, and by a severe battle, the fire was conquered, but not until within three feet of Mr. Graves' hay stacks.

The ladies of the Christian Church, thoroughly renovated and cleansed it last Thursday. The floor in the back part of the church, where the goats sat, was covered with tobacco juice, and stained so that the discoloration could not be removed. Rev. Father Bent, of the Catholic Church, while here, condemned this practice as filthy and contemptible, and threatened to openly reprove any one he saw guilty of the practice. We think every minister should do this, for if it is right to chew it is also right to smoke in church, and then the tippler will come along and claim the right to have his little bottle. There is no telling where these practices may cease. However, the ladies of the church, extend a very warm invitation to gents to leave their quids outside, and, if the must chew, why, bring wax, pieces of old rubber shoes, chips, or some other discoloring substance that will not injure the ladies' dresses or the floor.

The Catholics have placed on their church, a new belfry, which is decidedly the handsomest thing of the kind in this part of the country, and reflects credit on those who planned it. It is about twenty feet above the roof and is surmounted by a gilt cross which can be seen for quite a distance. They have now a splendid new bell.

John Firch has hit upon a novel way to stand the boys off when they want drinks on credit. He has a large pile of stones near the house on which he rolls them, and if they break their quota they drink, otherwise they go thirsty.

There was a wedding here last week, which, owing to my absence from home I failed to report. It was the wedding of Mr. Ollie Tucker and Miss Emma Huggins. None except members of the two families were invited.

Born, to Fernando Carpenter and wife, a son.

You will please inform your Petersburg correspondent that I shall institute a suit for damages against him at the next term of Circuit Court for divulging my age. I have popped the question three times this week, and been refused every time. Cause why, too old.

Bellevue.

The laziness of the regular correspondent from this city; the increase in our population; the widening of our borders, and the hitherto unnoticed religious tendency manifested of late, by a minority of our citizens, all combine to make it important that someone should advertise our town again. Let us divide our sermon, and take your regular correspondent under the first head, and under the short ribs at the same moment. His laziness is caused principally by exhaustion, and might therefore be considered as a kind of prolonged double story rest, with a large tapering gable at all the ends, like the main ice and the popular Porter, of Petersburg, assisted by another Lyon of that place, have recently erected. He is an enterprising boy usually, so we will pass him for the present in the hope that this will stir him up to a better use of his pencil.

That bone of contention, the Zimmerman Hotel, has been rented at last, and, unless the present occupants fail to give a satisfactory bond, peace will reign on Hog avenue for a while.

Mr. Jonas Clore has been seized by a spirit of enterprise and is busy transporting all the surplus stones in the Middle creek quarries to his new lots. Mrs. Grundy says he will cover at least two acres with dwellings, barns, stores and other conveniencies before the flowers bloom again. We have unbounded faith in our grange brother's ability to perform, and also in sister Grundy's ability to predict, so we are sure to realize on that prophecy.

As an instance of our piety, we call proudly on you to observe that our new church is rapidly approaching completion; that Rev. Vardiman will soon have a comfortable house in which to preach, instead of the miserable pen on Willoughby that they call a school-house; that Bro. Corbin of the anti-Grange faction, who sells so cheap all the week, diligently observes the pious injunction on Sunday, which is found in the fourth commandment as recorded by Moses; and lastly, that our other faction, the Grangers, disregard entirely that same injunction, and throw open wide the doors to their house of barter on the Sabbath day, as upon all other days of the week, with the distinction on Sunday that the doors are closed when no customers are in sight.

The enterprising Directors of our new gravel turnpike have found some poles in the woods and added another section to that tunnel of Uncle Mile's, by putting up a toll gate just outside our corporate limits. Ben Corbin handles the small change for the traveling public, but finds himself lamentably incapable of explaining to the same public, however inquisitive it may be, by what hook or crook the said Directors find the authority to do such kind of financial speculation without any such thing as a charter from the State Legislature, or ever having gone through the form of receiving the road from the contractors.

But this has spun out much beyond our intentions at the outset and with a hearty "shake," and a "ta ta I, we," we will throw this offending pencil out on "Marvel street" and wade around through the mud to stick this chunk of valuable information in Bro. Corbin's letter box.

INDIANA—Aurora.

Mr. Haskill a billiard expert at the finger ball game, gave an exhibition here, which was well worth seeing.

The ladies of the Universalist church gave an oyster supper at Schultz's Hall on last Friday night a week, which was liberally patronized. The cakes were good, the oysters passable, and the girls beautiful.

Mr. Ernst Noble is a candidate for County Auditor, subject to the decision of the Democratic Convention. May he succeed, is the wish of many who know him to be well qualified, and a gentleman besides.

Wyamond Gibson is now making himself officious at the First National Bank.

John Walker and Mart Hunt will engage in the brick business next season on quite an extensive scale.

Some of our nice boys were on a jamboree, last Saturday night, having partaken of too much bug juice. Be careful, boys; don't let this occur again or you shall hear from us.

St. Mark's church is nearly completed, and makes quite an appearance.

Moore and Manchester streets, when completed, will be the handsomest in the city, without any exception.

Paul Holman, son of Hon. W. S. Holman, while hunting, Saturday a week, accidentally shot himself with a rifle in the wrist, the ball passing through the upper part of the wrist and lodging in the center of the hand. The wound is very painful, but not serious.

Major Anderson, of the A. and R. S. Bus Line, has started a line of buses between here and Cochran, and receives considerable patronage. Stick to it, Major, and it is bound to be a success.

Trade has been quite lively in all departments during the past few cool days.

Louisville Trade Gossip.

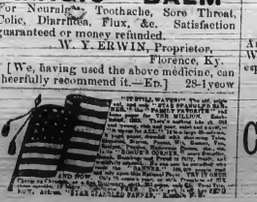
Special Correspondence of the Recorder.

The stock market opened fair this last week. There were about 75 horses sold at auction, at $30 to $90 per head, and 70 head of mules at $50 to $100. All the stock offered was of an inferior grade. There is a heavy demand for good horses and mules, suitable for shipping purposes.

The cattle market varied somewhat during the week, but closed firm at 4@5c. for good to extra shippers; best butcher stuff, 3@4c; common to good, 2@3½c; scalawags, 1½@2c; oxen, 2½@3c.

The hog market opened fair, but declined during the week, and closed dull at $4 60@4 65 for choice, and $4 50@4 60 for common.

The sheep market was rather dull, but closed a little firm at 2½@4c. for extra, and 2@3c. for common to medium. Extra lambs, 3½@4½c; common to medium, 3@3½c.



The receipts of stock for the week were as follows: Cattle, 691; hogs, 3,867; sheep and lambs, 6347; horses and mules, 99. The shipments for the week were: Cattle, 230; hogs, 1,088; sheep and lambs, 766; horses and mules, 201.

The receipts for wheat were light, last week, as also the offerings, and the market was a little steadier at $1 18@$1 22 for red, and $1 23 for amber and white.

The tobacco market was moderately brisk, prices ranging from $4 90 to $7. F. M. F.

Ayer's
Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous, and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

BURLINGTON, KY., NOVEMBER 1.

THE RED EAR OF CORN.

One still October morning
A long, long time ago,
'Twas in the whispering cornfield
I met sweet Jennie Row.

The golden ears were peeping
Through the silver husk, to see
A bashful lad in trouble.
And Jennie watching me.

I ran and carried Jennie
A bright red ear of corn,
And then the crimson blushes
On her soft cheek were born.

We ran across the meadow
With hearts brim full of bliss.
Jennie kept that ear of corn—
I, the cornfield kiss.

* * * * * * *

This chill October morning,
I kneel upon the ground
Where in my happy boyhood,
That ear of corn I found.

Now, through the frosty meadow
An aged man I go;
Still on my lips I feel that kiss
Of fifty years ago.

Little Men and Women.

A wise and sweet woman suggests as a sovereign remedy for uncomfortableness of what we are wont to call the awkward age of boys and girls—that time when they are too large to feel like children, and are not quite sure enough of themselves to feel like adults—that we should always treat the smallest children with the courtesy and consideration that we show to grown-up people; and then they never will feel at a loss as to their reception, quite escaping the uncertain and uncomfortable awkward age.

There are few things more important in the right development of a human creature than self-respect. But how is a child to learn to respect itself, if it sees that it is alone in the sentiment—that by no one else is it respected? More harm is, perhaps, done children by snubbing than by weak indulgence. We have all seen homes where the slightest expression of a child's idea on any point under discussion was greeted with, "Who asked you what you thought?" or with sarcasm such as: "Ah, now we shall have the matter settled; Miss Experience is freeing her mind."

It is so difficult to hit the right man. We do not want our children to be troublesome to visitors—grown-up people do not want to pause in their talk to listen to the unconsiderate opinions of thirteen; but what if we tried the experiment of respectful attention for a while? Would not the little folks stop talking till they had something to say, quite as surely if they saw their words listened to with attention, as if they felt that their voices were but beating the air?—Examiner and Chronicle.

Singular Surgical Operations.

A Confederate soldier from the Valley of Virginia, in one of the battles of the late civil war, was struck in the head by a minie ball. The ball passed through the skull, and the surgeons afraid to probe the wound in search of it, left the man to die. In the course of time he recovered, but had lost his reason, and was sent to the asylum where he remained for eleven years. At length, Dr. Fauntleroy, an eminent physican, obtained permission from the asylum authorities and friends of the insane man, to make a surgical examination of the head with the hope of finding the ball. He was successful, finding the ball imbedded on the inside of the skull and pushing against the brain. Unable to extract it with any instrument at hand, he took a chisel and mortised it out. As soon as the ball was removed, reason reason resumed control, and the deranged one was in his right mind. He says that he is not conscious of anything that occurred during the interval of eleven years. From the time he was struck on the battle field till the moment the pressure was removed from the brain, all was a blank to him.

Another case in the same county of Augusta, was that of a boy whose gun bursted while shooting, and drove the lock into the brain. The peice was taken out by a skillful surgeon without serious injury to the patient.

But the most remarkable case that I hear of was in the same neighborhood. It was that of a woman subject to fits of mental derangement, and while in a spell of lunacy drove an eight penny nail into the top of her head, penetrating down into the brain—the nail having been driven up to its head. The nail was drawn out, and the woman has been in sound mental condition ever since.

Since the cattle disease made its appearance at Cleveland, Ohio, and vicinity, over one hundred and forty cows have died. The general theory is that the disease is a fever of some kind, and is communicated to native cattle by Texas steers taken there to be slaughtered, many of which are pastured in the surrounding country for a time.

Magnificent crops in Canada.

In New Brunswick, strawberries are in bloom.

In North Carolina, apples are two cents a bushel.

In Kentucky, the tobacco crop is said to be immense.

The father of Charley Ross has spent $60,000 in search of him.

Kansas is almost exactly in the center of the United States.

A stalk of cotton with four hundred balls on it was exhibited at Augusta, Georgia.

The San Francisco Alta estimates the drought has cost California $20,000,000.

The cotton crop of Ceylon, this season, will not exceed twenty-five thousand bales.

At Chattanooga, Georgia, there is a mule thirty-five years old, and another twenty-five.

Adam Grimm died in Wisconsin recently, worth $150,000, which he made as a bee keeper.

A pecan nut tree in Escambia County, Florida, produced fruit that last season that sold for $125.

Woman's fondness for ribbons is sufficiently explained in the fact that they are rib-'uns themselves.

Reports to the department at Washington, represent that the wheat crop this year is the largest ever produced in this country.

The sugar crop of Barbadoes this year will aggregate forty thousand hogsheads, against thirty-seven thousand for the preceding season.

It requires several day's practice for a schoolboy to become as proficient in the use of the paper-wad as he was at the close of the last session.

One innovance of gathering autumn leaves in Missouri is the fact that all the best trees are in daily use to cure men of the habit of horse-stealing.

Hams will diminish in weight from the time they leave the smoke-house until they are consumed. An old ham is consequently worth more than one in a greener state, and sells at a higher price.

The New York Mail says that the Southern men are easily distinguished from the Northerners in the House of Representatives. The Southerners all respond to the roll call by saying "Y-n-r-r."

A New York telegram says that Congress is to be memorialized for the small appropriation for the encouragement of rifle practice by the regular army and the militia of the several States.

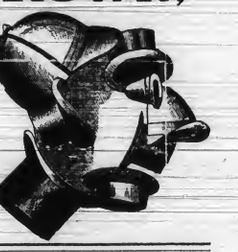
When the weather is wet we must not fret; when the weather is dry we must not cry; when the weather is cold we must not scold; when the weather is warm we must not storm; but be thankful together whatever the weather.

The leaves are turning slowly yellow, their summer's hue is hence; the ripening fruit is on the mellow, the small boy on the fence. He looks around, he views the ground, and thinks the moment suits; he fills his pocket full and round, then jumps the fence and scoots.

"Now spell 'sow,' sir," said the pedagogue, angrily brandishing his rattan. "C-o-w, sow," gulped the boy, and a minute later he was waltzing around the school-room, grasping the back cellar door of his pantaloons as if there was a wasp inside of them. The poor boy had been hearing a deluded man advocate phonetic spelling.

No one can be honest who eats buckwheat cakes. This flour not only heats the blood, but the imagination, and to such a degree as to induce the eater to believe he has made away with more cakes at breakfast than he really has, and even to say so. The buckwheat liar is the most uncompromising of all liars.



The two Troy brothers, who went home late one night from a celebration, disliked to arouse their aged father. One of them, after infinite pains, effected an entrance into the house by means of a grapevine and a back window. Then, taking off his shoes, he steadily descended to the door to let in his brother, and found it unlocked.

LITTLE SOPHIE.

Written by Miss M. A. Thompson, in memory of Sophie, daughter of Jas. A. and Jennie Riddell.

A rosebud nestled in our home,
Of ragrance rich and rare;
Its beauty o'er our spirits shone,
To us, supremely fair.

In days of light and nights of gloom
We watched the growing life,
And dream'd that when the bud should bloom,
'Twould give us new delight.

Each mystic change that o'er it stole,
Brought with it deeper joy;
A source of bliss beyond control—
'Twas love without alloy.

Ah! little did we think that Death
Would come with shadowy wing,
To steal away our Rosebud's breath
And still the life within.

In one short day his work was done—
Its nature changed, our floweret fell,
To live again above the sun,
Where angels guard our immortelle.

THE cheapest way to get up a display of fireworks is to run against the corner of a house some very dark night. This never fails but it is slightly unpleasant for a time.

It is reasonable to suppose that every man in Boone County has by this time asked why the Jercival trial was continued. The absence of counsel and witnesses was the simple reason.

CO. J. M. STANSIFER, of Union, this county, has a lot of full-blooded thin rind hogs of his own raising that were pigged on the 27thof February last, and will now average 300 pounds.

THAT now immensely numerous family, the Smiths, has been increased again. This timehis father is named Lystra, and lives on the placid stream of Woolper. The 26th ult. was the date of the advent.

AURAL correspondent writes to his lady love—

I love you—I do, by gosh!

I like peaches—I like plum—
I like wax—I do, by gum!

LAT week we noticed the fact that one of Uncl Sam's agents arrested Messrs. Piatt, Harr and Hastings, under a charge of violating the revenue laws. All the arrest amouted to was their getting a free ride to Covington, where they were discharged, thereseing no proof to support the charge registred against them. This is exactly as we anicipated.

JOE MIRRICK, brother of Joe Mirrick, who incensed of being one of the Carrie Andson murderers, was in town last Thursday i pursuit of P. U. Major, whom he desired retain as counsel in the trial, which was tcome up in the Carroll Criminal Court this wek. The citizens of Carroll have revokedheir promise of $1,000 reward offered for thapprehension of the parties who did the kling.

BRGER ZOLLER, of the Robertson County Tribue, will please arise and explain. The Tribue came to hand last Thursday, bearing date October 4th, 1877, and from it we take the fcowing:

Bor—On October 5th, to the wife of Jas. Wrigt, a daughter.
On October 7th, to the wife of F. M. Louderbar, a daughter; weight 8¼ pounds.
Th's enterprise.

WE heard one of our bachelor friends singhr the following touching solo the other day. Guess his "Arabeller" is all right:

"My Arabeller,
So ripe and meller,
And, goodness!
Can't she love a feller!

"Her eyes are black,
And pink her smeller,
And, goodness!
Can't she hug a feller!

"Her cheeks are red,
Her hair is yoller,
And, goodness!
Can't she kiss a feller!"

THE evidence that the works of man are imperfect still accumulates. It has now been discovered that the Murphy movement has no rule forbidding one Murphy stealing whisky from a brother Murphy. This has been tested. "Murph" No. 1 steals the whisky from where "Murph" No. 2 had hid it. "Murph" No. 2 gets dry and complains to "Murph" No. 1, who willingly administers to his relief. "Murph" No. 2 finally goes in search of his bottle, but, to his astonishment, it is missing. After some time, he learns the joke, and then comes in the variations in the way of "cussing."

Bellevue.

We have been looking through the columns of the RECORDER for weeks, expecting to see something from our city, but have looked in vain. We fear the mighty brain work done by our scribes preceding the late August election has gotten away with some of our best talent. But let us hope that it may be otherwise.

Bellevue, after sleeping for near half a century, has again awoke, and begins to show life once more. In passing along Third street, we notice frequently a dozen teams about the two store there, and a score of horses, while on passing inside we see tho busy clerks bustling around, doing their best to accommodate and please their customers, many of whom are, or have been, strangers to the town for these many years. Noticing the business being done at these places for a short time, one can hardly realize the fact that we are now in the midst of the most trying times that this country has ever experienced financially. But good goods, attentive and thorough-going clerks and bottom prices are doing the work of a long-felt need with us in Bellevue. We notice country people here trading from Big Bone, Gunpowder, Woolper and near Burlington.

The masons have reached the top of the Baptist church, and the carpenters have begun putting on the finishing. The Building Committee has concluded to roof the church with shingles, instead of slate, as at first contemplated. We hear there is to be a head put on the church, and we are to be tickled with a "klapper" in it that will wake up the sleepy old denizens of these river bottoms and old Middle Creek hills.

Again we hear Uncle Tim's pick and sledge among us, this time at work on the foundation wall of Mr. Jonas Chore's house, which he is building on Fourth street, north of the brick church. He has lately bought two lots of Mr. Mike Clore, and contemplates building a dwelling on one and a large business house on the other. We understand he wants to be ready to begin business early in the coming spring.

Still we have room for more. We need a douring mill very much, and, if we do not mistake the sentiment of the business part of the community, will have one here before many more when harvests pass by. We also have room for a good cabinet maker and painter. A lumber yard and planing mill is needed very much—could certainly do a good trade. We hear a great complaint among the fair sex that they must cross the river to get their head toggery fixed and made. Can not some enterprising one secure a shop and swing out a "shingle" on our Fourth street? Let us see who will try. Not too many at once. Be reasonable, Misses.

Our farmers are getting along finely with their fall work. The tobacco, which is an average crop of good heavy quality, was cut and housed in good order. Most of the potatoes are dug, and have yielded a short crop. Cause, bugs and hot, dry weather.

Next week corn-shucking begins. Then look out for sore fingers. Ouch! if some of those ears should hit a fellow on the head or on the toes, how he would snort. Look out, boys!

Our long expected, long talked of and worked at pikels finished. Last week "Creed" and his sable brothers, and Pat and Mc., together with the "Bachelor Retreat," formed in line and struck up, "Oh, my love, are you there," and started on their rabbit trot to Greenburg and the Irish shanty. The next morning, as some of our good people were coming to town, they were brought to a halt against the "hoss pole" in front of Uncle Albert's, where they were asked to draw their "eel skins" and wrestle with a nickel before they could pass. Who believe that Master Ben is the smiling attendant.

Mr. Thos. Carson and family have moved to Rising Sun. Mrs. Burns has moved up on Mr. Ed Green's farm. Mr. Perry Clore and family have moved in the old Galt House. In our city, and Flick & Reuberger have moved their basket shop in the old barroom.

Dr. A. Corbin has been quite sick, but is now getting around again. SPHINX.

[The above communication was received last week, but was crowded over. As Bellevue is making such rapid strides toward being the metropolis of the county, we would be pleased to have "Sphinx" keep us informed with regard to its advancement.—ED.]

HUSCHART & Co., Lawrenceburg, Indiana, are rapidly gaining a large patronage in Boone County, owing to the fact that they are selling their large stock of tombstones and monuments at hard-pan prices.

ONE night not long since, a strange lad, about whom clustered some suspicious circumstances, was sent out of town rather hurriedly by a pro tempore band of regulators composed of boys.

THE season for good roads has gone, and the good wife who has not made her fall circuit may as well grind her darning-needle, and take her position over in the corner.

Now get your corn in the crib as soon as possible; for no man, Tice not excepted, knows what amount of bad weather this winter will contain.

THE shotgun forces have turned themselves loose again in the land, and the quail and rabbits are being rapidly slaughtered.

STATE NEWS.

—Fourteen prisoners in jail at Henderson.

—Six candidates for County Judge in Woodford.

—Mrs. Hickman, of Hickman, has five pairs of twins.

—Earlington had a $30,000 fire. Seven business houses were destroyed.

—Dr. James Pearce, sr., an old and highly esteemed citizen of Newcastle, died Thursday, in the 77th year of his age.

—Frankfort Yeoman: The number of blue ribbon wearers in this city now exceeds 900, and still the meetings continue.

—Owensboro Messenger: Owensboro has nineteen large tobacco stemmeries in full blast, and enough tobacco in the county to fill them all, and more too.

—Wm. Breeze, an old citizen of Mason County, died last week at the residence of his son-in-law, in Fleming County, near Mt. Gilead. At the time of his death he was in his 90th year.

—Special Agent Trumbull has just made his report of the condition of Collector Holden's office in Covington. He reports it as the best conducted of any of the Kentucky revenue offices.

—Glasgow Times: There are 38 murder cases on the criminal docket of the Sixth Judicial District. The killing crop seems to have been particularly lucky, judging from the abundant harvest.

—The crop of potatoes this fall in portions of Kentucky is said to be immense. Some farmers report as high as four hundred bushels to the acre, and all say the crop is the largest for many years.

—Flemingsburg Democrat: That coal oil is good for sick hogs, there is no longer any doubt about the matter in our minds. We have tried it, and it has proved a successful remedy for lice and cholera.

—Georgetown Times: The area of wheat sown in this county, this fall, is much larger than usual. We heard a farmer say the other day that he believed he could stand in his door and see 2,000 acres of it.

—Hon. T. J. McGinnis, of Dry Ridge, once a Representative in the Kentucky Legislature from Grant County, died Saturday week, after a protracted illness, of heart disease. He was buried Sunday following.

—Glasgow Times: Murderers in Kentucky are too leniently dealt with. Until courts sharply reprimand men who dye their hands in the blood of their fellow men, we may expect no abatement of sanguinary violence.

—Danville Advocate: New corn is being cribbed very rapidly, and some few crops have been sold at $1 75 per barrel, delivered. The yield is better than was at first expected, ranging from ten to eighteen barrels per acre.

—Two married ladies (twins), agod 33 years October 3, who live in Trimble County, one about four miles, and the other about five miles from Campbellsburg, recently gave birth-to twin sons, one on Monday evening, October 22, the other Wednesday morning October 24.

—Richmond Register: William Kennedy, indicted in the Madison Circuit Court in two cases for malicious shooting, surrendered himself to the Sheriff of Lincoln County, to whom bench warrants for his arrest had been sent, and gave bond and was released. His trial will come up at the next March term of the court.

—Princeton Banner: We fear our farmers have not sowed as much wheat as they ought to have sowed. But a small area of rested land has been fallowed and put in wheat—only the tobacco and a part of the best corn land. After inquiry of a large number of farmers, we think the area seeded in wheat this fall will barely reach an average.

—Mason County has suffered terribly from the dry weather during the last month. Wheat looks badly, the fall pasturage has been burnt up, and farmers have been compelled to haul stock water for miles. Last week there were several showers, but not enough to set the springs or creeks to running. More rain is badly needed.

—Ballard News: The following letter was picked up on our streets by a News reporter: "DEER CRAWLES—Mamy says I can not go with you to-night, as I hev a bad kowld, but you ken kum upp to see me. I hev a lot uv aples and swent taters, and we'll hev a spandiferous time. P. S.—I got overheted at the dance and feel very poor. Trooly thy darling—LOVE."

—Louisville Argus: Hon. Albert Willis, Congressman from this district, was fortunate in the selection of seats. He drew the one formerly occupied by Mr. Beck—a seat from which four former occupants went to the United States Senate. Congressmen Knott, Carlisle, Boone, Durham, McKenzie and Caldwell drew blanks, and their seats are in the outer tier, or next to it.

—Harrodsburg Observor: A large gray eagle, measuring six feet five inches from tip to tip, was captured on the farm of Mr. J. L. Martin, near this place, on Wednesday. Mr. R. S. Martin, a son of the above gentleman, discharged a load of very small shot at the bird, and only one of the missiles took effect—near the bill. It was stunned, however, and, falling to the ground, was easily taken.

—Princeton Banner: The deed and mortgage business in this county has been quite brisk since the last term of our Circuit Court, as indicated by the amount of tax received for recording said documents by County Clerk Pasteur, viz.: For recording 111 deeds, fifty cents each, $55 50; 277 mortgages, fifty cents each, $138 50. The mortgages indicate a pretty heavy indebtedness on the part of our people.

—Interior Journal: The case of William Martin, for the killing of Povill Sampson in February last, has occupied the court nearly the whole of this week. Eighty-three men were examined before the jury could be obtained, then a great many witnesses were introduced, which, added to the fact that there were six lawyers engaged, has made the case thus lengthy. All of them made speeches, and the case was given to the jury at 5 o'clock last evening, and, after a retirement of about an hour, returned a verdict of "not guilty."

—A Frankfort letter says: In the case of Frank Nall, the old negro who was found dead in his house sitting in a chair, Sunday, the Coroner's jury returned the following verdict: "Deceased came to his death by the visitation of God in a natural way, and not otherwise." The old negro lived like a hermit in an obscure place, and never allowed anyone to come in his house. $219 in gold, $30 in greenbacks, $145 in silver, and a bank book showing a balance of $200 were found in his house. It was with difficulty that the rats, who appeared frantic, could be driven from him, and he presented a horrible appearance.

THE BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL,
Editor and Proprietor.

BURLINGTON, KY., NOVEMBER 8.

AT thirty minutes past five, last Thursday evening, Senator Oliver Perry Morton, of Indiana, expired at his residence in Indianapolis. He was born August the 4th, 1823, and was consequently in his fifty-fifth year. His ancestors were of English descent, and emigrated from England about a century ago. O. P. Morton was one of the original Republicans of the country, and was a member of the convention that nominated the first Republican candidate for the Presidency of the United States. From the first appearance of the Republican party down to his death, O. P. Morton has been recognized as one of its leading spirits. He was the first man to make the race for Governor of Indiana as a Republican, but was defeated, although he was afterward elected Lieutenant Governor with Henry S. Lane, who was elected to the United States Senate, leaving Morton heir to the Governorship of the State. It was while in that position he acquired the title of "Indiana's War Governor" by being constantly devising men and means for carrying on the civil war. O. P. Morton was, in politics, strictly a party man; one of the best organizers, and the greatest political leaders of the age. President Lincoln recognized in him great political power, and during his administration not unfrequently advised with him. When he, in 1867, took his seat in the United States Senate, he at once assumed the principal leadership of his party in that body. At no time since he came prominently before the public as a politician, has there been a man in the Republican party who could accomplish the party ends that he could. In the death of Morton, the cause he espoused loses an energetic worker and a successful leader.

WE notice in our exchanges the promulgation of the views of some of the candidates for the position of United States Senator. These gentlemen all being Democrats, their views on the leading questions, of course, coincide, and are essentially those of the remaining members of the party. The members of the next General Assembly being aware of that fact, will be expected to choose from the number of candidates the man best calculated to to defend the principles of the party. The material from which to choose is abundant, and before a choice is made, the influence and respect each of the aspirants would wield in the national council should be weighed, and to the man having the advantage in that particular the office should be awarded.

A JOINT resolution has been introduced in the House in Congress, proposing an amendment to the Constitution so as to elect the President and Vice-President by a direct vote of the people. The proposed amendment provides that the electors in each State shall have the same qualifications as the electors of the most numerous branch of the State Legislature; the man receiving the greatest number of votes for President and Vice-President shall hold these respective offices. but, if two or more persons shall receive the same number of votes for these offices the House from such persons shall at once proceed to elect a President and the Senate the Vice-President, each member to have one vote.

To make a Russian name take three alphabets and shake them up in a hat; then throw on a table like dice; pick out those letters that fall right side up, and stick them in a line, then add either the "itch," or "koff," and you have a genuine, full-fledged Russian General's name.

JUDGE LINDSAY, General Williams, Governor McCreary, Proctor Knott and Isaac Caldwell are the leading candidates for United States Senator.

WHEN President Hayes visited the State Fair in the Old Dominion, last week, he was given a rousing reception.

THE cigar makers in New York have been engaged in a strike.

Our Washington Letter.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 3, 1877.

Special Correspondence to the Recorder.

Could the dozen "burgesses" who, 250 years ago, formed the first Legislative Assembly of America, be summoned from their quiet resting places to the present Congress of the United States, how utterly bewildered would they be at the development of their own idea. They would protest that there could be no possible connection between their quiet meetings in the log hut at Jamestown, and this assembled, scheming, turbulent House. But, adieu to ghosts. The Congress of to-day is an established fact with all its attendant lobbies and committees.

THE COMMITTEES.

It is noticable that none of the aspirants for the Speakership are placed at the head of one of the forty-eight committees, with the exception of Mr. Cox, of New York, who is Chairman of the Library Committee. The Committee on Banking and Currency, with Mr. Buckner at its head, is a purely representative body, for its eleven members have expressed as many different views on "hard money," "resumption," the "trade dollar," &c., as there are sides to the question. It is probable that the Committee on Ways and Means and Appropriations will labor diligently on retrenchment under the banner of "Economy." Whether—to use a borrowed phrase—"the cheapest policy will prove the least expensive," future extra sessions, called to make appropriations and provide for deficiencies, may prove. With the naming of committees, the Legislative machine began to move, and, judging from the unprecedented number of new bills already introduced, there will be no lack of work.

THE STATE ELECTIONS.

The elections in many of the States being close at hand, a large number of the members have gone home to be among their constituents.

REFERRED.

The Colorado case in the House, and the Louisiana case in the Senate have been referred to the Committees on Elections.

MORE LIGHT WANTED.

General Butler wants better light and ventilation in the House.

CONFIRMATIONS.

The Senate has confirmed a number of the President's appointments, but there are others that will not slip through so easily.

IT'S THE OTHER MAN.

The Minister nominated to England, is Mr. John Welsh, of Pennsylvania, President of the Centennial Commission, not Wm. Welsh, of Philadelphia, prominent in Indian affairs as the N. Y. Tribune has it.

THE PENNSYLVANIA DELEGATION

Is supposed to be policied, but it begins to appear as though the glory and freedom of Republicanism is somewhat fettered, when the President must walk softly, stopping to appease sections and distribute gifts all round like sugar plums, to put each in good temper.

ANOTHER JUNKET.

The President and several of his Cabinet have had a rest from their official duties, and were relieved from a strong of hungry aspirants for place by the recent trip to Richmond. After speeches, parades and dinners at the ex-Capital, they have returned ready for whatever the winter may bring forth.

THANKSGIVING.

The President's Thanksgiving Proclamation is long enough for leap year. Twill "fill out," in newspapers and church services, and not injure the flavor of turkey and mince pies at the yearly gatherings around thousands of tables in happy homes.

WAR.

A dim thought of the horrors of war comes to us, even at this peaceful distance, as we read that a ship lately sailed from New Haven with $1,000,000 worth of cartridges for Turkey. Her success, thus far, is, no doubt, largely due to the superiority of American arms and ammunition.

WASHINGTON'S MONUMENT.

The Committee on the Washington Monument have reported that it is not best to build upon the present foundation.

FESTIVITIES.

The season for parties and receptions does not begin here until after the holidays, but there are any number of public entertainments. The theaters are crowded every night in the week, for at least one of them has so far outraged the Christian Sabbath as to establish a series of Sunday night entertainments, that are liberally patronized by members of Congress and others.

THE COLOR QUESTION

Came up in a bill the other day to abolish the obnoxious word "color" in designating soldiers of the United States Army.

THE EDUCATION OF THE FREEDMEN

Is destined to be a slow and up hill work, attended with more or less discouragements. The people of the North are rather inclined to take the credit of whatever has thus far been accomplished, but they should be fair, and give the South its dues in the matter. It is a fact that the South spends $1,000,000 yearly for the education of her colored population, while the North furnishes, all told, $400,000. The State of Virginia alone, has given more than the American Mission Society. The work belongs to the South and should be carried on as far as possible by them. Where northern energy and culture utilizes Southern funds, the best institutions are established. Hampton University in Southern Virginia is a case in point. The State gives $10,000 annually to its support, and its keen, active President, General Armstrong, is constantly interesting leading Southern gentlemen in its behalf. He is now urging the Government to send to this Institution some of the Nez Perces Indian youth, and try the experiment of educating them. The only objection to the plan, is the means for carrying it out. There is ample room, all the appliances for a practical education in mechanic arts and farming, and abundance of fertile and well watered land. For emigrants of all classes, savage or civilized, there are vast tracts of arable land in Virginia and North Carolina, cheap and accessible to market. History is now repeating itself, and the tide of immigration is soon to set back again, and we shall soon hear of pioneers to the Old Dominion, and colonies to the Carolinas, dividing with the West the tide of emigration. FOR.

ST. LOUIS LETTER.

ST. LOUIS, MO., November 3, 1877.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

Sunday last, was one of the most delightful days, in the way of weather, we ever experienced; but in the evening of that day there was a radical change, and chilling blasts, seemingly from all points of the compass, and the entire week may be sat down as smacking largely of the disagreeable. It has been a good week for dealers in fuel and overcoats.

The two Religious Conventions in session at the time we last wrote, have adjourned, and the most of the ministers have returned to their respective posts. Ministers of the Christian Church, on Sunday, occupied pulpits of the various denominations of the City and most of them acquitted themselves with honor and credit to themselves as well as the church they represent. There being so many able and distinguished men of this denomination, in attendance, it would be difficult to say who was the leading spirit of the occasion, but we believe we can safely assert that Elder A. I. Hobbs, of Illinois, made an impression that will be remembered by his brethren, as well as by everyone who heard him. The Christian Convention did, beyond the peradventure of a doubt, accomplish a great work while here, the fruits of which were witnessed on Sunday afternoon with many loving hearts and tearful eyes. It was probably one of those occasions that makes the angels in heaven shout for joy. It may not be generally known, but it is a lamentable fact, that, for four or five years there has been nothing but a pleasant feeling between the First Christian Congregation and the Central Congregation which split off from it about five years since, and many wise heads had concluded that such a thing as a reconciliation between the two bodies was impossible; but all things seem possible with the great Head of the Church, and at the hour of 3 p. m. last Sunday, the First Christian Congregation met as a body at Central Church, and the two congregations together sat around the Lord's Table. A solemn stillness brooded over the vast assembly. Dr. Hopson, President of Canton University, and Dr. Pendleton, President of Bethany College, presided. The former read the account of the resurrection as given by Matthew, and the latter led in an appropriate and impressive prayer in which hundreds of earnest hearts doubtless, joined, making the petition their own. It was the most solemn and interesting occasion we ever witnessed. There were about 500 persons in the house, and with the exception of when there was singing or someone speaking, the drop of a pin could be heard in any part of the house. In the evening of the same day, Elder Z. T. Swinney, the young orator of the Reformation, preached in the same house, or, possibly we would be speaking more truthfully if we would that he presented his audience with an oratorical bouquet; for we do not now recollect of ever hearing a more flowery discourse from the lips of man. For good sense and christian deportment, there was no man among us on that occasion that impressed his brethren and friends more fully than the Governor-elect R. M. Bishop, of Ohio. By this we mean that he did not forget any of his poorer brethren or relations, but upon this occasion, seemed to take a deeper interest in them than usual. He has quite a number of relations in this city that are in quite moderate circumstances, and it was with those that he made his home while with us. And by his kind admonitions and hearty greetings he caused many a heart to rejoice. We take great pleasure in mentioning this, as somehow or other it seems to be the general disposition of man to forget those who have not been so fortunate as himself. R. M. Bishop is an exception to this rule, and long may he wave. In our last, we stated that Rev. Isaac Errett was elected President of the Society for the ensuing year. We now have to say, that gentleman having declined the honor, on Monday last, before the Convention adjourned, Elder A. Hobbs, of Illinois, was elected in his stead. The Society meets next year in Cincinnati, unless otherwise ordered by the Executive Committee.

The death of Senator Morton has cast quite a gloom over Reprblican ranks.

REV. J. D. CORWIN will preach at the Universalist Church on Middle Creek on the third Sunday in the morning, and at Burlington at night.

THE cabbage crop on Gunpowder, this season, was immense. Attest Fielding Crisler's barrel of kraut—a larger quantity than he has made in ninety years past.

THE Sheriff says he did not collect all the taxes he could have recopited for, last Monday. The collections fell far behind those of corresponding days of previous years.

AND now comes James M. Conner and makes B. K. Sleet a present of a very handsome gold watch, invoiced at $100. Jim always does things in a handsome manner.

THERE is a stirrup factory at Rockport. Burlington needs a stir-up factory, or something that will infuse new life in the town. Some five or six hundred business men, come this way; there is room for you.

INVENTORS, to secure prompt and proper action on their cases, should employ an attorney resident at Washington. We direct attention to Foster's Patent Offices, 509 Seventh street, Washington. Mr. Foster has practiced before the Patent Office 18 years. Send to him for pamphlets and references.

LAST Monday, Cy Crisler and Bob Sandford got into a scrimmage that had a black eye in it. Bob got the black eye put on him. Cy was not rendered a bleeding corpse, his wounds being imperceptible or inward, we don't know which. The trouble was about something connected with the late war, which we were confident had been settled for lo! these many years. No arrests up to date.

J. H. WALTON Secretary of the Boone County Pomona Grange, requests us to say that a called meeting of said Grange will be held at the County Grange Hall the third Friday in this month to consider the insurance question, and to transact such business as may be brought before the Grange. The Masters of the subordinate Grnages will please be in attendance, to elect a delegate to the State Grange.

SOME mischievous rascal tied a piece of crape on the door to Mr. W. F. McKim's grocery, last Monday morning, and caused some of his friends considerable uneasiness before they learned that Mr. McKim had attended the Dry Creek meeting on Sunday, and, owing to the inclement weather, had not returned in time to open his store, as is usual, with the rising of the sun. That's all that was the matter; ain't it, Frank?

FROM the Liberty Station items in the Carrollton Democrat, of last week, we take the following:

"John Phillips, a man about 27 years of age, in the employ of John O. Campbell, landlord of the Eagle Valley House, was found dead in his bed, last Saturday morning. Phillips was apparently as well as usual on the preceding night, and about 10 o'clock he drank a glass of beer and went to bed. No inquest was held upon the body. Phillips was a native of either Boone County or Covington."

THE Sunday-school Convention at Big Bone was largely attended, and the exercises were highly entertaining and instructive. Quite a number of able essays were read during the session. Among the most interesting and entertaining lectures was that delivered by W. H. Felix—subject, "Permanence of Early Impressions." The following ministers were in attendance: W. H. Felix, J. M. Bent, L. Johnson, J. A. Kirtley and R. E. Kirtley. The good ladies in that neighborhood, who are proverbial for getting up splendid dinners, surpassed themselves on this occasion.

B. K. Sleet bought the negro delinquent list for $75.

G. W. Huey was appointed administrator of his father's estate, J. L. Huey on bond.

Ordered, that Samuel E. Calvert, guardian of Wm and Albert Acra, appear in this court, at its next regular term, November 5th, 1877, and pay into court all moneys or other property in his hands belonging to said wards.

LAST Saturday, about noon, without any warning save a feeble "toot or two" on a small bugle, an enormous grizzly bear, escorted by two other animals of a different nationality, came waddling into town. Their approach was discovered when they were just entering the city limits(?). Some fellow yelled, "Yonder comes a bar!" and in a few moments all the able-bodied citizens of the masculine gender had bruin and his body guard besieged in the middle of the street. This was what the trio wanted, and bruin was started executing his programme—waltzing, dancing, somersaulting, playing soldier, climbing a tree, &c. The performance being completed, one of the men commenced shoving the hat around, which raised the seige in a few moments. They, however, gathered in several nickels, and commenced their journey toward Union. In a few moments after bruin left, an organ grinder broke loose on the town, but was soon put to flight by the half dozen dirty-faced little urchins, who stood around and laughed at him, telling him that the "bar" show had cleaned up the surplus change. The organ man was going to risk no music under such discouraging circumstances, and left in disgust.

THERE was a little matrimonial breeze stirred up in the Gunpowder neighborhood, last week. It came about in this wise. John Bachelor, who for some time has been at work with Cy Crisler, had wooed and won the affections of a daughter of Mrs. Anna Crisler. Mrs. Crisler did not exactly approve of her daughter's choice for a husband, and was not willing to the match. So John and the young lady planned an elopement, and one day last week the young lady, in company with her brother, left home, as her mother thought, to visit her uncle's in Gallatin County; but in reality she only started to meet Bachelor, who was on the road with a buggy, in which she took passage to the city, where they were married. The little boy returned with the horse and saddle and informed his mother of the strange action of his sister, which was at once understood by the mother. At last accounts they had not returned to Mrs. Crisler's, although in the neighborhood.

Personal Mention.

TIDINGS from the Lone Star State locate our young friend, Mark Collins, there. We wish him success in the Sunny South.

MR. C. C. COLEMAN, who, taking H. G.'s advice, went West some time since, is now engaged in the real estate and loan business in Clay Center, Kansas.

GEO. BURGIS, of Williamstown, met with quite a serious accident one day last week, his horse running off, throwing him out of the buggy, breaking both of his legs.

THE lower House of Congress has passed the bill to remonetize the silver dollar. The Senate may yet kill it.

IN a business sense Monday was a dry day, otherwise there was plenty of dampness.

THE County Court was very slim Monday.

Pleasant Ridge.

Mr. M. W. House postponed his school for a week, on account of sickness in his family.

Joseph, the shoemaker, went to church at Florence on last Thursday, and, when church adjourned, instead of taking the Union road for Pleasant Ridge, he took the road for Covington, and never made his return until Friday noon; while James Kennedy, surnamed Job, he drank a glass of beer and went to bed. No inquest was held upon the body. Phillips was a native of either Boone County or Covington."

We are in favor of making a change in our store clerks. Tanner laughs too much, and Rouse not enough. O. K.

Plattsburg.

A meeting will be called in the neighborhood in a short time, to consider the chances for building a turnpike, commencing at the crossing and extending to the Petersburg and Burlington pike at J. W. Berkshire's. Messrs. Lillard, Walton & Co. have agreed to complete one mile, while Messrs. Voshell and Smith will extend it another mile farther. Mr. Seth Foster, for the benefit of the old homestead, agrees to give as much as any other man. Considering that Lawrenceburg will aid liberally, this is the chance while the fever is high. Let the road be commenced at once.

The bald head bachelors are talking about holding a convention about the full of moon. If such a disgraceful scene does take place we hope it will be made as harmonious as possible. Among the material around Plattsburg is O. Snyder, Thomas Grant, J. C. Sebree, Walker Tolin, Thomas Beldon, Henry Jarrell, Younger Wilson and Dr. Maxfield. Bishop Schamm, who contemplates taking care of seven wives, will be furnished with a special conveyance and required to impart one-seventh of his knowledge to the convention. If the first meeting is prolific of any good, the editor of the RECORDER will be made permanent Secretary. [Pistols for two.—Ed.]

Rabbit Hash.

Rev. J. D. Corwin will preach at the Calvert school house on Sunday, the 11th inst., morning and evening.

John J. Pratt's flatboat left for the South on last Thursday, with the following crew: Hugh Love, pilot; James W. Scott, cook; Thornt. Frazier, Geo. Hewitt, Hade Wilson and Jack Murray. Mr. Pratt will meet his boat at Memphis.

Mr. Solon Stephens gave the young folks a social dance last week, at which everything passed off pleasantly. Among the ladies present were Miss Ella Calvert, Miss Sallie Stephens, Miss Maggie Matson and Miss Alice Ward. Among the gentlemen, Mr. Ed Hunt of Rising Sun, and Mr. E. R. Scott, of Denver, Ill.

The retired tobacco merchants, John J. Pratt, O. J. Harris and Jas. H. Hastings, are now awaiting their sweet revenge upon Andy Dolph, who had them arrested for giving tobacco to their hired hands, pretending he believed they sold it to them. Dolph went behind the returns and preferred charges which he said took place five years since. Dolph will remember for a long time the lecture delivered to him by Commissioner Bostwick.

Rev. Alexander Redd preached last Sunday morning and evening. He left an appointment for the Tuesday before the first Sunday in next month for a protracted meeting.

The young folks gave a dance at Mrs. Minerva Ryle's, Saturday week.

Old Mrs. Jingletongue is telling around that we are going to have another wedding in a few weeks. Those four persons, two ladies and two gentlemen, who intend to make themselves two, will please notify P. G., as he is lonesome over it.

Mr. Robert Craig has been buying and shipping potatoes all the week. He is paying 30 cents per bushel.

Personal.—Walter Ryle, our Grange clerk, is talking about going to Hot Springs, Ark., for his health.....Mrs. Emeline Clore has gone to Evansville to spend a few weeks.

Petersburg.

The threatened lawsuit with the Florence correspondent has thrown a gloom of sadness and regret over the business end of our pencil; Porter has come wrathfully down on us with a postponement of the Woolper bridge ball, owing to the necessary absence from the neighborhood, at the time set, of the young lady who captivated him some time since and afterward stepped on him; the weather has been frosty, and nipped in the bud a fresh and promising crop of ideas that would otherwise have matured for this week's communication; and, therefore, we must take our small back seat and set it further back than usual, this time. Now, don't smile too loud, for I know you are glad of it.

The newspapers have been so overflowing with news of late that our respected citizens who can read are generally aware of the fact that Senator O. P. Morton, of Indiana, died last Thursday night, and was buried last Monday. Bishop Schramm, the chairman of the Board of City Fathers, the Treasurer ditto, and a few more choice friends, took advantage of the liberality of the L, C. and L. R. R. last Sunday, and went to see the body as it lay in state in the Court-house at Indianapolis. The day was most beautiful; all the railroads centering in this city of railroads poured into the Union Depot train after train loaded with people, and a constant stream of marching people viewed the remains of the dead Senator for twelve hours. The city was literally draped in black, and the Hoosier State was sad at heart over a loss that is irreparable.

There were three croquet parties last week, two in town and one in the country. A big dinner went along with each party, that is, when it broke up, and each affair was so pleasant that we hope your old "Auntie" will literally spread herself this week in allotting prizes, gossiping of the fun we all had, at two of these parties especially, as I believe she did not attend the last one.

J. Frank Grant is unloading a barge of coal at the river here, and as the teams from the country are busy hauling out a winter's supply of the combustible stuff, it gives our little town a business air of importance.

Union.

Not seeing anything from this part of the county lately, I thought a few items would not be amiss.

Our mail route has made a change, which is quite a benefit to this community. We now receive the RECORDER two days in advance of what we did. The mail comes in earlier in the day, which is an advantage.

Miss Perlina Huey, daughter of J. A. Huey, is quite sick at this time with pneumonia.

Rev. L. Johnson will preach the funeral of Willie Stephens on the second Sunday of this month at Hopeful Church, and will preach at the new Baptist Church at this place on the Saturday evening previous and on Sunday evening after, at 7 o'clock each evening.

Jacob F. Scott has been on a business tour out West. He purchased land in Kansas, and is delighted with the country. His oldest son, W. H. Scott, has emigrated West to grow up with the country. He has taken charge of his father's lands in Kansas.

Geo. W. Huey, jr., is building a fine cage for his bird, when caught. Girls, who will be the lucky bird?

Since the political horizon has cleared, and the smoke of the battles vanished, our defeated candidates have turned their attention in another direction. Reuben Conner, Esq., is now paying more attention to the futurity of his poor soul. He has become a very attentive scholar of our Sunday-school at this place, but some say that they do not know whether it is the school that attracts him or one of the teachers. Col. Jas. L. Henderson has returned to private life, and has purchased for himself a fine organ. In passing by one is reminded of a stanza in Scott's Lay of the Last Minstrel—

"At the sullen, moaning sound,
The bag-dogs moan and howl;
And from the turrets round,
Loud whoops the startled owl.
In the hall both 'Squire and Knight
Swore that a storm was near,
And look forth to view the night,
But the night was still and clear."

Big meeting at Sardis this week.

Mrs. Lou Taylor, of Missouri, is on a visit to her parents, F. B. Smith.

Demaree Lodge I. O. G. T. is progressing very well. The regular election of officers came off the last Saturday evening in October, and the following were elected for the ensuing quarter: H. Bannister, W. C. T.; Miss Alice Bannister, W. V. T.; John T. Cannelly, W. Sec'y; Miss Ida Riley, W. F. S.; N. Talbot, W. Tr.; A. D. Riley, W. M.; G. H. Stephenson, W. I. G.; Chas. Parsons, W. O. S. G.; Perry Rice, P. W. C. T.; Miss Etta Burkett, Lodge Deputy.

Sam Reed Chapter of Royal Arch Masons failed to hold an election of officers at the regular time for same.

Prof. Nat Stephenson has quite a large school at this place in the Town Hall. The school averages about sixty-five scholars. Mrs. Bettie Stephenson is his assistant.

INDIANA—Aurora.

The new Episcopal Church will be dedicated one week from next Sunday.

Wes. Criswell, editor of the Oil City Derrick, arrived at home last Saturday evening. He didn't come for pleasure this time, but on business, for he will lead to the hymeneal altar Miss Alice McCreery, daughter of Joe. McCreary, Esq., of this city. The wedding will be an unusually brilliant one.

John Bailey, an old Aurora boy, but who, for a long time back, has been making his home in the Western mining regions, returned home last Saturday, looking very much the same as John Bailey of yore.

Thos. Gaff has purchased an elegant span of horses, which is probably the finest team in the city.

Hog cholera is very prevalent in the surrounding country notwithstanding the P. M.

We make the assertion that Aurora has improved more this summer than any other town of its size in the State.

The Gas Company has just completed its large tank, and is prepared to furnish an extra quality of gas.

Gaff & Co. are building a large addition to their brewery, for the purpose bottling beer.

A. O. Gould, of Cochran, has entered into partnership with James W. Gaff, of Cincinnati, for the purpose of manufacturing yeast on a large scale.

Philip Earley's store, in Texas, was burglarized one night last week to the tune of $150.

Louisville Trade Gossip.

Special Correspondence to the Recorder.

The live stock market opened up lively last week. There was a good demand for smooth mares and good mules with but very few on the market. There were 46 head of horses of inferior classes sold at auction at $30 and $135 per pair. 34 mules sold at auction, bringing from $135 to $330 per head. We are informed that there are some horse buyers in the city, who want to buy from 12 to 16 car loads of smooth mares for which they will pay a good price; good mare mules will bring from $70 to $125 per head, and the prices are advancing every day.

The cattle market was fine at the opening, but closed with a decline of 25 cents on the hundred pounds. Extra shippers 4½@5.; best butchers' 3½@4c.; common to good 2@4c

The hog market was active all week, and packers were ready to buy all that arrived at 4@4½c.

The sheep and lamb market was fine and active at 3@4½c. for extra sheep, and 8@8½c. for common to medium. Lambs had a ready sale at 3@4c. for common to extra.

The grain market was firm and quiet.

The tobacco market was firm, and the new crop is coming in lively.

THIS standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and as satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff. It gives the head a cooling, soothing sensation of great comfort, and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

A. A. Hayes, M.D., State Assayer of Massachusetts, says, "The constituents are pure, and carefully selected for excellent quality; and I consider it the BEST PREPARATION for its intended purposes."

Price, One Dollar.

Buckingham's Dye
FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

A LAMENT

So, it is time to tire of youth
And my sweet mirror, where I see
The beautiful and bitter truth,
Myself, reproach and pity me.

Wrong somehow, have I not my wrongs?
Better I were if left alone.
One snares me in a net of songs,
Another changes me to stone.

Another steals my colors rare
And gives them to some doubtful saint;
Almost I wish I were not fair,
Spite of their sonnets, marble, paint.

My beauty stirs within the strife,
For men to see—am I for this?
Where others suffer death and life,
Shall I have just a look, a kiss.

Why, any clown may wear a ring
Of gold my head can not outshine;
The wildest bird in the air can sing
With far diviner voice than mine.

What is my little sweetness worth?
Here lies a violet at my feet;
The sweetest woman upon earth
Was never half so sweetly sweet.

For men to see? If this be all,
You lily, sire, shows whiter grace;
The rose that climbs your garden wall
Looks nt you with a lovelier face.

Married but no Wife.

There has been an interesting case of "married but no wife" before the Supreme Court at Boston. Thomas J. Herring, a widower with five children, fell in love with Miss Aletha Butters in 1871, proposed and was refused some half dozen times, and finally got her consent by threatening to blow his brains out. But Thomas indiscreetly boasted of his conquest, and Miss Butters broke the engagement. Then there was another long series of proposals and refusals, till the young woman refused even to see him. He then wrote a letter fixing the hour for his death, and told her to be at home to hear the news, but discreetly sent a friend to plead for an interview, which resulted in her marrying him secretly in April, 1871.

She repented of it as soon as it was done, and compromised by agreeing that they should not live together as man and wife for six months, nor tell anybody. The result is they have never lived together; the more she has seen of him the more her early dislike for him has grown, and she asked the court to annul the marriage. Judge Endicot says, however, that threats of suicide do not constitute duress, and as there was neither error nor fraud the petition could not be granted.

The Human Face.

The countenance of every nation defines the characteristics of its people. Every human face indicates the moral training as well as the temperament and the ruling traits of its owner, just as every human form indicates the quality and amount of physical exercise. This is proven by the variety of human faces everywhere visible. Those whose lives have been given to physical labor, unbrightened by an education of ideas, have always a stolid, stupid impression, even while their limbs and muscles are splendidly developed. The more savage the people, the uglier they are in facial development. The very features of their faces are disfigured by violent and ungoverned passions. People whose employment is intellectual, have invariably a large, clear gaze, a bright, outraying expression, as if from an inward light shining though a vase. When a fine organization and a deep sensibility accompany the practice of intellectual pursuits, often the features take on a transparent, luminous look. Persons endowed with powerful sensibility, however plain their features, always have moments of absolute beauty.

THREE highwaymen and four officers had a hand-to-hand fight in Deadwood. The room was lighted at the outset, but the lamp was overturned, and they were left in total darkness. Six of them were coupled in the struggle, and without a seventh no mistake would have ensued; but this seventh man, by engaging in the scrimmage, confused the combatants. Soon nobody knew whom he was fighting, and the result was friend grappled with friend. Revolvers and knives were used, and one death and many wounds resulted.

A LADY sent a note to the newspaper to get a recipe to cure the whooping cough in a pair of twins. By mistake a recipe for pickleing onions was inserted and her name attached. She received this answer through the "Answers to Correspondents:" "Mrs. L. H. B.—If not too young, skin them pretty closely, immerse in scalding water, sprinkle plentifully with salt and immerse them for a week or two in strong brine."

THE largest steamboat in the world is the St. John, which runs between Albany and New York. She is 418 feet long, and this beats the Ohio boat by 23 feet. The St. John is not only the largest steamboat in the world, but one of the most magnificent. She cost nearly one million dollars, or as much as the six best boats on the Ohio.

A REVIVAL has broken out among the Indian tribes on the north west coast of British Columbia, in consequence of five apparitions having been seen by some Indians who were worshipping in a church. There is much religious fervor manifested, and all the tribes claim to have apparitions of their own.

WISE AND OTHERWISE.

ORANGES are abundant.

CANNED roast beef from Texas has made its debut.

GIRLS in Georgia wear hats made of natural leaves and flowers.

To rid yourself of your wife's female friends—make love to them.

DRIVE your cattle on the ice if you want cowslips in the winter.

THE Baptists of Laporte, Indiana, are building a $50,000 church.

THE cotton crop in the vicinity of Collierville, Tennessee is very short.

THE State of Mississippi has received about $58,578 from the Peabody fund.

MRS. JEFF DAVIS has returned to this country, leaving her daughters at school in Germany.

IT is said that Blue Jeans Williams is likely to last longer than the most men—for he wears elevens.

THIRTY-ONE thousand acres of land in Holmes County, Florida, can be had at seventy-five cents per acre.

THAT awful lad again: "Ma, pa has got the best of you you; can't strike matches on your trousers like he can."

ONE hundred thousand California salmon eggs have been sent to the Kentucky Fish Commissioners from Chicago.

THERE is a shop kept by an old maid in New York, in the window of which appears these words: "No reasonable offer refused."

IT is said that a dancing master is about introducing a dance expressly for fat persons. All the performers have to do is sit still and kick.

THE great attraction at a baby-show in Massachusetts, last week, was three pairs of twins, born in the same month and all daughters of three brothers.

TWO thousand cattle are now being fattened at the Terre Haute distillery. This is a larger number of cattle than are fed at any other distillery in the world.

THE Memphis Appeal says: "In the Kentucky crowd Mr. Blackburn looms up as the chief—a man certainly fit to be the successor of Henry Clay and James B. Beck.

THE county jail at Knoxville, Tenn., now contains fifty-eight prisoners. Sixteen of them, however, are under sentence to the Penitentiary, and will be moved to Coal Creek soon.

IT is a little singular how much valuable time a woman will take studying the postmark of a letter to see where it comes from, when she can open it and find out at once.

A RICHMOND negro who pawned his shot-gun for a marriage license said, about one week after the ceremony was performed, that he always was afraid the gun would be the death of him.

AN exchange says: "If the editor of a country newspaper could get verbal promises discounted at bank rates he would be on intimate terms with the Rothschild family inside of twenty days."

THE Chicago Journal says nature doesn't know much. If she had made a man's head out of cork, see how easily he could float about in the water, and keep himself from drowning in case of a shipwreck.

SINCE 1871 the Indians of the Northwest have ceded to Canada 457,690 square miles of land. These red rovers of the forest go on the principle that they had just as well give their land away as have it taken by force of arms.

THE hard-hearted Ashland Review asks: "Did you ever notice how sensitive are the ears of a woman in church to the crying of some other woman's baby, and how deafer than a post when her own offspring sets up its piercing squall?"

IT has become very common for ladies of the Russian nobility in the large cities of the Empire, to offer their diamonds to the public treasury, and wear as ornaments buttons torn from the uniforms of slain officers and soldiers.

THE man who has heretofore collided with a plate of soft butter when feeling around in the cupboard in search of something to eat after dark, now experiences a relief from the monotony by sticking his finger in the pumpkin pie.

A WRITER at Cheyenne says that after ten years of experiment in Wyoming with the women in politics he can see no good that has been accomplished by her vote. It will be warm weather around Cheyenne for that man, if they ever find out who he is.

THE dried fruit trade throughout East Tennessee has been greater this season than for a number of years past. At Jonesboro alone, says the Journal, 76,000 pounds have been purchased during the week, a large portion of which was brought from a single county.

AT Atlanta a colored man has been arrested for burglary, and on looking up his record, it was found that he owed the State some service—150 years of it, in fact, having four times escaped from jail—namely, when he escaped sentenced to the Penitentiary for ninety-nine years for murder, and three terms of twenty years each for homicide and two burglaries.

DOMESTIC BLISS.

There is a sacred spot on earth,
Which antedates our joys above;
'Tis where we sit when toil is o'er,
With those we love.

Oft in my waking dreams I sit,
With the dear darlings of my life,
And gaze upon these treasured gems
My child and wife!

The fleeting pleasures of the world,
Like darkening shadows fade away,
And gives us glimpses of the bliss
Which scorn decay.

Oh! wedded love! God's dearest gift
To render all his creatures blest,
'Tis only 'neath its smile we taste
A perfect rest.

NATIONAL THANKSGIVING.

By the President of the United States of America—A Proclamation.

The completed circle of summer and winter, seed time and harvest, has brought us to the accustomed season at which religious people celebrate with praise and thanksgiving the enduring mercy of Almighty God. This devout and public confession of the constant dependence of man upon our Divine Father for all the good gifts of life and health and peace and happiness, so early in our history made a habit of our people, finds, in a survey of past years, new grounds for its joyful and grateful manifestation in all blessings which depend upon benignant seasons.

This has, indeed, been a memorable year over our wide territory. Our country, with all its diversity of soil and climate and products of the earth, has yielded a bountiful return to the labor of the husbandman. The health of our people has been blighted by no prevalent or wide-spread diseases. No great disasters of shipwreck upon our coasts, or to our commerce on the seas, have brought loss and hard-ship to our merchants or mariners, and clouded the happiness of our community with sympathetic sorrow.

In all that concerns our strength and peace and greatness as a nation; in all that touches permanence and security, our government and the beneficent institution on which it rests; in all that affects the character and disposition of our people and tests our capacity to enjoy and uphold the equal and free condition of society now permanent and universal throughout the land, the experience of last year is conspicuously marked by the protecting providence of God, and is full of promise and hope for coming generations.

Under a sense of the infinite obligations to the Great Ruler of Times and Seasons and Events, let us humbly ascribe it to our own faults and frailties if, in any degree, that perfect concord and happiness, faith and justice, which such great mercies should diffuse through the hearts and lives of our people, do not altogether and always and everywhere prevail. Let us, with one spirit and one voice, lift up praise and thanksgiving to God for His manifold goodness to our land, His manifest care for the nation.

Now, therefore, I, Rutherford B. Hayes, President of the United States, do hereby appoint Thursday the 29th day of November next, as a day of national thanksgiving and prayer; and I earnestly recommend that, withdrawing themselves from secular cares and labors, the people of the United States do meet together on that day in their respective places of worship, there to give thanks and praise to Almighty God for his mercies, and to devoutly beseech their continuance.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at the city of Washington, this 29th day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-seven, and of the Independence of the United States of the one hundred and second.

[Signed] R. B. HAYES.

A Subject for State Legislation.

From the Louisville Commercial.]

We print below the draft of an act to regulate the publication of all legal notices in this State. At the last annual meeting of the Kentucky Press Association, a committee was appointed to draw up the proposed act and attend to its proper presentation to the attention of the next Kentucky Legislature. The matter requires no further explanation than is afforded by its provisions, which are plainly stated. It is clear enough that, by this publication, in case of forced sale, the debtor whose property is sold, as well as the creditor, would be gainer. Laws requiring such publication exist in other States. In Kentucky, the legal requirement is satisfied when even a notice has been printed and posted up, even though no attention were given to its prominence in the only places where any benefit would follow. The law is one which may be obeyed in letter, while in spirit it may be wholly disregarded. This proposed act is certainly as reasonable a matter for legislation as will come before the law-makers of the State, and one demanding attention. As the law now stands, property at forced sale is at the mercy of speculators in many instances. By the enactment of this proposed law, a trifling cost would give a forced sale all the genuine publicity of any other transaction, and the expense to the State would be nothing.

"An act to regulate the publication of all legal notices.

"SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That in all judicial proceedings in the courts of this State, and in all proceedings of executors, administrators, guardians, trustees, and in all other cases in which publication of legal notices is required by law, such publication shall be made through the medium of at least two newspapers published in the county wherein such proceedings are to be held or to take effect.

"SEC. 2. That all legal proceedings pertaining to the action of administrators, executors, guardians, trustees; all attachment and non-resident notices; all orders for sales of land by decree, judgment, or under execution or mortgage, or for taxes, by Sheriffs, Marshals or Constables, and all other officers, when the amount involved is $20 or upwards; all divorce and feme sole notices; all estray notices when the value of the animal exceeds $15. Publication of all action in the cases aforesaid shall be made by the Sheriff, Constable, guardian, trustee, executor, or other officer having charge of the same, for four insertions preceding such action; and no sale or other action in such proceedings shall be valid unless such publication shall have been previously made for the length of time above mentioned in two newspapers published in the county wherein such proceedings are to be held or to take effect.

"SEC. 3. It shall be the duty of the publishers of all newspapers publishing such legal advertisements to file a copy of the advertisement, with the bill for the same, in the case in which the proceedings were had, which shall be prima facie evidence that such notice was published, as required by law.

"SEC. 4. All such advertisements made under the provisions of this act shall be paid for at the usual rates of advertising, and the amount shall be taxed as costs, and paid out of the fund in the case, as other costs are paid.

"SEC. 5. This act shall apply to those counties only in which a newspaper is published, and, if there be only one newspaper in the county, publication shall be made in it.

"SEC. 6. All other general acts in conflict with the provisions of this act shall be, and are hereby repealed.

"SEC. 7. This act shall take effect from and after its passage."

In Memory of a Friend.

We, the associates of Willie L. Stephens, who departed this life October 13, 1877, feel not contented to have him pass away from our midst without expressing our sentiments and feelings in his memory, and our sympathies toward the most highly esteemed and stricken family he left to mourn the loss of one who was so very near and lovingly dear to them.

We, as his earthly friends, do deeply regret our loss and miss his well-known voice, as well as his ever thrice welcome presence among us, which has so many times been with us; yet, at the same time, bow in submission to the accepted will of our glorious and true God, who does only that which is well and good.

While it is our true and sincere wish he has gone to that abode of peaceful rest, we must kindly and affectionately tender to the bereaved family and relatives of our deceased friend our heart-bleeding sympathies and condolence in this, their sad loss and deprivement, trusting it may be endowed to their present good and future welfare, and that they may be consoled by the thoughts and knowledge that the calling is of Jesus, and to a good and wise purpose; and we, his bereft friends, do truly believe we can all say willingly, and with a good conscience, "THE LORD'S WILL BE DONE."

We do sincerely cherish his memory, and by his death we are forcibly reminded that in the midst of life we are in death; that our loss is his entire gain, for we mourn not as those who have no hope.

He left to mourn his untimely absence an indulgent father, an affectionate mother and a loving sister of pure kindness, with two little brothers and a wee little sister.

A SYMPATHIZING FRIEND.

THE last tribute of love and respect one can pay to a deceased relative is to erect a tombstone or monument to their memory. Huschart & Co., Lawrenceburg, Ind., will supply your wants in that line at low prices.

WE hear it said there will be an attempt made to have the Covington bus, so soon as the Bellevue pike is finished, run through to Bellevue. Why not?

THE Frankfort Yeoman thinks, as the Murphy movement will decrease the demand for corn juice, that the crop will be much smaller.

STATE NEWS.

—Hog cholera is still prevalent in Todd.

—Carroll has already six candidates for Jailer.

—Augusta refused to grant a license for the sale of cider.

—Hog thieves are attending to business in Woodford County.

—The grand jury of Carter found 90 true bills, 25 of them for gambling.

—Hopkins County has good cause for rejoicing—no hog cholera this fall.

—There are fifteen men in Georgetown whose aggregate ages foot up 1,115 years.

—The Harrodsburg branch of the Cincinnati Southern Railroad is now open, and the cars running.

—The Trigg Democrat says a mule threw a colored boy fifteen years of age, and dragged him entangled in the gear until his neck was broken.

—The Anderson News sells exchanges at $1 per hundred. In that way an enterprising man can make a fortune in the news depot business.

—John Stewart, of Carter County, who threw a stone at his brother and killed his mother, has been sentenced to one year in the Penitentiary.

—Mountain Echo: Adkins, convicted of murder, is to be hung at Barboursville on the 20th, unless saved by the Court of Appeals or the Governor.

—Henderson Reporter: A pelican was killed in the Ohio River, opposite this place, last week. It measured 7 feet 10 inches from tip to tip of the wings.

—Madisonville Republican: J. J. Lancaster, express agent at Bakersport, exchanged shots last Tuesday with A. G. Ewing, and both were wounded.

—Robertson County Tribune: There were only forty-three marriages in Robertson during the year 1876. At the present rate, the county will pan out about five hundred this year. "Give us a fair count!"

—Hopkinsville New Era: Dr. J. P. Thomas sent a wagon load of sweet potatoes to the city, Wednesday, which would have averaged four pounds. A number of them weighed twelve and thirteen pounds each.

—Russellville Herald: There is at least one-third more acreage of wheat sown this fall in Logan than there was last year. A great deal of the wheat is an inch or more in height, and looking luxuriant and promising.

—Breckinridge News: A lady purchased a nice new door-mat, the other morning, with the word "welcome" stamped thereon in glowing letters, and the first man that came and planked his number elevens on it was a tramp.

—Glasgow Times: The persimmon-loving opossum's days and nights of trouble are upon him. Several dozen were captured last week, some of them being very large—one weighing between twenty-five and thirty pounds.

—Owen News: The trial of Jas. Horton for the murder of Thomas Fox, taken from this county to Grant on a change of venue, closed last week, the jury returning a verdict of guilty, and he was sentenced to the Penitentiary for life.

—Philip Arnold, the famous ex-diamond king of California, is largely engaged in stock raising near Elizabethtown. The News says he sold 1,300 sheep from his pastures in the past year, and has a piggery where forty gallons of milk are fed daily.

—Maysville Republican: The Norvell-Glenn contested election case was decided in Paris, on Tuesday afternoon, in favor of Glenn. Everybody here will remember the circumstances attending the election, which occurred about two years ago.

—Cynthiana Mercury: Mr. John B. Durham has on his farm, near Moorefield, a plum tree which bore fruit this summer, blossomed the second time, and has a second crop of plums. The freaks of the tree are probably accounted for by the fairness of the weather.

—Georgetown Every Saturday: The workman that attracted so much attention, last week, on the Court-house cupola, by dangling in the air and holding by one hand, a hundred feet from the ground, was drunk. He received his discharge by telegraph that day from the contractor.

—L. S. Waits, of Augusta, who killed his son-in-law, Joseph Chamberlain, a year ago, was sent to the Penitentiary, Thursday, having been sentenced for a term of six years. Chamberlain had married Waits' daughter after an acquaintance of but three days, and Waits, meeting the couple on the road a week after, shot Chamberlain through the breast, and over the shoulder of the young wife, who was pleading with her father for her husband's life.

—Madisonville Times: Our friend, E. D. Reynolds, of Slaughtersville, sends us another snake story, for the truth of which he vouches. He says Mr. T. F. Brown (a half brother of our townsman, J. L. Brown) and family have been driven from home by rattle-snakes. For several days previous to a week ago, those reptiles have been making their appearance and increasing alarmingly in numbers about Mr. Brown's house, which is four and a half miles from Slaughtersville. Two or three nights in succession before Mr. B. abandoned his premises, he and his family heard the snakes rattling frequently under and around the house. Twenty-seven of them had been killed, the last report we had, and the neighbors were then on the premises carrying on the good work.

—Richmond Register, 2d: Mr. Edward W. Powell, of this place, met with a frightful accident on Saturday morning last. He went into an open lot on the farm of Mr. W. J. Walker, near this place, where a Hambletonian stallion was kept. After getting inside the inclosure, Mr. Powell saw the horse approaching, but, apprehending no danger, put out his right hand for the purpose of gently rubbing him, when the horse suddenly seized the thumb of the right hand between his teeth. The animal then jerked him from one side to the other until the thumb was wrenched off at the second joint, the leader extending some four or five inches up the arm being taken with it. Mr. Powell was thrown to the ground, when the vicious brute began striking him with his feet on the arms and body. He was badly bruised in several places, and would have been killed but for the assistance of Mr. John T. Hughes, of Fayette, who happened to be near, and who drove the animal off. Wounded and bleeding, Mr. Powell was taken to his room, and every attention given by his physicians. For five days the wounds were so extremely painful that it was thought his recovery was impossible, but we are glad to learn that he is now greatly better, and no further fears are entertained concerning his condition.

THE BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

W. L. RIDDELL,
Editor and Proprietor.

BURLINGTON, KY., NOVEMBER 15.

TEXAS has been visited, during the past fortnight, by immense rains.

MONDAY of last week several hundred bills were introduced in Congress.

THE State of Ohio has a large crop of candidates for United States Senator.

IN CARROLL County there are but seven candidates for Sheriff. A bountiful crop.

THE Mexicans have been raiding across the Rio Grande in pursuit of thieving Indians.

THE "Tall Sycamore of the Wabash" again takes his seat by the council fire of the nation.

LAST week Chicago was visited by a violent storm. Considerable shipping was destroyed and many lives were lost on the lake.

IT is said that Conkling is the only Republican that is rejoiced over the result of the New York election. He lossed the campaign in that State.

THE bridge across the Ohio, at Ludlow, was tested last Thursday. The test was a severe one and resulted perfectly satisfactory to all concerned.

AT the late term of the United States Court in Louisville, ten moonshiners were convicted, and are now serving their terms of imprisonment in the Hart County jail.

LAST week the city council in Covington suspended their city Treasurer for making false reports to that body, and not making his accounts balance by several dollars.

THERE is considerable howl over the money question again. At present a considerable inflation in the immediate vicinity of our pocket would not be objectionable, whether the dollar of our "dads" is remonetized or not.

LAST Friday, Ed. Taylor, a merchant in Paris, Bourbon County, made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors. It is feared that this is only the beginning of a series of failures among the business men of that place.

SITTING BULL will take his warriors to Red Deer country, where he says he will remain till his people are strong enough to come back and fight the Americans. Mr. S. B. gives Uncle Sam a fearful blast, calling him a treaty breaker, murderer, thief, etc.

DURING the past ten days there has been vigorous fighting about Erzerorum. Success has alternated between the Russians and Turks, neither gaining decided advantage. Plevna is expected to fall before many days, and it is reported that the Turkish soldiers are deserting in large numbers.

WE call the attention of both the State Senator and the County Representative-elect, to the proposed law for regulating legal advertising, as published on our first page, and if they consider it imperfect, let them speak out. It is a copy of the bill that will be presented to the Legislature this winter for passage.

ON Monday of last week Judge McManama convened a special term of the Carroll County Criminal Court. A special grand jury was impaneled and a number of indictments found. Joe Myrick, James T. Sullenger, Charles Gardner, Julius Petet, Edward Thompson and Newton Orr were indicted for the murder of Carrie Anderson at Worthville, on the night of the 16th of last July. Newton Orr having turned State's evidence, the Attorney for the Commonwealth dismissed the indictment as to him. The prisoners have been in jail in Louisville since the examining trial. They were brought back as soon as possible after the indictment was returned, and reported ready for trial. Considerable time was required to make the jury which was completed on Friday. When Orr was put on the stand the Judge informed him that, although the Commonwealth's Attorney had dismissed the indictment against him, it was no bar to a future indictment and prosecution, and that he was free to testify or not. After some hesitation he concluded to testify. The trial is attended by a large crowd, composed of the citizens of the county. It will require the most of this week to complete the trial.

ON Tuesday of last week, elections were held in several of the States, some electing State officers and others only Assemblymen. The results in the different States was about as follows: In Pennsylvania the Democrats made a considerable gain and elected their State ticket by a majority approximating ten thousand. Wisconsin went strongly Republican, the majority in their favor being about equal to that of the Democrats in Pennsylvania. In New Jersey, the Democrats elected General George B. McClellan Governor, and have also the Legislature by a considerable majority. On the State ticket the majority is put down at thirty thousand. Minnesota elected a Republican Legislature. In the State the majority was near thirteen thousand. In Massachusetts the Republicans elected both the State ticket and the Legislature by a large majority. In New York the Democrats divided the result with the Republicans; the former having the State officers and the latter the General Assembly. The Democrat's majority in the State exceeds twenty-five thousand. Nebraska comes up under the Republican banner, while Kansas rolled up a larger Republican majority than ever before. In Maryland the Democrats had things thier own way, and scored thirty thousand majority. Mississippi voted largely Democratic. The vote cast in most of the States was rather light.

GOVERNOR WILLIAMS, of Indiana, did just the right thing when he appointed Hon. D. W. Vorhees to fill the vacancy in the United States Senate caused by the death of Senator Morton. It is to the eloquence and influence of Mr. Vorhees that Governor Williams owes his election to the office he now holds; besides, the appointment was given to the man the majority of the Democratic party in that State wanted.

ABOUT twenty-four thousand dollars of the Clermont (Ohio) County treasury took wings and flew away a few days since. No suspicion attaches to the Treasurer. Some tramps were arrested but nothing further done.

KANSAS LETTER.

CLAY CENTER, October 31, 1877.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

After a somewhat protracted silence, we once more attempt to commune with the "Dear Recorder." Our silence has not been the result of indifference by no means, but the pressure of other matters, not more important perhaps, but more urgent, compelled us to forego the pleasure of talking with our old friend. But now a slight indisposition—nothing more or less than a severe cold—compels us to desist from other matters, and we gladly take the advantage of the leisure thus offered to renew our friendship with the ever constant RECORDER. Truly "It is an ill that blows nobody good." Good, did we say? Well perhaps the readers of the RECORDER wonder just "where the good comes in."

Our little city is improving wonderfully. Two years ago she had about five-hundred inhabitants; now she has over nine-hundred; then we had no sidewalks, except some poor ones on the two principal streets, now long stretches of good sidewalks extend all through the city, even to the extremest suburbs. We live in the northern part of the town, and we can reach our office, dry-shod, in the maddest weather. Then—two years ago—we had three lawyers; now we have nine and a half, which—said half—expects to be more fully inflated next spring. Then there was here one weak Real Estate and Loan Agency; now there are three, reliable and flourishing. By the way, if any of your friends has any money or real estate to be manipulated in any manner, just you recommend him to Coleman & Dunaway, who will manage it for him in the best manner and at the most profitable rates. "We mean business."

The shipments of grain and other agricultural products, from this point this fall, surpasses all precedent. From ten to twenty car loads are shipped daily, and the number constantly increases. Kansas is bound to be one of the brightest stars in the glorious constellation of Liberty.

The election of most of our county officers takes place on the sixth prox. The contest for several of them is quite warm, but there seems to be no bad blood in the fight. The candidates go in on their, merits, and the best (most popular) man will win, whether he be nominated or not. H. M. Frazier, formerly of Boone County, Register of Deeds for the past four years, will be again re-elected without opposition. He was both opposed until the Republican convention unsolicited and unexpectedly, gave him their nomination, when all opposition ceased, and he will go in with flying colors.

Well, as our head is unusually thick, today, and our wits, if we have any, badly woolgathering from the effects of beastly medicine, we will say good day, and live in hopes of doing better next time. Yours in memory of old Ky. C. C. C.

IT is eighteen hundred and odd years since a Christian gentleman named Paul wrote to one Timothy, "I suffer not a woman to teach, nor to usurp authority over the man, but to be in silence." And now as many as twenty-nine women are advertised in the Chicago papers as conducting religious services and preaching on a single Sunday.

Is there anybody that can rise up and tell an inquisitive public what belligerent forces put the breastworks across the pike on the hill near the Florence X-Roads. It appears that preparations are being made for heavy fighting. The teamsters in this vicinity would give the engineer a vote of thanks if he would move his works out of the road.

LAST Saturday, Esquire John A. Kendall held a special term of his court for the vindication of the majesty of the law. The offense for which the warrant was issued came under the head of "breach of the peace," and as the "accessories" were the only ones on trial, and they being in about the fix Old Tray was, we will not give the details of the trouble or their names, hoping that the $2 fine will serve as a good lesson to them.

AGAIN we call the attention of the proper authorities to the dangerous condition of the Bellevue road at the point where the bridge is to be erected near this town. It has been but a few days since a gentleman, who is a stranger in the vicinity, came near driving his wagon and team into this chasm before discovered. It seems that something should be placed there to warn the traveler of the danger ahead. It is a splendid place to kill or cripple some person and team, and involve the road company in a lawsuit that would cost as much as the road has. "A stitch in time saves nine." We heard some complaint about the bridge's not being erected. This comes from persons who have been awaiting its completion to do some hauling.

THE Olean (Ohio) Record gives the following account of a wedding that was gotten up on remarkably short notice:

"I will marry any girl in the room that will have me," said a half-tipsy young fellow. "I'll take you," said a fresh, clear-eyed young girl of 17. And in half an hour the two were married and being congratulated by their friends. This actually occurred only a few weeks ago, in the near vicinity of Franklinville, in this county. The occasion was a country dance; the participants were a farmer's son and a farmer's daughter, neither of whom had exchanged a word with each other until the above scene occurred. The young fellow had been drinking, and thought he would say something "smart," and astonish the girls with his audacity. The girl, however, had heard that he was a "good fellow," and, being moved by that spirit which "will not take a dare if death come," took him at his word. They are now living with the young fellows parents, and are studying each other's character at their leisure.

Boys, be careful what you say when you are in that young man's condition.

Not Married.

Our readers will remember seeing, in our issue of October 11th, the following:

On the 8th inst., Mr. William L. Acra, of Middle Creek, and Miss Kate Cox, of Aurora, Ind., were wedlocked at the residence of the bride's father.

It has turned out that Mr. William L. Acra was not married, as set forth in the above notice, although the said Mr. William L. Acra, in the presence of our worthy Postmaster, wrote the notice, directed it to us and dropped it in the postoffice at this place. We published the notice in good faith, and remained ignorant of the facts in the case till last week, when we were told that the would-be groom and reporter still languished a single man. We can't conceive what prompted this action by Mr. William L. Acra, unless it was to get a joke on us, or to ascertain the feelings of a man who is looked upon as married. If the former, he can now enjoy the joke when turned; if the latter, we hope he has been sufficiently married to ease his mind for the future, as he seemed to be considerably perturbed during the half hour he remained in our office previous to mailing the notice. Now, Mr. William L. Acra, if you should ever marry, we will announce it upon your filing in our office your marriage certificate. The new year is about here, and we hope you will turn over a new leaf, and one upon which is engraved the picture of a hatchet, or a one-cent postage stamp bought on credit.

REV. J. W. HENLEY will preach at the Universalist Church at this place on next fourth Sunday, morning and evening.

WE are glad to report Mr. Arthur Blythe now in a fair way to recover.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Union.

News scarce.

There was quite a large congregation at Sardis, last Sunday, and a very interesting discourse was delivered by Rev. Joseph A. Johnson, of Indiana.

Died.—Nov. 11th, 1877, of pneumonia, Miss Perlina Huey, only daughter of J. A. and Amanda Huey.

Personal.—T. M. Lillard paid our town a flying visit last week.....Lewis Weaver spent a few days up in the mountains, last week, on a hunting excursion.....H. W. Riley, an old citizen of this place, has been confined to his room for several weeks with fever.....Harvey T. Wilson, P. G. M. of Kentucky, spent last Sunday with Capt. J. M. Stansifer. VULCAN.

North Bend.

North Bend, Ohio, is a small village situated on the Ohio River, opposite North Bend, Ky., 14½ miles from Cincinnati. There are two railroad stations—the Ohio and Mississippi and the Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Lafayette. The Town Hall is completed, and was dedicated on the 27th of last month. A Cincinnati band furnished the music. I will endeavor to give you the programme of the dedication exercises: "Prayer, by Rev. G. T. Weaver. Address of the Hon. John Scott Harrison; subject, "Pioneer History of North Bend;" read by William Disney, Esq. Address by Rev. E. W. Chidlaw; subject, "Improvements." Address by John S. Conner, Esq.; subject, "A Review of the History of the Village, from its Beginning to the Present Time." A Poem, by John J. Piatt. Congratulatory Remarks, by Dr. John A. Warder, Dr. John King, Rev. Horace Bushnell and others. GEORGIA.

Petersburg.

Our Grange has had a picnic. It happened last Saturday, and has also been called a croquet party, a basket meeting, a dinner party, a protracted meeting, a revival and a jubilee. Nearly all the members and their children were there and spent the day. One old loafer from Petersburg went out and brought back the report of the proceedings. He is a wagon-maker (or was once) and is an outsider; consequently his report is not reliable.

The legal embargo being removed, nearly everything in town that can carry a gun or call a dog has turned out to wage a war of extermination on the numerous tribe of rabbits and the small one of quails in the country round about. "Notices of "posted" have about the same effect on this relentless gang of marauders as an invitation to "walk in and fire away" would have. The boys argue that game must be more plentiful on the posted farms than elsewhere. Game, like good timber, "are getting scarce," as anyone can see with half an eye by the many empty game pockets coming into town at night.

The turnpike fever has attacked the farmers living along and near the road from here to Bellevue. Since the poor, benighted folks of that village have been resurrected at last, we want to give them a comfortable outlet to a land of civilization, by way of the Woolper bridge, and another new pike.

As predicted in this column a week or two since, Geo. R. Berkshire has moved to town. He is occupying the residence lately vacated by Rev. W. S. Keene, who is making active preparation for his move to Florida, which will be about the first of January next. Dr. J. E. Terrill, and perhaps one or two more of our citizens, will go with him. It is even rumored that Col. H. S. Davis, the former grain contractor at the distillery here, but now a resident of the Blue Grass region near Lexington, Ky., who is at present in town on a visit of business importance, will join the pilgrim band.

An irruption, resembling an educational fever, has broken out all over Bucktown. A saddle colored dan—sel from the Rising Sun, is prescribing at the rate of a dollar per head, payable monthly. It is reasonably safe to predict that the first effort to collect will break up in a general row.

Scattersville.

We are pleased to note other improvements in our beautifully scattered ville. Wm. Clore has been manifesting his taste and love of comfort, &c., by erecting a neat little portico in front of his dwelling; also in building a porch and pantry aback, in the neighborhood of the culinary department. William, all you need now is a coat or two of paint. Mr. Benj. Rice has been lending "enchantment to the view" by way of repairing farm buildings.

Farmers are now engaged in getting in corn. The yield is good. Stripping tobacco occasionally claims their attention.

Mr. Lewis Conner started out Monday with 22 fine fatted hogs for the Covington market. There are others, we judge, who will drive shortly.

Rev. J. D. H. Corwine discoursed to an audience at the Universalist Church here on last Sunday. "Ed." will you rise and explain matters? "Brother Zoller, of the Robertson County Tribune," of whom you spoke in your last, was certainly as near the mark on birth notices as the RECORDER of last week was on notices of funeral and divine services. How was all that, any way? [We were a little off on the appointments; that's all. We will try and not let it occur again.—ED.]

The sale of the personal estate of J. M. Acr, deceased, took place on Tuesday, Nov. 6th, under the administratorship of Benj. Rice. Wm. Clore having declined to act in said capacity. T. W. Finch was auctioneer, and C. C. Conner, Clerk. Mrs. Acra purchased nearly or quite half of the articles sold. Things, as a rule, did not reach the amounts at which they were appraised. The sale went off satisfactorily, we believe, to all. A good dinner, of course, went off with it. Next.

A store, we learn, has been set in operation across the creek, near the dwelling of Robt. Willis, under the control of Jerry Weaver and John Rouse. They are doing a fine "hare" business, we judge. It is said they bought about 500 the first one or two weeks after opening. If the other business corresponds, we can safely say they do an "elephant" business. May the business prosper and the country grow fat.

Since the completion of O. P. Conner's cellar-house, he has supplied the underground story with pumpkins, sauer kraut and such. We don't know that this is very important news, but, contemplating the "glad tidings of great joy" it would be to Ben Sleet, we concluded to make mention of it. O. P. doubtless now feels prepared for any sort of weather that may come; warm or cold, wet or dry, rain or snow, hail or "sleet"—Ben Sleet, of course.

Parties are now in season. It is, "Train up a child," now, and away he goes—to the party. At Frank Thompson's, near here, was the theater of action Monday night.

Prof. Sullivan's school is on the increase. We learn that efforts are being made to institute a debating, or literary, society at the school-house. The efforts are being made in the right direction. We say, success to all such. These societies afford fine fields for improvement, and the young especially should put their shoulders to it. CITY REPORTER.

Bellevue.

As the reportorial fever has struck this hitherto quiet village, and raised such a commotion among the natives, we have determined to help the laudable enterprise, viz.: That of reporting the noticeable events of our business little hamlet, in a brief and truthful manner as much so our humble ability will admit.

There being a pause in the completion of the Baptist church in our city, we would humbly ask, why is this thus? Are the members of the church waiting for the republicans and sinners" to contribute their mite toward it? W. W. Grant, a gentleman of undoubted veracity, affirms that the dispute is in regard to the belfry, some desiring a tall and imposing belfry, while others declare that our Maker should be approached in a meek and humble manner without regard to external affairs. To the latter disaffected ones, we would conscientiously recommend as a suit able place of worship the natural cave which separates the enclosures of A. Q. Baker and W. W. Grant, thus being a place where they can adore God, free from all contaminating influences.

The immense sales at the Grange store are undoubtedly due to the energy and beguiling manners of the superlatively handsome junior clerk. Indeed several of the fair sex have blushingly informed us that "he is a dear duck of a fellow. So beguiling &c." We would advise him to enltivate a mustache and then he would be simply irresitible.

Such a compliment—that is lack of mustache—cannot be justly paid the active counter jumper at the other store. "Oh, such a darling mustache!" But, Mike, ain't you afraid to allow it unmasked to encounter the frost? If it should "get bit" there would be no balm in Gilead." Such a dire calamity would, indeed, make "countless thousands mourn" and cause "weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth" among the fair habitues of A. Corbin & Son's store.

Sir Isaac Flick, heretofore one of our most substantial Grangers, disregarding one of the fundamental principles of the order, which says "Thou shalt not speculate," has purchased 600,04 bushels of potatoes, 600,16 baskets beechnuts, and 4 bushels onions with intent to speculate. We have not been enlightened as to which bank will be made the recipient of the immense proceeds, or whether the payments will be made in gold, greenbacks, or U. S. Bonds. We regret to state, however, Sir Isaac, in adjusting his toilet so as to equal the sphere in which he is henceforth to move, experiences great difficulty in adjusting his collar, it demanding the service of an efficient M. D., three blacksmiths and two clerks. RURAL YOUTH.

Since our last communication we have had quite a change in the weather. From warm and bright days then to cool, windy and rainy. Last week was very unpropitious to begin corn gathering; but quite a goodly number have commenced and find the "krop" a good averager one.

The weather has materially interfered with the work in progress on the new buildings on 4th street; but it is not entirely suspended and is moving slowly along. Judge Clore says: "By the living" his house must be inclosed and roofed before he stops on it. He has the foundation above ground, and with favorable weather will be ready to raise the building inside of a week.

We learn that the building committee of the church, and the carpenter are discussing the subject as to where and how to put the head on it. We hope they will put it on the top somewhere. There is considerable complaint among the members, that an architect is needed very much about the construction of the building. We thought so when the foundation was planned. Push the work along brethren, and let us have the work completed, whether it does or does not in all particulars suit every one's idea or taste in its construction.

The energetic Directors of the turnpike have procured the lumber to build houses for their gate keepers, and are busily engaged in putting them up. We notice that this end of the road is to be poled at the mouth of the Petersburg road. We have not been informed yet, whether there will be more than one pole or not. Neither have we learned how far it is to extend back from the road; nor have we learned how high it is to be. We presume that the keen eyes of the Directors have discovered ere this, that to collect all the toll due the company, a "hoss pole" of considerable length and various hights is required; for it has been whispered around for the past week, that Ben's pole is not long enough to reach all the travelers through "Henry's cornfield. "By blood, sir, the cow jumped the fence, sir; jumps the fence, sir. Guess she is afraid of that pole sir."

Mr. Thomas Z. Roberts has erected a dwelling house on his farm on Middle Creek, and is pushing the work rapidly to completion. We understand he is doing the work himself, but when completed, the comforts of it are to be shared with another. Guess it will be a better half.

Mr. Robert Aylor shipped 61 head of hogs from this place last Monday. They averaged 350 pounds. Who will beat that? At the same time, the Dock Bros. shipped 175 nests of baskets. There is an unusual amount of shipping done from and to our landing this season. the people's popular boat, the Virgie Lee, doing the most of the carrying.

The People's Line, as well as the Virgie Lee, seems to be popular all along the river, as we notice her decks as well as her cabins are usually full—sometimes jammed.

We notice than the go-ahead Superintendent of the Grange store, has embarked in the game and been trade, and is buying anything from a rat to a buffalo, and from a hummingbird to a sandhill crane. In consequence of this, we notice our young hams rods are more than usually active.

A day or two since we noticed a citizen in town, inquiring of the above named Superintendent if he had taken in a flock of turkeys; at the same time informing the aforenamed that he had lost 21 head. He described several turkeys of the flock, some of which we remember, viz.: Three old gobblers with bald heads and two white baly turkeys with speckle tails. The last seen of them they were headed toward Bellevue. The Superintendent informed him that he had seen nothing of his turkeys, and that possibly they might have followed the grasshoppers to the Northwest. The citizen shook his head and remarked: "Gone to Sitting Bull, I guess."

The chickenpox has broken out in Mrs. Walker's school. The teacher and several of the scholars have it in a mild form.

Mr. N. W. Botts reached home from Covington last week. He is improving slowly.

We are sorry to say that our P. M., Mr. Corbin, is still suffering from his recent sickness. Also Master Willie.

Mr. J. Harvy Akin has moved to his farm below town, and Mr. Bill Rector has moved into the house he vacated and opened up his saloon and beer there.

Observing your regular correspondent has awoke from his long slumber, and prepared to knock the black out of some fellow's eye, or send in half a dozen of his short ribs, we will hand you this and stand aside to see who will be the lucky man to receive the contents of that "mail bag" directed to the RECORDER this week. Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

This is a compound remedy, prepared with scientific skill from vegetable ingredients, which rarely fails to cure the severest cases of Chills and Fever and the concomitant disorders. Such a remedy the necessities of the people in malarious districts demand. Its great superiority over any other medicine yet discovered for the cure of Intermittents is, that it contains no quinine or mineral, and those who take it are free from danger of quinism or any injurious effects, and are as healthy after using it as before. It has been extensively employed during the last thirty years in the treatment of these distressing disorders, and so unvarying has been its success that it has gained the reputation of being infallible. It can, therefore, be safely recommended as a sure remedy and specific for the Fever and Ague of the West, and the Chills and Fever of the South. It counteracts the miasmatic poison in the blood, and frees the system from its influence, so that fever and ague, shakes or chills, once broken up by it, do not return until the disease is again contracted.

The great variety of disorders which arise from the irritation of this poison, such as Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Headache, Biliousness, Toothache, Earache, Catarrh, Asthma, Palpitation, Splenic Affections, Hysterics, Pain in the Bowels, Colic, Paralysis, and derangement of the Stomach, all of which become intermittent or periodical, have no speedier remedy than AYER'S AGUE CURE, which cures them all alike, and protects the system from future attacks. As a preventive, it is of immense service in those communities where Fever and Ague prevails, as it stays the development of the disease if taken on the first approach of the premonitory symptoms. Travellers and temporary residents are thus enabled to defy these disorders, and few will ever suffer if they avail themselves of the protection this remedy affords.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity, it is an excellent remedy; it stimulates this organ into healthy activity, and produces many remarkable cures where other medicines fail.

THE BOONE COUNTY RECORDER.

BURLINGTON, KY., NOVEMBER 15.

JUST PUT YOURSELF IN HIS PLACE.

Before you put on your neighbor
The stigma of his disgrace,
Just try to balance your judgment,
By putting yourself in his place.

Look well at his surroundings,
At his pleasures and his cares,
Don't curse the man with your curses,
When he can be saved by prayers.

Look at his strength—his weakness,
Test the surging of his blood;
Does it flow like a gentle streamlet,
Or rush like a turbulent flood?

Perchance all the early training
Of the man, was the kind to bend
His mind to the crooked channel
That led to the bitter end.

It may be in a single hour
Some powerful impulse came,
It may be for actions of others
That he is now bearing the shame.

Then look with tenderest mercy
On the erring of our race;
And ere you pass judgment upon him
Just put yourself in his place.

Better Times Necessarily at Hand.

From all parts of the country we have the cheering intelligence that times are improving and that bottom has surely been reached. In most sections the crops have been very excellent and yet prices have kept up, so that there is no one who has better reasons to rejoice than the farmer. Those in the country have suffered far less from the hard times and depression in business than those in the city. The husbandman, whose estate is not being eaten up by interest, is sure of a living if he be not shamefully lazy.

The greater the number of people who can find employment in the city, the better it is for the farmer. If every body was in the country raising corn, potatoes, etc., there would be nobody to sell the corn and potatoes to. This is a plain proposition.

We want to see every honest fellow who desires to work for a living, able to find plenty of employment at fair prices for whatever services are rendered. It is only when this sort of thing prevails that the country can be said to be prospering.

There are various reasons why we believe this declaration in reference to the early revival of trade to be well founded, and the main reason is furnished by the intelligence which reaches us from the banks. Money is no longer scarce. All the banks are full of it. It use to be that the banks had just enough to supply the demands of the gilt-edged borrowers. Such is no longer the case. Something must be done with the money thus lying idle. Its owners, when they find they cannot lend it on the old ten per cent. plan, will have to do it on a smaller plan. Here and there a capitalist will be found putting his money in houses, or else investing it in some manufacturing enterprise. Thus the good work will go on in proportion as the cash capital increases, either through the savings of the hour or through the liberation of the money now out of circulation on account of its being in bonds.—Farmer's Magazine.

A Political Catechism.

Who own the United States?
The people.
Who own the people?
The politicians.
Who owns the politicians?
The devil.
What is a Democracy?
A country where every man has a vote.
What is a greenback?
A government promise to pay, which the government dishonors by refusing to receive in payment of dues.
Who depreciated the greenback?
The speculators, who, by corrupt legislation, prevented its issue as a full legal-tender, in order that they might run the price of gold up to $2 85.
What brought about the hard times?
These same speculators, by forcing the government to contraction.
Who aggravated the hard times?
The politicians who have piled up the people's taxes.
Who are the dangerous classes?
The corrupt men in the places of honor and trust.
Who are the ignorant?
The man who does not understand the importance of the money question.
Who are the strikers?
Those who combine to elect themselves to office only to fill their pockets.
What is the present penalty for stealing?
If you take a shilling, three months in the lock-up. If a million—exoneration and a chance to do it again.

What are men called who are idle?
If they are poor men, out of work, they are called tramps. If they are office holders they are called politicians.

SAID a politician to his son: "Look at me! I began as Alderman, and here I am at the top of the tree, and what is my reward? Why, when I die, my son will be the greatest rascal in the town." To this the young hopeful replied: "Yes, dad, when you die—but not until then."

A LADY in general conversation, by ingeniously cooking her dates, was reducing her age to an astonishing limit. Her daughter, whose partly French blood had brought her a keen wit, interposed with the remonstrance: "At least, leave nine months between our ages, mother."

FASHION NOTES.

LOVER'S wreath is the favorite garniture for ball dresses.

THE edges of most flounces are now hemmed by machine; very few are bound.

GILT is largely used in every thing this season, from costumes to wall paper and furniture.

OUTSIDE pockets are going out. They are no longer considered the best choice for over-skirts, polonaises or princess dresses.

IN dress trimmings marabout feathers will be extensively worn, and combination fringes are popular for rough surface goods.

NAPKIN rings made of Russia leather, bound with silver and marked with a silver initial, are a novelty in fancy show windows.

VELVET pen-pods, half opened, disclosing the green peas within, is a stylish ornamentation seen on many of the imported hats.

THE train petticoat at present is a deep flounce attached to the lining of the train; they are usually edged with narrow lace.

SOME women dress to please men, other women dress to make their own sex mad with envy. "The latter are in the majority in this city," adds a New York paper.

THE sacque dolman is a very dressy wrap, suitable for carriage wear, church, visiting, etc., and is also simple enough to be made up as a garment for general use.

THE masculine element predominates in the fashion for ladie's street costumes. Ladies now wear white vests and flat-folded scarfs like those worn by gentlemen.

A NEW ornament bow for the throat is made of ribbons of two contrasting colors, tying a small cluster of flowers or shells of valenciennese lace, the ribbons hanging in ends a yard long.

A FAVORITE fashion and an economical one is that of drawing the back breadth of the lower silk skirt together and fastening the apron drapery of the overskirts beneath these breadths.

AN exchange says: "It seems that the patron age of the Church of Scotland has now fallen into the hands of its female members, they numbering in voting power twenty-four thousand to sixteen thousand males."

THE old colors are all reappearing in new shades, a dash of claret blended with dull cardinal, a mazarine blue weaving softly in and out of the dullest olive green, and here and there a loose, frin y thread of black, lying on the surface. For evening wear, sky blue roses, and other pale tints are shown.

FRINGES are worn much deeper both for dresses and jackets. A handsome pattern consists of three distinct rows of silk tassels fastened by knots of ar de ciel beads, and two long silk barrels or moulds of silk at fixed distances. For higher class wear, massive chenille drops are substituted and introduced in this fringe.

A BROWN velvet church suit has the flounces gathered at the bottom and puffed above. The polonaise is of knotted or of tufted silk and chenille, in brown, black and white, and is trimmed with fringe and the exact match of the material. The outside of the garment is rather a long sack, with back and front of velvet, the other portions of tufted fabric, also trimmed with fringe.

IN Scotland there are now open ditches called sheep-drains. A man was riding a donkey one day across a sheep pasture, but when the animal came to a sheep-drain he would not go over. So the man rode him back a short distance, turned him around and applied the whip, thinking, of course, that the donkey, when going at the top of his speed would jump the drain before he knew it. But it was not so. When the donkey got to the drain he stopped all of a sudden, and the man went on over the cuddy's head. No sooner had he touched the ground than he got up, and, looking his beast straight in the face, said, "Verra weel pitched; but then how re ye gunn tae get over yersel?"

DURING the past year, the consumption of cotton reached the highest point ever attained in this country, while the value of our cotton fabrics exported has, despite low prices, increased $7,000,000 within two years, or from $3,000,000 for the fiscal year ended June 30th, 1875, to $10,180,000 for the fiscal year ended June 30th, 1877.

MOTHERS should be very careful to see that their daughters are well wrapped up while sitting out on the piazza to see the satellites of Mars. A coat sleeve, of course, is good as far as it goes, and, to tell the truth, it generally goes as far as it can, but at best it can cover only about so much territory.

THE French wheat crop of this year is below the average yield. Straw is plentiful, oats are many, but the grain is small and scanty, especially in the plains, valleys, and rich soils. France will have to import breadstuffs largely this year, and its supplies from the Levant will be largely curtailed.

UP in Vermont there is a Judge so mean that he censured a girl for receiving a stolen kiss.

FOUND—MONEY—That money can be saved by having your Printing done at the RECORDER OFFICE.

COME ON, "BOYS."

BY RICHARD ENNIS, OF PITTSBURG.

Some would improve on Murphy's plan—
Some fussy men, who think
That only legislation can
Control that demon—drink.
Yet they forget that they must first
Make men to make such laws;
And so their bubble scheme will burst,
And prove an empty cause.

They dream of some much nicer way
Of saving erring men,
Than seeking them, by night and dey,
Through alley, street and den;
They would not try to reach their souls
By going down their throats—
Oh, no; they'd march them to the polls,
And do it all with votes!

Some men imagine they were born
To either lead or drive;
And every ceuse they treat with scorn,
Unless they chiefly thrive;
To gratify their selfish pride,
And rule with iron rod,
They'd turn the light of heaven aside,
And thwart the plans of God.

But still one can not fail to see
That Murphy's plan is best—
First break their fetters—make men free,
And they will do the rest;
Loose heavy burdens, raise them up
"With charity for all"
'Tis love must disenthrall that cup
That binds with fatal thrall!

If drinkers are reclaimed, 'tis plain
That whole trade meets the fate
Which "local option" seeks in vain
In part to legislate.
Reclaim the drinker, and the trade
Gainst which we fret and sigh,
Shall, mortal wounded, past all aid,
Without a struggle die.

Beware! Give up all narrow views,
And let this work alone;
For it is God's, although He choose
A plan we had not known.
Turn in with Murphy and his band,
Now thirteen hundred thousand strong,
And we shall soon "possess the land,"
And sing the victor's song.

Our Washington Letter.

Men of the Old Time in the Light of the New—Nondescript Residents—A Nation's Obligations—Street Areas and Reservations—Pension and Postoffice Business—Resumption—The Telephone

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 10, 1877.

Special Correspondence to the Recorder.

THE OLD MEN AND THE NEW.

The Senator oldest in office is reported as saying that never has there been sent to the Senate so indifferent a batch of appointments as those that are now, or have been, before that body for confirmation. In the popular judgment of men there are many circumstances that influence our conclusions, and, while it may appear as if the age was one of mediocrity of talent, yet there have never been lacking men of large intelligence and sound judgment in every time of our country's history; and even in our day there are those whose names will live as do those of Clay, Douglas, Webster, and hosts of others among the nation's honored dead.

A WORK OF ART.

Washington hosts of her choice and rare selection of pictures and statuary from the works of the old masters, which are found in the Art Gallery—a monument of the liberality of W. W. Corcoran, Esq. Among the latest additions is a picture—"The Edict of William the Testy," in his effort in the New Netherlands to abolish smoking. The jolly old burghers are present with their pipes and tobacco pouches, and they are puffing and blowing the smoke into his eyes, while he indignantly brandishes his cane in helpless wrath. The descendants of the Knickerbockers would scarcely tolerate a Governor at this day who should seek to control the right to smoke—a needless luxury, out of which Uncle Sam's strong box receives more than $11,000,000 as revenue.

THE TEMPERANCE MOVEMENT

Is awakening great interest in this city, and the winter's campaign has fairly opened. Two thousand drinking places, with thousands needing bread from the charitable, is in no sense the forerunner of "the good time coming" of which "poets have sung."

"THE DOLLAR OF OUR DADDIES"

Or not, agitates men of diverse ideas, and "to be or not to be" is by no means settled.

THE RESIDENT OF THIS CITY

Has no political status in common with humanity elsewhere. The moment he sets foot into the District, be he black or white, native or naturalized, in the twinkling of an eye he is changed, and is henceforth a political nonentity, with no rights in relation to suffrage that any law is bound to respect. He may pay taxes, support schools, but can have no voice in the selection of those who make the laws, levy the taxes or manage the affairs of the District. Similar outrages upon the rights of a people, in an early day, made Boston harbor the scene of great activity, and proved to be the beginning of a struggle for freedom from a system very like in principle, although slightly changed in practice.

THIS STANDING DISGRACE

Has too long been imposed on a patient people, and the present Congress, it is hoped, will provide a form of government for the District that shall be equitable and just. Forty-five per cent. of the land in the Capital belongs to the government, and the eleven original donors made no provision that the balance retained by them should bear the total burden of taxation.

STREET AREAS.

Washington has a street area of 50 per cent.; New York, 35; Boston, 26; Philadelphia, 29; Paris, 25; Vienna, 35. The fathers, in laying out this city, saw with a prophetic eye a future when it was to be the center of a great continent, made up of one hundred States, representing 200,000,000 of people, each having a just pride and a common interest in the most beautiful capital on the globe. Such is to be true in the not far distent future.

PENSION AND POSTOFFICE BUSINESS.

The business in the Pension Office is constantly increasing. One thousand and seventy-eight claims were filed for the week ending October 26. Ninety thousand unsettled cases are now on the files awaiting adjustment. Thirty-seven thousand Postmasters' accounts, 10,000 mail contractors, 10,000 mail carriers and postal clerks, 50,000 money order accounts, and 18,000 daily vouchers of paid money orders show the work of the Sixth Auditor's office for each quarter, and gives employment to 244 clerks.

THE QUESTION OF RESUMPTION

Is now confronting the country, and various interests antagonize the measure. A chasm of less then 3 per cent. between gold and greenbacks ought be bridged by a law making the latter receivable in payment of duties on imports, with specie and greenbacks inter-convertible. Everyone would prefer the currency, and the demand for hard money would be small.

THE TELEPHONE.

The march of improvement moves on apace. The telephone is now in daily use between the various departments. The instrument is so delicate that it enables friends to talk with each other in their own familiar voices. A telephonic concert was lately given in the Treasury Department by four well known Washington vocalists, for the entertainment of Mrs. Hayes, who was seated, with quite a number of friends, in the White House. Interesting to Grangers.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

At the regular meeting of Mount Pleasant Grange, Saturday, November 3d, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted, and heartily indorsed in speeches from Bros. Watts, Duncan, Jenkins, Rendall, Gordon and Ben Clore:

WHEREAS, At this age of man's history mind rules the nations of the earth, and the unread masses are subordinate to the wills of wily demagogus and profesional politicians; and

WHEREAS, The 4th of December, 1877, will be the 10th anniversary of the order of Patrons of Husbendry; and

WHEREAS, It has been a time-honored custom for happily married couples to celebrate the tenth anniversary of their wedded life, therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the members of Pomona Grange of Boone County, Ky., do recommend to its several subordinate Granges to celebrate the 4th of December next as the tenth anniversary of the marriage between Grangerism and agricultural interest.

Resolved, That we recommend to the several subordinate Granges to urge their members to be present at the celebration, bringing with them donations worth not less than one dollar, which may be of any of the salable products of the soil.

Resolved, That we recommend these Granges to sell these donations and invest the proceeds in useful books, for the benefit of the members of the order.

Resolved, That the several subordinate Granges be requested to report to this Grenge, at its regular meeting in December, 1877, the amount of their respective donations.

On motion, it was agreed that the members of the Grange should assemble in their hall at 9 a. m. December the 4th, bringing with them well filled baskets. It was further agreed that the doors should be opened to the public at 11 a. m., and an invitation extended to them to attend the celebration, and bring, if they were disposed, donations subject to the foregoing resolutions, which would entitle them to the privileges of the library in prospect.

Being the author of the preamble and resolutions in question, I was commissioned to make this announcement to the public.

As stated before, at this age of man's history, mind rules the nations of the earth, and the unread masses are the dupes and slaves to financial, as well as political tricksters. It would be folly in me to produce arguments to prove this axiom. It is self-evident to the mind of any casual observer. Hence the importance of training and nourishing the mind. The farmer has been too prone to console himself with the thought that a strong, well-developed muscle should be the farmer's ambition; that the mind should be left to professionals for cultivation; and that all that was expected of the farmer boy was to read, write and cipher. They never fully realized the magnitude of this hallucination till the Grange came into into existence.

They never seemed to realize the fact that the muscle was subject to the will, and the will directed and controlled by the mind. It was this that first inspired the founders of our enterprise, and caused them to reach forth plans through the pages of our manual that would elevate the agricultural masses to higher and nobler positions in society. What higher opinion should man desire of his fellow man than to be recorded a practical farmer, an accomplished scholar and a strictly moral and religious man?

It is utterly impossible for the members of a Grange to realize the genuine worth of the intellectual feature of their enterprise without a library of valuable and useful books. Believing this, our Grange has conceived the plan set forth in this article to procure means by which much valuable information may be imparted to the present, as well as the rising generation. Not willing to confine our good work to the narrow limits of our society, we extend the invitation to all farmers who feel proud of their vocation and wish to elevate it to the most dignified and respected calling of man, to come forward with liberal donations on the 4th of December, and assist in establishing a magnet in our midst that will forever attract the native talents that spring up within the circle of its influence.

They shot off their pistols, and, with many whoops and curses, left for parts unknown, taking Stone with them. Great excitement exists over the high-handed outrage.

—The Madisonville Republican denies the current story of there being an organized gang of KuKlux in Hopkins County. The report grew out of a notice served upon a young man, who was going to the bad and at the same time playing the saint, that he must mend his ways or he would be presented to the grand jury; and the young man's father had warrants issued under the KuKlux act for the arrest of the parties who served the notice, all of whom were examined and discharged. And that is all.

—Madisonville Republican: Mr. Alex. Clark, who lives on the "Island," showed us, a few days ago, an ancient relic and heirloom in the way of an old gun. It was used both in the Revolutionary war and in the war of 1812. It originally belonged to a man named Ferguson, who was a brother-in-law to Mr. Clark's grandfather, Glenn. Ferguson and Glenn were together in the Revolutionary war. Ferguson was killed in a fight with the Indians, and at his death this gun fell into Glenn's possession, who carried it during the remainder of the war. When war was declared in 1812, Mr. Glenn took this trusty old gun and went forth to use it in his country's defense. Since then it has been carefully preserved by the family.

IT is now stated that the President will make no change in the Covington postoffice till after the commencement of the regular session of Congress. The last applicant for that office is a Rev. gentleman called Wiles. If the President defers the appointment much longer, the applicants will be nearly as numerous as the able bodied men in the regular army.

THE latest business failure of any magnitude in the city of Covington is that of the firm of W. A. Carpenter & Bro., which, for several years, has been engaged in the hardware and whisky business in that city. The members of the firm are natives of this county, and commanded the larger portion of their class of trade in this county, and therefore the failure comes home to Boone with nearly the same interest as if the firm was doing business in the county. One other cause of its being of such great importance to this county is the fact that quite a number of the moneyed men of this county are losers, some of them to the extent of five thousand dollars. The liabilities of the firm is estimated at eighty thousand dollars, while the assets are set down at ten thousand dollars. R. L. Crigler, the Assignee, is now at work settling up the affairs of the firm.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 17, 1877.
Special Correspondence to the Recorder.

NOVEMBER.

These bright November days are giving the polish of a dying year to life in the Capital, and the daily presence of new faces on the streets and in the hotels is completing the social warp and woof, the bustle and gayety incident to a winter's residence in Washington. The persistent "Reavis" should make a visit to the nation's Capital and see it in its fullness of autumnal beauty.

NO COAL SMOKE.

Think of subjecting its beautiful white-faced buildings, with fluted marble columns, to the action of an atmosphere impregnated with lampblack from the thousands of smoking furnaces using bituminous coal in other cities.

MRS. HAYES IS DELIGHTED

With the White House—with the rooms of the old time and style—and says: "No matter what they build, they'll never build any more rooms like these."

SECURITIES.

Uncle Sam has nicely pigeon-holed in one of his immense vaults $244,703,400 of bonds as security for the national banks, and every bill-holder is as safe as if he had an equal amount in gold.

AMERICAN SAMPLE ROOMS

To be established in Great Britain is the latest development of our growing trade with the Eastern Continent. In this way our manufacturers will find an increasing market in a new field, that will utilize all our surplus, and give remunerative profits to both capital and labor.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANKS.

The frequency of loss by the failure of savings banks in all parts of the country will, without doubt, provide a safer place of deposit for the earnings of the masses in Postal Savings Banks, to be established by an act of the present Congress. Some system is greatly needed that will check the losses that are now so keenly felt through the failures of this class of institutions. Holland, with a population of 4,000,000, has not had a bank failure in forty years. They have no railroad kings, no panics, public or private pilferings. Truly a happy people. What an exemption from disaster, disappointment, pain and heartache that has grown so familiar to our people since the panic of 1872.

THE PROMISED REVIVAL

Of trade is shown by the increase in postal cards issued during the month of October. 26,885,600 were sold, the greatest number for any month since they were introduced.

A LETTER SHEET ENVELOPE

Of the size of note paper is greatly needed by the public, which shall be sold by the Department at about the cost of the stamp. One-half of all the letters passing through the mail could be written on paper of note size. It would prevent the re-use of stamps, save the transportation of tons of useless material in envelopes, and every letter would be as safe in transit as under the present method.

HARBOR IMPROVEMENT.

The improvement of the Harbor of Washington, by deepening the channel, contracting the bed of the river and reclaiming about 500 acres of valuable land to the government, is now proposed. A careful estimate has been made, and a report and plan submitted by Brig. Gen. Humphries, giving a dock frontage of seven miles, exclusive of piers.

BURNED GREENBACKS.

In the office of one of the Departments may be seen the model of a mortar, with the carriage and miniature balls, all made from the residium of greenbacks burned in the Treasury Department. Looking at this unique specimen, there comes into view an invisible host—a gaunt, hungry multitude—thousands upon thousands in our country who seek here and there for work to earn bread to feed themselves and their famishing families; work that possibly might have been found, except for the constant contraction of the currency by burning greenbacks. Hard money and soft money advocates, with a country extending as in ours, must agree that the currency is not in excess of our increasing needs. Men have honest differences as to finances, and the action of Congress will be well if it shall, in some sense, bridge over these diversities and give the country wise legislation on this point.

THE PRESIDENT AND HIS PARTY.

Portentious clouds seem to overhang the political atmosphere. One thing is certain: matters between the President and his party are assuming such a shape that some understanding must be had, or the breach will inevitably grow wider and wider.

THE DEAD LETTER OFFICE

Brings to light many strange secrets. This accumulation of novelties reveals the diverse character of our people. Here is a silver fan that has come from somewhere to somebody, the wrapper having been lost. Here are snakes and centipedes enough to satisfy the most fastidious; lovers' charms of all varieties; an album of 3,000 photographs; gold watches; miniature grindstones; wearing apparel; fabrics of every class and character are here found. Indeed, the vision of Peter, where all things, both clean and unclean, were seen, was scarce more comprehensive than this unique and strange collection.

ST. LOUIS LETTER.

ST. LOUIS, MO., November 17, 1877.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

The happiest man at this time in all our great city, or even west of the Mississippi, is supposed to be Chaney I. Tilley, our present efficient postmaster. For the past two years there has been two distinct factions in the Republican party, one headed by the Globe Democrat, and the other by Mr. Tilley. The war between the two factions, if it has not been grand, it certainly has been gloomy and peculiar, as the English language has been completely exhausted by both parties in search of epithets and invectives by one to the other. It would be difficult for the shrewdest observer of the wrangle to decide which party excelled in billingsgate. Thief, liar, rogue, scoundrel, and such terms were as patent to the lips of one as the other, in speaking of each other. The Globe Democrat party has lately been reenforced by Cabinet officer Schurz, and many of Mr. Tilley's most intimate friends, the fore part of last week were fearful, before the setting of the sun this evening Mr. Tilley's head would fall in the basket, and General Hayes, of this city, be appointed in his stead. The Globe Democrat party were seemingly moving heaven and earth to this end, and on Tuesday last, it really looked as if victory was about to perch upon their banners. But you have doubtless observed on Wednesday about noon Mr. Hayes sent in the name of Chaney I. Tilley for confirmation, and all the little Tilleys, big Tilleys and old Tilleys are happy and the whisky organ and party are rebuked. The business community, almost to a man, declare that Tilley has made the best postmaster we ever had.

The sad termination, on Tuesday night, of the life of W. F. Coolbaugh, the Chicago banker, has cast a gloom over financial circles, as he was regarded as one of the shrewdest financiers in the West. We see by the papers that he had an insurance on his life for one hundred thousand dollars, but it can not be that the act was a financial scheme of his; but as Mark Twain would say, he has now handed in his last check and gone to the other shore, where man's inhumanity to man is not so great as here below.

We had quite a large fire on last Tuesday night, destroying the large stone-front building on 4th street, opposite the Planter's House, owned by Mrs. Hunt, sister-in-law of the late James H. Lucas. In the building was the largest retail hat store in the city, owned by Steinber, also Bonnett's restaurant, and a number of offices occupied by the legal fraternity. Loss on building, $60,000; hat store, $30,000; restaurant, $15,000. There was a very small insurance on each, but the losers are supposed to be able to stand the loss. That great city, Chicago, not to be outdone in anything by an insignificant "burg," the next day had a fire five times as large as ours, but they were fully insured. We have always been ready and willing to admit that they can beat us on fires and bank failures.

The Board of Trade of the last named city has lately become quite virtuous, as their Supreme Court of the State has recently declared that Option dealings are illegal; consequently the aforesaid Board has passed resolutions that henceforth, "puts," "calls," and privileges will be regarded as matters of honor. While we are on this subject we might as well say, that we, on yesterday, in our own city had another important decision concerning said deeds. The case was tried in the U. S. Circuit Court, and the facts concerning same are about as follows: In 1874-5, Dutcher & Co., and Fletcher & Co., of this city were operating together in options on wheat in Chicago. It was a losing business, and the losses amounting to $14,400 were paid by Datcher & Co. Both firms have since become bankrupt and the assignee of Dutcher & Co., put in a claim before Register Eaton for $7,200 against the estate of Fletcher & Co., as the share of the latter in the above named losses, claiming that the money so paid was in the nature of an advancement then. Fletcher & Co.'s assignee contends that the claim originated in a wager-contract, which was illegal and not recoverable by law. Register Eaton disallowed the claim, and the matter was re-examined yesterday before Judge Treat, who sustained the order of the Register.

Our police authorities, for weeks, have been waging a terrible war against gambling dens throughout the city, and on yesterday the St. Louis Republican informed the people of this truly moral city, that they had about succeeded in ridding the city of blacklegs and vagrants. Let it be so! But this having been done, and now that all the courts in the land have declared that trading in Option is nothing more nor nothing less than betting that on a certain price on a certain day, or in other words, such trading is gambling, we are rather of the opinion, to be consistent, the authorities ought to abolish our Call Board. We feel confident that the last named institution is ruining more old men, and demoralizing more young men than all the gambling hells in this city and all other cities. We really think so. There seems to be something in the very nature of Option dealings that is calculated to unsettle and make a man reckless. Then again, you may go all through this city, and all around and through the villages adjacent to us, and you will find young men coming of age, or arriving at maturity, with a few hundred dollars at their command, who never expect to work or eat bread earned by the sweat of their brow. Oh, no! they will put up their scanty means as margin on Call Board transactions, and live by gambling, as it has a respectable air, and saves them from censure and condemnation of their friends.

Frank Rande, the notorious out-law and murderer, who, in the past few years, by his atrocious crimes, has made a reputation for himself equal to that of John H. Merrill, was captured in a pawnbroker's shop in our city, yesterday, after having mortally wounded policeman White and being mortally wounded himself. The struggle was terrific; the outlaw can not possibly survive, and Officer White will likely die before this reaches you. I will send you full particulars in my next.

Ruling prices of grain for the week we quote as follows: Wheat, No. 2, $1 32 to $1 33; No. 3, $1 26 to $1 27½; No. 4, $1 11½; hard No. 1, spring, $1 10; soft, $1 12. Corn, 41 to 44 cents. Rye, 52 to 56 cents. Oats, 26 to 27 cents.

THAT bridge across the yawning chasm has been constructed at last.

A PROTRACTED meeting was held in the Baptist Church in East Bend last week.

IF Mr. Anonymous will call at our office, he might learn something to his advantage.

REV. J. W. HENLEY will preach at the residence of W. M. Conner, near Florence X-Roads, next Saturday night.

INVITATIONS are out for a Thanksgiving party, to be given by the Morning Star Dancing Club of Florence, in the Odd-Fellows' Hall at that place.

THE attendance at Hopeful Church Sunday was very large. Many persons were compelled to remain out of doors, there being no room in the house.

SAY the town is not on the upward stroke when the ex-saddler shop has been converted into a dwelling. But ah! there are two or three vacant houses in town. This way, you folks that want to rent.

A FEW nights since, some thief entered the house of Mr. W. I. Rouse and stole some beef and preserves. John Popham, living in the same neighborhood, lost about a barrel of flour that went to make bread for the unknown.

THE Sheriff has put up in the different precincts posters announcing the days upon which he will attend at the respective voting places to collect taxes, and he is very solicitous that the tax-payers shall meet him and "ante up."

A GRANGER friend at our elbow says Mt. Pleasant Grange is not Pomona Grange, and he don't know how it can resolve in the name of the members of Pomona Grange of Boone County. Brother Graddy, you can elevate and explain.

LAST week, a lad who had been engaged on the turnpike forged an order on his boss, came to town and purchased seven or eight dollars worth of goods from Mr. Hawes on the bogus paper. Such fellows will, sooner or later, be provided with board and clothes and amusement.

LAST week we hinted that a certain young man had "axed the old folks," and since that time we have been interviewed by something less than fifty-seven young men, all wanting to know who had told on them. Didn't we bring them down? The squib was charming in the way of a key.

INVENTORS, to secure prompt and proper action on their cases, should employ an attorney resident at Washington. We direct attention to Foster's Patent Offices, 509 Seventh street, Washington. Mr. Foster has practiced before the Patent Office 18 years. Send to him for pamphlets and references.

WE noticed passing through our town, a few days since, a monument, contracted by Mr. O. G. Woolley for his deceased children at a cost of $141. It has been put up at Big Bone Cemetery. The monument is well proportioned, and does credit to Mr. Woolley, as well as to Geo. Huschart & Co., of Lawrenceburg, Ind., the manufacturers.

THE discharging of fire-arms in the town is becoming entirely too frequent. These reports can be heard at all hours of the day, and occasionally late at night. Somebody's buggy will yet be the reminder of a wreck made in a runaway thus occasioned; or, maybe worse, some lady's horse may be made to throw and cripple or kill her. Let's have a little less shooting in town.

SUNDAY, as Mrs. John Marquiss was returning from Hopeful Church, the nag attached to the buggy in which she and her two little girls were riding stumbled and fell, throwing itself cross wise on the shafts, where it lay perfectly quiet till assistance arrived and the animal was loosed. Nothing more serious than a considerable fright on the part of Mrs. Marquiss and her little daughters resulted.

THE town narrowly escaped a first-class fire, last Thursday afternoon. It broke out in the room over the bar in the Sandford hotel. The bucket brigade was on hand in a few minutes after the alarm was given, and succeeded in extinguishing the flames before they were communicated to the building by the bed, which was on fire. One straw tick and three or four comforts were the extent of the loss. There being no stove, stovepipe or fireplace in the room, no one knows by what agency the beds were set on fire, unless someone had been smoking in the room.

OLD UNCLE DAN is the title of an excellent new song, by Horace Dumars. Thousands of songs have been published in America within the last few years, but few ever contain merit enough to become very popular. The above song is a gem, in fact, one of the sweetest negro melodies ever put before the music-loving public. Sung nightly with immense success by Milt G. Barlow, of minstrel fame. Price, 40 cents per copy. The title page is illustrated, and contains a fine view of a Southern plantation scene—can be obtained from any large music dealer or from the publisher, F. W. Helmick, No. 50 West Fourth Street, Cincinnati, O.

To Whom It May Concern.

WHEREAS, It appears that the season for mating is now slowly encroaching upon our borders, and many youths are succumbing to its beguiling influence; and

WHEREAS, Parties wishing to embark on the billows of the matrimonial sea are required by the law of the land to procure a proper license from the High Clerk of the County Court before pushing out their bark from the desolate shores of single cussedness; and

WHEREAS, The High Clerk and his Deputy are zealous friends to all seeking consolation and assistance in their ague fits while struggling to apply for their papers, and will surrender all for the soothing of the affrighted swain except the $1 50; and

WHEREAS, Great and unnecessary trouble, and above all, delay, is frequently caused by an improper equipment for the legal encounter with the statutes in the Clerk's office, now, therefore, to remedy these evils, be it

Resolved, That no man need apply for a license to marry a maiden of Boone County who is under 21 years of age, unless he call upon Mr. L. H. Dills, or his Deputy, armed and equipped and accoutred as the law requires; and let that man bring along the maid's daddy or guardian, and have them drilled to say yea and amien; else, bring from them a bill of writing signed and attested by a truthful witness, who hath been to the High Clerk before, and over whose oath the High Clerk can write the words, "truth, verily."

2. That no man shall have a license to marry a woman over 21 unless she come with him to the High Clerk and pray for the papers, or unless she send the exalted Clerk a bill written with ink, and attested as before.

3. Remember the Clerk, and that he will not give a license except the law be complied with, more especially the $1 50; for of such sums doth his subsistence come.

4. Remember, all applicants, that marrying is no secret matter, and that it is not prudent to mope about for a week, or hump up before the Clerk's stove like a dromedary or a frozen yearling; for the longer you wait the more you will shrink and the weaker your stomach gets, and at last you have to say it. Barring the $1 50 part of the law, this subject of marrying would be sometimes irksome to the Clerk. I have known him to wonder, many a time, if the buck ague had made his man dumb.

N. B. Pay divorce fees and funeral expenses, at least, before applying for a second license, even if the Clerk loses his second bite at your loaf

DON'T forget to call at the Red Boot, No. 626 Madison St., Covington, and price boots and shoes before purchasing elsewhere.

Rev. E. W. Bedinger delivered a very interesting discourse at this place, last Sunday evening, to a large congregation.

Those desirous of traveling on the C. S. Ry. by taking the cars at Richwood Station, will find the parties in charge of the office and neighbors very obliging, especially R. Conner, Esq., who has good accommodations for taking care of horses and buggies, and his latch-string hangs on the outside for his friends without money and without price. Particular attention paid to ladies. Richwood Station is situated in a beautiful part of the county, fifteen miles from Ludlow.

The gentle rain for which your Elattsburg correspondent seemed so anxious has at last begun falling, and we no longer experience any inconvenience on account of the scarcity of water. We accepted his advice, and our prayers were answered; and now, when "the harvest feast" shall come, we cordially extend to the learned knight of the quill an invitation to be present.

The sporting portion of our population marshaled their forces on the 6th inst., consisting of 15 men, 10 boys, and various species of the canine tribe too numerous to mention. Twenty-five rabbits and "nary" quail. From the reports that re verberated along this quiet valley, it is safe to say that the rest have, ere now, made their exit to some other parts.

Beaver Lick.

Last Thursday evening, your correspondent visited the lodge of Murphy's at Big Bone Springs, and, from appearances, it is in good working order. It being the only movement of the kind in this community, the organism ranges high, "perpendicularly." At 7 o'clock p. m. we were admitted into the hall to see the inner workings of the order. Soon the gavel sounded, and silence supreme reigned there. After a few preluisive remarks began the most melodious vocal music ears ever feasted on. During the singing, many additions were made to the already egregious number of members. At intervals, intelligent speeches were made by Prof. Cayton and Kite, telling the evils of whisky and the blessings of temperance. They both cried down ardent spirits to a low pitch. The President told me, after adjournment, their list of members who had taken the pledge was one hundred, all in good standing, which speaks volumes for the zealous advocates of the noble cause. May success meet their every earthly effort, and a laurel be awarded them in heaven.

Beaver is rounding up to a business altitude. A cabster wood workman and a blacksmith, William Dickinson and John Bentzler, have added their names to the short list of citizens of Beaver, where both will ply their respective professions. LITTLE KNOB.

Florence.

The principal topic of conversation here at present is the failure of Caleb Carpenter, of Covington, and W. H. Carpenter & Bro., hardware merchants. Their liabilities are said to be about $90,000, and their assets about $10,000. They had quite a number of relatives and friends in this part of the country whose confidence they possessed, and who lost heavily by them. Several have lost all they had. Those that we heard mentioned are—

Clinton Gaines	$7,000	Wm. Carpenter	$300
Lewis Aylor	2,100	Miss Ella Behme	800
Jeff Utz	2,000	John Goodridge	300
Wm. Smith	5,000	Wm. Tanner	1,500
Henry Smith	4,600	Wm. Coehran	1,700
Reuben Conner	1,100	Frank Smith	600
Wood Carpenter	1,100	Eli Rouse	300
J Lillard & J Scott	2,500	Eli Carpenter	500

Besides several others for amounts from ten to one hundred dollars. They owed one distiller in Lexington, named Warner, $20,000. This is probably the heaviest failure on the people of this county that has ever occurred.

John M. Finch, Jerry Blythe, John Carpenter, Henry Ingram, Jerry Carpenter and Harry Chambers went to Grant County last week on a hunt, and returned after two days with 60 quails, 50 rabbits and 6 pheasants.

Rev. Father Smith, of Covington, and Rev. Father McMurney, of Florence, exchanged pulpits last week.

There was Quarterly Meeting at Mt. Zion church last Sunday week. Rev. S. X. Hall, Presiding Elder, preached a very able sermon on the subject of Justification by Faith. The meeting was protracted through the week by Revs. Redd and Hughes.

Scattersville.

Mrs. John B. Acra we learn is quite sick.

Apples this year are almost a failure with us, although some few trees bore them in abundance. What were picked and stored away for keeping are not at all well filling their mission. Those who are fortunate enough to have any, would better institute another "mission" for them to fill.

Notwithstanding the word "posted" decorates many farms in the neighborhood, the "bangs" of festive hunters reverberate from hill-top to hill-top. They draw oil of consolation, we opine from the—rabbits, or from the fact that all the land owners don't manifest the same degree of taste in "decorating," some omitting it entirely. Though it is evident that the hunters—some at least—are possessed of a reasonable degree of ideality, from the manner in which they perambulate the "decorated" farms in quest of game.

The debating society which convenes at the Big Bone Grange Hall, and which has been pulsating with life for a few weeks, we learn was very largely attended on Friday night of last week. It was discussed—it was! and decided too, we learn, that ladies should not "pop the question." Modest young ladies, of course, decided it and not bashful young gentlemen, or, no doubt, the result would have been different.

In your last it was locally said: "Eighteen hundred and odd years since, a Christian gentleman named Paul wrote to one Timothy, 'I suffer not a woman to teach &c.,' and now as many as twenty-nine women are advertised in the Chicago papers as conducting religious service and preaching on a single Sunday." Gracious me! Bro. Editor, had you received a letter your—your—your "intended" that long ago, you would no doubt have forgotten its contents by this time. How can you reasonably expect a woman (married in particular) to constantly keep in mind this utterance made by an old bachelor and repeated by another one, don't think we are getting personal now) for lo! these many centuries. It's simply preposterous. It's true, Paul's tongue, though hushed in the tomb, yet speaketh, but the most learned heads of the various denominations have interpreted Paul's language, and we think rationally and consistent with other scriptures and facts, as not prohibiting women from teaching divine truth. Let women do all the good work they want to do, and don't, we say, make any editorial interpositions, or they may engage in a work editors would not altogether denominate "good." [The brethren will now please sing.—Ed.]

In your last it was "fashionably" said: "Ladies now wear white vests and flat folded scarfs like those worn by gentlemen." It is, we believe, a settled point that we seek to imitate that which we love and adore, and, it seems in a secular sense to be equally true, though the ladies may say your correspondent assumes the point here to be proved. True! but to justify the assumption, we need only to call attention to the facts of the past and the anticipations of the future. And lo! old maids live as well as old bachelors, another exertion of imitative powers, but we are at present a little skeptical as to whether or not they are prompted by love in this species of imitation. CITY REPORTER.

GALLATIN COUNTY—Glencoe.

After the reception of each edition of the RECORDER, we glance eagerly over its newsy columns, vainly endeavoring to discover some items from this place, enabling the rending public to form some idea as to our manners and customs. Having failed in this, our meditations on the subject were exceedingly painful; enough so, indeed, to excite us to action again.

Our manners have not yet attained perfection; still they are not beyond endurance. But our customs are very disagreeable. It can hardly be said of this, more than the majority of communities, that the dreaded monster, poverty, is stalking in our midst.

Quite recently, Mr. Milton Williams, one of the party that emigrated from this place to the Black Hills, returned home, a sadder, sicker, and it is to be hoped, a wiser man. Mr. Williams had, several years previous, been a great hunter in the regions of California; but this time he had calculated too highly on the endurance of his physical being. At the time of his departure he was enjoying perfect health, but his constitution was not sufficiently strong to undergo all the exposure and hardships that awaited him. After a profitless search in the Hills, during which time his health was much impaired, he arrived at the conclusion that the more sensible course for him to pursue would be one that would land him in Ky. He set out for home, and when he arrived at Louisville he was taken dangerously ill, and while in a state of unconsciousness he was brought to Glencoe, all of his friends thinking he would be immediately "gathered to the land of the fathers," but he is now recovering.

On the 4th inst., Mr. Thomas Early contributed his mite to the happiness of the feminine portion of humanity, by leading to the hymeneal altar, Miss Susie Hampton, a most amiable young lady, and taking upon himself those life long vows, which, if held sacred, can not fail to secure the infinite happiness of the twain they so nearly concern. The attendants were Mr. Howard Kemper and Miss Lentie Early. And now, as we are about to cast aside our reportorial pen, the happy visage of the denouncer of "single blessedness" looms up before us and we are constrained to sincerely withhim and his life companion all the happiness that can possibly be gleaned whilst passing thorugh this vale of tears. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

The reputation it has attained, in consequence of the marvellous cures it has produced during the last half century, is a sufficient assurance to the public that it will continue to realize the happiest results that can be desired. In almost every section of country there are persons, publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs, by its use. All who have tried it acknowledge its superiority; and where its virtues are known, no one hesitates as to what medicine to employ to relieve the distress and suffering peculiar to pulmonary affections. CHERRY PECTORAL always affords instant relief, and performs rapid cures of the milder varieties of bronchial disorder, as well as the more formidable diseases of the lungs.

As a safeguard to children, amid the distressing diseases which beset the Throat and Chest of Childhood, it is invaluable; for, by its timely use, multitudes are rescued and restored to health.

This medicine gains friends at every trial, as the cures it is constantly producing are too remarkable to be forgotten. No family should be without it, and those who have once used it never will.

Eminent Physicians throughout the country prescribe it, and Clergymen often recommend it from their knowledge of its effects.

BURLINGTON, KY., NOVEMBER 22.

HOME HURT.

If I had known in the morning
How wearily all the day
The words unkind
Would trouble my mind,
I said when I went away,
I had been more careful, darling,
Nor given you heedless pain;
But we vex "our own"
With look and tone
We may never take back again.

For though in the quiet evening
I may give you the kiss of peace,
Yet it might be
That never for me
The pain at the heart should cease!
How many go forth in the morning
That never come home at night!
And hearts have been broken,
By harsh words spoken
That sorrow can ne'er set right.

We have careful thought for the stranger,
And smiles for the sometimes guest,
But oft for "our own"
The bitter tone,
Though we love "our own" the best.
Ah! lips, with curses impatient!
Ah! brow, with that look of scorn!
It were a cruel fate,
Were the night too late
To undo the work of the morn.

Cheap Cooking.

The Philadelphians are gradually developing a system for relieving somewhat the eternal drudgery of housekeeping. Family baking of meats, pies, puddings, cakes, and bread is being performed by the bakers at a very moderate charge. Thus: for pies, 2 cents apiece; for bread loaves, 4 cents a pan; for rice pudding, 3 cents for a pan; for a pan of roast meat, 5 cents. By this method the food is better cooked, and hours of tiresome attendance on little cooking stoves are saved. These latter supposed useful mechanisms in reality furnish a great tax on the housewife's time and patience. They require continual watching to be kept at the proper heat. The labor of ten horses is expended every year in bringing coals for them, and they keep the atmosphere at an insufferable temperature in warm weather. The time and labor wasted in thousands of families by our present system of performing this domestic service in driblets is enormous. A few men on a man-of-war or ocean steamer perform every culinary necessity for thousand of guests. The whole service is temporarily taken from their shoulders. Yet, on the breaking up of these temporary households, the chances are probable on shore that each family betakes itself to the old fashion dribbling, drudging, household style of culinary service, without one thought of the time, labor, and expense saved by having all this labor delegated to a few. One baker and an assistant can cook dinners for an hundred families, possibly more, at an expense of say 70 cents per family. The necessary pail of coal and kindlings for cooking a single dinner cost 12 cents alone. This amount of fuel must be provided for each of the hundred families, and, in every one of them, the time and labor of one person for at least an hour will be required to get up each dinner. The economical moral to be drawn from this is obvious, and need not be detailed in figures. We are as yet great blunderers in the science of living. Multitudinous cooking-stoves, stewing over fires, driblets of attendance all through the day on the requirements of the kitchen, drudging with loads of coal up five or six flights of stairs, all contribute among other evils to break down the wife of the mechanic and laborer, and permanently rob her of her bloom, beauty and youth.

Postal Ruling.

Unclaimed prepaid letters bearing a request for their return within a specified number of days, should be promptly returned by the postmaster at the expiration of the time mentioned; and when no time is given for such return, they should be returned to the writer at the expiration of thirty days from the date of the receipt at the post-office. Letters reaching a specified postoffice through the mails, addressed to persons residing on a post-route, may be delivered by the mail-carrier on that route, it the person and the mail-carrier so desire. There is nothing in the postal-laws or regulations which exempts postmasters or their assitants from working the public road. No city having a less population than 30,000 within in its corporate limits is entitled to the benefits of the free letter carrier system under the amended laws.

In years gone by it was not uncommon on the Pacific Coast for a desperado, made bold by rum, to "take a town"—that is drive everybody out of the streets, shoot whoever opposed him, and terrorize the people till his drunken fit was over. Two men recently tried such an exploit in Prescott, Arizona, and found that times had changed. They began by riding down the main thoroughfares on horses and firing revolvers in the air. Then they scared several women into hysterics, and killed a dog. A Sheriff and two Constables followed them out of the place, and in a fight for their capture, killed them both.

It snows every other day in Russia, and thousands of young men join the Czar's army to fight the Turks for no other purpose than to get rid of shoveling three or four feet of snow off the front pavement three or four times a week.

Talking Bells.

We have heard of bells that seemed to speak certain words with remarkable distinctness. But we must confess that the church bells at Lexington, Kentucky, are singularly adjusted, if the following clipped from the Boston Bulletin, be true:

Col. R., of Louisville, spent the winter in Lexington. A friend of his spoke of going out to see him. "Come on Sunday," said the Colonel, "I want you to harken to our church bells. There's four of them. Each of them sounds out his own denominational calls. There's the Episcopal. That is a heavy, deep toned, sonorous bell. Now you'll see if that don't ring out 'Postolic! Succession! 'Postolic! Succession!" Then the old Presbyterian; that's most as deep sounding, and says: Eternal dam-na-tion! Eternal dam-nation! Eternal dam-na-tion!

"The Baptist is quicker—a sharp, snapper bell, and says rapidly: Come up and be dipped! Come up and be dipped! Come up and be dipped!

"But the Methodist—that's a crower, it talks right out: Room for all! Room for all! Room for all!"

A LITTLE five-year-old could not quite understand why the stars did not shine one night when the rain was pouring down in torrents. She stood at the window pondering on the suject with as much gravity as Galileo when he looked at the swinging lamp in the cathedral in Pisa, and with equal success, for all at once her countenance lighted up and she said: "Mother, I know why the stars don't shine. God has pulled them up so as to let the water come through the holes."

A WARNING.

BY MRS. NELLIE FISHER.

Since Eve was tempted and Adam fell,
And Cain his brother slew,
The sins of the earth have multiplied
Like the freely falling dew.
Want and disease have stalked through the land
And made the proud children to wail,
For the curse of God is no meaningless thing,
And His wrath no fairy tale.

He drove out man from a paradise fair;
He cursed the ground for his sake;
He deluged the earth in His terrible wrath,
That man from his sins might awake.
He poured out His plagues with unsparing hand
And destroyed fair cities with fire;
He sent to them famine and want and woe,
And the land was a funeral pyre.

He sent them a truce in His pity divine—
His own and only Son;
They nailed His quivering form to the cross
Ere their cruel work was done,
He offered them pity and pardon and love,
But the Prince of Life they slew;
He scattered them over the wide, wide earth—
The proud and arrogant Jew.

Oh, where are they now? As the years roll on
Their numbers grow feeble and few,
Their name is a scoff and a by-word on earth,
The wandering, outcast Jew.
The Infidel sneers and the careless laugh
At the words the Lord has spoken—
"The soul that sinneth shall surely die"—
But His promise has never been broken.

He has promised a heaven and promised a hell,
And His word to the end will endure;
His wrath will fall like a two-edged sword
O'er the heads of the scoffing impure.
No arm shall rescue, no hand shall stay
It's terrible, sweeping tide;
But woe to the soul that's no hope in the Lord,
No Saviour in which to abide.

TURKEY commences an invasion to-day.

UMBRELLA navigation commenced last week.

THE late rise in the river brought down considerable coal.

TAKE a look at those new advertisements we "flung" out last week.

THE demand for marriage license, last week, was almost in excess of the supply.

PEOPLE expect to see just as much in a paper when there is no news as when every breeze is laden with it.

THANKS to A. B. Parker, of the Cons Millar. for Southern papers. Arthur, we can swear to that handwrite every time.

HE said Thursday should be called "all fool's day," and when asked why, he replied: "Because it is so fashionble as a wedding-day."

IF you have not a fine, fat turkey for which to be thankful to-day, help some of your truly good neighbors to be thankful for theirs.

WHEN you are undressing it you are dressing it, and when you are dressing it you are undressing it, and it is never dressed till it is undressed—a thanksgiving turkey.

IT was not an earthquake, but nevertheless it was a terrible upheaval among the stone along the pavement by Mr. Rouse's store. That stone pile should be labeled "hands off."

FROM observation, we are led to believe it requires about as much "sand in a fellow's craw" to make a turnpike hand as it does to make a soldier. They fight day in and day out, and sometimes part of the night.

LAST Wednesday, a wagon loaded with boys and propelled by a couple of stubborn mules went over the bank at the first bridge across Woolper. The wagon was capsized and the boys tumbled around in the mud right lively, but fortunately they escaped injury. Geo. Blythe held the "strings," and the party was going out to survey the new pike.

Pioneers.

A few days since a friend handed us the following list of names and the age of each individual. The greater number of these persons live in Burlington, or within a short distance of the town:

John Scott is aged..	75	Mrs. Porter.....	84
F. Smith.....	77	Mrs. Garnett.....	84
N. E. Hawes.....	77	J. M. Preston.....	85
General Wallace..	77	Benj. Craven.....	86
A. Zimmerman.....	78	Mrs. Violet Neal..	90
Mrs. Hamilton.....	80	Mrs. Delph.....	90
Mrs. McKenzie.....	80	Mrs. Susan Foster.	90
Mrs. A. Thompson.	82	Robert Mosby.....	91
Archy Thompson..	84	Edward Baker.....	95

So far as we know, each of the above are now enjoying good health, and bid fair to survive several years yet.

LAST Wednesday afternoon, it was reported, and by some thought well authenticated, that some of the Irish who had been at work on the pike intended setting fire that night to the barn belonging to the Sandford Hotel property, and in which McLaughlin, one of the contractors on the road, kept his stock. It was understood the building was to be burned to destroy the mules. McLaughlin and one or two others patrolled the town the greater portion of the night, but no attempt to set fire to buildings was discovered; but during the night, about 2 o'clock, one of the patrolmen and a drunken man collided on the street and punched one another around for near half an hour, when hostilities were suspended and the pickets taken in for repairs.

Gimlet Gap.

A few days since, one of the bosses on the turnpike and one of the hands had a fisticuff in the gravel-pit; neither of them was very badly pulverized.

Walton, Lillard, and Mr. Co., have not commenced operations on that road connecting the Bellevue road with the Petersburg road at J. W. Berkshire's, as read about a few weeks since. It has been patent for an indefinite past, that Petersburg seriously needs an outlet to some place of importance, such as the Gap for instance, and we are anxious that the road be put through.

Some of the members of the Fat Woman's Society were in this neighborhood the other day. We have been informed that this Society contemplates making some very important changes in its by-laws, making an avoirdupois qualification; that is to say, a lady weighing less than 600 pounds will not be eligible to membership hereafter.

The Bellevue and Burlington pike approaches nigh unto a completion and may we not indulge in a hope that this thoroughfare will materially add to the prosperity and improvement of the western part of our county. The construction of this road has demonstrated that the scope of country traversed by it is the home of some of the most thorough-going, and energetic citizens of this or any other county. Seeing the success of this enterprise, we hope others will—receive from it a stimulus to go and do likewise. This county is rapidly passing from a long night of fogyism, and is almost entering upon an era of progress and improvement corresponding to the age. Locality recommends, and the highest interest of our people demand it. We must keep step to the music of the times or the force of passing events will boost us along in some shape more comical to others than agreeable to us.

Mr. Editor, this new road is a grand institution—a noble institufion. It is like knowledge, a power in the land, affording the means of great good; and the sweetest rose may have now and then a thorn, and I understand that one of the road's thorns has found its way to your flesh to the depth of about eight dollars. But say, before we proceed further, did you buy that mound of pulverized diamonds behind the tailor's shop, at Bellevue or Cincinnati? We presume Bellevue, for we know that in thirty years experience, the Queen City has been unable to supply diamonds so finely pulverized to this market; but may be the mound is not diamonds but stone coal dissolved, cannon powder, or coffee ground to dust; but just here, here I learn you call it coal from the new market at Bellevue supplied. If so, you got glory enough for that day, and as a friend, I advise you to get an air-tight bucket to carry your fuel in, and be sure to cover it over, or else the coming winter's showers will wash it off the face of the earth. And next, remember and have no more foul brought over this new road and from this market till the new way wears smooth, for now it is said the roughness of that road did cause your coal to melt to dust before it reached its journey's end, and hence appears as coffee ground or cannon powder to the unsophisticated eye. PATRON.

In Memoriam.

Autumn has gone, and like it has passed away, as quietly and gently, one from among us, in the person of Jacob Walter Igoe, November 5th, 1877 in the 24th year of his age. His death cast a gloom over the community, and his bereft parents realize, in the lamentable deprivation of their obedient, filial and loving child, a sincere and profound grief that only fond parents are heir to, admitting no description, and little palliation from their earthly comforts. None knew him but to love him, for he possessed all those qualities holding a tendency to gain the love, confidence and admiration of all whom he met. But such, apparently, is the incxorable decree of an omnipotent Creator that the fairest of Nature's works shall fleetest fade, wither and decay—exemplified in him so vividly that it intimates that the angels of that blissful Paradise coveted him, and drew him to their happy domain ere yet it was time. Maybe it were better. God doeth all things aright; His will be done. We sympathizingly extend the hand of condolence to his grief-stricken parents and brothers.

Parents, glean sweet consolation
From this cherishing, friendly thought:
Noblest ones of God's creation
Were but for gems of heaven wrought.
His is a paradise of bliss,
In heaven far above the sky;
Oh! were we all as sure of this,
It were, indeed, but sweet to die.

IF we are not called upon to print funeral notices for the funeral of our Scattersville correspondent in a few days, we will conclude the old maids of the land don't consider him worthy of notice. If he gets them up in arms—not his arms, of course—the Russian and Turkish war will fade into insignificance.

92,572,156,335,009,443 times have we yelled "shut the door," since the weather has cooled off. Next week we are going to provide 30 bushels of brickbats and hire a boy to throw them at persons disobeying the command "shut the door."

—The Burlington (Iowa) Gazette says: "Kentucky, the solidest Democratic State in the Union, is out of debt, and has almost $1,000,000 in her treasury."

—Elkton Witness: The hog cholera still prevails, and many of our farmers are selling off their fat hogs at low prices, on account of it. The cool weather is calculated to somewhat abate the disease.

—Robertson County Tribune: The Regulators are still stirring through the county, whipping a fellow now and then. It is said the organization in this and Nicholas counties now numbers 535 members.

—In the United States Circuit Court in Paducah, an attachment was issued for the County Judge and all the Justices except two, returnable forthwith, without bond, for contempt for not levying the E. and P. Railroad tax.

—Clinton Democrat: There is a sow in Clinton that has a particular fondness for swine and feline diet. She goes for all the pups and kits on sight. The question with us is, if she continues her depredations, what will we do for bologna sausages?

—In the Logan Circuit Court, Clarence Rutherford, for killing Laten Wheeler, in December last, was convicted of murder in the first degree and sentenced to the Penitentiary for life. Rutherford was about 26 years of age, and recently married.

—Glasgow Times: The wheat crop is by far the largest ever sown in this county. We heard a gentleman who has been traveling over the country considerably of late, say, that he was certain the area sown was fully two-thirds above, and perhaps twice as much as the usual amount.

—Hopkinsville New Era: Snakes! snakes! Not in the editorial boots, but in the streets of Hopkinsville, and rattlesnakes at that. Mr. Wils. Boyd killed two large rattlesnakes at the Rock Spring, in this city, last Wednesday morning. One of them had eleven rattles and the other nine.

—Louisville News: Five families arrived in this city this afternoon on their return to their former homes in Scott County, Ky., from Dallas County, Texas, whither they went to locate in September, 1876. They all agree they have had as much of Texas as they want, and that old Kentucky is a good enough State for any man, woman or child.

—E. H. Taylor, ex-Mayor and Councilman of Frankfort, and the well known whisky manufacturer, who, having become financially embarrassed disappeared last May, has returned. At the last term of the Franklin Criminal Court, indictments were found against him, and $2,500 bond required in each case. He has given bond for his appearance at the December team of the court.

—Louisville News: It is of current report in legal circles that the father of one of the students who died at the pest-house some time since of small-pox, will institute a suit in the Common Pleas Court against the Medical Department of the University of Louisville for damages in a heavy amount, alleging that his death was caused by the carelessness and negligence of the professors of the institution.

—Washington County Herald: A young man in Springfield asked a young lady why she didn't marry. She paused a moment for an answer, and then responded: "Do women gather figs of thistles or grapes of thorns?" In response to her inquiry why he didn't marry, the wretch was mean enough, in an unsanctified way, to destroy the diction of the Bible by asking her if men gathered perfume from Jamestown weeds or flowers from mullen stalks? She wilted.

—Yeoman: The Baptist Church of this city is neither very large nor very rich, yet we think it is large enough and rich enough to retain as its pastor a man so competent and so generally respected as Rev. Green Clay Smith. It has been announced that he has declined the call made upon him to remain in charge of the church here, and it is suggested that the smallness of the salary offered him is the occasion of his doing so. We know nothing of the matter, but will be very sorry if General Smith accepts a call elsewhere because Frankfort is unable to retain him at a reasonable price.

THE other day Mase Minor and Bob Sandford were out hunting, and had taken shelter in the blacksmith's shop near Mr. Brady's. Mase was wiping his gun off with his coat sleeve, which hung on the hammer and discharged the gun, killing their dog, which was resting its head on Bob's leg. Both the boys were terribly frightened for a while.

THE Murpheys are now taking the pledge by the thousand. After a few months they will take whisky and sugar by the glass.

THE BOONE COUNTY RECORDER

W. L. RIDDELL,
Editor and Proprietor.

BURLINGTON, KY., NOVEMBER 29.

Our Washington Letter.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 24, 1877.

Special Correspondence to the Recorder.

Time has dissipated all hopes of an adjournment, and Congress has settled down for a long and tedious session.

THE MILITARY SIGNAL SERVICE

Under its chief, General O. I. Myer, is growing more and more important to every branch of industry. 159 signal stations have been kept up during the year, furnishing daily reports of coming storms for the benefit of agricultural and commercial communities; 1,095 synopsis and indication reports have been furnished to the public and the press tri-daily, requiring data to be telegraphed from 128 stations for each report over 82,000 miles of wire, requiring only 80 minutes from the transmittal of the storm indications at each station, to tabulate the data at the main office, and give it to the public, and the daily press; 86 per cent. of all indications have proven correct. Cautionary signals have been maintained at 47 sea and lake ports, of which 78 per cent. have been verified. 6,261 Farmer's Bulletins, or daily forecasts have been displayed in frames at as many different Postoffices in cities, towns, and hamlets, for the benefit of all classes, announcing in each locality the weather probabilities in every home. "Old Prob's" indications and forecast are as much a necessity, and convenience as a clock.

THE RED ROOM AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

Many evenings find a party of friends in the Red Room at the White House, who drop in to make a social call on the President and Mrs. Hayes. These gatherings are without formality, and not unlike social calls so common in our American homes.

THE UPS AND DOWNS OF LIFE.

Fickle fortune plays strange freaks; the balance of General John C. Fremont's estate was swept away by fire, recently; his library, furniture and fixtures have all been sold, and his heroic wife, "Jessi," is earning her living, as a contributor to Harper's Magazine, her spare time being devoted to her book on "Foreign Travels," to be put in press.

OUR "BOSS" BUSTED.

Alexander Shepherd, familarly known as "Boss Shepherd," reputed in the past as being worth his million, in whose home, elegant and palatial, the bon ton of the Capital, fair, gay and the cultivated ever had entree, being overtaken by unforescen disaster and driven into a sea of financial embarrassment, he yielded to the storm, and the auctioneer's hammer seals the change of ownership of pictures rare, and works of art, from the skilled hands of the old masters.

IT'S SETTLED.

The President has declared his intentions on the Silver question, and will not approve any measure that shall, in the least, impair our national credit, or compel the holders of Government securities to receive payment of either principal or interest in a currency less valuable than gold.

AN IMMENSE REVENUE.

Those who aid the Government as contributors to the revenue, by use of liquor or tobacco, must be gratified at the result of the business of last year as shown by the report of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue. Liquors paid a tax of $67,469,429 72, and tobacco, $11,705,546 92, the largest sum ever realized from this source in any one year.

THEY ARE FEELING GOOD.

The Democrats are higly elated at the defection of Senators Patterson and Conover in the Kellogg case, and the Republicans pour obloquy on the head of Senator Sharon, for his absence from his seat in the hour of peril to his party. Threats of expulsion are freely made.

A WORLD OF BUGS.

Messrs. Scudder and Bodwitch, of Cambridge, Mass., under the auspices of the Hayden Surveying Expedition, in exploring for fossils in Utah and Wyoming, discovered a "buggy locality." Much time was spent in the region of South Park, and more than 7,000 insects and 3,000 plants have already been worked out of the territory strata. These new discoveries will make a most fruitful field for study for enthusiastic naturalists.

TRADE LOOKING UP.

The Consular reports to the State Department from nearly every country, show a large increase in the direct trade with the United States. It is suggested that our artisans and mechanics follow, as far as possible, the taste of the people in the character of manufacturers intended for sale in these various countries. The Belgian Commission, at the Centennial, has organized a company of European capitalists, for the purpose of manufacturing plate glass, the works to be located near Pittsburg, Pennsylvania. FAX.

Money Makes the Mare Go.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

Mrs. Hampton preached a moving sermon last Friday evening at the Methodist Church. Even the anticipation of its force caused the organ to take wings and fly for protection to the friendly roof of a good-hearted, whole-souled samaritan afar off. We have been taught to believe that there is power in the Gospel, but never before witnessed such a manifestation of it. We have had the most learned and eloquent divines to discourse over this piece of furniture for days and weeks; it faced the music like a soldier. We have had, on other occasions, another lady, learned and eloquent indeed, try her hand on this same obdurate wood, but it didn't budge a single inch; it stood up on its pins, grinning defiance in her teeth to the very last, and conquered, though at first some doubted. How is this? The one came with a church and rich friends to back her, tried her hand, but not a key trembled; there stood the walnut sound as a greenback; it didn't redden a bit. The other, way-worn and weary with long journeying over heavy roads, appeared alone, no ecclesiastical brethren to hold up her hands and no church to remember her in prayer; yet alone, poor and desolate, she stood before the benches and the people and proclaimed the Word in its ancient simplicity and truth with an eloquence and power that in the olden time might have driven the usurers from the temple. No wonder that the poor, little, squeaching, bronchitic organ lit out and flew away with the choir. It ain't strange, as some think. What makes the mare go? Money.

On the 4th of Dec., Pt. Pleasant Grange will meet in its hall for the purpose of celebrating the 10th anniversary of the order. Not having the room, we can not invite the public, generally, but will invite our neighbors and friends to be with us on that day, and we will try to entertain them with short speeches and music, besides furnishing dinner. Please come in early and let us have a good time celebrating the birthday of an order that is working for the interest of the farmer.

ST. LOUIS LETTER.

Death and Funeral of Policeman White—Frank Rande, the Outlaw—Brief History of His Eventful Career—School Matters—Suicide, &c.

ST. LOUIS, MO., November 23, 1877.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

HE DID HIS DUTY

Policeman John S. White, wounded in making the arrest of Frank Rande, the notorious outlaw and murderer, on Friday, the 16th inst., died the following Sunday afternoon, and was buried the following Tuesday, having, perhaps, the largest funeral of any man, rich or poor, that has died in this city for many years. From Monday morning until Wednesday morning following, all the police stations throughout the city were appropriately draped in mourning, and, had he been one of the greatest statesmen, philosophers or theologians this country ever produced, there could not have been more respect shown him than was manifested at the church, throughout the city and at the grave on that occasion. It was because he died performing his duty, and that office was making the arrest of perhaps the most notorious felon since the days of the notorious land pirate, John A. Merrill. He leaves a widow with one child, who will doubtless be amply provided for, as there was a large reward offered by the State and citizens of Illinois for the capture of Rande. There are also subscription lists in circulation, both here and in Illinois, in her behalf, which are meeting with liberal success.

FRANK RANDE, THE OUTLAW.

We believe we promised, in our last, to furnish you this week a condensed or brief history of this worst of all felons, and will now make the attempt; but in so doing we are almost at a loss for a beginning, much less an ending. Though committing robberies and murders throughout Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Missouri, he is to this day without parental identity. He is also liberally educated, speaking fluently four or five languages, and is seemingly well versed in history. But, up to this time, where he was born, brought up and educated is a mystery. When questioned as to where his parents reside, he promptly responds that they live at home. When interrogated as to where he was educated, he says he educated himself. He, however, does not deny being an outlaw, and makes his boasts of being a thief of no common order, but says he always robbed the rich and gave to the poor. He also claims to be

THE BEST SHOT LIVING,

And says his only regret now is that he did'nt kill both of the officers making the arrest on Friday, as well as the keeper of the pawn shop, and says, had he have gotten to the pavement, he would certainly have made away with all three of them. He denounces all three of them as great cowards and deserving of death. During Saturday and Sunday he was as full of braggadocio as an egg having two yolks is of meat; but since the death of White he has subsided considerably. Now, let us remind you, your space and our time will only permit

A MERE OUTLINE OF HIS CAREER.

And misdemeanors. He was known by other names than the one he goes by at this time—several years ago, in Pennsylvania and Ohio, as a tramp of a bad order. But, for the one few years, he has been operating in Indiana and Illinois as a robber and a murderer. In August last, he was detected in robbing a farm house in the neighborhood of Peoria, Ill., and his depredations throughout that section became so numerous that the good people formed themselves into a sort of

VIGILANCE COMMITTEE

For his arrest. He was finally, after committing many robberies, found or discovered in a cornfield near Gilson, Ill., by the aforesaid committee, and was completely surrounded, and would doubtless have been captured had he been any other man. But he made his escape by wounding some four or five of the number and killing one man outright. Having thus

MADE HIS ESCAPE,

There was nothing definite ever known of his whereabouts until his capture here on the 16th. At the time of his committing said depredations in the State of Illinois, he was wearing a different name from that of Rande. His description was minutely and accurately given out, and some time last September a man answering said description

PAWNED A SMALL SATCHEL

With Ed Wright, the well-known pawnbroker on Pine street, in this city, giving his name as Frank Rande, and borrowing one dollar thereon. Subsequent disclosures revealed the fact that the party that had committed the aforesaid robberies and murders had, in other sections of the country, went by the name of "Rande." Some few weeks before the arrest, Rande wrote to Wright, the pawnbroker, informing him he had lost his ticket, but inclosing the amount borrowed, and requested him to send his satchel to a certain small town in Illinois. In the meantime, however, Wright was advised through mail that a certain tramp had done some work in the aforesaid neighborhood, and, one day, while he had laid his vest down, his pockets were searched and the aforesaid ticket was found, and there were strong suspicions that Rande was the party that committed the robberies and murders around St. Elmo and Gilson. Wright, however, sent the satchel, advising parties of same, and they in return advised him of its capture, and of the supposition that Rande would, most likely, call at his office for the satchel, supposing it had never been sent, and

TO NAB HIM WHEN HE DID CALL.

So, about half past 9 o'clock, Friday, the 16th, Rande entered the pawnshop and said:

"Wright, why did you not send that satchel?"

"What satchel?" said Wright, at the same time giving his clerk the wink to get a policeman.

"Why, my satchel," said Rande; "you know I sent you the money for it."

"Well," said Wright, "I will look over my books and see if it has been sent."

Wright, knowing all the while he had sent it, and was only awaiting the arrival of a policeman, he was very slow about finding his express book. But he finally found it, and, as his clerk had not as yet returned with the officers, he said: "Wait a few moments until the return of my clerk, and I will go with you to the express office and see why it was not delivered."

In a few moments the clerk returned with two officers, when Wright gave them

THE WINK TO ARREST,

And then Officer White laid hands on Rande and told him he was "wanted." Rande at once seized his revolvers, and the other officer seized Rande, and in the melee Rande was shot through the leg and through the breast, and White was shot through the leg, from which he died, as stated. It is not definitely known whose shot it was that killed White, as the policeman fired one, Rande fired one and the clerk in the pawn shop fired two, and from the excitement at the time, though there were several witnesses to the scuffle, none of them could swear positively which shot struck White. And it is also supposed that Rande shot himself in trying to shoot the policeman. But, in order to be as brief as possible, we will say a number of persons from Illinois have arrived and

IDENTIFIED RANDE

As the party that has killed several persons and committed robberies too numerous to mention in that State. On Tuesday last, Governor Phelps granted the requisition of Governor Callow, and he will be taken to Peoria for trial as soon as his wounds will permit the removal. But he has but little idea that he will ever see the inside of a jail, or have the privilege of appearing before a Judge in that State, unless it be Judge Lynch. And many knowing ones say he is quite correct in his conclusions as he is almost certain to

MEET A NECKTIE PARTY

Before he is in that State three hours. It is not generally known how many robberies and murders he has committed from first to last, but one thing is certain: if he is half as bad as he himself boasts of being, he is certainly too mean to live. We have not attempted to give you a detailed account of a single transaction, but if one-fourth of what is said concerning him is true, he certainly deserves a far higher than was the scaffold erected for Haman.

A SAMPLE ATROCITY.

It is said in one neighborhood in Illinois, where he had become a terror to law-abiding citizens, one day an honest old farmer and his wife went visiting, leaving the house alone, and in the evening, when they returned they saw the house had been entered, and just then perceived this fellow leaving, and only a short distance from the house. The old gentleman started after him, simply to see if he had stolen anything, and, as he approached, Rande drew his revolver and said, "D—n you, I have got you now!" and shot him dead. Even after he had shot him through three times, and the man was drawing his last breath, he put his pistol to his ear and shot him through the head, and then walked away as leisurely as if he had just taken a chew of tobacco.

The writer, until very lately, had about arrived at the conclusion that capital punishment was a species of barbarism, and did not belong to this age of churches and Sunday-schools. But our mind has undergone a complete change since the capture of this fellow. Our city papers, the week through, have each day and from one to four columns of his bloody transactions, some of them enough to make one's blood run cold in a mere reading of same. We think, however,

HE HAS COMMITTED HIS LAST MURDER,

And, if Judge Lynch does not handle him within the next few days, he will certainly be convicted and hung. It was agreed, before Gov. Phelps signed the requisition papers, that after the Illinois officials got through with him, if alive, they would return him to Missouri officials, and then he will certainly have a chance to serve the balance of his life in our Penitentiary for killing White. If he did not kill him direct, he has made his boasts that he tried to kill him, and only regrets that he did not succeed and make way with two others.

He was removed on Thursday from the City Hospital (he now being able to dress himself and sit up at intervals) to the County Jail, and it is thought in three or four days he will be able to be removed to Illinois. He said on his way to the jail that lynching was wrong, and a sin against humanity, but that he did not fear death, and, as there was a probability of his meeting Judge Lynch, he would like to

HAVE ALL HIS BODY.

One of the doctors present told him he would give him $10 for it, but he promptly refused the offer, remarking that it was not enough for it.

I have now written quite a lengthy letter, and have scarcely touched my subject, and find myself, with the space that is allowed me, wholly incompetent to do the subject justice, so I will, for the present, drop this unpleasant subject.

CORRECT.

The committee of the School Board, to whom was referred Mr. O'Connell's resolution recommending the discharge of all married lady teachers, report unanimously in opposition to the resolution, and recommend that it is necessary to have at least one married lady teacher in every building in the city as a moral and sanitary rule. And it is said that the married lady teachers are now happy.

SUICIDE.

We have had dark, dismal, gloomy weather all the week, and on Thursday, notwithstanding the precaution at the bridge, another poor mortal jumped from that institution into the other world.

Hoping you will have a good dinner next Thursday, and live to enjoy many such, I will now bid your adieu, and BOB A. LONG.

IF you have fat hogs, be not afraid to make them fatter, for it is the words of some of those who study cause and effect that about the first of January a pound of swine flesh will be of more value than now. But when they get so fat that their grunt is greasy, you may as well let them go for what you can get.

MRS. HAMPTON, the lady mentioned by our Scottsville correspondent, preached here on last Thursday and Friday nights to rather small congregations. One incident which transpired during the meeting has caused considerable indignation and censure on the part of many of the citizens of the town. On Friday night, which is the regular meeting of the "choir" for practice, the organ was taken away from the church to a private house, where the singers met and went through their rehearsals, leaving the church minus the services of both instrumental and vocal music—something that was never before known to be brought about in a similar manner in this town, where lady preachers have, on other occasions, occupied the same pulpit and been furnished music by both the choir and organ. To say the least of the matter, it was shabby treatment.

LAST Thursday at 2 p. m., the nuptial knot uniting W. L. Aylor and Miss Elizabeth Smith was tied, at the residence of the bride's father, by the Rev. Jas. A. Kirtley. The attendants were Miss Fannie Crisler and Wm. J. Rice; Miss Ida Clore and John Harper. Immediately after the marriage, the bride and groom, accompanied by their attendants and three other couples, started to Cincinnati, where they remained over night, returning the next day to Mr. Lystra Aylor's to meet a host of friends and partake of the bountiful feast provided for the occasion. "May they live long and prosper."

Farmers, in this community, so far as we can learn, have about completed gathering corn. The damp and wet weather they are engaged husking corn and stripping tobacco.

We had a little "sleet" in our "ville" the other night in the shape of Ben Sleet. We have not surveyed the contents of O. P. Conner's cellar since his visit. There may be, though, alas! none to survey—i. e., pumpkins, sauer kraut and such.

A literary society was organized at the Locust Grove school-house on last Thursday night. The weather being inclement, those who witnessed the society emerge into existence were few. A programme was arranged for next Thursday night, &c. The proposition for discussion is: "Affirmed that a classical education is preferable to wealth." C. C. Conner and A. C. Kelley affirm and J. T. Marshall and T. Z. Roberts deny. The next meeting will be in part to permanently organize. Let the community around remember the night, and attend. Many pleasant and profitable hours can be spent in those society meetings.

Mrs. Hampton, of the "New-light" Baptist denomination, preached at the Universalist church near here, on Monday and Tuesday nights of last week. She discoursed the last evening on the right woman had to preach the Gospel. We were fortunate enough to listen to the "gracious word," and really that "local" sank into oblivion beneath the overwhelming argumentations indulged in by the speaker.

Now, Brother Editor, don't interrupt the services any more by calling on the brethren to sing. Your call was futile, and, of course, a useless interruption. Now, just your motive for appending that apparently facetious call on the brethren, we can't decipher. It is said "joy shall be in heaven over one sinner that repenteth," and as a song after a written discourse was altogether irrelevant, we are but to conclude that your penitent soul (toward lady preachers of course) desire to hear evidence of joy on earth, by way of a song by the brethren! That's all! Let the brethren hurry on with the song, the benediction will then be pronounced.

"Ring the bells of heaven! spread the feast to-day!
Angels, swell the glad triumphant strain!
Tell the joyful tidings! bear it far away!
For a precious soul is born again."
Hallelujah! for 'tis an editor. So be it.
CITY REPORTER.

[We are not dead, and why this funeral service instituted?—ED.]

Petersburg.

"The rains descended and the floods came," is the quotation, or text which is the foundation of all conversations and lectures now. It is not only the subject of comment on our streets, but it is depressing in the extreme on our spirits. Even our popular and usually vivacious lecturer, W. R. Gordon, yields to the pressure and hangs his head sadly, at the thoughts of the rusty accumulations about his talking apparatus. The reporter for the RECORDER deplores the wetness of the rains, as they keep within doors the usual perpetrators of the mischief, which goes so far to the make up of the interesting(?) items of this column. And lastly, and most surprising of all, the poetical fever of our old friend, Gen. Rice, is cooled by the prevalent dampness to that degree that he sits in his woodshed sadly and alone, singing in that sweetly plaintive voice of his:

The melan—chol—(hic)-ic—days are come,
The saddest of the (hic) year;
Too warm for whisky—punches,
And too (hic) cold for lager beer.

The Woolper bridge is gradually approaching completion. The test, under the supervision of Porter, is reported quite satisfactory, the last item in the programme being a regular "break down" in the middle of the bridge, performed by Porter (250 pounds) and the same lady that crippled him some time since (240 pounds), lasting half an hour to the music of six fiddles, with Sam Taylor prompter, and Aunt America standing by waving her honnet and cheering the dancers. It is generally conceded that no weight will break that bridge down now. The bridge will be ready for the public travel in a few days if the weather will permit the work to go on. The builders, the Smith Bridge Co., of Toledo, Ohio, have given a satisfactory guarantee in writing, with a heavy financial penalty included, that it will sustain, with perfect safety, a weight of 70,000 pounds. As this warrant is from an old reliable corporation, and the weight named about 10 times as much as will ever be put on the bridge at once, we may conclude there is now no danger, and cross as often as we please without a life policy in an insurance company. The wooden floor of the bridge is 270 feet long, making it by far the longest bridge in the county on a public road. The earth fills will add at least 100 feet to this. That it is a structure of considerable magnitude and importance, no one will doubt who sees it once.

Bellevue.

The non-arrival of the RECORDER last Saturday, at this office, created quite a disappointment among its many subscribers (and borrowers,) and many were the anathemas (not loud but deep) gratuitously bestowed by "Star," "Sphinx," and "Rural Youth," upon the attaches of the Mailing Department, in thus miserly holding back their soul inspiring communications from an anxious world.

One of the conspiracies of that little cherub whose coat-of-arms is a "bow and quiver," culminated in the marriage of Mr. M. J. Corbin and Miss Kate Botts, which happy event occurred at the residence of the bride's father on Thursday, the 22nd inst. Elder B. F. Bristow officiated. It is needless to say the bride is beautiful and happy, and from the radiant face of Cousin Mike, we feel justified in saying that he is indeed happy in the realization of "love's young dream." We extend to the stately and handsome pair, the heartiest congratulations of a friend, fervently hoping that their little bark, with its precious freight, may never encounter tempests and "squalls," except, well—a dozen or so of the latter, but always continue to sail peaceably, calmly and smoothly adown the stream of life.

Owing to the truly wonderful pushing and drawing qualities of an invaluable prescription rendered by J. W. Kite, the incipient mustache which adorns (?) the lip of semi-clerk Kelley is developing rapidly. It is not to be expected, at this early day, visible to the naked eye, but Dr. Piatt exultingly informed us that with the aid of Ehrenburg's strongest glasses he was able to discover faint, but infallible signs of a future growth. Don't despair J—i, but remember that "time and patience work wonders strange."

If the looks of Sir Isaac are to be relied upon as an omen, we are led to believe that his 48 hours' hunt, which resulted in his finding one dead rabbit, and the wounding of a squirrel, was an unsatisfactory one, or that his entrance into the realms of speculation, was pecuniarily a disastrous one. Let his lordship place his banner on the outer walls, and adopt the motto "Excelsior," and try again.

After much "trials and tribulations," we discern that the church at this "New Jerusalem" is adorned by a handsome belfry, and "ere another moon shall wane," we anticipate hearing the dulcet tones of a 400-pound bell calling "the righteous, not sinners, to repentance."

The non-appearance of "Rural Youth," in the columns of the RECORDER last week, was due to the fact that we, like other "poor benighted folks" of Bellevue, had not yet recovered from the shock occasioned by the heedless conduct of your Petersburg correspondent in throwing so much "light of civilization" on our poor little brains so suddenly. It is refreshing to think, however, that we, even we, with a little assistance and advice from the Petersburg "knight of the quill," may, in the dim vista of futurity, arrive at the dignity of at least parting our name in the middle a la your Petersburg correspondent. "Ta ta, dear Frank." RURAL YOUTH.

Jonas Clore has raised his house and the carpenters are incloing it.

We notice that uncle Mike, the old Grauger, is selling his coal off rapidly, to make place for the Judge who seems bont on covering that "town place over with buildings."

"Old B—y" is still troubled about that "hoss pole," and don't know why it should be raised up over the road before the road is completed. "It interferes with the travel on the road, sir; can't go under it, sir."

A few mornings since, as Dr. Gill Rice was driving some of his cattle to the pasture, and in attempting to ride past one, his horse turned suddenly and fell with him, hurting him severely but breaking no bones. When we last heard from him he was somewhat easier.

Mrs. L. P. Arnold has been quite sick with disease of the stomach, but is now some better.

Miss Ella Baker returned from Madison, Indiana, a few days since, where she has been going to school for some time, her health not allowing of her prosecuting her studies longer.

Congratulations for Mr. M. J. Corbin and lady are now in order. Here Mike, is our ☞. SPHINX.

Died.

PIATT—At the residence of her parents, No. 18 Robbins st., Covington, Ky., at 10 minutes past 6 o'clock a. m. November 21st, 1877, of congestion of the brain, Martha Vincent, daughter of Major Benjamin M. and Theodora M. Piatt, aged 7 years and 2 months.

Sweet, sinless child, farewell, a long farewell!
Sad, loving hearts beat low for thee to-day.
Oh, bitter tears! their number who can tell?
Alas! how long in darkness must we stay?

Dear one, in Death thou enterest on Life.
While we must stay to draw this tedious breath,
Thou hast escaped the rough and toilsome strife,
But we remain in life which is but death.

Oh! when near heaven's bright and shining throne,
We [illegible] reap their rich reward,
Lift thy sweet voice to God in gentle tone,
And ask Him all your cherished ones to guard!

Ayer's

Sarsaparilla

For Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose, or St. Anthony's Fire, Eruptions and Eruptive diseases of the skin, Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Blotches, Tumors, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa, arising from internal ulceration, and Uterine disease, Syphilitic and Mercurial diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, General Debility, and for Purifying the Blood.

This Sarsaparilla is a combination of vegetable alteratives—Stillingia, Mandrake, Yellow Dock—with the Iodides of Potassium and Iron, and is the most efficacious medicine yet known for the diseases it is intended to cure.

Its ingredients are so skilfully combined, that the full alterative effect of each is assured, and while it is so mild as to be harmless even to children, it is still so effectual as to purge out from the system those impurities and corruptions which develop into loathsome disease.

The reputation it enjoys is derived from its cures, and the confidence which prominent physicians all over the country repose in it, prove their experience of its usefulness.

Certificates attesting its virtues have accumulated, and are constantly being received, and as many of these cases are publicly known, they furnish convincing evidence of the superiority of this Sarsaparilla over every other alterative medicine. So generally is its superiority to any other medicine known, that we need do no more than to assure the public that the best qualities it has ever possessed are strictly maintained.

THE BOONE COUNTY RECORDER

BURLINGTON, KY., NOVEMBER 29.

THE SOCIAL PROPHET.

BY MARK HOWARD.

He seems a man who merits praise
In certain qualities and ways,
And would be nice to meet, if oh!
He would not say, "I told you so!"

I dare affirm that never yet
My lips have framed, since first we met,
A piece of news he did not know,
But he has said, "I told you so!"

He lives in one incessant state
Of proving all the acts of fate,
Explained with clearness long ago,
When, just as now, he "told you so!"

He scented Smith's financial crash,
He saw the Barber's Bank would smash;
And as for gold declining low,
Why, six weeks since, he "told us so!"

When Dobbs decamped with Dobbins' spouse,
He failed to raise astonished brows;
When old Miss Drimal found a beau,
He softly sighed, "I told you so!"

If I informed him, some fine day,
There'd been an earthquake in Bombay,
Or that the Thames had ceased to flow,
He'd surely smile, "I told you so!"

Straight in his face ere long I'll shout,
"You're quite the biggest humbug out!"
And then, perchance, he may forego,
Once in his life, "I told you so!"

How a Young Wife Cured Her Husband of "Brain Fever."

A young wife in Michigan had just got settled in her new home. All seemed fair and promising, for she did not know that her husband was a drunkard. But one night he came home at a very late hour, and much the worse for liquor. When he staggered into the house, the wife, who was greatly shocked, told him he was sick, and to lie down at once; and in a moment or two he was comfortably settled on a sofa in a drunken sleep. His face was a reddish purple, his breathing was heavy, and altogether he was a pitiable-looking object.

The doctor was sent for in posthaste, and mustard applied to his feet and hands. When the doctor came and felt his pulse and examined him, and found that he was only drunk, he said:

"He will be all right in the morning."

But the wife insisted that he was very sick and that severe remedies must be used.

"You must shave his head and apply blisters," she urged, "or I will send for some one who will."

The husband's head was accordingly shaved closely and blisters applied.

The patient lay all night in a drunken sleep, and, notwithstanding the blisters were eating into his flesh, it was not till near morning that he began to beat about, disturbed by pain.

About daylight he woke up to a most uncomfortable consciousness of blistered agonies.

"What does this mean?" he said, putting his hands to his bandaged head.

"Lie still—you musn't stir," said the wife; "you have been very sick."

"I'm not sick."

"Oh, yes, you are; you have the brain fever. We have worked with you all night."

"I should think you had," groaned the poor victim. "What's the matter with my feet?"

"They are all blistered."

"Well, I'm better now; take off the the blisters—do," he pleaded, piteously.

He was in a most uncomfortable state—his head covered with sores, and his feet and hands were still worse.

"Dear," he said, groaning, "if I should ever get sick in this way again, don't be alarmed and send for a doctor, and, above all, don't blister me again."

"Oh, indeed I will; all that saved you were the blisters, and if you have another such a spell I should be more frightened than ever; for the tendency I am sure is to apoplexy, and from the next attack you will be likely to die unless there are the severest measures used."

He made no further defense. Suffice it say, he never had another attack.

Borrowing Money.

It is awkward for a traveler to run out of funds, and find himself obliged to borrow in order to reach home. People with money are shy of giving at such times, as they are often imposed on by roughs who tell a plausable story.

The late George Ticknor, of Boston, once had a pleasant experience under such circumstances. He was returning, when a young man, from a three years visit to Europe. The vessel was a slow sailer, and he was thoroughly weary of the long voyage, and anxious to reach home. Off New Bedford he persuaded the captain to put him on land. But his money was all out, and he had no way of reaching Boston. His faith in human nature, however, was strong. He went to the best hotel in the place, and inquired of the landlord who was the wealthiest man in town. On this person he called, introduced himself, told his story, and begged a loan. The response was prompt and generous. All the money he needed was freely given, and in a short time he was on his way to Boston as fast as good horses could convey him.

A good book and a good woman are excellent things for those who know how to justly appreciate their value. There are men, however, who judge of both from the beauty of their covering.

Spiritualism and the Order of Nature.

This ultra-material realm, it is claimed, is manifested by material effects. But it is not by those effects which occur regularly and uniformly, and to which we give the name of laws, that it is the office of science to trace out. These are not attributed to spiritual agencies. The spirits are never alleged to be the spirit of cohesion, refraction, digestion, gravity, or any of the matter-of-course operations that go on around us. They are only disclosed to us by striking, wonderful, exceptional or miraculous manifestations; that is, the common order of nature gets along without them, and they are only known by breaking through it. In nature we see with our eyes; in the "psychic realm" men are said to see with the back of their heads. In nature tables remain at rest upon the floor forever unless some definite terrestrial force is applied to move them; in the "psychic realm" they travel about or rise to the ceiling without the intervention of any earthly cause. In nature a bouquet will not pass through the woody barrier of a door, or resisting masonry of a wall; in the "psychic realm" "a large bunch of hollyhock, asters, laurels, and others shrubs and flowers," is mysteriously spirited into a house without coming through the usual opening in the usual way by which material bodies are transferred. In nature, if a man unguardedly loses his balance in a window, he falls to the earth; but in the "psychic realm" Mr. Home "floats in the air by moonlight out of one window and in at another at a height of seventy feet from the ground." In nature, if we wish to go to a house, we must walk there or get a conveyance to be carried, and then can only get inside by the opening of some passage of entrance; but in the "psychic realm" buxom Mrs. Guppy "sails through the air all the way from Highbury Park to Lamb's Conduit street, and was brought by invisible agency into a room of which the doors and windows were closed and fastened, coming plump in the midst of eleven persons who were sitting in the dark shoulder to shoulder."—From Science Monthly.

Wanted to Get on the Jury.

Presently the stillness of the court-room was interrupted by the entrance of a man who came in with a shuffling, uneasy step, and with his hat in his hand. He halted and leaned against the railing. Nobody took the slightest notice of him, however. At last he took courage and spoke:

"Is the Judge in?"

The clerk immediately awoke his Honor.

"Well, what do you want?"

"I'm looking for a job, your Honor. I've been looking for work for over a month."

"There's nothing for you here."

"I thought you occasionally gave jurymen a job. I don't read newspapers any, and bein' a stranger in town I haven't got any predjudice agin any body. A pard of mine wrote down to me at Reno last week and said that the jury business was brisk up here, an' it would pay to come up. As I am a stranger to you and a little hard up, I'll start in and serve for a case or two for half price till you kin see what I kin do."

"What are your main qualifications?"

"My strong suit is to make a jury agree. No juries ever get hung if I'm on 'em. I just lay low till they take the first ballot, then jine the majority and argee the rest into it. I can discount any lawyer talking. I can show 'em up points that they never tumbled to before. Sometimes I have to use force, but seldom. Once down at Truckee, in a murder case, there were a couple of fellars standin' out agin hangin', and after arguing with 'em as smooth and gentlemanly as I could for over a quarter of an hour, I went for 'em with chairs, and by the time I'd busted half a dozen pieces of furniture over 'em they were glad to come in with a verdict of 'Murder in the first degree,' an' the fellar was hung not long afterward. In these justice courts I can get on a jury, and if you'll just give me a wink as to how you want the case to go, I'll gurantee to fetch in the verdict you want, or not take a cent."

The man was told to drop around again in a day or so and they would try and make a vacancy for him.

He was a wild Texan, just from the frontier, and had boarded the train at Fort Worth. It was his first ride on the "kers," and as the conductor reached in his hip pocket for his punch, the sharp eyes of Texas caught a glimpse of the polished handle, and, quick as thought, he leveled a navy six at the conductor, saying: "Put'er up, or I'll blow daylight out of you! No man can get the drop on me."

The clerk of a criminal court having read the indictment of a prisoner for horse-stealing, said to him: "Guilty, or not guilty?" "Wal," he responded, "I'm guilty fast enough, but then I want to be tried just the same, 'specially as I see several of our boys on the jury.

A Southern paper has the news that base-balls will be delivered from small cannon next year, and that the catchers will be ironclad. Thus, in our sports do we progess backward to the middle ages, when the players wore armor.

"ONE OF THE BOYS."

BY GEORGE Z. EAGLES.

Lower the curtains, Jack, softly,
And light up the chandelier;
Stir up the fire, there, lightly,
Now draw to my bedside here
I've something to say at parting,
The shadows are stealing nigh,
So bow your head while I whisper,
And list to me ere I die.

Prop up the pillows, Jack, gently,
Then give me your hand in mine;
No chink of glittering glasses,
No flowing of amber wine;
I've got a few words to say, lad,
'Bout the times we two have seen,
When, filling the crystal goblets,
We drank to women—our queen.

Ah! many a night, old fellow,
As the time flew swift along,
We've flooded the air with laughter,
And filled the hours with song. [hearts,
We've pledged our friends and our sweet-
We've drank to our true love's eyes,
To the blue, the black, and the hazel,
Till stars faded from the skies.

We two have roamed home together
Full many a morn, my lad,
Shouting the echoing chorus,
Roystering, reckless and glad.
We've tasted life's sweets together,
We've drank at it's springs of joy,
But, Jack, the curtain is falling—
I'm dying to-night, my boy.

I lived while I lived for pleasure—
I filled my cup to the brim—
Nor thought of the solemn shadows,
The specters and phantoms grim
That waited beyond my vision,
That cluster around me now,
That touch with their sable pinions
My aching and fevered brow.

E'er true to the tics that bound us,
Old friend, you alone are here
Of all who joined us in revel,
To watch 'mid the shadows drear.
Beyond gay voices are ringing,
And eyes gleam joyous and bright;
Say, Jack, do they know I'm dying
Here in my chamber to-night?

As freely the red wine bubbles
And foams in the crystal glass—
Do they give a thought, I wonder,
To me, as the hours pass?
Do they think, 'mid sparkling bumpers
Of old Bourbon and old Rye,
That I'm lying in the shadow?
Do they tout me as I die?

Will they miss me at the banquet,
Will they miss me, think you, Jack?
And upon the old times faded,
Will their eyes look kindly back?
Will they think of when we gathered
In the moonlight on the hills,
Drinking red wine and catawba,
Careless, thoughtless of life's ills?

Ah, well! 'twas a fleeting pleasure,
The wine and the laughing eyes—
The blue, the black, and the hazel,
Where the luring love-lights rise.
For you, old ehum, they are waiting;
From me they have flown away;
The nights on the gleaming hilltops
Have gone from my life for aye!

I've been thinking, Jack, old fellow,
That my days have gone to waste;
That my revels and carousings
Were tho fruit of pampered taste.
Through all the years that have faded
I never have known a care,
And now, as the death-gloom gathers,
I can't remember a prayer.

I've been nursing the hollow beauties,
I've cherished the fleeting joys;
My life has been spent in seeking
A bliss that burdens and cloys.
Past honors seem strangely barren
Of good in my clouded sight,
And, Jack, the future looks misty
And dark, as I die to-night.

Remember, sometimes, old fellow,
Our friendship when I am dead,
When the bright-hued birds of summer
Sing sweetly above my head.
You'll think of our days together,
Of rollicking times now past,
But, Jack, don't "tie" to their glamour,
The shadows fall 'round at last.

Prop up the pillows, Jack, gently,
Then give me your hand in mine—
No chink of glittering glasses,
No flowing of amber wine.
We've tasted life's sweets together,
We've drank at its springs of joy;
But, Jack, the curtain is falling,
I'm dying, to-night, my boy.

—Breakfast Table.

THE Cincinnati Commercial says:

"During the week ending with the 26th, property in the United States to the amount of over $680,000 was destroyed by fire; and it was not very good week for fires either. The average, taking the year through, is not less than one million of dollars a week, and with the best fire departments in the world."

THE St. Louis Times says, as President Hayes will before long have to rely upon a Democratic Senate to confirm his appointments, he might as well begin to try it now. While he is gradually getting used to it, the appointments do not get confirmed as rapidly as they might.

ON the 27th ult., a negro, for attempting rape, was hanged from the Court-house window in Columbia, Tennessee. Court was in session when the negro attempted the outrage, and the excitement ran so high it was adjourned, as was also most all other business suspended.

DURING those damp, drizzly days in this section, last week, heavy rains were falling in many parts of Virginia, and some portions of the State were inundated by the rivers overflowing their banks. The city of Richmond was partly under water.

THE President of the Security Life Insurance Company in New York was last week sentenced to five years in the State Penitentiary for swearing to a lie.

DON'T know that anyone lost their ears last Thursday, but we noticed many apparently holding them on their upper story.

GET down your snow shovel. The prophets say twenty-seven snows are booked for this section.

WE took snow, instead of turkey, in ours. It's a good substitute, if you can't do better.

Chronic Grumblers.

Is it true that our courts fail to administer the law, and that our Judges have no official integrity? that our Sheriffs and public Prosecutors can be purchased? Is it true that such has been the case for years, until now there is a growing opinion among the people that mob law is becoming a necessary institution of society, and the court of Judge Lynch entitled to more esteem among us than those established by our State Constitution and laws? All these things are true, and even then the half were not told, if we accept as a Gospel verity the complaints and clamors so glibly bandied about from one to another. If we listen to these fault-finders and grumblers, and believe them, we will find ourselves compelled to consider this as the most abominable abode of thieves, cut-throats and assassins on earth, instead of a land of liberty, law and civilization.

These same grumblers, as a general thing, will be found belonging to that class who are ready to condemn any and every change in the laws and institutions of the country, and apparently believe society has, for a generation past, advanced backward in all that conduces to the good order, welfare and happiness of the people.

They will stoutly defend, or pretend to, the absolute right and the ability of the people to choose their own officers, as now provided by the Constitution and laws of the State, and at the same time insist that, under the operation of this elective system, the legislative and judicial departments of the government have, for years, been filled, not infrequently, with knaves and fools; and thus we are informed that, under the most perfect system of government the world has yet produced among men, we are going at lightning speed on the down grade to perdition.

We are told that the courts have become useless, because A, charged with murder, was not speedily tried and condemned and executed. What is the evil complained of in this case? Nothing, when we arrive at its essence, except that the court and officials had not accepted and acted upon the opinions and desires of some outside croakers, who think it statesmanship to balance a little delay and costs against the life or liberty of a fellow man for whom they chance to have no sympathy. A's life is involved in the result of his trial. He declares, upon oath, that he has not had time to prepare his defense, and that his witnesses are absent, and their attendance can not be procured at once; he therefore wishes a continuance to enable him to prepare his defense. The Judge, acting under the law established for centuries, and approved by the wisest and best men, grants further time. Other cases, under like circumstances, are dealt with in a similar manner, and the Judge is denounced as a fool, or else the defense has bought him.

Now, these croakers will negotiate for six months, some of them, to save five dollars in a horse swap, and call it acting with discretion; and yet they would force a fellow being into a trial for his life unprepared, and without giving him one quarter of the time they wisely require to determine a horse trade. They will pile affidavit upon affidavit as high as the Court-house, begging a Justice of the Peace to continue a suit involving the correctness of a ten-dollar whisky bill, and, when the favor is granted, walk out and denounce the Judge of the Criminal Court for granting a like favor to one whose life or liberty is at stake.

We hear of packing juries and buying Judges and all such stuff as if the like were of daily occurrence. If any gentleman knows the name of any Judge in this Commonwealth, high or low, who has, on any occasion, sold out or decided any case influenced by corrupt motives, it is his privilege and highest duty to tell all he knows and see that the law is enforced against the party. If anyone knows a case where a jury has been packed, tell who did it, when and how. By concealing these things, if such things exist to our knowledge, we become ourselves as guilty as the guiltiest. It is time for gentlemen knowing of so much corruption in official circles to begin the exposure in a way that will help reform, and cease this indiscriminate slandering and willifying all in authority. Assist in purifying the atmosphere, and quit this everlasting hissing and spitting venom on all sides, for much of it must inevitably fly back in your faces.

THE want of a leader in the Republican party in the United States Senate is very noticeable. When Morton died, the party lost its head, and in the Senate it is now beat about in all directions. The naked truth of the matter is, neither party has a leader of any importance at present.

MINNEAPOLIS millers have paid out one million two hundred and fifty thousand dollars for grain since September 1. Talk about grinding poverty in the West, will you?

CHURCH festivals are now in order.

FRANCE, it now seems, will indulge in a little unpleasantness.

IT is said only six Northern Republicans in Congress now stand by the President.

THE colored population is building a church in the northwest portion of the town.

EWING and Pendleton are claimed to be the champions for United States Senator in Ohio.

ONE thing for which we were exceedingly thankful last Thursday was a basket of nice apples sent us by Mr. J. O. Huey.

TWO new coal stoves and a chandelier will be quite an improvement in the way of furniture in the Methodist Church here.

SOME "dads" start their boys out in the world with a pocketful of money; others start theirs out with the toe of their boot.

THE more modern advertisement for a husband reads: "Wanted—A husband; the man not so much an object as his money."

EIGHTEEN Regulators were arrested in Robertson County and tried for brushing up one Kapler. The Regulators were acquitted.

A FEW days since, Col. Jas. L. Henderson, called upon us. The Colonel says he has given up his pack of hounds, and as a substitute has purchased a $200 organ.

IT is reported that Alexander H. Stephens says unless the Resumption Act is repealed, or some financial relief furnished the country, riot and bloodshed will be the result.

And dig your turnips. They are ripe;

THE Turks are still kept busy keeping out of the way of the Russians. The Russians now seem about to overrun the entire country heretofore occupied by Turkish forces.

THE Cynthiana Democrat wants the carrying of concealed deadly weapons made a Penitentiary offense. What an immense building it would take to hold the prisoners!

OUR clever Circuit Clerk, J. W. Duncan, requests us to say that hereafter he will positively refuse to file suits before the tax is paid. Mr. Attorney, take or send the funds along with your petition.

THE Sunday Morning Breakfast Table is the name of a handsome eight-page paper, recently sprung into existence in Cincinnati. It is a spicy sheet, finely printed, and well filled with a choice selection of humorous articles.

THERE are now thirty-one applicants for the position of gate-keeper on the Bellevue end of the pike, and it is thought they are not all heard from yet. The disappointed candidates can apply for some of the county offices next August.

THE United States man-of-war Huron, was wrecked off the coast of North Carolina last week. Of one hundred and thirty-five men on board, only thirty were saved. The disaster is the greatest that has befallen an American vessel for some time.

IT seems that the Sheriff of Tarrant County, Texas, is going to sell out the county for taxes. The Fort Worth Democrat, of last week, contains fifteen columns of Sheriff's advertisement. Each column contains over 100 tracts of land advertised for sale. The taxes for which the sale is to be made are for the years 1873-4-5.

IT seems that Hon. John W. Stephenson is looming up as a candidate for United States Senator. Stephenson is undoubtedly the ablest man the Democratic party has in the State, and is far more talented than any of the present aspirants. The General Assembly could do no better than give him the office. He is the best man in the State for it.

THE creditors of Caleb Carpenter and W. A. Carpenter meet the assignee on Tuesday next. Mr. Crigler, the assignee, requests us to say that the list of liabilities of the Carpenter brothers, published in the BOONE COUNTY RECORDER last week, is gravely incorrect, especially the statement that Mr. Warner, of Lexington, is a creditor in the sum of $20,000. Mr. Warner's claim will not exceed a third of that amount.—Cincinnati Enquirer, November 28.

THE seating of Butler, from South Carolina, in the United States Senate has given that body an enormous amount of work. The Senate was in session twenty-eight consecutive hours, commencing Monday of last week, and only succeeded in discharging the committee to which the case was referred from further consideration of it. Wednesday, a vote on the proposition to seat Butler was reached, and resulted in a tie, leaving the President of the Senate the casting vote, which he gave against Butler's being seated.

AND now cometh the strangest item of all. We have heard of cow-snakes, pigs, &c., sucking cows, but it now appeareth that our town cows are actually deprived of the lacteal fluid by lean and hungry dogs. These dogs lie around the pastures, and, when the opportunity offers, they will suck a cow "quicker nor you could say keno." They are closely watched now by some of our riflemen, and the next startling report from our city will be that some man's dog has died of kleptomania, made premature by an overdose of buckshot. So mote it be.—Mt. Sterling Democrat.

THE BOONE COUNTY RECORDER

W. L. RIDDELL,
Editor and Proprietor.

BURLINGTON, KY., DECEMBER 6.

LAST week two slight shocks of earthquake were felt in Oregon.

RANDE, the Illinois desperado, was not lynched while on his way to Galesburg.

ON last Friday an Indian was hanged at Napa, California, for the murder of another Indian last June.

ON last Monday the Court of Appeals reversed the decision of the Kenton Circuit Court in the Cave will case.

THE President vetoes the Silver bill in advance; or, in other words, he lets the Senate know that he will veto it if passed.

IF the work of reconstructing the United States Senate is ever completed, probably there will be some legislation done.

OCCASIONALLY the United States Senate is so evenly balanced, politically, that the Vice-President has things his own way.

AT last Senator Blaine is again able to take his place in the Senate. He and Conkling will now contend for the leadership of the party.

THE notorious Kentucky desperado, Grove Kennedy, will be tried at Lancaster, Ky., his trial commencing on the 16th of this month.

THE manipulators of the mail at Grant Postoffice should take steps to have their mail sent by the way of Burlington at once. Winter, with its ice, is at hand.

THE admission of Kellogg, of Louisiana, and Butler, of South Carolina, to seats in the United States Senate, was doubtless a swap on the part of the political parties of one for the other.

NOW let's suppose a case. Suppose that, during the session of the Legislature this winter, some member, who has reform at heart, should introduce a bill to reduce twenty per cent. the pay of every officer who is paid out of the public Revenue; do you suppose it would pass? We don't suppose it would.

IN the Mississippi Legislature the Democrats have a majority of twenty to one. In the State Senate there are two Republicans, while in the Lower House there are five Republicans and six Independents. On a joint ballot, the Democrats have over one hundred majority. In Mississippi there are about thirty-three thousand more black voters than white.

IN the Cincinnati Enquirer, of last Saturday, is a card from "Rise up William Allen," in which he positively declines to allow, under any circumstances, his name used in the contest in that State for the office of United States Senator. Allen is a Morgan man, and recommends him as the best man for the position. Thus the matter as to Allen seems off the boards.

THE Democrats assert that Kellogg is not to escape punishment because he has succeeded in getting into the Senate. They say that an investigating committee is still at work in Louisiana, and that enough evidence has already been procured upon which to base five indictments against Kellogg for alleged misappropriations of public funds, which indictments it is claimed will soon be returned.

THE Senate Committee on Appropriations almost doubled the appropriations in the Deficiency Bill. The House appropriated $1,575,169 59, and the Senate Committee added in the aggregate, $1,018,201 13, making a total of $2,593,370 72. Among the largest sums added are $500,000 for Star mail service, $325,000 for the building of the State, War and Navy Department, and $20,000 for the printing of the official Rebellion record.

THE forthcoming report of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue shows that there have been over three thousand illicit distilleries running in the United States during the past year. Most of these stills are located in the South and Southwest, although Maryland and Pennsylvania have quite a number of these illicit institutions in operation within their borders. The fifth district of North Carolina has been the harbor of the most of the frauds in the tobacco manufacture. Last spring, eighteen factories were seized and suppressed by the authorities.

THE following weather programme for this month is laid out by Professor Tice:

1st to 3d, cloudy and threatening, with severe rain or snow storms; 4th to 6th, clear and cold; 7th to 9th, cloudy and threatening, with rain or snow storms in places; 9th and 10th, clear or fair and cold; 11th to 14th, variable, generally cloudy and threatening with heavy rains and snow falls in places, accompanied by heavy gales; 17th to 18th, clear and cold; 18th to 20th, clouding and threatening, with rain or snow; 21st to 23d, clear, or fair and cold; 23d to 25th, cloudy and threatening, with heavy rain or snow storms and high winds; 26th to 29th, clear and cold; 30th to 31st, clouding and threatening, with rain or snow. The warm periods will be about the 2nd, 8th 9th, 12th, 19th, 25th and 31st. The colder periods will be about the 5th, 10th, 15th, 20th and 26th.

THE Cincinnati Commercial discourseth thusly on the money question: "The contraction of false money, the destruction of shams in order to enjoy the reality, is sometimes necessary; but there never is occasion for contracting the real money. People who cry out about the distruction by fire of a pile of dirty rags, and think the wealth of the country has passed off in a vapor, are mistaken. The rags are not valuable. Real money possesses intrinsic value. We impoverish a people if we deprive them of it. It is to the contraction of specie we object. The money sharps who would deprive the world of silver in its character and office of money, would do an incalculable mischief; and they have already accomplished enough to cause widespread industrial and commercial depression."

PINCHBACK is still hammering at the door of the Senate for admission. He has been pounding there for several sessions, and is likely to be refused admission for some time to come. The history of the case is about this: Pinchback was elected Senator from Louisiana for the term beginning March 4th, 1873, and ending March 4th 1879. Upon the credentials this election accured him he made the first fight for the seat, but lost. In 1874 the same Legislature indorsed him by a joint resolution. In 1875 a new Legislature was elected and organized in Louisiana. This new organization, under a resolution of both Houses, as if in a case of a vacancy, proceeded to a re-election of Pinchback. He was declared elected and again went to Washington, his credentials this time being a regular certificate signed by the Governor and Secretary of State, and it is upon these later credentials Pinchback now relies for admission.

ST. LOUIS LETTER.

ST. LOUIS, MO., December 1, 1877.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

On Tuesday morning last, Sheriff Frank Hitchcock, of Peoria County, Sheriff A. B. Braggren, of Knox County, and William Kellogg, Circuit Attorney of the Peoria District, arrived here and joined J. M. Kinney and S. L. Gill, Superintendent of Police and Deputy Sheriff of Peoria, who arrived here on Monday evening. The party spent the forenoon Tuesday perambulating our streets, and discussing matters pertaining to the man Rande, who has furnished our own papers as well as the papers throughout the land so much reading matter the past eight or ten days. Late that afternoon the desperado was taken from his cell, and placed on board a train of cars for Galesburg, Illinois. Trouble being anticipated at some point along the route, the Republican sent a reporter along to advise its readers of whatever of interest might occur. It would seem that the good people along the route had some intuition of the passing of the notorious villain through their midst, as the platforms at all the stations along the route were crowded with people anxious to get a sight at the man that has in the past twelve months caused so many tears to be shed throughout their State. But be it said to the credit of the people of the State, though they probably had had enough to excite them into a frenzy, the notorious murderer was permitted to arrive at the place of destination, and to quietly enter the cell prepared for him. The next day after his arrival there, he was identified by a number of witnesses as the man who shot and killed Belden, in the neighborhood of Gilson, in August last. But we may as well remark as we proceed, since we last wrote you, he has been identified as the man who murdered and robbed a merchant in Sparta, Illinois, some time last summer. But his trial for the murder of Belden, will most likely commence next Tuesday week, at the town of Galesburg. He having plead poverty, the court has appointed three well known attorneys to defend him. Should he escape conviction in that instance, he will be taken to some two or three other points in that State for like offenses, and should he escape all the charges against him in that State, Indiana will have a few indictments against him to be satisfied for robbery. And should he triumph in all these, he will then be brought back to Missouri to let the good people of this State try their hand with him. The papers of yesterday inform us he was provided with turkey and other good things on Thanksgiving day, of which he ate very heartily, and for which he said he was very thankful whether he lived to eat many such or not. It is said that he will have two or three witnesses in the Belden trial and that the State will have some thirty or forty, some of whom say they saw him fire the shot that killed Belden. But it will be remembered that Belden, a quiet old farmer, was acting with a company, without a warrant, to effect his arrest, when he was killed, and it is contended that, neither of the party trying to make the arrest having a warrant, will make a strong point in Rande's favor. But we will probably see or hear of the end of this miserable piece of humanity by this time next week.

Bishop E. M. Marvin, D. D., perhaps the most talented man of the Methodist Church South, died suddenly at his residence in this city on Monday last. The Sunday a week previous, he preached as many as three times, and promised to live about as long as any man of his age, and in years he was but little beyond the prime of life. He was, however, about the middle of the following week attacked with a slight chill, which was followed by chill after chill until Monday morning, when death released him from his suffering. His funeral took place Thursday at Centenary Church, being attended by a large concourse of intimate friends. Ministers of the various pulpits throughout the city were in attendance, which is but a just and appropriate tribute to a great and good man. The funeral discources was delivered by Bishop McFyeirs, which also was a pretty testimonial of the virtues and graces of a man, who, seemingly, lived but for the good of others.

Thanksgiving day passed off with its usual ceremonies and incidents; but the day was so intensely cold throughout, that scarcely anyone could feel comfortable. Wednesday was a rather a dark, cloudy day, with indications of either rain or snow, but by dark of that day, a cold westerner came up, and by 7 o'clock Thursday morning, thermometers throughout the city were down to 15° and 16°, and the wind continued to blow during the day, making walking on the streets anything but pleasant. Friday morning the thermometers were down to 12° and but a slight breeze stirring.

Mr. O. F. Lowe, a prominent business man of this city, who is seemingly in easy circumstances, and particularly blessed in family relations, being the husband of Mrs. Lowe, the great singer, tried to create a sensation on Thanksgiving day, by intentionally shooting himself, but did not make a success of it. He is alive and a kicking to-day, and says he was an awful big fool, and I expect he is, not having heard anybody say anything to the contrarry yet.

My letter is now long enough. I will lay my pen down and BOB A. LONG.

The X on your paper means that your subscription has expired.

"BUSINESS IS BUSINESS."

It is very annoying to us to be constantly reminding our patrons that their subscriptions have expired, and have them pay no attention to the notices. In some few instances, persons have let their subscriptions remain unpaid till they actually conclude they have paid them, and so contend. Now, to avoid this difficulty in the future, we will commence the year 1878 with a revised mailing list, dropping, January 1st, all those who have at that time been notified of the expiration of their time, and having failed to renew, and an account made out and presented to each individual who is indebted to us on subscription. We have to pay cash for both labor and material, and, therefore, are compelled to have what is due us. We hope that our friends will attend to this matter, and render it unnecessary for us to drop a single name.

THE pike is done.

WHEN the time came, winter was here.

RUM punch causes many to get punched.

THE fine weather the front part of the week was of short duration.

THE first snow kept coming, but by the time it got here it was all gone.

THE building of an important crossing is now under way, but not before needed.

THE Grangers had a bad day for celebrating the anniversary of the Order, Tuesday.

THE farmers generally pronounce the corn this fall of superior quality. The ears are large, sound and weighty.

MRS. JOHN B. ACRA died last Saturday. Mrs. Acra was an aged lady, and had been in bad health for some time.

"MR. SHERIFF, clear that aisle!" will echo from wall to wall more than once during the next term of the Criminal Court.

A "HUNK o' 'lasses candy" and a quarter section of corn cake makes up our presents this week. That's living, ain't it?

THE diphtheria is still prevalent in the Hebron neighborhood. Dr. J. F. Smith was called thither in consultation last Monday.

MESSRS. CONNER & SLEET bought, in the neighborhood of Beaver Lick, last week, a drove of 800 hogs which averaged 375 pounds.

OUR friend J. M. Palmer has another responsibility added in this life. It's a boy, and has been with him since Friday night. Mr. Palmer is happy.

WE heard it said, Monday, that Col. Milt Hamilton is going to make an attempt to have the Legislature, this winter, reduce the salary of the Governor.

HORATIO B. RIDDELL and Miss Nannie Greenwood, of Covington, were married on last Tuesday. We wish the couple a long life and happiness without limit.

THE ministers who expected to hold a series of meetings at this place during the week, closed the services Sunday evening, one of them being unwell and not in a condition to preach.

We were creditably informed, last Monday, that a paper for the subscription of stock on the proposed pike from Wm. Walton's across to John W. Berkshire's was being circulated and liberal subscriptions put down.

A DOORSTEP gave way with Mrs. Jesse Kerkpatrick, the other evening, precipitating her to the ground. In the fall she struck the edge of the step, and, it is thought, fractured one or more of her ribs. She, however, is going about.

AN exchange says: "Many people judge the value of newspapers by their size. The larger the paper the better it is, in their estimation; and, according to their judgment, a copper cent is of much greater value than a gold dollar, because it is the larger."

WE are informed that Eli Rouse, near Hebron, has, during the past three weeks, lost three of his children by diphtheria. This is a severe affliction, and especially so they being all the children in the family. Mr. Rouse is at this writing very sick himself.

WE are informed that our friend of not married notoriety has been mixed up in a trading transaction which caused him to keep beyond the optical range of a certain stock trader from beyond la belle riviere. It, we suppose, was another of his practical jokes.

ONE day last week, Squire Oscar Gaines fell from a load of hay, while in the city of Cincinnati, and was badly hurt by striking his head against a passing dray. This is the second time Mr. Gaines has been seriously injured by falling off of loads of hay within the past year.

THE pilgrims who passed here en route westward a twelvemonth or more since, seem to be retracing their steps. Every few days a train of wagons laden with pale and agueish-looking individuals go through town traveling to the East, in search of more and better homes.

DURING 1878 the following important events will occur in the planetary world: An annual eclipse of the sun will take place February 2d, and is visible in Australia. A partial eclipse of the moon will occur February 17th, and is visible in this country. On the 29th of July there will be a total eclipse of the sun, which will be total near to a line drawn through Kingston, Jamaica; Galveston, TEXAS; Denver, Colorado; and Virginia City, Montana. A partial eclipse of the moon, visible to portions of all the continents, will take place on Aug 12th, and a transit of Mercury, visible to a large portion of the world, on May 6th.

County Court.

The weather, last Monday, being uncommonly favorable for farm work, very materially reduced the number that generally attends the December court, which is a double barrel term, it being one of the four days in the year upon which his Honor is required to adjust the county affairs and smite with the strong arm of Justice the differences that, during the subsequent quarter, have been exhumed by misunderstandings between neighbors and others who have been associated in business transactions.

At about 10 a. m. Monday, his Honor Judge Phelps on the bench, Deputy Clerk Garnett at the desk, Sheriff Sleet with tax books under his ponderous arm, and the legal lights, about eight or ten in number, set the judicial craft going.

In the County Court there were no contested cases, but in the Quarterly Court every case was subjected to a heavy and protracted fire from the legal artillery mounted on either side. Every inch of ground was contested, and all day did his Judgeship give ear to the discharges of legal musketry let off by counsel, and at intervals would deliver a broadside of legal opinion, and strike consternation to the hearts of those at whom it was directed.

The Judge dispensed justice all day, there being more legal wind liberated in Boone Monday than during any one day for some time. It was near 6 p. m. before the legal illuminaries went out——of the temple of justice and the court closed. It was a heavy days work.

In the County Court, the widow and heirs of J. M. Acra filed petition for a division of land. Green & Riddell, attorneys.

O. W. Gaines was released from paying tax on 120 acres of land erroneously assessed against him.

Theodore Rouse, committee for Cy Rouse, was released from paying road tax, dog tax and county levy for said Cy Rouse.

Jas. Anderson was granted license to keep hotel at Constance, and L. H. Bruce in Burlington.

John Hodges, being School Trustee, was released from paying poll tax for road purposes in 1877.

The heirs of Wm. M. Rogers filed exceptions to the articles set apart to the widow. Same were noted of record and the case continued. Glenn for heirs and Judge Finley for widow.

Wm. Souther's voting place was changed from Florence to Burlington.

T. W. Finch was allowed $50 Poor-house claim.

Personal Mention.

JAMES BRUCE, of Chillicothe, Ohio, has been in this vicinity since last Saturday.

J. M. RIDDELL, of Williamstown, was on the streets shaking hands with his friends and old customers Monday.

WE were glad to see our old friend Gabriel J. Gaines (not Gabriel T., as we once before said), whose time since had his leg broken, able to be in town last Monday.

THERE was not quite a quorum of the Representatives-elect in town Monday. Hon. G. V. Rouse, of Boone, Hon. M. Hamilton, of the Third District of Kenton, and Hon. D. A. Glenn, of the First District in the same county, were all present.

THE ten following rules should be strictly observed by persons having occasion to visit a printing office:

5. Don't touch the type.
6. Keep six feet from the devil.
7. Hands off manuscript.
8. Don't talk to the compositors.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Union.

We hear it rumored that the whisky traffic is again in its glory in the Hamilton Precinct. The demand is supplied not only from a dry land bar-room, but also from a floating saloon anchored in the river near Hamilton. The inhabitants of that rural section daily listen for the sound of the war whoop of the County Attorney as he sweeps down upon these violators of the law.

The health of this community is good.

Corn gathering is about concluded.

Florence.

The Catholics are building a new schoolhouse adjoining their church. It is something that has long been needed, and it is hoped that the citizens of the precinct will take measures to build a new public schoolhouse, instead of the one now used, which is hardly fit for a cow stable.

Our old hostler, Tommy, got off a joke last week that was too good to let pass. He was talking to Rev. Father McMurney, and praising very highly the new steeple on the church, when the Rev. Father said: "Tommy, you ought to give us $10 to help pay for building that." But Tommy, who couldn't see it in that light, said: "Howld on, Fadther. Several years ago we built that house for the Lord and put a nice steeple on it. Last spring the Lord got up a big wind and blew the steeple off. An' sure, if He wanted the steeple on there, He wouldn't blow it off; an' sure, if He don't want it, I don't; so I have no money to give for such nonsense."

Mr. Dick Mohlenkamp died last Saturday, of cancer of the stomach. He has been sick for nearly a year. He was a good citizen, and leaves a large family to mourn his death. The funeral took place at the Catholic Church Monday morning, and was largely attended.

The Thanksgiving Party was a success. There was a good attendance and a good time.

Mr. Clay Springer has promised us a treat for the holidays in the way of a dramatic entertainment. Being envious of the fame achieved by Dr. Landis, who produced the play of Hamlet in all the principal cities last year, personating the various characters of the play himself, Clay proposes to do the same thing with Uncle Tom's Cabin. Now, to assume the character of the fatherly "Sinclair," the gentle, angelic "Eva," the brutal "Legree," the liberty-loving "George Harris," the pathetic "Uncle Tom," the prudish "Aunt Ophelia," and the humorous, eccentric "Topsy," requires an order of dramatic talent far above the average; but those of us who know Clay's versatility have no doubt of his success.

UNO.

Big Bone Ridge.

As I have not seen any items from this vicinity or Willow Vale, I came to the conclusion that your correspondent has absconded—or gone West.

The farmers are very busily engaged gathering corn and sawing wood. There was a wood-sawing at M. L. Utz's, last Thursday, but nary party. How is that, boys, anyhow?

We noticed one of our neighbor's young men busily engaged in hauling logs to the saw-mill, last week. I wonder what that does mean.

I would like to ask, through the columns of your interesting paper, of M. U., "What's dat mool?"

Ah! my friend of Scattersville, you are mistaken in regard to the decision of the question that was discussed by the Big Bone Literary Society. The question was, "Resolved, That the ladies should propose marriage." It was decided in favor of the affirmative. How could it have been otherwise, when the leader of the negative had seen if that question lost his dance was up.

KROSE.

Scattersville.

The debating society organized at Locust Grove has as yet a glimmering existence. Will not both old and young, male and female, give it their support? There is nothing scarcely more improving, refing and enjoyable than a good literary society.

We were erroneously informed with regard to the decision made at Big Bone Debating Society with regard to the propriety of a lady "popping the question." It was decided she should. We hasten to make the correction. The young men around are somewhat clamorous about the mistake. They fear, we opine, the young ladies will be wrongly impressed, thereby preventing them (the young men) from retaliating, i. e., saying "No!"

"We are not dead, and why this funeral service instituted?—Ed." We fail to see the "pint." The editor must have imbibed the contents, and along with them "pint" and all. Hence, when throwing the above stick of sarcasm, he miserably missed us—just like anyone would awkwardly do, after swallowing such a dose.

CITY REPORTER.

[Neither did Blind Jake see the point.—ED.]

Petersburg.

On a question of the distribution of toll receipts, there was a war of words, and almost of blows, last week, between two redhaired ladies of the south part of the city. Porter was umpire, and the end is not yet. A special patrol of police is urgently called for in that quarter, and Awful Alloway sleeps with his window open as a means of escape in case of a renewal of hostilities.

"When shall we five meet again?" is a question asked by our city municipal board some time last spring, and was answered last Thursday night by holding an executive session, President Early in the chair. Minutes of last meeting read, criticised, assorted, amended and approved. Gravel on the sidewalks, and not in the alleys, with a sparse sprinkling of sand in the draw, was the order of the board. Citizens Rucker and Utz settled the question of gravel in the alleys all by themselves.

One of the dark mysteries of the present is, what ails "R. Y.," of Bellevue? But it don't matter much, you see, for when a "Rural Youth" of a back settlement in the darkness of a forest like Bellevue seats himself on a stump, and scratches at the woolly covering over the place where his "poor little brains" ought to be, what other conclusion would he be likely to reach than that, as his hair won't part in the middle, perhaps his name will? Drop back, boy, into your regular "trade," or that "dim vista of the future" will look darker and further away than ever, a la usual way with vistas dim and distant.

W. E. Grant and wife, of Carroll County, were in town last Saturday evening and Sunday. Dr.(?) Cropper was in town Saturday afternoon, but did not remain as long as he usually does—he can give the best reason why.

Mr. Hinckley Shockley, of Crawfish Valley, closed out his personal effects at public sale last Saturday. He has the everglade fever, and expects to land in Florida before the Christmas holidays. Another incipient orange planter from the State of Boone, and this makes four in the pilgrim band, besides women, children, dogs, guns, fishing poles, polecat traps, &c.

Bellevue.

As you Mr Editor, requested us to keep the readers of the RECORDER informed with regard to the various changes and improvements taking place in our city from time to time, we have to inform them this week that our ever alert townsman, Mr. D. M. Snyder, always ready to turn a penny to a good account, has added another department to his already extensive business. To his very successful business in farm implements, which he sold to the farmers of this section of country last season, he has now added that magnificent stock of vegetables and nuts which has so recently proved Sir Isaac's financial ruin. To handle his various branches of business to advantage, he has just completed a large grainery on the corner of Grange and Fourth streets, and fitted it up with "bins," in which to store the various kinds of nuts. The potatoes and cabbage he has pitted or banked in the large cabbage field north of his business houses. The great bulks of upheaved earth remind one very much of the work of the great ants.

One very "learned mythologist," who recently lost his "W——l——l," has declined a Professor's chair in Hanover College, and has accepted the position of Civil Engineer of our city water works. He says the city can be supplied with pure water from "Maurer's Lake" much cheaper than by the process in vogue in drawing the supply from the clouds. Why not, Professor, draw the water from Baker's canal. It is more centrally located.

The cold weather has checked the work on the buildings in course of erection in this place.

The recent sudden rise in the river carried off a lot of groceries from our landing belonging to R. L. Aylor, of Waterloo, valued at about $150.

On the 2d inst., 208 hogs were shipped from our landing to Cincinnati. Mr. James H. Lawell shipped the "hogs" lot. His 50 head averaged (Mr. Editor, please do not put it "averager" this time) 419 pounds. Mr. Lawell says these were Grange hogs. [The Grange must contain some exceedingly large hogs, then.—ED.]

Last Saturday the Bellevue Grange met at their hall in this place, and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: W. H. Ryle, M.; Jo. H. Walton, O.; J. W. Gaines, S.; J. M. Moody, A. S.; J. M. Henderson, G. K.; Jas. P. Kelly, L.; R. H. Botts, C.; Mike Clore, T.; Isaac Flick, Sec.; Mrs. M. E. Ryle, C.; Miss Laura Moody, P.; Mrs. Anna Rice, F., and Mrs. Florence Clore, L. A. S. The meeting lasted all day, and seemed to be a large and harmonious one.

On Thanksgiving day, Mr. A. Q. Baker gave the young folks a dinner, which was highly enjoyed by those present. We learn that on the occasion our popular and handsome M. D. was the recipient of a handsome watch-case made and presented by the hands of the fair donor. Of course such tokens of regard can not last long without receiving their reward.

Last Sabbath we noticed that pale clerk of the Grange store peramhulating our streets in a new "josie." When we saw him he was locomoting at an angle of about 45°. We fear that he will prove to be a heart-smasher yet, minus that deceptive "fuzzo" which the fair ones say would so much become him. Take courage, young man; a great future is before you.

Sir Isaac tells a large bee story; but, as "Rural Youth" has interviewed him on the subject, we will let him give Sir Isaac's experience—how they tried to settle in his smeller, and how they obscured his vision for a week, and how long before he could occupy a sitting posture comfortably; also, how they obscured the luminary of day when they departed.

"Storks" and "Black Henry" are now engaged in carrying supplies for the customers of the firm doing business at Third street and Central avenue. The office of said firm is up stairs. Many leave us with as much as they can carry. Among the number last Saturday we noticed one "White" Constable from your promising city. He seemed very weak to carry his load which he had taken in during the evening. The business of the firm seems to be increasing rapidly.

We learn that Mrs. L. P. Arnold is now recovering from her late severe sickness.

Dr. Giil Rice is still suffering from his fall, but is able to stir about the house.

We call the attention of our Wharfmaster to the condition of our wharf. Since the waters has begun to recede, a number of logs and drift has been left there by the water and drifters which should be removed, as they are an obstruction in the way of shippers.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Family Physic, and for curing Costiveness, Jaundice, Indigestion, Foul Stomach, Breath, Headache, Erysipelas, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Dropsy, Tumors, Worms, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, for Purifying the Blood,

Are the most effective and congenial purgative ever discovered. They are mild, but effectual in their operation, moving the bowels surely and without pain. Although gentle in their operation, they are still the most thorough and searching cathartic medicine that can be employed: cleansing the stomach and bowels, and even the blood. In small doses of one pill a day, they stimulate the digestive organs and promote vigorous health.

AYER'S PILLS have been known for more than a quarter of a century, and have obtained a world-wide reputation for their virtues. They correct diseased action in the several assimilative organs of the body, and are so composed that obstructions within their range can rarely withstand or evade them. Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of everybody, but also formidable and dangerous diseases that have baffled the best of human skill. While they produce powerful effects, they are, at the same time, the safest and best physic for children. By their aperient action they gripe much less than the common purgatives, and never give pain when the bowels are not inflamed. They reach the vital fountains of the blood, and strengthen the system by freeing it from the elements of weakness.

Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither calomel nor any deleterious drug, these Pills may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar-coating preserves them ever fresh, and makes them pleasant to take; while being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

THE BOONE COUNTY RECORDER

BURLINGTON, KY., DECEMBER 6.

OFF ROUGH POINT.

BY EMMA LAZARUS.

We sat at twilight nigh the sea,
The fog hung gray and weird.
Through the thick film uncannily
The broken moon appeared.

We heard the billows crack and plunge
We saw nor waves nor ships.
Earth sucked the vapors like a sponge,
The saltspray wet our lips.

Closer the woof of white mist drew,
Before, behind, beside.
How could that phantom moon break through
Above that shrouded tide?

The roaring waters filled the ear,
A white blank foiled the sight.
Close-gathering shadows near, more near
Brought the blind, awful night.

O friends who passed unseen, unknown!
O dashing, troubled sea!
Still stand we on a rock alone,
Walled round by mystery.

THE MAD ENGINEER.

"What?"

The speaker was a young man, and as he spoke he leaped from his chair.

Two men had been conversing in the same apartment, and the young man's exclamation had been caused by something which he had heard them say.

"O, yes," said one, "she is to be married to-morrow evening, and it will be the most excellent combination of wealth and beauty ever seen in this part of the world."

"But Wiggles is such a numskull."

"But Wiggles is wealthy, and what more ought a young girl like Irene Maltravers to desire."

By this time the young man had passed out. One of the speakers touched the other.

"Do you know that young man?"

"No, indeed, not I; who is he?"

"That's young Ned Alfred."

"The dickens!"

"You know he has been in love with Irene for this ever so long."

"Why did her father turn the girl over to Wiggles if he was engaged?"

"Oh, he wouldn't give a fig for engagements. He's a surly, crusty old fellow, and don't understand anybody's wishes but his own." As the men spoke they went out.

Mr. Wiggles, the bridegroom, lived in a little town connected by railroad with Bainsford, and not more than fifty miles away.

"Bound to Bainsford, sir?"

"Yes, sir."

"Ah, then, you're the gentleman." There's no passenger train to-day, sir—won't run till midnight, sir. The director of this road told me, sir, to be sure to get a locomotive ready to take you there."

"Why, isn't there any cars?" said Wiggles, as the man pointed to the smoking and puffing machine.

"Please, sir, no, sir, there are no cars, only this locomotive."

"Humph!" exclaimed Wiggles, solemnly, "I suppose I must go."

The man put his carpetbag in, and got in himself, touched a crank, and with a puff and snort away went the engine.

Mr. Wiggles at first felt a little flurried, but after a few moments he grew accustomed to the novelty of his situation, and amused himself by looking at the scenery. As he looked at the landscape and noticed the telegraph posts one after the other flashing past, the strange thought occured to his mind that he was traveling at a most fearfully rapid pace. He, therefore, touched the engineer's arm, and prepared to speak. What was Wiggles' surprise at seeing the engineer turn and make a hideous grimace. He laughed in a sickly manner.

"Friend," he cried, "ain't we going rather fast?"

The friend rolled up his eyes till only the whites were visible. After this he turned the lids over so that a hideous red margin appeared over the whites.

"Good lord," cried Wiggles, "the man is crazy!"

Suddenly the man commenced dancing violently. Then he sprang on the back of the engine, and standing on his head, put his heels against the funnel and stared at Wiggles. After this he came back.

"We'll soon be there," he said.

"Where?" gasped Wiggles.

"New York!"

"They have got an air line from there to Raunsberry. It goes through the air. We go thump against the depot and we vanish. The last time I went to Raunsberry I went straight on the regular track; this time I am going to try the air line. Hey?"

He poked Wiggles in the ribs. Wiggles was so paralyzed with fear that he could not utter a word.

"Perhaps, though, we had better not wait till we get in the depot. Perhaps, we had better run into the next train, or go off the track now. So—" Suiting the action to the word, the man gave a tremendious pull at the crank.

Wiggles did not wait for the catastrophe. He fainted.

That night the house of Squire Maltravers was crowded with guests. Invited to the wedding, they had come, expecting to enjoy the most brilliant festival ever seen in this part of the world.

But the Squire wore no smile on his face. The bridegroom had been expected at noon. He had not only not come, but at dusk he still was absent. Unable to contain himself, the Squire rode out to the station. To his horror no Wiggles came.

Perhaps Wiggles had arrived, and was already in the house. In vain. On his arrival there, the first person whom he met asked him where was Wiggles. Wiggles was not to be found.

"How unfortunate," said they all.

"The scoundrel!" cried the Squire, enraged at the disappointment.

"It's my opinion that he has intended this all along," said the bride, who by the way, supported herself wonderfully well..

This remark stung the Squire to the quick. "By Jove I will have revenge on the rascal. I will teach him how to make a fool of me, I'll—"

But the Squire was interrupted by the entrance of a young man, who walked straight up to him and bowed respectfully.

"Alfred!" exclaimed the Squire doubtfully.

"Mr. Maltravers," said he, "you never felt any particular affection for me, but perhaps you won't object to act reasonbly now. Here you are put in an awkward place through that villian, Wiggles. Now, I love your daughter, and we have been engaged. You had no right to overlook me and give her to a fellow who doesn't care a pin for anybody but himself. The company below are wondering—the bride is waiting—the wedding must go on. Let me be the bridegroom.

The Squire did not get angry. He did not even stop to consider. He seized Alfred's hand, slapped him on the back, and to the astonishment of all present, cried out:

"Alfred, my lad, take her. Blow me if I ain't glad that nincompoop didn't come. You are worth ten such fellows as he. Come along, Irene, dear, you won't object, I know. Come along, Alfred, give her your arm, you dog you, come."

And the bluff old Squire, heading the proccession, advanced into the midst of the astounded company. And a few words explained it all. To the honor of human nature, the whole house rang with applause. The ceremony was short but decisive, and the enthusiastic company could hardly wait for it to be over. As the last amen was said, every soul crowded up to congratulate the happy pair.

It leaked out in the course of a month, long after Alfred had his bride settled in New York, that the mad engineer was an old friend, who decoyed Wiggles into a car, that he merely carried him off to the other end of the line, where the locomotive was wanted, and that his mad gestures were all dissembled.

A War Story.

Men left to themselves are apt to lapse into imprudences, to say the least. In our late war, a soldier, passing over a bridge, observed a young girl ladling water from the river. In the spirit of frolic and mischief, he threw a large stone, intending it should startled her by making a sudden splash. But it struck her on the head and made a hideous wound. She fell into the river. The soldier, with an instinctive care of consequences which owes its origin to the masculine sex, galioped on, feeling that he was guilty of a wanton murder. The unknown consequence of his folly preyed upon his mind. His conscience was always upbraiding him. Years after, when discharged from the army, he settled down in Derby. He took a public house in Bridge Gate, and after a short acquaintance with a woman of suitable age, got married. Very soon after their wedding he saw his wife combing her hair, and inquired how she got that great scar which disfigured one side of her head. She replied that, "Some wretch of a soldier once came near killing me with a stone, but if ever I catch him I will pay him off." It is not recorded how she punished her husband when he confessed being her assailant, or how great was his relief when the haunting thought of a wanton murder was removed from his mind. He was one of the five men who rode under the oak where Charles was hidden at Boscobel; and we recommend Hutton's quaint story to novel writers in scarch of a plot.

THE rainy season has fairly set in in Brazil, and coffee is generally held back in the country for a few weeks. The planters there are all generally very wealthy, and can hold their crops as long as they please. The purchases for the United States have been larger in Rio this season than for many years before.

THERE is a peach tree growing in Sands street, Brooklyn, which bears two crops annually. At the meeting of the Horticultural Society on the 6th inst. a committee was appointed to investigate this novelty.

A CHEESE factory in Canada has turned out a splendid sample of their skill—nearly seven feet in diameter, a yard high, weighs three and one-half tons, and took thirty-five tons of milk to make it.

IN Howell County, Missouri, cows are the circulating medium. A thin cow passes current for eight dollars, a good one for ten dollars, and fat one thirteen dollars.

"IT was the politicians, not the voters, who were hurt at the late elections," sententiously and truthfully remarks the Pittsburg Telegraph.

FOUND—MONEY—That money can be saved by having your Printing done at the RECORDER OFFICE.

I SAT ALONE WITH MY CONSCIENCE.

I sat alone with my conscience
In a place where time had ceased,
And he talked of my former living,
In the land where the years increased.

And I felt I should have to answer
The question it put to me,
And to face the answer and question
Throughout an eternity.

The ghosts of forgotten actions
Came floating before my sight;
And things I thought were dead things
Were alive with a terrible might.

And the vision of all my past life
Was an awful thing to face,
Alone with my conscience sitting
In that solemnly silent place.

And I thought of a far-away warning
Of a sorrow that was to be mine
In a land that then was the future,
But now is the present time.

And I thought of my former thinking
Of a judgment day to be;
But sitting alone with my conscience
Seemed judgment enough for me.

And I wondered if there was a future
To this land beyond the grave;
But no one gave me an answer,
And no one came to save.

Then I felt that the future was present,
And the present would never go by,
For it was but the thought of my past life
Grown into eternity.

Then I woke from my timely dreaming
And the vision passed away;
And I knew the far-away warning
Was a warning of yesterday.

And I pray that I may not forget it
In this land before the grave;
That I may not cry out in the future,
And no one come to save.

And so I have learned a lesson
Which I ought to have known before,
And which, though I learned it dreaming,
I hope to forget no more.

So I sit alone with my conscience
In the place where the years increase,
And I try to remember the future
In the land where time will cease.

And I know of the future judgment,
How dreadful soever it be,
That to sit alone with my conscience
Will be judgment enough for me.

THE members of Mount Pleasant Grange are requested to assemble in their hall at 1 p. m. Saturday, the 15th inst., for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year. I am requested to say to our non-attending members that we have not accomplished our mission as yet. On the contrary, we have determined that in future the good effects of our order shall be manifested by real deeds. We are preparing to take a bold step in this direction at no distant day. Had this day been propitious, a handsome library fund would have been raised. The members of the order have become convinced of the necessity of a library, and are determined that before the close of the winter they will have a valuable collection of books in their hall. They are further determined to start a co-operation store in connection with our order. So, my faint-hearted brothers and sisters, return to your posts and do honor to the noble enterprise in which you have engaged. Remember the solemn obligation you have taken. Remember, too, that what your Grange has failed to accomplish is your fault, to a certain extent. God never intended the human family to contain drones, and you have no right to abuse His creation. So I urge you to be present at our contemplated election, and witness the new zeal that entered the live members of the order.

WM. WATTS, JR., Secretary.

December 4th, 1877.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Southern Plantation writes as follows about the powers of a well-known plant:

"I have discovered a remedy for pulmonary consumption. It has cured a number of cases after they had commenced bleeding at the lungs and the hectic flush was already on the cheek. After trying this remedy to my own satisfaction, I have thought that philanthrophy required that I should let it be known to the world. It is the common mullen, steeped strong, sweetened with coffee sugar and drank freely. The herb should be gathered before the end of July, if convenient. Young or old plants are good, dried in the shade and kept in clean bags. The medicine must be continued from three to six months, according to the nature of the disease. It is very good for the blood vessels, also. It strengthens and builds up the system, instead of taking away the strength. It makes good blood and takes inflammation away from the lungs. It is the wish of the writer that every periodical in the United States, Canada and Europe should publish this recipe for the benefit of the human family. Lay this up and have it in the house ready for use."

PATENTS dated November 13, 1877, issued to residents of the States named below. Reported by C. E. Foster, patent attorney, 509 Seventh street, Washington:

H. Seehausen, Memphis, Tenn., Curtain Roller; J. N. Kaufholz, Chattanooga, Tenn., Engine; J. M. Marshall, Knoxville, Tenn., Furnace Doors; J. A. Tabler, Mt. Juliet, Tenn., Flax Brakes; J. A. In this county there are certainly many centennarians. Week before last, we published a list of pioneers, and since that time we have been told by several that they could make out a list of aged persons who have seen a great deal more daylight than any in the list published.

WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 1, 1877.

Special Correspondence to the Recorder.

CONGRESSIONAL.

At the opening of the extra session of Congress, the Republicans had a majority of five in the Senate. Morton's death and Vorhees' appointment reduced it to three, including Sharon, the "Bonanza King." The excitement during the last few days has been intense. The possible loss of a working majority has given serious alarm to the Republicans. Every inch of ground will be sharply contested, and the struggle will be a bitter one. At this writing the Senate has been in continuous session for over twenty-seven hours, and there is little chance of adjournment for as many more.

PATTERSON AND CONOVER

Are not reposing on a bed of roses. The former is resting under very grave charges of having secured his seat by bribery, while the latter has doubtless been allured by promises of political preferment. It is apparent that some understanding has been had, and it is said that the vote which Stanley Matthews cast with the Democrats to prevent an investigation of the alleged alliance is a full confirmation of its existence. Whether this struggle shall shift the political supremacy onto Democratic shoulders or not makes little difference, as it is certain to be accomplished in the near future. Such changes seem incident to every popular government. The political pendulum vibrates to and fro, and it is hardly possible for any party to maintain the ascendancy for an indefinite period.

THE WRECK OF THE HURON.

The wreck of the United States steamer Huron, with the loss of 100 lives, is an evidence of the value of the Signal Service to our commercial marine. This steamer was ordered to sea in the very face of the danger signals at Norfolk and Cape Hatteras. The utter disregard of all these signals lost the navy a hundred brave fellows, and a thorough and severe investigation of the matter is demanded by the public.

THE PACIFIC RAILROADS

Are seeking an adjustment with the government by surrendering twelve millions of acres of land granted them as subsidies. Were this possible, it would open to settlement by the advancing army of emigrants some of the most valuable lands of our national domain. Many embarrassments will arise from liens already created by land grant bonds and government mortgages.

THE FLOOD,

So widespread in its work of devastation, has done great damage here. A portion of the famous "Long Bridge," so well known by every soldier, and which was built in 1808, succumbed to the angry waves yesterday.

TEXAS IMMIGRANTS.

The United States Immigration Reports show that Texas is receiving a vast addition to her population by large colonies of thrifty Germans, and, from present indications, the Teutonic element will soon be in the majority.

THE ACTION OF THE HOUSE

In the passage of the anti-resumption bill has created serious misgivings on account of the manifest sectional diversities indicated in the vote. Were the individual views of our Representatives not confined to and made up by sections, no alarm would be felt. It can not be denied that the West and South are allied against the East. Is it possible that, hidden in the smoke of this conflict, the real contest is being waged between the debtor and creditor classes?

A NEW MACHINE

Is now on exhibition in the Treasury Department which will take the place of the hand press and strike off 5,000 reversed stamps and greenbacks each day, and reduce 90 per cent. of the force now employed by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

A COMPARISON.

There are some things real. Here are two silver dollars, one of them coined by a nation so insignificant that, in the face of her outrages and indignities, were we to declare war against her, we should be the laughing-stock of all nations; yet this piece of coin will pass for one dollar and purchase its equivalent in every land. Here is another, beautiful in exterior. It bears on its face the motto of a great country, and on its shield a proud bird's image. The flag it represents waves under every sky and commands respect. This coin is by no means equal in value to the Mexican one, and will not purchase in Canada a dollar's worth of Florida oranges.

FAX.

SOME days since, Nathaniel Carpenter, of Gallatin County, was out hunting, and had discharged his gun and was reloading it, when the charge of powder put into the empty barrel took fire and communicated with the contents of the powder flask, hurting it and hurning Mr. Carpenter's face very severely.

THE Democracy of the city of Covington attempted to hold a convention on Tuesday night of last week for nominating candidates for the different city offices, but only succeeded in getting up a big explosion, which occurred before the meeting was organized.

THOSE vocalists who used to sit on the corner and sing "The Cottage by the Sea" and "Old Father Grimes," when a majority of the folks in town wanted to snooze, have disappeared, as have many other green things.

IF some inventive genius would invent a machine and present it to the Weather Clerk that would get up a good rain without making muddy streets, he could be elected President in 1880 as easily as S. J. Tilden was.

PHILADELPHIA LETTER.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Dec. 1, 1877.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

It has occurred to our experience in this far East, as to yours, to have a Thanksgiving day. That day, to Philadelphia, was not an occasion for any demonstration. Indeed, it was hardly an event of city interest. Principal business was, it is true, suspended; bountiful plenty, like enough, made good cheer in many a home; "soft eyes looked love to eyes which spoke again," doubtless; but these things always are. So, likewise, in the cold and rainy streets, as yesterday, as last year, as ever before in the history of the destitution of a city's poor,

"The houseless heads and unfed sides,
The looped and windowed raggedness"

Of two or three generations begged bread and warmth. There was a thing of the "ball" kind holding sway at the Permanent Exhibition all day and evening. The admission was fifty cents. It was, you see, "select." In the evening there was a rush for the city theaters, which, though they presented no unusual attraction, held that interest which variety lends for the industrial population. There was nothing of especial merit on the boards of this city Thursday evening. The only play worth mention was the new one Lyons Mail, the half-tragedy style of which reminds one forcibly of Dicken's Tale of Two Cities. And so to-day every vestige, almost, of the recent "Thanksgiving day" has passed away from the lip and memory of this city, as if the cold wind of December's first day had blown the past November from the region of earth.

A gentleman of my acquaintance, who went to New England to spend "Thanksgiving," told me that the day was to the Yankee home what Christmas is to a Kentucky home—that children longed for it and remembered it as the chief interest of their lives, and that domestic circles and households made it the happiest day of the year; and in home and family, thankfulness and gratitude engender liberal generosity in the blessings of Providence, for the glory of the Creator and the endowment of human life.

There is one other thing that has come between my experience and the world beyond, which it occurs to me might interest some of the younger readers of your paper and my lines. I attended a private lecture, some time since, given in an association with which I am connected. I thought the substance of the lecture a little striking and odd in one point. The subject was "Intellect," but, as a side issue, the lecturer said he held that the changes and decay which obtain to all history of friendship, intimacy, affection, love, promises and vows to be educts, not products, of nature and life; that this advance and retrogression is not evolved by circumstances and conditions extraneous to the essential vitality of the ideals, but are educed by the inherent character of the development with which life and mortality are imbued. He declared that there was not in existence a successive and progressive course of affection up an unlimited hyperbola—from which pathway a few indeed may fall, while the immense majority go unhindered to the goal—but that it was rotten—like a double inclined plane, of which the angle was soon reached, and the "business" then comes again to the natural level. This lecturer maintained, with a graceless effrontery, that these attachments did not, beyond a limited degree, tend to grow more enduring and secure by the nourishment and allurements of cultivation, but that they declined—not from any individual change in circumstance, of fortune, age or attraction; not from any apparent explanation or agency—but in virtue of the primary and founding principle of their creation; and that their course was predetermined—it would go so far up, and then, surely and irresistibly, return—that it could no more change its proscribed course than the comet may give up his wandering orbit for a circumrotation of the sun. There was a good deal more than this, but all to the same purpose—that ladies and gentlemen in this day, as in "Juliet's," "think him (or her) so because I think him so."

I had intended to say a word about "white horses" and the like, but I see I may not now.

Obituary.

ACRA.—Died, December 1st, 1877, Mrs. Parnely Acra, wife of John B. Acra, aged about 73 years (there is no record).

She was born in Madison County, Va., and came to this county with her father's family Mr. Philip Graves) in the year 1824, and in the year 1827 she married John B. Acra, and has ever been a faitbful and devoted companion. In the year 1840 she expressed a hope in Christ, and united with the Baptist Church at Bullittsburg; but later in life, having moved with her husband to the neighborhood of Middle Creek, they together moved their membership to that church, where it remained until her death. She has ever been a kind neighbor, wife and mother, and a devoted consistent Christian, with enmity toward none and charity for all. We feel that she has gone to her reward, "where the wicked cease from troubling, and the weary be at rest." She bore her protracted suffering with much patience and fortitude, and finally fell asleep in Jesus, to be raised again at the last day. She leaves a husband and an only daughter and a large circle of relatives to mourn their loss. But our loss is her gain, and may we truly feel that the Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away; blessed be the name of the Lord. He doeth all things well. A FRIEND.

INVENTORS, to secure prompt and proper action on their cases, should employ an attorney resident at Washington. We direct attention to Foster's Patent Offices, 509 Seventh street, Washington. Mr. Foster has practiced before the Patent Office 18 years. Send to him for pamphlets and references.

THE BOONE COUNTY RECORDER

W. L. RIDDELL,
Editor and Proprietor.

BURLINGTON, KY., DECEMBER 18.

ANOTHER Chicago bank went under last week.

THE Illinois desperado, Frank Rande, has weakened and given his real name, which is Charles C. Scott, and is of Fairfield, Illinois.

THE first day of next February is the time set for the hanging of Phil Watson, the negro who murdered his wife in Covington, last summer.

AT the recent election in Georgia, the vote on the new constitution resulted in its adoption. The proposition to move the capitol from Atlanta was defeated.

THE President's message shows that he and the eastern capitalists are in harmony on the money question. The South and West have one objection, at least, to his Excellency.

IN Richland County, Ohio, on the seventh of this month, one man was murdered, and a whole family beaten nearly to death by a company of thieves who wanted to rob the house.

THE jury in the case of the Commonwealth against W. G. Stone, the Treasurer of the city of Covington, under the charge of embezzlement, and who was tried in that city last week, disagreed.

IT is reported that seven of the jurors that tried the Carrie Anderson case were indicted at the last term of the Carroll Criminal Court for false swearing, for the purpose of getting on the jury in the above named trial.

THE State of Tennessee is the owner of a $24,000,000 State debt, which is now increasing at the rate of $4,000 per day. The creditors propose to surrender $10,000,000. This proposition does not meet the approbation of the Legislature, which is contemplating repudiating the whole amount.

A NEWLY made grave, discovered on the bank of the Ohio River, just below the mouth of Miami, last week, created considerable excitement in Lawrenceburg. The grave was opened and the body of a little girl, supposed to be about six years old, was found, but bore no marks of violence. The body was covered with sheet zinc. There is no clue to the cause of the burial of a child in this secluded spot.

IT seems that some of the members of the Mount Pleasant Grange are becoming derelict in their Grange duties, and the Secretary is calling upon them in print to again return to their first love, and renew the work which they seem inclined to abandon before it is completed. This Grange has some of the best workers and most earnest members belonging to the order in the county, and if this lodge is losing interest, the cause needs reviving in Boone.

THIS thing of hanging men is desperately hard on rope. Nine out of ten of the ropes used in hangings break and let the unfortunate one fall. Last Friday, at Mt. Vernon, Ohio, when Borgin was intended to be let drop from time into eternity, for the murder of McBride in last June, the rope parted and let the condemned man fall. He was gathered up and swung off the second time, it taking forty-five minutes to kill the victim by strangulation.

SINCE the completion of the Bellevue pike, some groceries have been brought to this point from Bellevue. Lumber, coal, salt, and the like can be brought from there and delivered here as cheap, and possibly cheaper than from the city of Cincinnati. If citizens in that vicinity believe that the trade in those articles, to supply this market is worth attention, then there is nothing to prevent their contracting it unless it be the temptation to advance the profits to too high a rate.

THE Cincinnati Gazette has contracted a trouble with the Postoffice authorities in that city, by, as the authorities assert, sending specimen copies of the paper through the mail without paying postage thereon, which is a direct violation of the postal laws. These copies, about five thousand in number, were addressed to as many Postmasters throughout the country and the Gazette claims they are its agents, and therefore exempt from postage, except as regular subscribers. The matter is being investigated.

In another column we give the particulars of the murder of John Goodridge, so far as we were able to learn them by a visit to the scene. No such an assassination as this has ever before occurred in this county. The annals of crime present very few cases comparable with it in its cold-blooded, determined, calculating atrocity. We are able to account for the act of one slaying his fellow-man when driven on under the force of sudden passion and frenzied excitement so far as to lose control of his acts. So may we, to some extent, account for a murder under the promptings of a strong and alluring hope of great and immediate gain operating upon a weak and ill-balanced moral nature. In all such cases a motive, however weak, may still be found. But in the present instance, no motives, such as usually prompt the secret murder, are known to exist. Conjecture may take the place of reason and attempt to account for this most cowardly and fiendish act. To our short sight, the motive inducing this horror is undiscovered, though such motive must have existed. The deed was not done in sudden heat and passion, but planned and calculated; it was not to obtain wealth from Goodridge—he was a poor man, and stood in the line of no fortune. Can the act be viewed as that of some strolling desperado taking life through force of habit? We may readily point out motives that existed not, and could not have caused this assassination, but what is wanting is the ascertainment of a motive, reasonable and tangible, to prompt this bloody deed. We regard it as a duty owing alike by every citizen, to himself, his family and the community, to assist to the extent of his ability in ferreting out the perpetrator of this most horrible crime.

A DISPATCH from Washington to the Cincinnati Enquirer says: "Clerk Adams has stirred up a very bad hornet's nest by his dismissal of French, the Tally Clerk and appointment of a Georgian to his place. The New England Democrats are thoroughly disgusted with Adams, and declare he has treated French very shabbily, and broke his promises. Congressmen Jones and Morse feel very confident that Adams has taken a step that he will be sorry for. The New England Democrats all supported him for Clerk, more because French asked it than because they wanted wanted Adams, on the understanding that French, whose retention is the only important House patronage the New England Democrats have asked for, would be kept in his old position. Both Morse and Jones have thoroughly ventilated Adams' conduct, and the matter has stirred up so much feeling that a resolution is contemplated declaring the Clerk's office vacant."

THE House Judiciary Committee has unanimously agreed to report a bill allowing women to practice before the Supreme Court. It is said that the committee was bulldozed into reporting the bill by the women who appeared before it and advocated the measure.

ST. LOUIS LETTER.

ST. LOUIS, MO., December 8, 1877.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

On Monday last, Frank Rande, the desperado at Galesburg, Illinois, wishing to obtain a copyright on his photographs taken at that place, sent for W. B. Richards, Solicitor of Patents, who told him it was useless to obtain a copyright in a fictitious name, whereupon Rande, after a few moments' meditation, told him that his real name is Charles C. Scott; that his family lives in Fairfield, Iowa, and that he has a brother there who is a blacksmith. This little piece of intelligence was sent to Fairfield on that day, and on last Wednesday, Mr. Ray S. Scott, of Fairfield, arrived at Galesburg, and identified the prisoner as his brother, and has agreed to bear the expense of the trial. So it would seem that the community has, at last, gotten an identification of this seemingly worst of living mortals. We may also state, on Wednesday, Rande's photograph was incidentally placed in the hands of a Mrs. Bottom, of Sparta, Illinois, she at the time not having heard of his confession, but as soon as she saw the picture, she said it was Charles Scott, with whom she went to school in Fairfield when she was a girl. She says Scott's family still lives in Fairfield, and that his father and brother are both blacksmiths. She says the family is well educated and boasts of its pugilistic qualifications, which they exercise quite frequently. In fact, I may state, at the time the photograph was placed in her hands, she was not advised as to whom it was intended to represent, so we may reasonably conclude that the identification is complete.

John G. Priest, Vice-President of the Board of Police Commissioners, has a demand on Governor Cullum, of Illinois, for the various rewards offered for the apprehension of Rande, which in the aggregate amount to $7,500. This amount, with the various sums received by donation and subscription, will certainly place the widow of the dead policeman beyond immediate want. It is perfectly wonderful, the amount of sympathy being shown the afflicted widow, and, of course, no one is so stern as to say she is not entitled to it. Everybody says it is because her husband died in the performance of his duty. But the thought we wish to drop right here, which makes the sympathy look greater in our eyes, possibly, than it otherwise would. On Monday, a week ago, Bishop E. M. Marvin, probably the most talented divine in this city, died, and it is said that he was literally worn out from excessive labor. He leaves quite a large and destitute family, yet, up to this time, we have not heard of a dollar being contributed to their support, while thousands have been subscribed and paid Mrs. White.

Cold December is now upon us, and our daily papers are teeming with cases of destitution, some of them enough to make hardest heart sick. Never in the history of our city was there as much destitution as at this time, and should we have a cold and protracted winter, the Good Being above only knows what is to become of many a family in our midst. It is true that our Provident Association is in existence, and doing all it can for the needy, but they are without the wherewith to do as circumstances demand. Why is it that so many poor people will crowd into the cities? But we are just now reminded that it is not always the case that it is the laborer that is reduced to abject poverty. No, not by many instances. It was only last evening, on our way home, that we met Mr. W. M., who stopped us on the street, and with a smile from beneath a care-worn brow, handed us his hand, remarking: "I suppose you see all criminal and civil proceedings against me have been dismissed." We told him we had noticed same with great pleasure. He remarked that he could now sleep, but that he had not a dollar left, and no place to call his own. That same man, 15 years ago, was considered almost a millionaire, with a business reputation second to no man in this city, but during the past few years he became involved, and in order to keep his credit good, he stepped beyond the bounds of propriety, which brought on criminal prosecution, and to-day he is without money or character. When we commenced business in this city, 18 years ago, the firm of P. & B. was next door to us. They had houses, lands, bank stock, money and credit without limit, and at the end of said year, their balance sheet showed a net gain of nine thousand dollars. They were both Boston men, and brought up with culture and refinement, according to that enlightened city. But a few years thereafter, misfortune overtook them, and, for the past 4 or 5 years, Mr. B. of that firm, has lived pretty much altogether by standing, throughout the daytime, on the corners of the streets, begging, and we would conclude, for the past 3 years, he has not had a decent suit of clothes to cover the outer man, or a square meal to warm and strengthen the inner man, and "such is life in a large city." We only mention two instances of men, in a short space of time, stepping from affluence and influence, to degradation and want, but if our time and your space would permit, we might mention hundreds. Our city papers, yesterday morning, brought to light a case of absolute charity, the party being a near relative of Horace Greely, and the writer this day received a note from a worthy member of society, asking assistance, who is a near relative of a man that has twice been Governor of one of the greatest States within the Union. She states she has only twenty cents in her house to buy bread for self and two children, and when that is gone she does not know where the next nickel is to come from.

But our letter is long enough, and we will quit this gloomy subject and Bos A. Long.

ASSASSINATED.

John Goodridge Shot and Killed by His Own Fireside—The Unknown Murderer Escapes—Full Particulars with Regard to the Tragedy.

In Francisville, a village of about one dozen families, situated on the North Bend road, near seven miles north of this place, was enacted, at 6:15 p. m. last Saturday, the most dastardly assassination known in the history of the county. The victim of the foul crime was John Goodridge, aged about 40 years, a citizen of the little village, and a man generally known in the county. The deed was committed by some cowardly person who, under the cover of darkness, armed with a double-barrel shotgun loaded with buckshot or bullets, went to the window of the room in which Goodridge, his wife and and step-daughter were sitting, and discharged both barrels through the window, blowing Goodridge's brains out. That our readers may have some idea of the surroundings of Goodridge's residence, we give them

A DIAGRAM OF THE HOUSE AND YARD.

3—Bob't White's residence.

THE HOUSE

Is a one-story frame building of two rooms, sitting back in the yard about 60 feet from and fronting the road, which runs north and south, or nearly so. This is the last building in the north part of the village and on the east side of the road, there being no residences back of it. There are two gates to the yard, one a small gate directly in front of the house, the other a large gate in the northeast corner of the yard, about 20 or 30 yards from the window through which the shooting was done. In the yard there are several small fruit trees, but no shrubbery or other thing behind which a person could be concealed.

THE NEIGHBORS.

The residence of the Widow Stephens is about 40 yards north of Goodridge's, on the west side of the road. Wainscott's residence is just across the road and directly opposite. Robt. White's is about 30 yards south, and on the same side of the road.

THE WINDOW

Through which the shooting was done is directly on a line from where Goodridge was sitting and the gate "B." It is supposed the assassin entered the yard through the gate "B," keeping his eye on Goodridge, who was sitting at the point "G," his head resting in his hand and his elbow on his knee, looking in the fire.

THE FIRST SHOT FIRED

Did the work, the larger portion of the load striking Goodridge on the right side of the head, a little behind and rather above the ear, making a very large hole, while two balls struck the lower portion of the jaw, one going through, breaking the neck and lodging under the skin on the left side.

THE SECOND SHOT

Was fired immediately after the first, but the murdered man had fallen backward out of his chair, and it missed him, making twelve holes through the panel of a 1¾-inch pine door. One of the balls, after passing through the door, went through the side of and lodged in an ash barrel 20 yards from the house, while another, going about 50 yards, struck an oak board, making a considerable indentation.

AFTER THE MURDER.

The reports of the gun and the screaming of the women aroused the neighbors, and in less than five minutes several men were at the scene, young Mr. Wainscott being the first there. They found Goodridge lying on the floor, his head near the door "C," and the blood and brains scattered over the floor, wall and door. Goodridge never spoke, or even groaned. Some of the glass from the broken window struck the step-daughter, Mrs. Riley, and it was with considerable persuasion that she was convinced she was not shot. The glass in the window are 10x12, and the

HOLE MADE BY THE SHOOTING

Is about four inches in diameter, and in the left hand upper corner of one of the lower glass; hence, the muzzle of the gun was near the window, and both barrels discharged as near simultaneously as possible. The window sash is not powder-burned, notwithstanding the hole in the glass represents that the gun was very near the window when discharged. The

PAPER USED AS WADDING

For the gun was a Cincinnati Commercial, and was scattered from the window three or four feet back toward the road. At the gate "B" was found a home-made hickory ramrod thirty-four inches in length, while at the back of the garden, which is north of the house, a plank was broken off of the fence, and the appearance of someone having slipped while running was also discovered, these being the only signs of any person having been about.

WAS HE THE MAN?

A few minutes previous to the shooting, Jerry Murphy passed Goodridge's on his way to Robert White's, and when near White's he met someone in the road, but did not recognize him. Murphy, after going in the gate at White's, stopped and looked back at the man, and then went in the house, and in a few moments the report of the gun and the screams of the women were heard. This was the only person seen about the premises of Goodridge that evening, and if this was the assassin, he certainly came in that direction that he might discover anyone that chanced to be on the road, and if no one was out, do the shooting and leave by the back way, knowing that all persons would approach the house from the front, as no one lived in the rear. It seems that the villain was acquainted with the premises, and knew when to do the heartless work. Goodridge had, during the day, been hauling boards at Taylorsport, and had been in the house but a few minutes when shot.

A PREVIOUS ATTEMPT.

We learn that Goodridge suspicioned some one was attempting to take his life, for, one night about two weeks since, he thought he heard a cap burst, which circumstance he related to his uncle Walter.

The murdered man had several enemies in that locality, but has had no recent trouble with any of them; therefore, the grounds for suspicion are weak.

Esquire A. B. Whitlock held an inquest about 9 o'clock Saturday night. The verdict accords with the above statements.

THE NEXT DAY.

When we visited the residence of the deceased, Sunday about 3 p. m., the room in which the killing was done bore the unmistakeable appearance of the perpetration of the horrible crime. There was the gaping hole in the window, the door on the opposite side riddled with buckshot, the floor and walls bearing the crimson stains made by the blood and brains, while in the adjoining room lay the corpse of the stalwart man, who, but a few hours previous, was in the midst of life and health, enjoying the pleasure of his own little family circle, and unconscious of the head drawn upon him by the glaring eye of a "midnight assassin."

NO OPEN ATTEMPT

Was being made Sunday to discover the guilty party, but there was considerable indignation apparent among the little knot of men whom we met, and there will be an attempt made to have the Governor offer a reward for the apprehension and arrest of the criminal.

We did not suppose that there was a man in Boone County mean and cowardly enough to commit such a heinous crime, and hope that he may soon be discovered and dealt with as the magnitude of the crime demands.

ONE day last week, John Smith, of Belleview, who claims dominion over Laughery Island, saw two men from Indiana, named McBride, on the island gathering drift coal. Smith had, on other occasions, denied them this privilege, and when he discovered them last week, he took his shotgun and set sail for the island, and, so soon as he arrrived in shooting distance, opened fire on the McBride's, shooting one of them in the head, shoulder and face, making a serious and painful wound. The McBride's left the island in the possession of Smith.

TUESDAY night, as Mr. A. G. Winston was coming from Beaver, he found Henry Tanner lying on the roadside with his leg broken, his horse having fell with him. Mr. Winston assisted the injured man home, where he found his wife alone and, at the point of death. Mr. Winston rendered all the assistance he could, and did not leave till the sufferers were made as comfortable as possible and medical aid summoned.

A FEW days since, neighbor D. M. Hewitt shot and killed one of John H. Smith's favorite fox hounds. Mr. Smith's two sons called on Mr. Hewitt for an interview. The interview was a lively one, and one in which fists, clods and other hard substances took an active part. When the Smiths retired, Hewitt retired also, and summoned an M. D. to give relief to his bruises.

WE hear of a considerable disturbance of the public peace in the northeast portion of the county, in which pistols and ale bottles played a conspicuous part. No high grade of crime committed. Our live County Attorney will present his claims in that quarter soon. Now, boys, you who caused the commotion, prepare for the fines.

MRS. HAMPTON, who preached here a few weeks since, preached at the Grange Hall at Mt. Pleasant last Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon. We were told she is giving Burlington considerable gratuitous advertising, and that, too, of such a character as to be of no advantage to the town.

IN the County Clerk's office, last Thursday, was recorded a mortgage from the L. C. and L. Railroad Company to Joshua F. Speed for $1,000,000, to secure the payment of bonds to that amount that will be put on the market in a short time.

REV. J. W. HENLEY will preach here on next fourth Sunday, morning and evening.

SLEET—WALLACE—At the residence of the bride's parents, on Thursday evening, December 6th, 1877, by Elder W. T. Winston, Mr. Benj. K. Sleet to Miss Artimesia L. Wallace, all of Burlington, Boone County, Ky. May their prospects brighten along life's journey to its terminus, and a peaceful rest meet them beyond.

The above affair was decidedly quiet, the ceremony being performed at 8 p. m. in the presence of the bride's parent and sister-in-law, the groom's sister and niece, and six or seven particular friends of the happy couple. A splendid supper was provided for the occasion and highly enjoyed by the guests. Friday quite a number of the groom's relatives and friends assembled at his mother's to extend their congratulations, and partially dispose of the delicacies provided for the reception feast.

Died.

DEMPSEY—At the residence of his mother, in Burlington, on the 5th inst., at about 10 a. m., Thos. Dempsey.

Mr. Dempsey was just entering the prime of life when he contracted the dreaded disease consumption, which he survived only about twelve months. Mr. Dempsey leaves many friends who mourn his loss.

Personal Mention.

WE are sorry to report old Father Smith in a very bad state of health.

MRS. GENIE BLYTHE, wife of J. F. Blythe, has been quite ill for some days.

ATTENTION is called to the "card" of J. Q. Davis, sign of Big Red Boot, Rising Sun, Indiana, who has the reputation of being a live man in his particular line, and never advertises what he has not got or prices that he will not sell at.

OUR friend Wetsell, of Florence, has gone into the horse trade on a small scale. The celebrated "Roxanna" now masticates corn and hay for him.

NONE of the Judges of the Court of Appeals weigh less than 200 pounds. The heaviest weighs 232, the lightest 201 pounds.

THE taking of Plevna by the Russians, last Sunday, knocked the stuffing out of Turkey.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

On last Friday, as a negro man was crossing the river at this point, the wind was blowing hard and the river was very rough, and about mid way of the river the skiff sunk. The negro called for help, and Dr. Matson and Omer Perkins went to his rescue. He was in the water about half an hour.

Scattersville.

Mrs. John B. Acra, of whom we spoke some time since as lying quite ill, is now gone before. She was an aged lady, and leaves behind in the memories of those who knew her a good name, which, we are informed by an inspired penman, is rather to be chosen than great riches. [Prov., xxii., 1.] Her funeral and burial obsequies were observed on the Monday following her death. Rev. R. E. Kirtley preached the funeral discourse.

The literary society near here is gradually developing its muscle. It was, "Hot my comrades! see the signal," at the last meeting. Some reinforcements came in and manifested their intention to march along with it to victory.

And now comes "Kross," from 'cross Big Bone Ridge, and becomes so cross over our mistake (rectified in our last) as to blow out his indignation about it through the columns of the RECORDER. Had he privately told us our error was grinding his sensibilities so, we should have make the correction long ago. He wears, no doubt, a pertinent nom de plume. But we venture the assertion, should "Kross" be questioned by a fair damsel on that question of all questions, he would forget his retaliatory disposition and make the silly answer: "Yes! Dearest, got the camphor!"

CITY REPORTER.

WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 8, 1877.

Special Correspondence to the Recorder.

CONGRESS.

The opening of the regular session of Congress was a tame affair, and had not sufficient attraction to fill the galleries. There was no fight over a Speaker; the disappointed aspirants for various positions, worried out by the demands of boardinghouse keepers who knew just how and when to present their bills, had returned to their little homes to meditate upon the uncertainty of life, consoling themselves with the thought that Republics are ungrateful.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

At 12:45 o'clock the reading of the President's message had commenced. His views on the 'Silver Question" and Resumption were a bombshell in the camp of the friends of hard money and ant-resumptionists.

IT NEEDS A PATENT.

As the President and Secretary of the Treasury are in full accord upon those subjects, the Administration may be understood as fully committed to a conservative financial policy. Civil Service in annual messages, and in party platforms reads well; but those who daily see its operations are convinced that no patent has yet been secured upon this new political theorem.

OUR COMMERCIAL INTERESTS.

The President discussed the subject of our commercial interests and the necessity of enlarging our shipping facilites for the exporting of domestic productions. This is the nation's open highway to future prosperity, and demands the early attention of Congress.

THE PACIFIC RAIL ROAD COMPANIES

Owe the Government $64,623,512. The Union & Central Pacific are fully able to meet their portion of this liability. Their net earnings last year were $15,649,937 32, paying 8 per cent. on capital and 6 per cent. interest on bonded debt. The net earnings of the Northern Pacific were $388,698 08. The road is now running 460 miles west of Duluth and 160 miles west of Tecoma, Washington Territory. The net earnings of all these roads to the present time has exceeded $90,000,000.

'TIS WHOLESOME TO SOME.

The financial views of the message meet with general commendation.

'TIS NOT ALL GOLD THAT GLITTERS.

Colonel J. W. Polk, Doorkeeper of the House, finds himself environed in a sea of difficulties. Anxious for the position, he promised every body a place, and he has fulfilled these pledges so faithfully, that in seven weeks he has drawn an excess of $4,800 more than the total sum placed at his disposal. An immediate stepping down and out will be the result. His most formidable competitor in the last contest, arrived in town last evening and claims the position.

AN UNNECESARY BILL.

Mr. Harrison, of Illinois, has introduced a bill to revive the odious "income tax." Does he propose to have the government give another turn to the great wheel of misfortunes that shroud like a pall the whole land? Is it so vastly important that the Secretary of the Treasury shall be able each month to report the national debt reduced a million or two from moneys wrung out of overburdened and struggling communities? This generation has fully met the demands made upon them. This debt should be funded in a fifty-year bond at a low rate of interest, payment to be made in future years, when our vast domain, from ocean to ocean, shall be the home of other millions.

PATTERSON.

Judge Humphreys refuses to surrender Senator Patterson to the authorities of South Carolina, and the Senate will institute a searching investigation of the charges against him. Meanwhile, the Senator has an offer of $2,000 for twenty lectures, to be delivered in the Northern cities on the various phases of the Southern question.

DID IT PAY?

In the seven weeks of extra session, 1,800 bills were introduced, printed and referred to committees. Two only were passed. Some enthusiast in political economy may put the question, Did it pay?

BLUE-GRASS.

The visitor of the Capitol notes the constant changes being made in the grounds. The lawns are now covered with a thick mat of Kentucky blue-grass.

JOURNALISTIC VENTURES.

The death rate among public journals in Washington is most marvelous. Since 1790, 220 newspapers have been started, and flourished for a longer or shorter time. Only 17 of the list survive, while all the others are hidden in the journalistic graveyard. In the face of this mortality, a new daily (the Post) and a new Sunday paper launch out on the unknown(?) future, the former indorsed by the Democratic members of the House.

Ayer's
Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous, and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

VIRGINIA FIRST—THEN LEE.

This beautiful poem was written on the fly-leaf of a copy of his translation of the Iliad by Lord Derby, and presented by him to General Robert E. Lee after the latter's surrender at Appomattox:

The grave old bard, who never dies—
Receive him in our native tongue—
I send [illegible] with weeping eyes,
The story that he sung.

Thy Troy has fallen—thy dear land
Is marred beneath the spoiler's heel;
I can not trust my trembling hand
To write the grief I feel.

Oh, home of tears! But let her bear
This blazon to the end of time;
No nation rose so white and fair,
None fell so pure of crime.

The widow's moan, the orphan's wail,
Are round thee, but in truth be strong;
Eternal right, though all things fail,
Can never be made wrong.

An angel's heart, an angel's mouth,
(Not Homer's) could alone for me
Hymn forth the great Confederate South,
Virginia first—then Lee.

Brother and Sister Become Husband and Wife.

A rich lead of romance has been struck at Oakland, Md. A poor farmer lives there, self-exiled, self-buried, among strangers, simply because he married his sister without knowing it. When he was a lad of seven, and she was a lass of three, she was kidnapped and her parents never heard of her again, although they expended thousands of dollars in search of her. The heart-broken mother died soon after the loss of her darling and the father wandered over Europe, and finally settled in New York, where he died. The brother grew to manhood, and the memory of his lost sister was almost effaced from his mind. In his twenty-seventh year, while visiting a friend, he fell in love with the governess of his friend's children, a beautiful girl of about twenty-three, and after some months they were married and lived happily for five or six years, a boy and girl being born to them during that time. By the death of an uncle in San Francisco, the husband was left a considerable fortune, and the lawyers who conveyed the intelligence to him also stated that his sister's career had been traced. A tramp on his deathbed in a St. Louis police station confessed that he and two companions had stolen a little girl, for her clothes and locket which she wore, and that she had continued with them for several years, when her bright, pretty face attracted the attention of a kind hearted lady in Ohio, who adopted her and sent her to school, where she remained until her patroness died. She then became teacher in a large school in Cincinnati, but as her health began to fail she applied for a position as governess.

"My God!" cried the client, "She has been my own wife for five years." He had married his own sister. They divided the property and placed their children under the roof of a friend, and then separated forever.

A MAN may be supposed to save money and lay it back for sickness or other purposes; but he can not do this unless his wife lets him or helps him. A prudent, frugal woman is a crown of glory to her husband. She helps him in all his good resolutions; she may, by quiet and gentle encouragement, bring out his better qualities; and by her example she may implant in him noble principles, which are seeds of the highest practical virtues.

AN extensive scald, which for twenty-hours gave agonizing pain, when immersed in a saturated solution of salt, was followed with surprising relief. The abatement of pain was immediate, and in four hours both pain and swelling were gone. The next day the scalded hand differed from the other only by slight swelling and redness.

ONE of the Eastern war correspondents states that Osman Pasha discourages amputation among his wounded, because if the subjects recover they will be useless for war and entitled to pensions. That is not a likely story about a brave man.

BOSTON is to have an exhibition of five hundred ladies in Horticultural Hall, and a gold watch, a necklace and a diamond ring are to be given to the three handsomest. So the advertisements read.

It don't seem exactly right that a man should be obliged to walk through life on two bow legs, just because he indulged in the innocent diversion of sucking his toes in boyhood.

It is lying awake of nights trying to determine whether to leave your fortune to an orphan asylum or a home for old men, that makes the newspaper business so wearing.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Walton.

Walton society has been very gay of late. Three parties in one week—more than we have had for some time before.

Preparations are being made by members of the Reform Church for a festival and Christmas tree. A pleasant time is anticipated.

Mr. Pitts Herndon, with his bride, paid his father and mother a visit last week.

We notice that your Union correspondent claims that popular widower, Mr. Conner, as a suitor for some Union belle. We very often see his horse and buggy hitched in front of a house not a hundred miles from here; but we don't know—maybe it is only on some business appertaining to the Grange or legal affairs; but we are sure there are other claimants to his affections, other towns to be heard from.

Ben W. Records took a short trip to Washington, last week to secure patents on a circular saw and a corn planter invented by Mr. Wes Dixon.

At a party at Mr. G. Crisler's some of the young men got into a fuss, and during the disturbance Armsted Holder was shot in the knee. If pistols and whisky could only be left behind, these fights would not occur, or, if commenced, would end more peaceably.

Mr. Charley Roberts and Miss Mattie Roberts were married on the 13th of this month. Also, on the 6th, Fenley Sayre and Miss Kate Banton, of Crittenden. Also, on the same day, at the home of the bride, near Walton, Mr. Jas. McLaughlin and Miss Sarah Carpenter.

Mr. Geo. T. Gaines has gone to Arkansas on a business trip.

Those weddings—we have almost begun to despair of their coming off; times must be too hard. Coal is too high, probably for an extra fire in the parlor, so courting can not be done. NEMO.

Gimlet Gap.

The new dog law drafted and enforced by Clint Smith and brother, near Hebron, a week or two since, meets with general approval in this neighborhood, especially with our interpreter, J. W. Gaines, who has a new and recent importation of fox dogs that is attracting some attention hereabouts. They are fine, spotted fellows, and resemble the English pointers in some respects. John's dogs, like John himself, make a great deal of noise when on a chase, and are remarkable as "scold trailers" (dog Latin) never giving up as long as there is a chance to jump a fox. The lovers of a long chase would do well to speak to neighbor Gaines for a few pups.

It is currently reported and generally believed that Bob Squires has made a purchase of the entire city of Greensburg, and will immediately open at that point a dry goods and grocery store and a blacksmith and wagon shop. If this is true, in all probability the postoffice at this point will be removed to Greensburg, and the postmaster of the stone postoffice here be relieved.

Esquire Snooks and Logan Gaines (the latter now of Carroll County), passed through the Gap a few days since. The Squire, we are delighted to report, was looking unusually hale and hearty.

The Directors of the Bellevue turnpike met at Burlington on the first Monday in this month and settled up and paid off all claims against the road. The worthy President, Brother S. P. Brady, a citizen of the suburbs of the Gap, was overjoyed at this long hoped for consummation, and the additional act that there was a respectable balance with the Treasurer, that he forgot where he had hitched his horse, and had to call on a gentle bovine to found it.

There was a preliminary meeting at J. J. Lillard's last Friday afternoon, with a fair attendance, in the interest of a new turnpike from here to Goose Creek. As we had no reporter present, we have no account of the proceedings sufficiently reliable to be published in so reliable a sheet as the RECORDER.

Wishing you a merry Christmas and a happy New Year, Mr. Editor, we will close with the remark that we feel HANSUM.

GALLATIN COUNTY—Glencoe.

As we predicted in your columns some time since, two houses for worship have been erected in our midst, viz., the Baptist and the Christian churches. Monthly service is now conducted in each, through the kindness of the Revs. Waldrop and Beck, each of whom resides at Owenton. The voluntary services of these gentlemen are duly appreciated, as may be seen by the respectable congregations that assemble to hear them expound the Scriptures.

On the 21st of November, the Methodists closed their Quarterly Meeting, which was largely attended, highly interesting and ably conducted by Revs. Hall, Barker and Beverly. One of the many good results that attended this meeting was their conclusion to build a church, which we presume will be done immediately.

Notwithstanding the numerous and earnest efforts made by distinguished divines to cleanse our hearts of all iniquity, there are still those with us who adhere tenaciously to the resorts and pursuits of his Satanic majesty. Lately a race course has been opened, thus affording the rowdies of the whole country a good opportunity to annoy us with their disgusting presence and to corrupt our morals with their baneful influence. After a day's fighting, swearing and swindling, and a surprising amount of drinking, they gather in town, making the night hideous with their drunken yells.

Our community has just emerged from an unusual state of excitement, occasioned by the flight of Burt Boaz, a very trusted stock trader. Although he indulged in too much strong drink occasionally, and was of a reckless disposition, yet he enjoyed the entire confidence of our shrewdest business men. In the last two years he lost money by trading, which probably hurried him on to commit the mean act of fleeing from his creditors, whom he owed about $3,000, with at last $2,600 in his possession. It is also reported that he forged Mr. Edward Spencer's signature for about $300. No attempts have been made to effect his arrest, although his whereabouts could easily be ascertained, as he has been seen in both Covington and Cynthiana.

Our first reception of winter was anything but agreeable; although it must be admitted that, while sitting in our cozy apartment, as we gazed thoughtfully through the frost-covered windows, we could easily see visions of delightful sleighrides, &c.; but the instant we went forth to enjoy this most exquisite bliss, our frosty red nose loomed up before us, obscuring all the previously mentioned visions, and enabling us to painfully realize a deficiency in the construction of man—one of God's greatest creations. We do not propose to dispute His infinite wisdom, so we reconcile it in this manner: That man was made to dwell in the Garden of Eden, where the terrors of winter are unknown, and, consequently, man would not have been obliged to employ each of his hands to protect his ears, subjecting his nose to the trying ordeal of receiving the full blast of winter's fury.

Again it becomes our agreeable duty to announce to the public that two lives that had hitherto been pleasantly drifting toward the matrimonial sea have at last arrived at their desired channel, and are now happy in having contributed their respective parts to the swelling of this mighty sea, which will finally deluge the entire world, wrestle with the last remaining bachelor in his remotest retreat and engulf him in its despised(?) waters, where he will remain until death kindly intercedes in his behalf. This time it was Mr. John Greene and Miss Belle Elliston, the marriage rites being performed at the residence of the bride's father, in Grant.

MALCOLM.

INDIANA—Aurora.

The Emma Leland Dramatic Combination played here for a week, and met with good success.

And now our City Council proposes to build a City Hall, providing the necessary money can be satisfactorily raised.

Gas is now furnished to people on Moore, Manchester and Ducatur streets.

Aurora may boast of her improvements, or her fine location, or her fire department, or her Council, but if there is one thing she is proud of, it is her loafers; and we will wager she can furnish more to the square inch than any town of her size in Indiana, Lawrenceburg not excepted.

In the suit of Epstein vs. Criswell, before Judge Roberts, last week, a judgment was rendered in favor of Epstein.

The Alumni Association have in preparation a drama, which will be rendered some time about Christmas.

The pulpit of the Presbyterian Church is still unfilled.

Some of the bloods were arraigned before Mayor Green, on last Monday, for participating in a free fight on Saturday night.

Harry W. Smith is sojourning in New York City.

John Bailey and wife have returned to their home in Denver, Colorado.

Like Christopher, of the regular army, has returned home on account of wounds received at the hands of Chief Joseph's warriors.

Geo. Siemantel, jr., died at the residence of his parents, on Tuesday last, of consumption.

Gen. Sam Cary spoke to quite a large audience at Schultze's Hall on Friday evening last, advocating greenbacks.

Consolation to Covington.

The city of Covington, once called a "dry land corporation" situated on the Ohio River opposite Cincinnati, and just on the other shore of Licking from the city of Newport, for years the place of grand speculations in real estate by the fat rural roosters perching on the hills and squatting in the valleys for miles around, now is realizing that her days of greatness were few, and that the toad will burst in aping the dimensions of an ox—that all is not gold that has a yellowish tint. We are quite sure, too, she is not a dry land corporation. The dry part is a misnomer the most objectionable. Dry! with so many thousand Good Templars, Murphyites and the like? who have persecuted St. Alcohol and the beverage part of the whisky trade until the thousand dram shops fail to meet the cold water demand, and drug stores find it of profit to have grand jurors peering over their counters, smelling out the meaning of spirits frumenti, and, by an interpretation more literal than elegant, reading it aloud, "bust head whisky." Nothing dry to the saloonist and druggist, who have been fished out in this mediæval cold water trade.

Dry! In the City Council, not much, since the Holly water scheme has been so perfect a success, and daily, hourly and momently, without cost to man, beast or corporation, regularly and bountifully supplies the liquid, pure as when it shaked the thirst of the mud turtles of the duck pond before Columbus discovered America, and while the fox unscared dug his hole where that palatial postoffice expects to stand before the next centennial.

Dry! when the man of labor and the man of wealth for years have poured out their means as free as holly slop into the lap of the treasury for schools and public purposes, all of which, to the last cent, has been honestly applied, except, perhaps, a little by accident loaned at big interest on slow notes? The big interest makes up for the time it runs.

Dry! when the wisest men hold conventions, select officers, and honest ones get the places of trust, and charge nor keep anything for services, and steal not?

Dry! when the rail car rumble not through her street, nor its freight blockades her alleys; and beds thumping her grog shops, her drug stores and her officers, and parting leaves behind her footprints in the sands of time?

Dry! How, when there is no Tammany Ring, Connolly nor Tweed? Has intense Democracy, or a mixture of Democracy and Republicanism called Conservatism done the job for her? Answer, ye who hold the political wires and pack her conventions.

For our part, we think there is no drought about the corporation, unless, possibly, it be in the treasury bag, and many have grave doubts and hope that even yet all will be right. Some mistake may be lurking in the old arithmetics used by the committee in their nosing through the money books, for we know that mistakes in writing and in figures will occur. (To this we are willing to swear.) How can it be that two cases so alike can occur in the same household so nigh together and not be twins? It's against nature, and the people and the Council would not and could not be so imposed on. It's all a mistake. The figures are not right. If nothing will save the corporation but strictly honest officials, send out to Boone and we will send a further supply. In fact, she now furnishes Kenton, her neighbor, one "war horse," and partly two, to fight her battles in the Legislature, and, no doubt, she will be as kind to the city, if the same pressing need appears. Then, if hard pressed, let the Council toot its trumpet horn, and Boone will call a Democratic convention and nominate strait Democrats and elect one for every paying office the city has. Remember Covington, that Boone has filled your banks with money and good honest officers; your offices with efficient and competent clerks; your benches with able and upright Judges; your stores with paying customers; your markets with fat hogs and big taters; and nary thief for your streets or jails. Therefore, if you are scarce of material for paying offices, remember Boone, and in her innocence and purity call to her, and she will answer your voice promptly, and at a convenient season she will reciprocate. For even the dogs came and licked the sores of poor Lazarus as he lay at the gate

A Correct Account of the Shooting Done on Laughery Island.

BELLEVUE, Dec. 12, 1877.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

The public mind has been aroused to the highest pitch by a shooting affray which occurred on Monday morning about daybreak on Laughery Island, half a mile above this place. From an interview with an eye-witness, we gathered the following facts: John Smith, a resident of this place, and mail carrier between here and Rising Sun, accompanied by his son, went to the above named island duck hunting, when, upon landing their skiff, they discovered another skiff a few yards from them. Upon looking from the shore, they discovered, about forty yards from them, two men, who afterward proved to be David and Eb McNight, residents of Indiana, who were gathering coal drifted there by the current. Smith ordered them to leave and let the coal be. Dave replied: "Go to h—ll I am going to have the coal, and I have as much right here as you." Smith then fired on him with a shotgun, eighteen shot taking effect in the side of the face, neck and scalp, but not seriously injuring him. Eb then rushed toward Smith with a dornick and received the contents of the other barrel, but, having on a thick coat, only two shot took effect. Eb still pursued Smith into the water, until Smith began to reload, when they both fled. The island is owned by Smith and another gentleman of this place, and they have warned the McNights, as well as many others, to keep off. John Smith is an honorable, inoffensive and peaceable citizen, to which the fact of his being recommended by a number of the best citizens of this community will certify.

ANONYMOUS.

[With the above we received a blistering refutation of the report given by the Cincinnati Enquirer of the same affair, but the writer withheld his name, and of course we will not give publicity to the denial.—ED.]

The Senatorship.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

The important duty of electing a United States Senator devolves upon the Legislature of this State at its coming session. This county appears to have, as yet, made no decided preference between the several distinguished gentlemen named in connection with the office. No one doubts but what the successful candidate will be a Democrat. On that question all hands are at rest. With such overwhelming power in the hands of the party, is there any necessity or excuse for resting the choice on party expediency? Nothing of the sort can be hinted. So we are left, as it seems, now to choose a Senator untrammeled by anything save considerations applicable alone to the candidate. His honesty, energy and ability to influence the most good for the State and country are the questions of importance. Among the names prominently before the public, we find those distinguished in peace and those distinguished in war; and, without saying a word against any, and recognizing the high character of all, we hope the Legislature, in its wisdom, will remember the high position our Senators have held in the Congresses of the past, and, in looking about for the man, seek to discover and select for the position he who, by his large experience, perfect integrity and surpassing ability, will carry the most weight in the national councils, and at the same time be worthy the seat once filled by Clay, Crittenden and Breckinridge. The Hon. J. W. Stephenson is the man.

Be Liberal to Your Farms.

Correspondence to the Recorder.

Be liberal to your farms, and they will be liberal to you. A farm is very much, in one respect, like a looking-glass—it reflects the character of the man exactly. If he is parsimonious, his farm will show it; if he is a man of taste, his buildings, fences and general arrangements of his farm will tell the tale. No effort on his part to disguise his real thoughts or sentiments will avail anything, so long as the operations of his farm belie his words. The farmer who invests freely in his farm is sure to be paid well for his risk and trouble. Liberality in providing utensils is saving of both time and labor. The more perfect the farmer's tools, the more profitable are they. So, also, it is with his working horses and his stock. The more perfect in kinds are ever the most profitable. Liberality in good barns and warm shelters is the source of health, strength and comfort to animals, causes them to thrive on less food, and secures from damage all sorts of crops. Liberality, also, in the provision of food for domestic animals is the source of flesh, muscle and manure. Thus it is, in agriculture as in every part of creation, a wise and paternal Providence has inseparably connected our duty and our happiness. J. H. K.

INVENTORS, to secure prompt and proper action on their cases, should employ an attorney resident at Washington. We direct attention to Foster's Patent Offices, 509 Seventh street, Washington. Mr. Foster has practiced before the Patent Office 18 years. Send to him for pamphlets and references.

NOT long since, a lady sent 25 cents to a man advertising that for that amount he would tell a lady how to make an impression, and received as an answer, "Sit down on a plate of butter."

WE have not killed anybody with a brick yet, but several have narrowly escaped a premature death by not remembering our threats.

THE Boone County Pomona Grange will hold its next meeting at the County Grange Hall the fifth Saturday in December.

THE BOONE COUNTY RECORDER

W. L. RIDDELL,
Editor and Proprietor.

BURLINGTON, KY., DECEMBER 20.

POOR Turkey!

OH, rest, ye weary Solons!

LAST Friday a negro murderer was lynched in Tennessee.

ON the first of January, R. M. Bishop swears in as Governor of the State of Ohio.

THE Sultan declares that Russia commenced the war and Turkey had to defend herself.

TWO turnpikes have been built in the county this year, and there is yet room for two hundred more.

GENERAL HARLAN has taken the oath of office and is now part of the Supreme Court of the United States.

THE Murphy pledge bears the "sig" of five hundred and sixty-seven persons in Falmouth, and the cry is "still they come."

THE Workingmen's party has a full ticket of candidates in the field for the city offices that are to be filled in Covington at the next city election.

THE Covington Postoffice is still, and will be, for some time to come, presided over by Mrs. Farrell, she having been re-appointed by the President.

THE actress, Alice Oates, has sued the Cincinnati Commercial for $25,000 for publishing a scandal and representing her as one of the principal characters.

THE hog market has been very dull for some time, and those keep their eyes on the market give it as their opinion that it will so remain till after the holidays.

ON the 14th inst., R. J. Beaumont, formerly editor of the Mayfield Democrat, was discharged from the Penitentiary at Frankfort, having been pardoned by the President.

THE Court of Appeals has, in a recent decision, sustained the local option law. Now the question arises, if once a law is it or not always a law, or at least till repealed by the Legislature.

THE State Grange at its late session resolved that the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction ought to be abolished, and that there should be three trustees in each school district.

THE Louisville Commercial advertises an immense swell for Tuesday, January 1st, 1878. It will, on that day, be a sixteen page sheet, in order give a resume of the closing year's business in Louisville.

THE trial of Edward H. Taylor, jr., in the Franklin Criminal Court at its last term, under two indictments, one for embezzlement and one for obtaining money under false pretenses, resulted in his acquittal in both cases.

CONGRESS is taking a rest. The country would not be seriously damaged were the members to forget to return on the tenth of next month, the time to which it is adjourned. The next generation would be none the worse off.

THE Lexington Press says there has been no time within twenty-five years that lands in the Bluegrass region have sold at such low prices as at present. Sixty dollars to ninety dollars an acre will buy lands that are really worth from one hundred to one hundred dollars an acre. Now is the time for those who sigh for a home in the Bluegrass region to purchase.

LAST week, a Deputy United States Marshal and posse were searching for moonshiners in Cumberland County, and succeeded in finding a nest of them that sent a detachment of lead messengers to meet them. The reception was considered by the Marshal to be too earnest for comfort, so he and his comrades beat a retreat, the moonshiners following them about ten miles.

AN unsophisticated Kentuckian was relieved of $1,170 by some sharpers in Cincinnati, last week. It appears, at present, that the city is well stocked with thieves, who keep a sharp lookout for the unsuspecting one that is fortunate enough to be well "heeled." The Commercial, a few days since, published quite a list of names of gamblers, and their places of business, that the authorities might have some clue, but no effort has yet been made to break up the gambling "hells" pointed out.

LAST Friday, Fernando Wood raised a breeze in the lower House of Congress by reporting a resolution providing for the investigation, during recess, of every department of Government. The committees authorized to make the investigation are to have authority to send for persons and papers. When will investigations be laid aside for Legislative business.

IT now looks as though a little war between the United States and Mexico is bound to come off. Advices from Austin, Texas, dated December 14th, say there was fighting, all day long the day previous, in Elpaso County. The Mexicans from both sides of the river attacked the troops, the number of which was so limited that the President was called upon for additional forces.

THERE are, in Kentucky, 125,000 farms, requiring 151,000,000 panels of single panel fence to inclose it. The number of rails required is 2,000,000,000, costing $75,000,000. Estimate of annual repairs, $10,000,000. The live stock now in the country is estimated at $24,121,861. It will be seen from this that more than one-third of the value of this stock is expended in repairing inclosures. About 10,000,000 of timber trees are annually used to keep up the fencing.

THE Lexington correspondent to the Cincinnati Commercial says the affairs of the Kentucky University will be brought before the next Legislature in a new shape. Legislation will be asked allowing the church party to take what belongs to them and depart. The balance of the endowment fund, with $65,000 of the old Transylvania fund and the State interest in the Agricultural and Mechanical College, will constitute an excellent foundation for a great State University free from all sectarian control.

THE Louisville Commercial of the 14th says: "The State Grange which has been in session at Masonic Temple for the past three days, adjourned last night to meet in this city on the second Thursday in December, 1878. The session yesterday was taken up in hearing reports and considering matters of a private nature. The only matter of public interest was the appointment of James D. Guthrie and Richard Waters as a committee to conduct the Grange Agency, in this city, in connection with the Master of the State Grange and Executive Committee."

ACCORDING to the Interior Journal, they are having lively times in Lincoln County. The Journal says it never saw the citizens of Stanford and Lincoln County so thoroughly aroused as they are at present. They are tired of the daring deeds of murder and robbery that have been systematically carried on by a desperate band in and around Crab Orchard, and are determined to put a stop to it. The Journal has changed its opinion as to the courage of Hickle, the deputy Sheriff, and thinks if the citizens will stand to him he will do his duty, and the outlaws will be brought to justice in a short time.

LAST week, Dearborn County, Indiana, added another to the long catalogue of foul murders that have been committed during the past month. In this case the father is slain by his son, who yields to the persuasion of his mother. He says she has been trying to induce him to commit the deed for some time. The boy is only thirteen years old. The young murderer concealed himself behind the woodpile, and shot his father with a shotgun loaded with buckshot. The poor man lay in a few yards of his house for twelve hours, suffering the agonies of death and refused the care and assistance of his wife and children, who closed their door that they might not be disturbed by the groans of the dying man during the night. The old lady and the boy are both in jail in Lawrenceburg. The crime was committed some distance back in the country.

THE session of the Legislature which convenes in a few days, will evidently be one of vast importance to every citizen in the State. New laws are to be made, old laws repealed and amended; in fact, the probabilites are, there will be a general overhauling of the State affairs, and much done that our readers will like to and should be advised of as the business progresses. We shall, therefore, during the session of the Legislature furnish our readers with as complete report of all the proceedings as it is in our power to obtain. During the session of the last Legislature we kept before four readers more news from the State Capitol than they ever before enjoyed, and this winter we expect to do better than on former occasions. Bear this in mind, drop in and renew your subscription, and speak a good word for us to your neighbor who is not a subscriber.

DURING a secret session of Congress, last Friday, a little unpleasantness occurred between Senator Conkling, of New York, and Senator Gordon, of Georgia. It seems that Gordon called for a report which the Committee on Commerce had directed Spencer to make in favor of the confirmation of Smith to be Collector at Mobile, which Gordon suspected was being deliberately suppressed, and Conkling, unaware of Gordon's motion, demanded that the Clerk go on with the calendar. Gordon took offense at this seeming act of discourtesy, and remarked that he was glad the Senate was conducting the public business, but claimed that the Senator from New York had no right to give orders to the Vice-President. Other words passed between them, but the affair was settled, at least temporarily.

THE Court of Appeals, last week, held the local option law constitutional in all its material provisions. The Judges disagree as to the constitutionality of some of the details of the act, but it is said slight legislation on these points will remove all difference of opinion now prevailing in the court. The difference of opinion resulted in the affirmance of the judgments appealed from, in each of which the validity of the law was upheld. This piece of information we obtain from the Frankfort Yeoman. At first sight it strikes us that the vexed question of local option rests pretty much as it did before this decision was made; for in truth it appears that no decision has been made as to the constitutionality of the act as it now stands, because, we are informed that the judgments appealed from stand affirmed; not because the Court of Appeals adjudged the act constitutional, but the court was divided on the question and consequently nothing was decided. This leaves the judgments appealed from affirmed. There may be a difference of opinion as to the importance of the questions included in the details of this act. Some may contend that high principles are there lying ambushed. The importance of this local option act makes it highly necessary that the people should be posted as to the scope of these opinions, and we will be glad to lay them before our readers.

ST. LOUIS LETTER.

ST. LOUIS, MO., December 15, 1877.

To the Editor of the Recorder:

We have had one of the most delightful weeks in the way of weather that we ever experienced in all of our life, at this season of the year. We hardly know what kind of weather to call it, as it is neither fall, winter or summer, and, of course, we can not say as yet, that spring is upon us. Though business is still very dull, and as man's inhumanity to man is seemingly as great as ever, we incline to the opinion that the fellow that would have the least inclination to suicide such beautiful days as these, the sooner he did it the better it would be for himself and the rest of mankind, as there is certainly no hope for him if his spirits would droop such golden days as we have had the week through. Had we had much hard freezing weather, we would conclude this a good week for tapping trees and making maple sugar, as our mind, the week through, has wandered back to our old sugar camp of days of yore, when we would spend many an evening till midnight boiling down the drippings of the day previous. We really like such days as these, as they carry us back to the sunny side of life, when hope put a golden tinge on everything about us. We say let such days as we are having be many, notwithstanding it is said a green December makes a full churchyard. We do not believe this must necessarily follow.

We suppose you have heard ere this, that the trial of Rande, the desperado, is laid over until the February term of court. Whether this will be better for the prisoner or not, we, of course, as yet, can not say. But one thing is certain, while the friends of Belden, the murdered man, are not out spoken in condemnation of Judge Smith, for letting the trial go over, they are certainly the more nervous and excited concerning Rande, and there is now no telling what 24 hours may bring forth. The defense is to be conducted upon the usual theory of insanity. We stated, in our last, that he has been indentified by confession from his own lips, as well as by his father and brothers, as Charles C. Scott, of Fairfield, Iowa. We will now state that his relatives say that they had heard nothing from him within the past 14 years up to this affair, though he has, within that time, committed many depredations in Illinois and Indiana, and since that time he has served a term in the State prison of Indiana. The father and brothers, however, will testify as to his insanity, and it is said that some dozen or more good citizens have been found, who will swear to the same. If this be so, it must certainly be a clear case of "The Devil on the brain," and murder in the heart. The former it is said always produces the latter. But it is said upon the other hand that twisted hemp, properly adjusted, is a splendid remedy for the disease.

On Sunday last, Elder Enos Campbell tendered his resignation as pastor of the Central Christian Church, to take effect the first of next month. He has served the congregation faithfully for the past five years, and we are of the opinion it will be some time before the congregation will find his equal as a teacher and a pastor. It is our conviction that he has no superior as a pastor, and if he has an equal we have never met him.

Our School Board, on Tuesday evening last, passed a resolution closing our schools from Friday, the 21st inst., to Wednesday the 2nd proximo, which gives ten days holiday to the teachers, principals, and little folks. It is hardly necessary for us to say the little folks are happy, and the principals and teachers are not at all disappointed with the generous action of the Board. It would not surprise us in the least if a few of the lady teachers, during the holidays, form plans and make arrangements for quitting the schoolroom before the close of the year.

We had almost forgotten to mention that the Republican, of Tuesday morning, gave an account of a dastardly shooting scrape on Saturday evening last, in the little village of Francisville in your county. If the account as given by the aforesaid paper is correct, we are greatly inclined to the opinion that some of the people of that section of the country are not as good as they might be. We are often made to blush, in reading the numerous shooting scrapes in our native State, and wonder if the time will ever come, when the people generally, of that State, will respect law and order. But, as our letters of late, have been considerably of a sensational order, we may as well, before we quit this subject, inform your readers that we had a little of the shooting business in our own city of great moral ideas, on Tuesday last. Louis Ost, a policeman, was on that day, shot and mortally wounded by Louis Leach, a gentleman of color. Indeed, it is thought both parties will die from the effects of their wounds. A single lump of coal is said to be the origin of the encounter. Now this brings us to the fact that quite a number of our humane citizens, this week, have been busy in forming and organizing a society for the suppression of vice. When they are fully organized, and in working order, we suppose man's inhumanity to man will forever cease. And this fact induces us to remind you and your readers, that the writer has in contemplation the organization of a society that lays all others in the shade. We are now at work on the constitution and by-laws. It is to be known as the B. T. Society. The literal interpretation of which is the Bridling Tongue Society. All the churches and temperance societies in the whole land are expected to take stock in it. The supreme object of the society is to prevent each man and woman from speaking evil of their neighbor. When this is accomplished, don't you think the lion and the lamb will lie down together, and the desert will blossom as the rose? I think so, and then we will

It is very annoying to us to be constantly reminding our patrons that their subscriptions have expired, and have them pay no attention to the notices. In some few instances, persons have let their subscriptions remain unpaid till they actually conclude they have paid them, and so contend. Now, to avoid this difficulty in the future, we will commence the year 1878 with a revised mailing list, dropping, January 1st, all those who have at that time been notified of the expiration of their time and having failed to renew, and an account made out and presented to each individual who is indebted to us on subscription. We have to pay cash for both labor and material, and, therefore, are compelled to have what is due us. We hope that our friends will attend to this matter, and render it unnecessary for us to drop a single name.

THE Jailer has commenced receiving his winter boarders. The first one registered this winter is Lee Clark, a saddle-colored "gemlin" from the vicinity of Union. Clark is now "jailed" the second time in two years. WHILE in Lawrenceburg, last Friday, we called on Huschart & Co., and found them busy at work on a magnificent monument, which, when complete, will be composed of three car loads of stone. REMEMBER, Old Santa says:
If the steckings are ringed around,
The chimney tall he won't come down;
But if they're clean and pure and white,
He'll fill 'em all next Monday night.

E'en if they reach above the knee,
To fill 'em will be Santa's spree;
But, when they're filled again next day,
They will look neater, some may say.

LAST week, we mentioned the fact that there had been some trouble in the way of a breach of the peace in Constance, or thereabout. Last Saturday, our heavy-weight County Attorney, armed with the books wherein is written the penalty for getting on a "high lonesome," "raising the wind" and trying to punch the atmosphere out of a fellow being, appeared among the h-boys, there to vindicate the majesty of the law and bring unto the Commonwealth peace, and—what fines he could gather. From the best information we can obtain, some of the boys had taken on too much "bust-head" and concluded they wanted to bust one another. C. O. Utz and Joseph Peno collided, Utz flourishing his pistol and doing considerable threatening what he would do; but they got together and done some bloody work without the use of powder and ball. At the trial, before Esquire Cy Riddell and a jury, Utz was fined $10 for the assault and battery and put under bond for his appearance before the Criminal Court to answer to the charge of carrying a pistol. Jap Stockwell was tried at the same place by Esquire John A. Kendall for carrying a pistol, but the proof did not warrant a conviction.

Died.

SMITH—On the 14th inst., of typhoid fever, at his residence in Burlington, Mr. Francis Smith, in the 78th year of his age.

Mr. Smith was a native of Virginia, being born in New Kent County in the year 1800. His earlier days were spent in his native State following an active business life, he being engaged as clerk in the merchandising business, first at Williamsburg and afterward in Richmond. When he arrived at manhood, the dull scenes of a city life were abandoned for the purpose of engaging in the fur trade on the Upper Mississippi as an agent for the Hudson Bay Fur Company, of which John Jacob Astor was the President. For some time he sojourned among, and traded with, the red men of the West, undergoing many hardships and trials, which he, during the latter part of life, delighted in narrating for the amusement and instruction of the young. Quitting the fur trade, he returned to Virginia, where in a short time he married his estimable wife, whom he survived but a few years. While in his native State the second time, he professed religion and united with the Baptist Church in 1846. He manifested such a true Christian spirit, and being an active and earnest worker in the cause, his church licensed him to preach the Gospel; but, on account of his voice failing, he abandoned preaching, but continued to make it his first duty to look after and contribute to the advancement of religion. In 1849 he moved to Covington, Kenton County, and engaged in the hardware business, which he conducted successfully and profitably for several years. The hardware business he closed out and opened an iron store, being the first person to engage in that branch of business in that city. This he followed till old age incapacitated him for the laborious duties that accompany a successful business, when he retired from active life and moved to Burlington in 1870 to spend the remainder of his days on earth. The deceased as a business man was ever correct, and at all times had his business in his hands; as a member of society was one of the most esteemed and beloved; as a father, kind, indulgent and loving, ever keeping a vigilant watch over those most dear to him; as a Christian and member of the church, no one's light shone brighter, no one manifested a more Christian spirit, and delighted more to work in his Master's vineyard. Much more might be said of the departed, but our space forbids, and, with the sorrowing community and relatives, we bow in meek submission to the will of Him who does all things for the best.

HUGHES—At his residence, near Beaver, on the 16th inst., Joseph C. Hughes.

Mr. Hughes has been very low for quite a long time, his death being expected daily. In his death the county loses a valuable citizen and society a worthy member.

THE members of Burlington Lodge, No. 264, F. and A. M. are hereby notified that there will be a called meeting of said lodge at 2 p. m. on the 27th inst., for the payment of dues and election of officers. A full attendance is requested. By order of the W. M.

F. P. WALTON, Sec'y.

THERE is to be a Christmas tree in Walton on Christmas Eve. An admission fee of 25 cents will be charged, the proceeds to be applied for the benefit of the Christian Church. Miss Anna Bruce and Miss Mattie Roberts are the lady members of the Committee of Arrangements, so there need be no more said to insure a gay evening.

IN the Walton news on the first page will be found the announcement of the marriage of Mr. Chas. Roberts and Miss Mattie Roberts. We have been informed by persons who are related to both these parties, that the bride was Miss Mattie Rogers and not Miss Roberts as reported to us. The only way we can account for the mistake is to charge it to a slip of the pen wielded by our fair correspondent.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Bellevue.

It is with unfeigned regret that we announce that Bellevue is soon to lose one of her best and most useful citizens, in the person of Mr. W. W. Grant, who has about perfected his arrangements for moving to Glencoe, Ky. Our loss, however, is Glencoe's gain, and we heartily recommend Mr. Grant to the people of Glencoe and vicinity as a gentleman of the purest type, and one worthy of all the patronage that can be bestowed on him.

Joyful tidings! the bell has come and we are happy. It came last Friday night a week, and on Saturday morning following our accomplished wit, Mr. Will Corbin, hauled it, with the help of half a score of the enthusiastic denizens of our benighted city and placed it in the church, and, from the noise, we supposed that Gabriel had substituted a bell for the horn and was sounding "the last trump."

More light from the land of civilization. How thankful we should be for favors so graciously bestowed! But then the idea has just penetrated our curly cranium that your Petersburg reporter is a confirmed growler, and that the disease is chronic. We advise him to take internally some of Dr. John Worm's Bull Destroyer, and he will be better for it. We will be as generous as we can, considering the position we occupy in regard to civilization, and exclaim with Brutus: "When next our dear Cassius quarrels, we will think his mother chides, and leave it so." We close our prolix communication with the words of Beethoven, "More light! More light!" (from the land of civilization, of which your Petersburg reporter is the grand head center) and meekly sign

RURAL YOUTH.

Petersburg.

The late severe cold weather suspended operations on the Woolper bridge, but hostilities resumed last Monday a week, and as the company of workmen employed are noted both for skill and expedition, the bridge will be done in a jiffy.

That ponderous piece of legal artillery, Hon. J. D. Willis, late of Lawrenceburg, is again a fellow citizen of Boone, having lately moved to his old homestead.

Last Sunday a week closed the engagement of Rev. W. S. Keene as pastor of the Reform Church here, and to the disappointment of the large congregation that came to hear him on that beautiful day, he did not deliver a valedictory sermon; preparing, as he said, to make the separation as soon to follow, as lightly felt as possible. It will be felt, however, seriously, and the longer the separation, the deeper will grow the regret, for his place will be found very difficult to fill. His sermon at night, took more the shape of a formal farewell than the one in the morning.

Last week a few of the citizens living along the route of a proposed new turnpike from Wm. Walton's, on the Burlington and Bellevue pike, to John W. Berkshire's, on the Petersburg pike, met to talk over the best plan to adopt for the organizing a company and building said pike. From present indications, an immediate combination of determination, and a united effort will certainly result in the construction of the road, which is as much needed as any that could be constructed in the county.

There was blood on the moon the other Saturday. War was declared and two battles fought. One was between two of the reigning belles of Bucktown, in which one shot the other with a smoothing-iron, and otherwise used her up on a question of damaged reputation. The other was between our dignified harness maker and a one-horse merchant on a question of financial liability in which neither was seriously hurt, except in so far as they presented a ludicrous and undignified appearance to the crowd of cheering and amused bystanders.

One of our "blondes" allowed himself to become so befogged with advice, a week or two since, that he actually parted with merchandise to a customer at less than one-fourth of its value. He has since retired from business and now swings a coal shovel gracefully on our city wharf.

Beaver Lick.

"Oh! isn't it beautiful, fine, really growing weather?" Such exclamations as the above are heard not less than, well, frequently, this week from the lips of the delighted farmers, who are taking the advantage offered for preparing for the pinching biberal blasts that are probable to follow ere the close of winter.

Gathering corn is the labor of the day, and most farmers are exultant over the yield of their soil. Some tobacco has been stripped in the vicinity, but as yet very little. The farmers are uneasy in regard to the price of tobacco, some very fine leaf having sold for 5c. all round. This, and the price paid for hogs, is really discouraging to the industrious farmers to something like a dreadful extent, if not further.

John Cleek, of Beaver, is thus far (are there many more counties to hear from) the successful competitor for raising the largest hogs sold in the county, he having sold forty averaging 430 pounds—something for Beaver to boast of "astonishingly."

This is the epoch of general improvement about the suburbs of our "dreamy little hamlet." (Remember, this is not the Hamlet of whom Shakespeare wrote. Oh, no!) But it will, allowing continual improvements to progress as rapidly as now, ere long be as noted; for Beaver is pointedly real, no mistake, while "Shake's" Hamlet may possibly be ideal, you know. Mrs. Fannie Noell's barn and Mr. Joe Hughes' compendious building to winter cattle in are quite ornamental to the surroundings of Beaver. Mr. John S. Noell is erecting him a neat little dwelling near Big Bone creek.

Mr. Joseph Fullilove has returned from the sunny South. Joe reports things mischievously dull down there, and says he prefers the less tropical clime of "Old Kentuck," where an overcoat of heavy texture and yarn "sox" are essentials of comfort.

Amusements of all kinds are remarkably scarce about here just now. Even a respectable drunk is looked on as a debasing act. Of course, nevertheless, incidentally one is indulged in occasionally. Good Templars and Murphys have spoilt this recreating diversion about everywhere we read about.

Do you want to buy turkeys? Did you answer in the affirmative? If you did, come to Beaver. We have a surplus of gobblers to dispose of at current prices. Yours when paid for.

CECIL.

[We be gobbled if we pay for any live and kicking turkeys. Say cooked, free, and we are with you.—ED.]

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and as satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff. It gives the head a cooling, soothing sensation of great comfort, and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

A. A. Hayes, M.D., State Assayer of Massachusetts, says, "The constituents are pure, and carefully selected for excellent quality; and I consider it the BEST PREPARATION for its intended purposes."

Price, One Dollar.

Buckingham's Dye

FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color, which will neither rub nor wash off.

LINES TO BESS.

BY A LAW STUDENT.

Believe me, Bess, when I declare
A tittle—deed my heart,
And you the party of my first,
And I the second part.

To you I've given my whole love,
With no Remainder over,
If you betray that trust, I will
An action bring—of trover.

Now don't Demur when this you read,
But own you feel compunction,
Or I my suit will Prosecute,
In spite of your Injunction.

My case—it's one in Equity—
I've Pleades with precision;
You know the Points; why will you, then
So long Reserve Decision?

You owned to an Attachment once;
When I the question Mooted;
But now it seems to me you act
As if you were NOT SUITED.

I make no Dilatory Plea;
I'm driven to distraction;
You know how long I've Courted you;
Come, in my case, Take Action.

If you resist a Civil Suit
I'll bring at Cupid's Session,
And there, a Plaintiff lover, ask
For Judgment by Confession.

But if, in spite of Judgment mine,
You will not hear me still,
I'll get an order from the Court
To administer your Will.

Don't fail to File an Answer Brief
To this my Declaration,
Lest, losing patience, I shall make
A Cross Examination.

The State Revenue.

From the Henderson (Ky.) Reporter.]

Last week some mention was made in this paper of a draft of a bill prepared by Mr. Merritt, providing for radical changes in the present method of collecting the State revenue. In compliance with the promise then made, the main features of the bill are published below:

The bill is entitled, "An act to create the office of tax collector, and to regulate the collection of State, county and school tax, and other public dues."

Section 1 creates the office of tax collector, and requires that all public dues shall be paid him at the county seat, or at such other place as he may designate; makes it the duty of the tax collector to visit each magisterial district at least once for the purpose of collecting the revenue. He shall give due notice of the time of said visit.

Section 2 provides that the tax collector shall be elected as the Sheriff now is, hold office for the same time and execute similar bonds.

Section 3 provides that the tax collector shall receipt for taxes and register amounts collected in a tax book to be kept for that purpose.

Section 4 makes it the duty of the tax collector to furnish, on the first Monday in September, to the Constables of each magisterial district, a certified statement of the taxes unpaid and due from residents of said districts; said certified statements to have the force and effect of an execution from a court of record. Constables receiving said statements may distrain sufficient personal property to pay taxes, costs and commissions.

Section 5 provides that the statement may be placed in the hands of the Sheriff for collection, provided there is no Constable, or in case he fails or refuses to execute the required bond.

Section 6 provides that each Constable shall execute a bond, with approved security, to the tax collector for double the amount of unpaid taxes in his district.

Section 7 requires that Constables and Sheriffs pay over to the tax collector all taxes collected on or before the first day of January next ensuing after receipt of the statements.

Section 8 provides that the tax collector's receipt shall be payment to Constables and Sheriffs from the tax-payer.

Section 9 makes the compensation of the tax collector eight per cent. on all sums up to $5,000; six per cent. on all sums above $5,000 and up to $10,000; four per cent. on all sums above $10,000 and up to $15,000; and two per cent. on all sums above $15,000.

Section 10 fixes the compensation of Constables and Sheriffs at 50 cents for each levy and 5 per cent. commission on amount collected, to be paid by the tax-payer.

Sections 11, 12, 13, 14 and 15 provide for the time and manner of settlements to be made with the State by the officers above mentioned, and the penalty for their failure.

Section 16. The collector to report lands of delinquents, and to have same power to sell lands as the Sheriff now has.

Section 17. Owners of land sold for taxes to have the same right of redemption as now. Failing to redeem, the tax collector to convey, by deed, said property to purchaser, and purchaser may obtain possession in same manner as if purchased under execution. Should sale be set aside, purchaser to have lien for amount of taxes paid by him, with interest thereon at the rate of 30 per cent. per annum, and the same shall remain an incumbrance thereon in favor of the purchaser.

Section 16. Penalty of 5 per cent. added on all taxes unpaid on the first day of January.

Sections 19, 20, 21 and 22 relate to the powers, rights, and duties of tax collectors.

LAST week there was a heavy run on the hog market. The supply was almost without limit, and sales were hard to make at any figures. The weather melted the market down.

WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE.

Special Correspondence to the Recorder.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 15, 1877.

In going up to the Capitol, yesterday, we set to moralizing. On our way we found, at every step, an abundance of food for laughter and for tears. Entering the grand gateway of the grounds at the Bartholdi Fountain, and passing up the broad avenue toward the western entrance, we studied the faces we met, and what a multitude of them. Some looked sad and disappointed; others serious and as thoughtful as a man having a bill before Congress. Here and there we passed one of those jolly corporosities whose rotund appearance and shiny face associated the person at once with the lobby. These men call to mind a character and face so well known here during the days of Buchanan and Lincoln. He was the far-famed

BEAU HICKMAN.

What a combination of the elegant gentleman and coy rascal! Beau never was known to pay for anything. No one expected him to. And yet, he was so popular with everybody that he held the "open sesame" into all political circles. He bore the honors of the salon with such aplomb that he was often the ideal of the women and the courted companion of the men. We could tell whole chapters of this interesting man, but space forbids. He died here several years ago, and the lobby lost its most elegant representative and champion conscience buyer.

IN THE ROTUNDA.

As we enter the Capitol, we find ourselves in the rotunda, where one can always distinguish the strangers from residents. Nine times out of ten, as you enter the rotunda, you will find a group in its center trying to saw off their heads with the back part of their shirt collars, in a vain attempt to see the "Canterbury Girls," as Senator McDougal called the allegorical painting in the dome. A man can indulge in this amusement with impunity; but, merciful goodness! what a pitiable sight it is to see a woman attempt it. Hat, hair and puffs are invariably sacrificed.

WOMEN AT THE CAPITOL.

A stranger is at once impressed with the number of women he meets at the Capitol; but he does not know that they all have "urgent" business with the M. C's. The woman who does not want a position, or has not a claim to push, is a phenomena not understood by the average Congressman. Every day the reception room of the House is packed by these hungry females. The newly fledged law maker is always to be told by his alacrity when a card is sent in to him. He promises everything, and assumes an air of supreme blandness. The old members, who have weathered through many seasons here, pay but little attention to cards sent in. Ben Willis holds his levees in the elevator of the Arlington Hotel. Just when a constituent thinks things are fixed, he goes up, and leaves the interviewer to moralize on the ingratitude of those in office.

GORDON HAS FRIENDS.

Senator Gordon is to receive an elegant solid silver service from his South Carolina friends. It is to be richly adorned with emblematic engraving.

STRANGELY SILENT.

Local reporters are greatly agitated over the almost wonderful fact that General Sherman has refused to be interviewed. Heretofore, all that was necessary to be done was to ask him a question and pull out a note-book, and immediately he would pour forth a volume of information, as exhaustless as the widow's cruise of oil and as invigorating as the Pierian spring.

A BABY SHOW

Is the latest sensation here. We haven't the celebrated "rag baby" of Ohio fame, but we have our share of little bright cherubim, who will make a good showing when the time comes.

THE WEATHER.

"Old Prob." has drawn it mild so far this winter, and we have not seen a flake of snow.

THE SOLDIERS' HOME.

During these beautiful days, so often experienced in the autumn in this climate, the favorite drive is out to the Soldiers' Home, a lovely spot, made famous as the summer residence of President Lincoln, and latterly of President Hayes. The area of the park is about 300 acres, and it is so situated as to afford many beautiful vistas of the city and the Potomac.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

Is also a popular drive. It is about five miles distant, and situated on a commanding hill on old Virginia's sacred soil. There are 16,000 soldiers buried in its confines. FAX.

AN exchange says this mundane sphere is a mighty uncertain sort of place. The bitter and the sweet go hand in hand, and you always strike an up-grade when you are in the biggest hurry. A contented mind is better than money in a savings bank. A rat can do carpenter work in the palace of a king; and the jaws of a virago may vibrate in castles of granite. A couch of the lightest down may support a heart as heavy as home-made bread. So young Dofenberger thought the other day when he read the marriage notice of the girl he had intended to propose to this winter.

SOME of the farmers took advantage of the fine weather, last week, and did much toward putting in their crop of corn for next season. They did no planting, but were busy plowing-up dirt where they expect to plant about the time winter comences its work.

VERY little new tobacco has been put upon the market, and what is being sold is in the channel with other things and brings small prices.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Scattersville.

A committee of one is now acting in Scattersville, and, as an omen of the result of the action of said committee, we will state the editor would do well to exercise care in the future to give us news, instead of something all know, "from the least unto the greatest." The committee authorizes us to state that, upon examination, he finds the optics of your correspondent yet capable of filling their mission; hence concludes the failure to discern must be inferentially located elsewhere. As persons suitable to officially examine into the matter, he suggests "Sphinx" and "Rural Youth," who have, in consequence of the close attention given the exquisitely fine and subtle mustache of the handsome young clerk of the Grange store, attained a high degree of notoriety as persons possessed of a clear vision. We judge, from the accuracy with which they note the growth and development of that "fuzz," that they have a microscope of marvelous magnifying powers. This may be necessary in the examination, as editors are extreme cases. [We would be glad to have a rest on the mustache and eyesight questions.—ED.]

We have now another literary organized in this immediate neighborhood, this time at Speedwell Grange hall. The meetings are held weekly, and on Tuesday nights. It has already a considerable muscle.

The improvements recently erected in our "ville" by Wm. Clore have received a painting. They now present a neat appearance.

The fatted hogs for local purposes in this vicinity have about all squealed their last squeal. CITY REPORTER.

Willow Vale.

Again to the front. Now, Mr. Editor, we are not dead, neither gone West, as "Kross" crossly remarks. The first reason for our silence was a protracted visit in Hoosier, and the second reason was seeing a communication from Big Bone Ridge, so near our locality. However, as "Kross" has quit, I resume.

The buzz of the circular saw is again heard in our midst, and the shout of the teamster as he hauls logs breaks the monotony occasionally; while we miss the merry chatter and laughter of the schoolboys and the genial smile of the teacher, Mr. John Sebree, who closed his school and bade us good-bye Saturday a week.

We have a very interesting debating society, which meets every Friday evening at the Grange hall near here. The question discussed last Friday night was: "Resolved, That money has more influece over men than women."

We have agreed to furnish turkeys for a wedding to come off soon, if not sooner.

The latest game found in our vicinity by hunters was the hides of several fat hogs (which our farmers have missed) found in the grass, where hungry pork eaters have slipped the hogs out and made off with them. And one of them must have got in a hurry, for he lost a large ham.

More anon. AUNT SUE.

WE noticed a drove of fat hogs waddling their weary way marketward one of those warm days last week. Unless the weather becomes more favorable, and the hog's locomotion be increased, it is doubtful whether they arrive in the city before the fourth of July. Messrs. Nicholas and Cornelius Carpenter were the owners of the lot.

AT a cheese factory in Ingersoll, Canada, there has just been made a cheese that weighs seven thousand pounds. It is six feet ten inches in diameter, three feet in height, and twenty-one feet in circumference It required one milking of seven thousand cows, or thiry-five tons of milk, to produce it. That's what we would call "cheesing" it.

THE Chrismas celebrities began to be let off in Burlington last Wednesday evening. The town was illuminated (almost) by the flash of the shooting-crackers and Roman candles, the ear stunned with explosion of fireworks and the yelling of "Young America."

INVENTORS, to secure prompt and proper action on their cases, should employ an attorney resident at Washington. We direct attention to Foster's Patent Offices, 509 Seventh street, Washington. Mr. Foster has practiced before the Patent Office 18 years. Send to him for pamphlets and references.

WE acknowledge the receipt of an invitation to attend a ball in Clay Center, Kansas, this week, but when we come to consider the matter find we are compelled to decline attending, because—well, everybody knows the reason.

IT is said that the weather the past ten days has been very damaging to potatoes in the South, making them sprout in the barrels.

THE moon missed Christmas or Christmas missed the moon. Which party is guilty of the missing, we are not prepared to state.

THERE never was finer weather for loafers just at this particular season, and they are attending strictly to business, too.

THE frogs did not set up their howl during the fine weather the mosquito was seen sing and heard fly."

THE small grain is prutting by the mild winter. It looks beautiful, say the farmers.

AT this writing it looks as though spring had come to spend Christmas with us.

THE BOONE COUNTY RECORDER

W. L. RIDDELL,
Editor and Proprietor.

BURLINGTON, KY., DECEMBER 24.

Announcement.

WE ARE AUTHORIZED TO ANNOUNCE

J. F. Blythe

As a candidate for the office of JAILOR at the August election, 1878.

WE will now "rest a leetle."

AT Louisville they are to have a $84,600 work-house.

THE Conkling-Gordon difficulty has been amicably adjusted.

LAST week, Canada had the benefit of two shocks of earthquake.

THE notorious Grove Kennedy is now on trial at Lancaster, for the murder of his uncle.

OHIO and Kentucky are both having interesting times, preparing to make United States Senators.

THE Daily Commonwealth has suspended publication. In its valedictory it said future prospects did not justify present loss.

THERE was a man circulating around Elizabethtown the other day, broken out with smallpox. He needs his circulation stopped.

THE government has an agent in Cincinnati investigating the charges made by Postmaster Wahle against the Gazette Company.

THE Covingtonians are having an interesting time nominating candidates, and otherwise warming up for their municipal election.

WOULDN'T be surprised if the Murphy badge was quite popular with the members of the Legislature this winter. It will be quite a savings bank.

ALTHOUGH the Murphies have been very industrious during the past season, there has been $1,043,054 more money realized on the sales of whisky this year than last.

WE this week announce Mr. Jerry F. Blythe, of Burlington, as a candidate for the office of Jailer. Mr. Blythe is a true gentleman, and if elected will make an efficient officer.

LAST week, W. G. Stone, who at the late term of the Kenton Criminal Court, was tried under an indictment, charging him with embezzlement, gave bond and was released from jail.

THE law controlling the public schools in this Commonwealth, is just now being discussed throughout the State. The Legislature will have some repairing to do on this law during the session, it is expected.

THERE is still war smoke ascending in the direction of Mexico. Last week two United Statss subjects were captured by a band of Mexican marauders and shot to death. Now, what is Uncle Sam going to do about it.

ONE of the largest business houses in Cincinnati made an assignment, last week, for the benefit of its creditors. We have reference to the firm of Tole Holton & Co. The liabilities are estimated at four hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars. The assets were not known, but it was thought they would fall far short of the amount of indebtedness.

R. H. CAIN, colored, member of Congress from South Carolina, considers the recent message of President Hayes as a God-send to the country. Cain thinks the President's Southern policy especially providential to the colored people in the South. He is of the opinion that a like policy during Grant's administration would have been a miserable failure.

A DISPATCH dated the 21st inst., from Lexington, says the man Blankenship, who was arrested last week in Texas, on a requisition from Governor McCreary, as being accessory to the murder of Hage, near Blue Licks, about one year and a half ago, and confined in the Nicholas County jail, was brought to Lexington this morning for safe keeping. It seems that Blankenship's sister received an intimation, Wednesday evening, that an attempt would be made to mob him that night, and so she at once hastened to Carlisle to notify the jailer. The officers took the prisoner out of jail after dark and hid him in the woods. About midnight a party of seventy-five or one hundred men came into Carlisle, and, gaining an entrance to the jail, began searching for the prisoner, and manifested their disappointment in curses, not loud but deep, when they found the prisoner had been spirited away. The officers are to be commended for the faithful discharge of their duty in protecting the prisoner.

THE distinguished Infidel, R. G. Ingersoll, had an appointment to deliver a lecture in Richmond, Indiana, on the evening of the 19th, and the gentleman who was managing the affair wrote Ingersoll to know if he could safely assure the people that the lecture would contain nothing offensive to Christianity. The reply came back from Ingersoll that he would not lecture in Richmond under his auspices. The short reply created considerable indignation and Bob withdrew his appointment.

THE Turks are still on the down grade in their war business. It appears there is but little hope for the Turks just now, and unless some other power extends to him a helping hand he can not be victorious. England is becoming furious and donning her war garments, for the purpose of doing some bloody work or make somebody take water or take water herself Just what Johnny Bull is preparing, for is the source of much conjecture, but the general impression is he is going to help the Turk out of his uncomfortable situation

THE Clinton County Democrat gives General John S. Williams the severest thrust he has received during the present campaign for United States Senator. The Democrat says: "General Williams did not come to the western portion of the State, estimating, doubtless (and very correctly to), that it would be a waste of time for him to come. If General Williams was smart enough to make a good United States Senator, he would certainly be able to discover that he is not the man the people want to represent them in the National Council, notwithstanding he thinks 'all hell can't prevent his election.'" That's what we would call a severe gouge.

THERE appears to be a general demand all over the State that the approaching session of the General Assembly be brief; that the several members have their individual business well studied, and their plans laid, in order to expedite, as much as possible, the legislative business. This may all do to talk about, and use as capital at present; but when that body convenes, the business will be disposed of as has been done by previous Legislatures, and the same old howl, "what is the Legislature doing that the session is so prolonged?" will be heard from all quarters. Just the one item of business, electing a United States Senator, is quite likely to require much time, and this, with other business, which now promises to be abundant, will consume considerable time, and it is foolishness to be making arrangements to adjourn the body before it assembles. It is claimed the next Legislature will be composed of the best material in the State, and if they don't run the ship of State properly, why, then it will be time to talk. We still insist that the Representatives-elect, be allowed to get to Frankfort, at least before they be adjourned.

THE Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer says Senator Voorhees will remain in Washington during the recess, for the purpose of preparing a speech, which he intends delivering on Matthew's silver resolution on January the fifteenth. In discussing the financial question he intends to give the fullest ventilation to Western views on silver and anti-resumption, and will probably make use of bolder and stronger language than is usually heard in Senate debate. He will take for his text, a quotation from Edmund Burke, which General Ewing introduced with effect in his speech. It is as follows: "It is to the property of the citizens, and not to the demand of the creditor of the State, the original faith of society is pledged. The claim of a citizen is prior in time, paramount in title, and supreme in equity." Following out this principle, Mr. Voorhees will elaborate the remarks of Mr. Ewing. He will apply the logic of his text in favor of the Silver Bill and against resumption, as he contends demonetization of the silver dollar and the proposition to redeem securities in gold have been, and still are, depressing industries and the value of property, and the highest duty of the country is to keep faith with its own citizens.

It seems that the northwest portion of the county is pretty thoroughly saturated with a strong desire to have good roads. The turnpike fever is still raging there, and is as prevalent as any time during the year, one road being the result to date. The contemplated road from Walton's to Berkshire's is now engaging the attention of those interested in its construction. Meetings are being held, and the country canvassed by committees soliciting subscriptions, and, by the way, the canvassers were receiving great encouragement, the farmers subscribing liberally. Aurora and Lawrenceburg, are coming to the company's assistance with their purses; hence the greater the probability that the road will be put through. This road, if built, will come from a section of the county with which both of the above named towns want communication, and they are, therefore, likely to render material aid to the enterprise. We are glad to see that section of the county taking such rapid strides in the way of public improvements, and hope that the spirit they now manifest may make its appearance in other sections of Boone, where the citizens labor under the same disadvantages. May it be that the closing of the year now dawning, will find those now earnestly working in behalf of this proposed road enjoying the benefits of just such a highway as it is now proposed to build.

The X on your paper means that your subscription has expired.

"BUSINESS IS BUSINESS."

It is very annoying to us to be constantly reminding our patrons that their subscriptions have expired, and have them pay no attention to the notices. In some few instances, persons have let their subscriptions remain unpaid till they actually conclude they have paid them, and so contend. Now, to avoid this difficulty in the future, we will commence the year 1878 with a revised mailing list, dropping, January 1st, all those who have at that time been notified of the expiration of their time and having failed to renew, and an account made out and presented to each individual who is indebted to us on subscription. We have to pay cash for both labor and material, and, therefore, are compelled to have what is due us. We hope that our friends will attend to this matter, and render it unnecessary for us to drop a single name.

We wish all our patrons a merry Christmas.

Probably the reason why the boys made so much fuss of nights last week, they were cultivating their voices for the "hollerdays."

Last Thursday night, officers from Gallatin County came to Union and arrested C. B. We trust the matter will not prove as bad as reports now have it.

Another prisoner behind the bars. This one is also of the masculine gender, and has considerable lamphlack in his color. This fellow was caught Charlie Rorsing a lot of wheat. He had a double chance to get his winter's bread. If he succeeded in getting away with the wheat he was all right, and if caught the county would have to board him.

One night last week, Mr. Ben Cason, seeing a light in his barn, armed himself with a revolver and started on a tour of investigation. Arriving at the barn, he discovered a man and demanded his name, but received no reply. He then commenced the attack with the pistol, and fired two shots before the fellow sang out. It was one of his neighbor's boys named Roberts, hunting a dog.

The latest news from Florence says that town is stricken with the Murphy movement. A temperance lecturer put in his appearance there last Wednesday evening, delivered a lecture and distributed some blue ribbon. Thursday night he repeated the dose, and Friday it is said the Murphys could be seen by the dozens. It is to be hoped that those who choose to wear the blue may be greatly benefited by the pledge.

The Rev. Jas. A. Kirtley, of Bullotsburg, and the Rev. W. H. Felix, of Covington, have been conducting quite an interesting revival at the Bullotsburg Church during the past fortnight. Mr. Felix was compelled to withdraw his services last Friday, on which day the following persons were baptized: Miss Mary Botts, Miss Nattie Botts, Miss Dorn Huey, Miss Minnie Gaines, Miss Sallie Ewing, Miss Lulie Gaines, Mrs. Lulie Gaines, Mrs. J. S. Baisly, Mrs. Jennie Cropper, Mrs. Fannie Cropper, Omer Grant, Erastus Randall and Lewis Walton. At this writing Mr. Kirtley is still carrying on the meeting.

There lives in this county, hard by the Burlington and Petersburg pike, at a point known as Fort Defiance, an old citizen of good disposition, industrious habits and with a heart brim full of the milk of human kindness. He assures us that his weekly allowance of red-eye whisky, to be used as a beverage by himself, has been half a gallon for the last forty years; and that, in the same period, he has drank in his sprees an average of at least 1½ gallons per week, making a total of over 4,000 gallons, which, at eight cents a drink, would cost over $10,000 This old gentleman now declares himself a better advocate of temperance than Francis Murphy, "or any other Irish gintleman." He says he is a temperance lecturer materialized, personified and gifted with the power and the spirit(s) to proselyte all Woolper and the country round about the old fort. His platform is, "Total abstinence, and that this can only be effected by a total destruction of stillhouses and moonshiners." To kill the serpent outright, he says you must not clip its tail, but cut its nose off behind the jaws.

Covington is not going to be behind St. Louis on the baby question, as will be seen by the following, which is a portion of the business done by the Council on the evening of the 6th:

Mr. Meyers said that he would like to make a few remarks. It was well known that he represented the Sixth Ward. He believed there were more babies in that ward than were to be found in any other ward in the city. He said it was customary in Europe, when any family had an increase such as had occurred in the family of Mr. George Hinkin, for all the public officers to call to see the family and present them with money or something valuable. He had called to see this family; he found triplets, one a boy and the other two girls, and as beautiful children as had ever been born in Covington. He would like to offer the following:

To the Honorable City Council:

I respectfully recommend the donation of $200 to the family of George Hinkin, residing on Thirteenth street, between Stevens and Wheeler streets. He is an honest, industrious laboring man, and the father of six children, the last three of whom are triplets, born a few days ago. This, I believe, is the first occasion in which triplets have been born in this city, and, as Mr. Hinkin is a man of limited means financially, I suggest that a donation be made in his behalf in honor of so unusual an event. Fred J. Meyers.

Mr. Collins moved to amend by donating $5 per week for twenty weeks.

Mr. Cromnger said, as there was no second to Mr. Collins' motion, he would move to make it $10 for ten weeks.

Mr. Ashbrook moved to make the amount $5 per week until further orders of Council. Carried.

Florence.

The Murphy movement is sweeping our town like a storm. Two lecturers, Messrs Matthews and Williams, of Covington, commenced a meeting last Wednesday night, and continued it for three nights. There were just an even 100 who signed the pledge. They struck us at an opportune moment, as it is near the close of the year, and most of the boys were going to swear off anyhow for the next year. The lecturers left Saturday morning expecting to return after the holidays.

Mr. John Andrew, an engineer on the Southern Railway, was struck on the head with a stone, near Mason station, Scott County. He was looking out of the window of the cab, to see if the road was clear, when the stone was thrown by a young man named Rankin, who intended to break the headlight, but struck Andrew on the head, fracturing his skull and rendering him unconscious. He was taken to Lexington, the wound dressed and nine pieces of skull bone removed from the brain. He was afterward taken to his home in Ludlow, where he died. The Railroad Company has detectives at work trying to arrest the scoundrel who threw the stone, and it is hoped he will be caught and receive the punishment he so justly deserves.

On the 13th inst. Mr. Richard Wells and Miss Alice Wilhoit were married. Mr. Wells and wife go to Lincoln, Nebraska, to reside. On the 20th inst., Mr. James Hedges and Miss Adelaide Jones were married.

Hattie Stephens, a little girl about eleven years of age, died very suddenly, last week, of congestion of the spine, superinduced, it is thought, by over exertion while at play. Some thought it was caused by jumping the rope too long. She was sick but about 12 hours, and remained conscious to the last, telling her mother all the time to have no fears for her, as she did not feel unwell. The funeral took place from the residence of her father, Mr. Joe Stephens, last Friday. School was dismissed for the day, she being such a great favorite with her schoolmates that they all expressed a desire to attend the funeral.

Rev. Father Ennis, of Newport, was out on a visit last week, and was a guest of Mr. Dan Aheran. The Rev. gentleman went home with 15 birds and 10 rabbits. If he is only as lucky bringing sinners to taw as he is game, he would be highly successful.

The entertainment by the Dramatic Club, Christmas, promises to be a big thing. The plays selected are, The Golden Farmer and The Ghost in a Pawn Shop. The club hoped to produce Fanchon, but some of the cast got sick, and it had to be put off.

Miss Hattie and Miss Conda Corwine, of Norwood, Ohio, are visiting their aunt, Miss Fannie Respass. Uno.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

This is a compound remedy, prepared with scientific skill from vegetable ingredients, which rarely fails to cure the severest case of Chills and Fever and the concomitant disorders. Such a remedy the necessities of the people in malarious districts demand. Its great superiority over any other medicine yet discovered for the cure of Intermittents is, that it contains no quinine or mineral, and those who take it are free from danger of quinism or any injurious effects, and are as healthy after using it as before. It has been extensively employed during the last thirty years in the treatment of these distressing disorders, and so unvarying has been its success that it has gained the reputation of being infallible. It can, therefore, be safely recommended as a sure remedy and specific for the Fever and Ague of the West, and the Chills and Fever of the South. It counteracts the miasmatic poison in the blood, and frees the system from its influence, so that fever and ague, shakes or chills, once broken up by it, do not return until the disease is again contracted.

The great variety of disorders which arise from the irritation of this poison, such as Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Headache, Blindness, Toothache, Earache, Catarrh, Asthma, Palpitation, Splenic Affections, Hysterics, Pain in the Bowels, Colic, Paralysis, and derangement of the Stomach, all of which become intermittent or periodical, have no speedier remedy than AYER'S AGUE CURE, which cures them all alike, and protects the system from future attacks. As a preventive, it is of immense service to those communities where Fever and Ague prevails, as it stays the development of the disease if taken on the first approach of the premonitory symptoms. Travellers and temporary residents are thus enabled to defy these disorders, and few will ever suffer if they avail themselves of the protection this remedy affords.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity, it is an excellent remedy; it stimulates this organ into healthy activity, and produces many remarkable cures where other medicines fail.

BURLINGTON, KY., DECEMBER 24.

REFLECTION.

BY FRED M. DELANO.

I thought to write, dear lady,
A sonnet to-night in thy praise;
Seated in my easy chair
By the wood fire's ruddy blaze.

But the rain falls cold and dreary;
And as I sit here sad and lone,
The shadows flit in the firelight,
Like ghosts of the years that are gone.

Visions of youth's bright morning,
Warm with the radiant beam
Of Life—all joy and gladness—
And Love then a golden dream.

Friends that were true and tender,
And faces happy and gay
Fill all the air around me—
Then the phantoms pass away.

Pass to make room for others,
Those visions of riper years,
When life was an earnest struggle
And love was a vale of tears;

When friends were few and scattered,
And faces hard and cold,
The hopes of youth unfulfilled,
Life's summer was growing old.

And the shadows flitting—passing,
Call back the present again.
Friends have gone—Life is a blank.
And Love is a desert plain.

* * * * * *

The rain falls cold and dreary
As I sit here sad and lone;
Life and Love have withered my heart
In the years that are dead and gone.

A Dress Redressed.

A battle has been fought; a victory has been won; and at the same moment Russia went into ecstacies over Plevna, Dr. Mary Walker's voice arose in a triumphant yell over her pantaloons. At this period, when masculine politicians in almost unlimited numbers are having their pull at the public Treasury, it is a relief to know that once in a while a woman gets her hand in, and succeeds with the others in securing compensation for services that never were rendered.

In March, 1873, the medical Mary was appointed to a clerkship in the Treasury Department at Washington, passed the ordinary examination, was properly sworn in, and ordered to report to Treasurer Spinner for duty. Upon presenting herself, however, a number of her sister clerks were so highly inflamed at the sight of her extraordinary apparel that, like Turkey gobblers at the appearance of a red flannel petticoat, they refused to be pacified. Indeed they raised such a whirlpool around the ears of Secretary Richardson that the poor man was on the verge of suicide, and it is really stated that the affair added many gray hairs to his head. He was finally forced to expostulate with the Doctor and present her with the alternative of dressing more like a lady and less like a gentleman, or not being assigned to a desk in the Department. Dr. Mary was equal to the occasion, and as she refused to abate one jot or tittle of the semi-masculine costume, she was never assigned to duty. Still her appointment was not revoked, and she continued to report for service with commendable regularity for two years, at the expiration of which time she tendered her resignation, and presented a claim for two years' salary at the rate of $900 per annum.

Now, during all this period, Dr. Mary was a clerk, duly appointed and sworn in, and that she did not perform any of the laborious services of the department is very clearly no fault of hers. She was on hand and ready for work, which is much more than many clerks can say whose principal duty consists in drawing their pay. Some such view of the case seems to have occurred to Solicitor Rapnor, of the Treasury Department, who, in rendering his decision in reference to the claim, says that in his judgment the applicant is entitled to redress. He suggests that one year's salary, amounting to $900, be allowed the claimant, and, upon the principle that a half loaf beats no bread all hollow, it is presumed that the Doctor will accept the compromise. The Solicitor, in concluding his opinion says: "I have not allowed myself to be swayed or in any degree influenced by the sex of the applicant, or by the well known peculiarities of manners or dress."—Cincinnati Star.

It has been estimated that the professing Christians of America expend at least $25,000,000 annually for tobacco, while the total of all their contributions for the support of churches, Sunday-school, mission, Bible and tract societies is less than $7,000,000.
